Let us take one of the cases which call for the lash, according to the usage of our courts: A man puts a gun in his pocket, and enters a store or a bank to rob the place. If he cannot get what he wants, he is prepared to shoot, and there have been cases where the result is plain, cold-blooded murder. We imagine it would be easy to substantiate the claim that such business is also beneath our civilization.

Then his claim that "It brutalizes society." There are a number of things which brutalize society, and it is a fact that they all come into operation before our courts start to function.

A man beats his wife; another man shoots and seriously wounds a person who refuses to hand over cash. These things brutalize society. Of that there can be no question.

And it is a fact that law has had nothing to do with the process. The deeds are committed before the law has been touched into action.

* * * * *

There is something which Mr. McMurray fails to have noticed. It is this: The law-breaker is the person who brings about his own punishment. The law does not go around seeking a bare back on which to apply the lash as long as a man is minding his own business. As long as a man obeys the law, that law is for his protection, and he can claim that protection to the limit.

Therefore, if traced to its logical conclusion, it means that the thug and the bearer of concealed weapons can make the lash non-operative by ceasing his miserable business.

The need for capital punishment can be done away with by the same process. There is no need for any person in this country being hanged. There is no scaffold threatening the man who does not commit murder.

It is not a difficult matter to denounce the lash, the scaffold, or any other thing, nor does it require much mental energy stirred into action to paint a picture of the debasing influence of the form of punishment which we use.

But it does require keen logic to convincingly set forth that we are erring in our effort to make the punishment fit the crime.

A man who goes about with a gun is an individual which we cannot countenance, and the whole weight of our system of justice must be tilted over against him.

He knows, because court history has made it plain, that the lash is the answer to his crime. He cannot plead that justice is springing a surprise on him, or that it is changing the rules to his particular detriment.

The lash can be hung up on a peg in the corner of the prison and left there for keeps just as soon as thugs, bull-necks and bandits quit their nonsense. —Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. Ferguson's digestive powers are being severely taxed these days. If he is not careful he'll not be able to eat the roast beef of old England.

Mr. Bennett has refused to comment upon the announcement of Premier Bracken that the Federal Government will pay 95 per cent. of the cost of old age pensions. But such a policy would merely carry out one of Mr. Bennett's election promises.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

So she gave her reason frankly, and he found himself quite unaccountably respecting her for it. He followed her downstairs and was presented to the old lady—Mrs. Montgomery.

Mrs. Montgomery had known past grandeurs. She had lived in one of the big houses on the shore of the Bay, had been educated abroad, had made a brilliant marriage, had been presented at four courts, and had after her husband's death, been brought to poverty by a rackety son who had dispersed her fortune. Yet still she had her pride and bore herself actually as one who belonged in high places. There were times, however, when she bore herself simply as a doddering old crone who had forgotten her manners. She loved good things to eat, and now, waiting for her supper, ja s in a state bordering on greediness.

She was very deaf, and most of the time sat smiling amid her silences. But the preparations for the feast called forth a running fire of remarks, some of them thrown as it were, into the air, some of them flung at Anthony on the other side of the hearth, some of them addressed to Virginia, who had lighted the flame beneath the chafing-dish. "My father always liked a dash of sharry with his oysters," or "those look like chicken sandwiches," or "we always had two kinds of wine in the old days, Lieutenant Bleecker."

She was as alert as the kitten when the oysters began to curl at the edges. "They're done," she said sharply, "ehy don't we eat them?"

"We are waiting for Rickey," Virginia raised her voice to reach the old ears, "he is to be back at seven."

But the clock struck seven and Rickey did not come. So the three of them sat down, Virginia presiding over the chafing- dish, at one end, Anthony opposite, and the old lady sitting at Virginia's right.

It seemed to Anthony incredible that he should be in such astounding company. He wondered what his mother would think if she could see him. It was like something out of the fairy stories he had read as a child. The shadows interior; Virginia at the head of the table, seeming to gather all the light to her, like a saint with a nimbus; Mrs. Montgomery, bent over her place, oblivious to everything but the enjoy-h ment of her food.

He smiled at Virginia. "Mrs. Grundy," he said, "is deaf. I shall say what I please to you."

The color flamed in her cheeks. Then she accepted his challenge. "Say it."

"Mademoiselle, vous etes tres jolie."

"Monsieur flatters," never before had Virginia played the game, but all the belles and beauties of her family had played it, and so she came to it with ease and charm.

"Other men have told you that, of course?"

"I don't know any other men."

"You don't expect me to believe that?"

"It's true."

Her honesty delighted him. He leaned across the table. "Other men don't know what they are missing."

She wasn't sure that she liked his manner. She found herself a little frightened. She wished her brother would come. She glanced at the clock. "Rickey's late."

"Why worry? I am perfectly happy without him. And now—when am I going to see you again?"

"I don't know."

"Do you mean you don't want to see me?"

"Aren't you putting it rather seriously?"

"It is serious. If you didn't care to go on with it, why did you let me come to-night?"

She gave him the truth squarely. "Because your mother was so—high-hat."

"What do you mean?"

"She didn't want you to go with me and she showed it. She thought I didn't belong. It hurt my pride, so I tossed conventionalities to the wind and let you come."

It was a hard blow to his vanity. But he took it standing. He stared at her for a moment then gave a shout of laughter. "Well, I'm here," he said, "and now please be good to me and don't visit my mother's sins on me."

"I really shouldn't have let you come. I don't know anything about you except that you are Anthony Bleecker and an officer in the Navy."

"I'm not a wolf in sheep's clothing, if that's what you mean."

Mrs. Grundy suddenly came to life. "What are you talking about, Virginia?"

It was Anthony who answered, "Lambs, dear lady," and Virginia hastened to proclaim, "It's time to cut the cake."

The old eyes glistened, "What kind of cake?"

"Cocoanut."

And Mrs. Grundy was satisfied.

It was while Virginia cut the cake that Anthony noticed her hands. They were graceful and delicate. "You should play the harp," he said, "you have the hands for it—they are wonderful. Hold them up to the light."

She obeyed, flushing a bit. Outspread in front of the candles her fingers showed transparent like rosy, fragile glass.

Mrs. Grundy demanded suspiciously, "What are you doing that for?"

"Warming them," Anthony shouted, and then, aside, "Poor soul, has she forgotten her youth?"

"Does anybody forget—youth?" Virginia asked dreamily, then suddenly she turned her head and listened. "That's Rickey," as the bell rang, "he's forgotten his key."

But it was not Rickey. It was the girl in the plaid coat. "You may not remember me," she said, as Virginia opened the door, "but I was at the sale yesterday and bought a lot of your lovely old things, and I met your brother."

"Rickey?"

"Yes. I want to ask him some questions about the secretary."

"He's not here—"

"Perhaps you can tell me. Would you mind my coming in?"

Virginia hesitated. "To-morrow would be better."

"But I'm leaving in the morning—" there was such keen disappointment in the blue eyes that Virginiafelented.

"We're just at supper, but you won't mind?"

"I won't mind anything," Mary Lee emphasized, "If I can only sit for a moment in this adorable house." But she stayed more than a moment. She knew that she was waiting for Rickey—that her heart was tight in her chest when she thought of him. She had remained in Annapolis overnight because of him She had felt she must see again that bright head, win him once more to gayety and laughter as she had won him before he met Marty Van Duyne.

She took off her hat and coat and made herself at home. The gold-colored kitten came and curled up in the curve of her arm. She smiled across at deaf old Mrs. Montgomery. She ate the sandwiches and the superlative cake that Virginia offered, and drank a cup of coffee.

Anthony resented her presence and showed it by a sulky silence. Virginia, on the other hand, was glad to have her. She had found herself a bit disturbed about her glittering guest. She knew now that she should never have let him come. She liked him well enough, but why should she have tried to square accounts with his mother? Anthony had laughed it off lightly, as if that ended it. But Virginia had felt that it was not ended.

Mary Lee talked to Virginia of antiques and to Anthony of his brass buttons. "You're Navy of course? I adore uniforms."

"You'll get over that if you stay here long enough. Wait until you see the midshipmen—millions of 'em."

"Really?"

He nodded. "They flow through the town in a rushing tide."

"Oh, I should love it."

"Don't ever love them."

"Why not?"

"Let them love you."

"But what if they shouldn't—?" She flashed a glance at him, and Anthony was aware of a sudden illumination. The little devil had charm and knew it. It was not the sort of thing he cared about, but she was using it for his benefit, deliberately, and in the modern fashion.

She could not know, of course, how tired he was of youthful sophistication, and that he had sought out Virginia Oliphant because she was so utterly without affectation, so untrained apparently in the arts of coquetry, yet possessing a quality of withdrawal which made men want to follow.

Mary Lee was saying to Virginia, "Your brother told me you are planning to live in New York. I hope you'll let me hunt you up."

"We won't have much time for ocial engagements. Rickey has to write."

"I'm not a Social Engagement—please say that you'll be glad to see me—"

She laid her hand on Virginia's, and Virginia found herself giving the plump fingers a responsive clasp. There was something friendly and frank about Mary Lee which drew her in spite of herself. "Of course, we'll be glad," she said, with heartiness.

Mary Lee talking against time, told of her life in Memphis, her mid-Victorian mother, her voice, her urge to adventure—all the things she had told Rickey. Anthony listened without interest. He wished she would go—he wished . . .

But suddenly Mary Lee did a thing which jogged him out of his apathy. Idly, as it were, while she talked, she had set three glasses together, and now she tinkled the tines of her silver fork against them, producing a thin melodious chime, and to this accompaniment she sang softly and as if she were alone, a strange little song of a Chinese maiden who went one night to meet her lover, but found herself keeping instead a tryst with death. Mary Lee had a clear and beautiful voice, and so perfectly did she create the illusion, that she ceased to be, in the eyes of her listeners, simply a plump and rather badly dressed little person, and became for the moment, the girl of whom she sang, slender and tragic against a background of willow trees, ivory towers and cloud-swept moons.

When she finished Anthony demanded, "Where did you find a thing like that?"

"In China. Dad took me around the world when I was seventeen."

Anthony had been around the world and said so. They talked for a bit about it. Virginia said little. She was worried about Rickey. Why was he so late? And why had he not come to supper? He had known she expected him and had promised.

Virginia hardly knew what they were saying. She wished that her guests would go home. What in the world was keeping Rickey?

Mrs. Montgomery was nodding in her chair. Every now and then she waked, and took a momentary part in the conversation. There were traces of an old coquetry, an old charm in her efforts. She addressed most of her remarks to Anthony. In the days long gone by, she had been the toast of the officers in the Yard. She remembered a dinner-party in this same house, given by Virginia's great-grandmother. "I was a girl then," she said, with the sparkle of youth sweeping back upon her, "and I flirted with your grandfather. And he gave me a rose, and your grandmother hated me. They weren't married then, but the wedding was announced. And I went to your grandmother the next morning, and told her I had lied when I said your grandfather had given me the rose. But I hadn't—lied—"

It could be seen she was proud of her falsehood and of her sporting spirit. She kept awake for several moments on the strength of it, then went suddenly to sleep, like an old baby.

"I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to take her home," Virginia told Anthony, "it's just across the street . . ."

He rose at once. "Sure you aren't doing it to get rid of me?"

She met that lightly. "I think I'm sure."

Mary Lee looked from one to the other. She had a rather shrewd understanding of the situation. The girl hadn't waked up yet to what that man could do for her. He was a stunning type. Mary Lee had a feeling that if she hadn't met Rickey, she would give Virginia Oliphant a run for her money.

Before Anthony left he had a moment alone with Virginia. "You might as well tell me your address. I've simply got to see you."

"Nothing will seem shabby if you shine there."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

What To-day Means To You

"CAPRICORN."

If January 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10:15 p.m. The adverse periods are from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The planetary aspects of January 9th are negative, and nothing of an important nature should be attempted. Only routine work can be done with perfect assurance. A feeling of depression will exist during the day, but, after sunset, conditions change and optimism will prevail.

Children born on this January 9th will be harbingers of contentment. Their natures will be sunny, and, although obedient and winning, they will always want to know "why," "when" and "how." As grown-ups, they are assured of a large measure of success and happiness.

If you were born on a January 9th, you have a strong, self-filled character and most of your failures will be attributable to the fact that you neither heeded, advice or signs. On the other hand, you will owe your successes to the indomitable purposefulness of your disposition. You are very observant and have learned more from what you have seen and heard, than from what you have read. Books do not attract you. Human contact, sight-seeing and travel are your teachers, and you are an apt pupil. You rarely stop to wonder why certain conditions prevail. You immediately enquire the "why" and "wherefore" on the spot.

You possess dynamic energy, and this same spirit is shown in your play as it is in your work. Mediocrity is anathema to you. Excellence is your only desideratum. By aiming at what is oftimes beyond your reach, you attain a higher standard than if you aimed at what you might feel is strictly within your limitations. Responsibilities never scare you.

Your disposition is, at times, explosive. On the whole, however, you are a congenial companion, a good husband or wife, and a model parent. Association in business with partners would cramp your style, and it is better for you to go it on your own. Your horoscope reveals a dominating personality, but not so severe as to be forbidding.

$73,236.95 Profits For Peerless Motors

CLEVELAND, Ohio, January 9 (Special to The Examiner).—The Peerless Motor Car Corporation under the first year's guidance of J. A. Bohannon, president, reports a net profit for its fiscal year ended September 30, 1930, of $73,236.95. This compares with a net loss after special provisions of $2,470,646.53 for twelve months ended September 30, 1929. This showing is considered extraordinary in view of the severe retrenchment and generally abnormal conditions of the industry. At September 30, the corporation had outstanding 426,739 shares of $10.00 par value common stock. There was no preferred stock or bonded indebtedness.

The statement of the Peerless Corporation shows the organization to be in unusually liquid condition, with $1,702,535.94, or 70 per cent of its total net working capital in cash.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 9.—Butter was higher and eggs lower, while cheese and potatoes were unchanged on the produce market here yesterday.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter gained ½c, being quoted at 31½c to 32c a pound. Receipts were 2,118 boxes.

Lower gareds of Ontario fresh eggs were lower, pullets being down 2c at 28c and seconds 3c at 25c a dozen. Extras and firsts were unchanged at 37c and 31c a dozen. British Columbia eggs were unchanged, extras being quoted at 39c, firsts at 33c and pullets at 30c a dozer.. Manitoba eggs were quoted at 36c for extras, 31c for firsts and 25c for seconds. Quotations to retailers were unchanged. Receipts were 1,652 cases.

White cheese was quoted at 11c to 11¼c a pound, with colored cheese a cent higher. Trading was very dull, receipts being only 36 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes in car lots were quoted at 85c per 90 pounds, bulk, and to retailers 95c per 80-puond bag.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them inserted

MR. BENNETT'S DISCOVERY

Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—It is impossible not to admire Mr. Bennett. Instead of waiting in his office for something to turn up, he goes forth to meet it. For that alone he will yet rank as one of Canada's great men.

His solution of Canada's present difficulty is, however, a disastrous one. He proposes to make an Eastern Canada of the West. That is to say, just as the farmer in the East depends upon his home market he is going to make the Western farmer dependent upon his home market.

The large cities and towns of the east built up by manufacturing supply the eastern food producers with markets and he proposes to do the same thing for the West. Where will our great exporting factories be then?

If the West upon whom we have poured our money is no longer to want our goods manufacturing must diminish to that extent. Peterborough, Toronto, Montreal, etc. will then be in a worse hole than the West is at present. It will mean a setback for the capitalistic and expanding east of the worst kind though it may save the C.P.R. and the other railways so extensive in the West.

The truth is that the Western boom will "bust." Does Canada propose to fade away altogether because of Russian wheat competition? Is our whole system of doing business to go on the rocks because the over-developed wheat producing West can only thus be saved together with the railways.

This isn't even "Canada First." It is to be hoped that because we have a temporary affliction in one part or member of our body that we are not to give up in despair or to wreck the rest of the body to save our big toe. If Mr. Bennett's policy is carried out he will wreck both Canada and the British Empire. We will become an accumulation of provinces once more with no excuse for a federation or a protective tariff.

He proposes to make of the Empire, not an inter-trading unit but a series of separate self-sufficient units. He proposes to make of Canada not as at present an inter-trading unit, but a series of self-sufficient units. It is not difficult to see the results of such a policy as that.

Lita Grey Chaplin Robbed of $14,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—The kidnapping of Lita Grey Chaplin and Georges Carpentier as they left a theatre puzzled the police to-day. Mrs. Chaplin said she was robbed of money and jewels.

Mrs. Chaplin, former wife of Charles Chaplin, and the one-time heavyweight champion of Europe, told the police they were imprisoned in her limousine by four armed men, driven more than a mile and dumped out last night. Mrs. Chaplin said she lost $14,000 in jewelry.

COPP DESCRIBES

accompanied by two Indians down the Kapuskasing River and Moose River into James Bay. Snapshots were passed around, and these served to make the trip more vivid.

The rivers in this district are necessarily fast-flowing. They cut down through the clay, and leave irregular beds filled with boulders from the size of a large hotel down to tiny pebbles. The Indians were expert in the handling of the canoe, suddenly shooting around at right angles to the current in order to avoid a boulder or to find a deeper channel.

The party went to Smoky Falls, and through to Grand Rapids where white china clay is being taken from a pure deposit. The rapids were so dangerous that one of the Indians stood at the front of the canoe with a long steel-pronged pole with which to guide the boat.

Indian encampments were passed on both banks of the river. In one locality the inhabitants were smoking moose meat from which the bones had been removed.

School in Afternoon

The village of Moose Factory contained several storehouses, a missionary school in charge of an Anglican priest, and an Indian boarding school. The inhabitants of the village were Cree Indians who had gradually drifted over from Manitoba. The boys cut wood for fuel in the morning and went to school in the afternoon.

Mr. Copp gave a picturesque description of Moose River, into which flows the Kapuskasing. The former is a mile wide for the last 30 miles of its course. Much sediment is carried down by this and other rivers from the clay belt, and therefore James Bay is comparatively shallow.

On the return journey, the party paddled and portaged up the Abitibi River. At Blacksmith Falls they viewed the coal mine operations. The clay is so soft that ordinary shaft mining is impossible, but when this difficulty is surmounted Ontario will be using this coal extensively. This coal is a jet-black shale-looking rock and burns through to an ash. It is being used experimentally in Sudbury and New Liskeard.

Mr. Copp came to Coral Rapids, and thence over 96 miles of railway to Cochrane. The expedition proved an interesting one, and the thrills of shooting the rapids of the Greater Clay Belt rivers can never be experienced save by a personal trip through this semi-civilized country.

STANDARD LIST FOLLOWS GOLD SECTION LEAD

McINTYRE FEATURES.

Ajax Softens in Oil Group, Dropping Seven to $1.70.

TORONTO, Jan. 9. (CP)—Influenced by the continuence of higher prices in the gold group the market on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange as a whole moved into higher ground to-day. Volume increased on the advance with the main turnover centering on the golds.

McIntyre was a feature, moving up nearly a point to $23. Hollinger gained a quarter to $24.75; Kirkland Lake 4 to 67 and Teck Hughes and Vipond 5 each to $6.55 and $1.10 respectively. Northern Canada, up 4, showed the only important change in the miscellaneous golds.

Noranda failed to respond, price showing a small loss at $15.50, but Nickel moved up a quarter to $16.00. Lindsleys were firm.

Ajax Oil softened in the oil group, dropping 7 to $1.70, but Nordon gained 3 to 39 and Acme Gas was holding. Trading was quiet in this section of the board.

TORONTO LIST HOLDS STEADY

Walkers and Distillers Slightly Higher in To-day's Trading.

LIGHT TURNOVER.

TORONTO, Jan. 9. (CP)—The market was quiet this morning, prices little changed from last night. Brazilian was quieter following yesterday's sudden spurt, but was nevertheless firm to strong. The stock opened around last night's close of 23½ and by noon had advanced to just under 24, for a new gain of almost ½ point.

Walkers, while not showing the volume of earlier this week, firmed to above 8 again. Distillers was slightly higher at 10 5-8.

Noranda and golds showed fractional appreciation. On the listed section, Ford of Canada, Goodyear preferred, Gypsum were unchanged to as much as a point higher. The turnover was light.

Oils were firm in a narrow market. B. A. Oil, International Petroleum were each a small fraction above 15.

British Banks Retain Old Dividend Rates

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 9. (C. P. Cable). — With the exception of Lloyd's the big British banks known as the 'Big Five' have maintained their old dividend rates despite substantial reductions in profits. A decline of £1,866,000 in the aggregate profits of these banks, slightly over 15 per cent., is revealed in annual statements made public during the past few days. The principal discount houses, however, show increased earning.

In announcing a reduction in the dividend rate for the whole year to 15 percent on the 'A' shares compared with 16 2/3 percent paid for the past 10 years, the directors of Lloyd's bank declared that in view of "depressed condition of trade and uncertain outlook generally" it had been decided to make a substantial increase in the internal reserves.

The other banks comprising the "Big Five" are Barclay's, Midland, National, Provincial and Westminster.

—The Passing Show London.

Winnipeg Review

The local wheat market was rather featureless yesterday with only a small trade passing, while prices were lower through out. The opening was steady with prices only a fraction off, but the market gradually sank until prices were 1 1-8 under last nights close, after which there was a recovery of about half way, the market holding steady at this level most of the day but during the last half hour another sinking spell was witnessed, the market again reaching the low marks. Sentiment was somewhat bearish yesterday and longs were unloading their holdings and taking profits were available. There was some buying on the scale down for seaboard account, but not in sufficient volume to absorb the offerings without prices declining. On the extreme dips, the market was into the daily bids which brought in sufficient support to check further declines. There was a moderate export business worked overnight around 400,000 bushels or a little better, but this is only small business. The demand for cash wheat was quiet with spreads unchanged to 1-4 off for the straight grades. There was a good inquiry for toughs at 1-2 better but holders were not inclined to sell and offerings generally were very light. There was no change in the flour situation which is very quiet. Liverpool was steady, closing 1-8 higher, probably due to the anticipitated small world shipments again this week. Buenos Aires was weak and after opening 1-4 higher was 1 3-8 lower late this afternoon. Winnipeg October wheat came on the board this morning for the first time the opening price being 61 cents, or about 2 cents over July, which is an unusual premium. The Chicago wheat and Corn markets were weaker today, while the New York Stock Market was also down all having some effect on this market. Winnipeg futures closed 7-8 lower.

Coarse Grains—These markets were also dull and draggy, with a very small trade passing. There was no particular selling pressure, the markets sinking in sympathy with the lower trend in wheat. There was nothing doing worth while in the cash markets, the demand being very limited. Oats, barley and rye all closed about 3-4 lower.

Liverpool Cables due 1-8 to 1-4 higher based on Winnipeg.

BANKER OFFERS SLUM REMEDIES

SURE PROSPERITY NEAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (CP)—Confidence that the pendulum of industry will swing to prosperity is entertained by Paul M. Warburg, international banker. He is chairman of the Board of Manhattan Company.

To hasten the recovery and the guard against depression he advocated the following steps:

1.—Strengthening of the independence and cohesion of the Federal Reserve system.

2.—Greater co-operation among central banks to guard against excessive pessimism or excessive optimism on the part of the public.

3.—Establishment of the lowest price level at which business can prosper as opposed to inflated prices

4.—Reshaping of the tariff and reparations policies to equalize the world's balance sheet.

5.—Limitation of the extension of bank credit to productive industry and commerce, shunning speculative securities.

Producer to Blame

"There is no doubt that we must look to the producer rather than to the consumer as a principal factor responsible for the existence of the present depression" he said.

"We carried power—electric, hydraulic, pneumatic or automotive—into every industry, home and field, so much so that one might well say that behind every visible producer the inventive genius of man has now placed a hundred invisible producers but we have not been able to place any invisible consumers behind the consumer."

"Instead of permitting a free and untrammeled flow of goods, customs barriers were erected by nations, old and new, and behind these walls of protection industries were pushed to hothouse growths, based upon high prices exacted from domestic consumers. Valorization schemes syndicates, monopolies and all kinds of government operations did the rest."

London Dairies Start Price-Cutting War

LONDON, Ont. Jan. 9.—(C.P.) — One of London's largest dairies admitted to-day that the larger dairies of the city had started a price-cutting war on smaller distributors who have been reducing their prices for some time now. It was stated the smaller dealers refused to sell their milk at eleven cents per quart despite the fact that the larger dairies had asked them to do so.

The head of one large dairy predicted that London residents would enjoy the lowest price milk of any Canadian city until next fall.

Two Major Problems England Faces In India

The charts of India shown above give some idea of what Great Britain has to contend with in helping keep peace in that distant part of the British Empire and at the same time educate the people to make their country strong financially and industrially. The map on the left shows how the population is divided on the religious problem. The total population of India is 320,000,000, of whom 217 millions are Hindus and 66 millions Moslems. On the right is a chart which gives some idea of the part of India under British rule (area in white) which contains 245,000,000 people, and the area, with a population of 75,000,000, which is under the Ruling Princes and referred to as the Indian Native States.

EFFORTS TO END STRIKE IN WALES PROVE FAILURE

Miners Refuse to Let Independent Chairman Rule on Wage Cuts.

FAVOR NEW BOARD.

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Negotiations looking to the settlement of the great South Wales coal strike collapsed this afternoon.

The breakdown of a conference between miners and owners came shortly after the union representatives had retired from a joint conference to discuss certain details upon which the conferees had been unable to agree.

The rock upon which the conference splint was the miners' refusal to agree that an independent chairman of a proposed new Conciliation Board should rule on the question of wage cuts. The miners agreed to the creation of a new board but they insisted that the wage issue should be settled between employers and employees.

MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Jan. 9. (Special to Examiner.)—Public participation in trading on the mining market was reported to be considerably improved to-day, with bulk of attention directed to gold stocks. Both lower prices and more advanced issues saw renewed demand with prices reflecting the situation in a promising manner.

Hollinger, selling over $7 for the first time in well over a year, came in for discussion, unofficial reports of better conditions on the deep levels receiving support of the mining fraternity. Northern visitors bring down an interesting story that Hollinger and Vipond engineers have got together in correlating geological data on both properties and are said to be highly pleased with their findings.

The lava flow, according to these followers of development in the Porcupine district, has been traced from the Hollinger to the Vipond and back again, with prospects pointing to additional bodies being developed under Pearl Lake. Ramifications of this system, they claim, are so great it may extend to other large properties in the area. Vipond is said to be driving rapidly on the 1,000 level towards the indicated ore.

A reduction of one quarter cent to 10.55 cents per pound CIF European base ports was made to-day in the price of export copper by Copper Exporters Inc. Copper buying in New York and abroad is light with price more or less nominate. Customs Smelters are reported to be holding at 10.5 cents while second hands are offering metal.

Outlook is that Customs Smelters will hold on for a few days, to see if buying will improve. In case the buying remains quiet it is not unlikely that accumulated in take will enforce offerings lower to establish an actual price on which copper intake under contract may be paid for.

San Antonio was rumored around the street to have arranged for finances yesterday, but official word is that no definite deal has been made as yet An announcement is expected within the new few days. Under the more favorable conditions existing in regard to gold stocks and properties at present, interests behind the company are confident funds can be secured under terms more beneficial to shareholders than was possible last year.

BARGE SINKS, CREW SAVED

BAYONNE, N.J., Jan. 9.—A tug, towing a barge with 12,000 barrels of oil, sank in Newark Bay to-day, but its crew of 12 men were believed to have been saved by the barge crew.

PLANS LARGE RADIO STATION

LENINGRAD, Russia, Jan. 9 (CP) The Soviet government plans to send its propaganda across western Europe through a giant radio station which the central radio laboratory here announced to-day is to be built near Moscow.

Two-Billion Dollar Steel Merger Mooted

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—The Cleveland News to-day says a proposed formation of a two-billion dollar steel merger to rival the giant U.S. Steel Corporation is being considered by a number of prominent steel men and financiers.

According to The News, the new merger "talk" included the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Jones and Laughlin, Corrigan-McKinney and Otis Steel.

DAMAGE SUIT LOST IN COURT

TRACKS WERE SAME.

MONTREAL, Que., January 9 (C.P.. — Having traced footprints in the snow for more than a mile across field and forest, to the very door of his neighbor's cabin in the woods, H. Bergerson was reasonably entitled to suppose that it was his neighbor who had stolen a quantity of maple syrup, Mr. Justice Martineau decided to-day in the Superior Court in dismissing an action for false arrest taken by Alcibiade Daoust of Isle Perrot.

Daoust was arrested for the theft of maple syrup valued at $22.50 and was subsequently acquitted in the Criminal Court. He then took action in the Superior Court for damages of $500. In dismissing the claim, His Lordship pointed out that on discovering the theft the owner of the syrup had followed footprints from his cabin to that of Daoust. He had then, by means of a piece of wood, measured the footprints and compared them with others found in the interior of Daousts cabin On finding that the footprints corresponded, Bergerson was reasonably entitled to suppose he had traced the thief, His Lordship opined.

NOT GUILTY PLEA

taxi to Port Hope the same night of the crime.

Carl Smith told The Examiner this morning that he returned to this city at noon yesterday by bus. "I came up by bus," he said. "At Sherbrooke street on the highway I had the driver stop the bus. I told him they were after me in the city and I didn't want to go right in."

His appearance in the city was soon learned by the police and the pursuit began. It was learned that at 4 o'clock he was on George street between Charlotte and Simcoe streets, and Inspector Reid and Constable Naples immediately began to scour the stores and pool rooms in that vicinity for him. Naples was driving past Goselin's store, when he noticed Smith trying to conceal himself in the tobacco store. Parking the car, he walked into the store and greeted Smith with, "I guess you might as well come now."

"Yes," replied Smith, "It's now or some other time."

Dundas made his confessions yesterday afternoon to Provincial Constable William Carey in Cobourg. He describes the crime in detail, police say, and admits that it was he who choked and punched the 70-year-old Smith Township farmer.

Carl Smith informed The Examiner that his brother drove him and Dundas to Port Hope Monday night. "We spent the night in Port Hope" he said. "Yes, that's right, I worked for Johnston last summer" he later admitted.

Carl Smith is married and has one child. He lives with his widowed mother at the corner of Benson Avenue and Bellevlew street. He affirmed that he had been out of work for a long time.

TORONTO, Ont., January 9 (C.P.). — More than 12,000 unemployed men have been registered at the City Unemployment Relief Office.

LIQUOR PERMITS RAISE PROBLEM

Windsor Alderman Sanctions Resale of Liquor By Man on Charity List.

CONSUMING IT DIFFERENT.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 9 (C.P.)—"But if the poor devil is selling it to get a few dollars, God bless him," said Alderman P. N. Gardner of East Windsor, when the Council of that city was discussing the problem of people on the charity list having liquor permits and buying liquor.

Alderman Gardner emphasized that if the buyer was consuming the liquor then charity should be refused.

Mayor Bruce Williams had suggested the Council seek authority to investigate the liquor purchases of those whose names appeared on the charity list. Dr. P. J. G. Morgan, city physician, told of one man who was getting charity but bought $46 worth of liquor in one month, admittedly for re-sale. He pointed out that at bootleg prices the man usually made about $100 net on the business of the month.

Alderman Moore felt that five dollars a week just supplied the order for those on the charity list and if they were cut off they would be forced into an illegitimate business and there would be another bootlegger in the city.

No definite decision was reached but the matter will be taken up in Toronto.

SLAYING OF WIFE COSTS 22 DIMES

California Man Expresses Relief as Life Sentence is Meted Out.

WANTED HIS CHILD.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Emory Ellis, who paid $2.20 in dimes to have his divorced wife, Mrs. Merle Ellis, 22, slain as she slept beside their 18-months old son, expressed relief today as the spectre of the gallows faded and he faced imprisonment for life.

Ellis, 26-year-old dishwasher, was convicted of first degree murder last night by a jury that recommended life imprisonment. He had confessed having given the lines to Benjamin Frankin Brown, itinerant, as 'part payment' for the shooting to death of Mrs. Ells by Brown, Nov. 2. Ells said he wished to obtain custody of their child.

Brown will be tried Monday. He repudiated a document police presented as a confession.

Export Business Light On Winnipeg Exchange

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 9 (C.P.).—Indifferent support, both locally and from outside interests and lessened wheat values in foreign markets featured light trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day. Net losses for the day ranged from 7-8 cent to 1 1-8 cents.

May closed at 56½, down 1 1-8 cents; July at 57 5-8 was down ⅞ cent, and October closed at 59 cents, down 1 1-8 cents.

Wheat operations were narrow in range and export business, both overnight and during the day, was light in character. Total sales in this connection were negligible.

Cash wheat trading was very light and spreads generally were unchanged from the previous close.

Trading on coarse grains was extremely slow and prices for the most part followed the trend of wheat.

PRINCESS TO BE BURIED SATURDAY

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The body of Louise, Princess Royal, lay to-day before the altar in Albert Memorial Chapel, preparatory to funeral Saturday. She died Sunday.

The motor hearse was delayed 90 minutes, bringing the body from Windsor to London last night because of the fog. The removal was without ceremony.

TRINITY WOMEN HAVE BIG RALLY

Members of the St. Andrew's Women's Association Are Guests at Meeting.

ANNUAL REPORTS READ.

(Contributed.)

The regular meeting of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church was held Tuesday, January 6, with the members of St. Andrew's Women's Association as guests. Over 100 ladies were present. The President, Mrs. R. J. Kidd presided and read as her New Year's message J. M. Bouchard's beautiful lines on the New Year"—

I asked the New Year for some motto sweet,
Some rule of life by which to guide my feet:
I asked and paused. It answered softly and low;
"God's will to know."

Will knowledge then suffice, New Year?" I cried:
But ere the question into silence died,
The answer came: "Nay: this remember, too,
God's will to do."

To know to do; can this be all we give
To Him in Whom we are, and move and live?
No more, New Year!" This, too, must be your care;
"God's will to bear."

Once more I asked; Is there still more to tell:"
And once again the answer sweetly fell:
"God's will to love."

Recommendations from the Executive for the work of the next month were received by the Association and adopted. The Secretary and Treasurer submitted the Annual Report.

During the year 10 meetings were held with an average attendance of 43. The speakers for the several meetings were—Rev. Mr. Millyard, who gave the New Year's message for 1930; Mrs. D. Wren—a paper on February; Miss Clarry—a paper on "Handel"; Mrs. F. C. Neal—The Island of Honolulu; Mr. A. B. Cunningham—Bermuda and the West Indies; Mrs. W. R. Morris—Vocational Training; Rev. D. Wren—Thanksgiving; Mrs. J. Forbes Allan—Music.

The Treasurer's report showed over $800.00 had been raised.

The Association was favoured with an address by his Honor Judge Huycke and by two beautifully rendered solos from Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, with Mrs. Agnes Logan Green as accompanist. Mrs. Park sang "O Heart of Mine" by James Whitcombe Riley, and the always beloved "Loch Lomond."

A few notes gleaned from the intensely interesting and inspiring address of Judge Huycke were—

Women are an integral part of the church. The teaching and the influence of the church is vastly different now from what it was in earlier days: church affairs and world affairs are changed. Women are all units very small ones—of an association, but they are "hooked" on to the general trend of humanity. The world is moving in thought and purpose and women can do something to improve the general trend. Every century some martyr has given his life because he dared to express his own opinion. A perfect furore of controversy was raised from Socrates, Capernicus, Galileo, Newton, Darwin and many others stood up for their view and convictions. These warring controversies were reconciled by one man who did more for the people of the past century than any other individual. He taught that love was before mankind; he taught that love was before the world existed. Lord Tennyson harmonized these warring elements in his immortal "In Memoriam."

The tide of intolerance should be stemmed wherever possible.

Women have influences apart from church associations—closer, deeper and stronger—to make life happier for other people. Women do not understand all about Science but they are always mending something—clothes, broken dollies and, later on, broken hearts. They should make men better, make women better by their teachings; women exert the greatest influence but may not do the greatest things. They must not waste this influence; they must look near at hand as well as in foreign fields; look after the children who are in need of firm but kind correction—"the little scalawags"—There is a very urgent and pressing need right now in this city of Peterborough for a Juvenile Court and why should not the women of the various organizations use their influences in having this court established.

A vote of thanks to the artists and Judge Huycke was given by Mrs. F. C. Neal and Mrs. N. D. Seaton, Mrs. F. L. Robinson and Mrs. J. Forbes Allan voiced the appreciation of the ladies of St. Andrew's Church.

Refreshments were served and a very happy get-together hour was spent.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (CP)—Prime mercantile paper 2¾-3 per cent.

Foreign exchange easier; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars others in cents)—Great Britain 4.85¼; France 3.92 1-8; Italy 5.23¼; Germany 23.77.

Trial By Church Law Demanded By Woman

(Special to the Examiner—Copyright 1931)

TORONTO Jan. 9—Following her alleged expulsion from the First Church of Christ, Scientists, Toronto, by an alleged order of the church board of directors, Winifred E. Johnstone, Toronto, filed suit at Osgoode Hall recently, seeking a declaration that her expulsion was void, that she was still a member of the congregation and asking for unstated damages for the act of the board.

Plaintiff asks, too, for an injunction restraining the board of directors of the defendant church, where she claims membership, from excluding her from the church or preventing her excercising the privileges of membership.

The claim of the plaintiff seeks the establishment of a finding that the decision of the church board purporting to expel her, was improper and "not in accordance with national justice," and with church rules and by-laws.

A demand for mandamus commanding the board of directors of the church to grant her a church trial in accordance with church by-laws, is also sought.

A clause asking for unstated damages for wrongful expulsion from the church concludes the writ of summons.

The following officers were elected: president, Mr. Herriott; vice-presidents, Miss Park and Mrs. Maycock; secretary, Mrs. Cockburn; treasurer, Mrs. Armstrong.

BUCK RELEASED ON $3,000 BAIL

PRELIMINARY HEARING

NORWOOD, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Examiner).—Appearing before Police Magistrate O. A. Langley to answer to a charge of criminal negligence, arising out of the death of John E. Roxburgh who was injured fatally after being struck by the accused's car, on the evening of December 15, Wilfred Buck, sixteen-year-old driver, was yesterday afternoon bailed for trial in the sum of $3,000.

Much interest was taken in the proceedings by members of the general public who crowded the small court room. Merely as a formality the evidence of Constable Puffer of Norwood, was heard, after which the accused was committed for trial. Buck was legally represented by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., while V. J. McElderry, K.C., acted in the interests of the Crown.

The case will come for trial before His Honour Judge E. C. S. Huycke, in the County Criminal Court, at a subsequent date.

In 5 Weeks One Thin Woman Gained 15 Pounds

Dear Madam: If you need more good solid flesh to fill out unsightly hollows in neck, cheeks and chest why not start to-day to get it?

Further delay may be dangerous so why not go to McDermid & Jury, McDermid's, Bond's, Lynch and Payne's, or any live druggist and get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—they are sugar coated, small and rich in the weight building substance extracted from codfish livers.

And while you are putting on weight with McCoy's you'll also gain in energy and physical attractiveness—eyes will brighten—skin blemishes vanish.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents—take them for 28 days faithfully—then if you are not satisfied with gain in weight and improved health get your money back—just ask for McCoy's.

BURN

HAVE a clean house, a clean furnace, a clean chimney—and more clean heat for your money. In Ford Coke the elements that make dust, smoke and soot have been removed. Use it for a while and you'll notice the difference in your curtains and carpets. And the absence of soot gives you protection against chimney fires.

It's a truly economical domestic fuel. Practically all heat—burns to very few ashes. Controls easily; banks well, and gives quick heat for early morning. No need to alter your present furnace. The lighter weight of a shovelful of coke makes it especially desirable where women must tend the furnace. These are all reasons why you ought to call us today for a trial order of Ford Coke.

(Ford Charcoal Briquets are an ideal fuel for starting furnace and for grate fires)

The financial report showed that the full allocation of $1,100 for the year had been met. This included the amounts raised by the Mission Circle and Mission Band.

Dr. Wood's

Norway Pine Syrup

Her Two Children Coughed Day And Night

Mrs. Fred. T. Kilnappel, R.R. No. 1, St. Agatha, Ont., writes:—"My two children were coughing, day and night, from a very severe, whoopy cough. I tried every kind of medicine I could think of, but they got no relief. "A friend told me I should try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I got two bottles of it, and before they were used the children were rid of their coughs. It is a very good medicine, and I would not be without a bottle in the house."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Jan. 9.— Tuesday's supply of cattle was cleaned up in the late trading, prices firm to a shade stronger for the week. There were no receipts by rail this morning and only a few cows, which arrived by truck, crossed the scales by 11 o'clock. The supply was well distributed over the first three days of the week and demand was fairly active with choice weighty steers selling at $7 to $7.75 a cwt. and handy butchers at the same range.

Bulls were a brisk trade and firm in price with heavy bulls selling for export to Antwerp. The calf market weakened during the three days, closing yesterday at $1 below Monday's opening.

Lambs gained 25 to 60 cents a cwt. and sheep were slightly stronger at the close of the week. The hog market was firm at $10 a cwt. for bacon w.o.c.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—The butter market was showing a steady tone yesterday, but trade was slow, and small lots were moved at prices level with the recent advance. Buyers were still holding off, and brokers were receiving orders that would be considered "fillers" at normal times. Some out-of-town business was accomplished, but not enough to stimulate the market.

Brokers were quoting 31c to 31½c for No. 1 solids, and 30c to 30½c for No. 2. Retailers were quoted 33c to 34c for No. 1 creamery prints, and 32c to 33c for No. 2.

Cheese Stronger

The cheese market showed a real strong tone, and prices were up from ¼c to ½c. Brokers were offering new large cheese at 13½c to 14c; twins, 13¾c to 14¼c, and triplets, 14c to 14½c. These increases were due to a better market at Montreal, and a seasonal reduction in stocks with no new make.

Eggs

The egg market remained weak, but there were no further reductions from the previous declines in prices to country shippers, who were quoted 32c for extras, 28c for firsts, 20c for seconds, and 24c for pullet extras, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Retailers were able to obtain supplies at 40c for extras, in cartons; 38c for extras, loose, 33c for firsts, loose; 29c for pullet, extras, and 25c for seconds loose. Brokers quoted fresh supplies lower at 35c to 36c for extras, 29c to 30c for firsts, and 25c to 26 for pullet extras, graded, and in free cases. They were not offering seconds, but had eggs candled out of storage at 26c for extras, and 24c for firsts.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Lessened buying in corn led to lower prices for all grains yesterday. Heavy receipts of wheat acted as an additional damper. Traders said an 8c corn advance since last week made a reaction natural, and that weather conditions were favorable both for corn movement and for economies in feeding.

Corn closed unsettled, ⅞c to 1¼c lower than Wednesday; wheat at 1c decline to ¼c advance; oats ½c off to ½c up, and provisions 2c lower to 25c higher.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 9. — Failure of Chicago corn to maintain the advance established on Wednesday sent wheat prices into a decline on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Net losses at the close of trading were 7c to 8c for the three futures.

Reversal of corn values exerted an influence in Winnipeg, and despite support from seaboard houses, values closed at the low points for the day.

Export business was lacking.

IMPORTANT OFFICE IS WELL FILLED

W. Burgess, Norwood, Appointed Secretary of East Peterborough Agricultural Society.

NORWOOD, Jan. 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mr. Wellington Burgess was appointed secretary of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society at a special meeting held in the Council Chamber, Norwood. Mr. W. Burgess was appointed secretary to succeed the late John E. Roxburgh. With the exception of one year, 1929, this position had been held by the late Mr. Roxburgh and his father since the organization of the society in 1868.

The position is an important one, as the success of the fair depends very largely upon the efficiency of the secretary.

Mr. Burgess has been been a member of the board of directors for about twenty years. Being also an experienced farmer will be a great help to him in connection with the society. They also feel that he will be a worthy successor to a time-honored and efficient servant, whose whole heart was in the success of Norwood and the fair.

The annual meeting of East Peterborough Agricultural Society will be held in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall, Norwood, on Wednesday, January 21, at 1 o'clock, for the election of officers and other business.

Annual meeting of Norwood Horticultural Society will be held in the Council Chamber at the Town Hall, Friday evening, January 16, at 8 o'clock for election of officers and other business.

POULTRY BAN LIFTED

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. — The ban on eating poultry by Chicago's 350,000 orthodox Jews, declared more than a week ago by the Rabbinate in a fight against alleged racketeering among the Schochtim, or Kosher fowl killers, was lifted today. The ban was lifted after the Schochtim complied with the Rabbinate's demand that new officers of the organization be elected.

BONARLAW GAINS EASY HOCKEY WIN

Defeat Springbrook By 9-1 Decision on Former's Home Ice.

MARMORA, Jan. 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—An easy victory was gained by Bonarlaw on Wednesday evening when, on their own rink, they deefated neighboring Springbrook by 9 to 1 in an exhibition game. Some of Bonarlaw's best men were absent, but the subs put up a good game and never once when they went up the line did they fail to approach the net. The game was clean throughout, but a few minor bruises were obtained by some of the players. The Wellman brothers starred for the visitors, while Ketcheson and McKeown stood out for Springbrook.

OBITUARY

EDWARD ELLIOTT

NORWOOD, Jan. 9. (Examiner Correspondent) — The news of Mr. Edward Elliott's death reached Norwood on Monday.

The late Mr. Ellictt was engaged in the baking business in Nashua, N.H. He was in his sixty-fifth year. Death was due to heart failure. The funeral was held on Thursday. Mrs. R. S. Ivey, a sister and Mr. John Elliott of Peterborough, went over to attend the funeral. Mrs. Wm. Spence is also a sister. This is the first death in the Elliott family of eleven children.

MRS. PETER McAULIFFE

Mrs. Peter McAuliffe passed away yesterday at the residence of her son, Martin of Emily Township. Mrs. McAuliffe (nee Ellen Brick) was born in Ennismore in 1839. Her death comes as a great sorrow to her two daughters, Mrs. James Guiry, 119 Hunter Street, Peterborough, and Mrs. Neil Murray of Emily, two sons, Patrick and Martin, and one sister, Mrs. Simon Perdue, 695 Stewart street, Peterborough. Her husband, a pioneer of the district, predeceased her 14 years ago.

The funeral will take place 9 a.m. Saturday from the residence of her son, Martin, in Ennismore, to St. Martin's Church. Interment will be made in Ennismore Cemetery.

JAMES NELSON EASTCOTT

MILLBROOK, Jan. 9. (Examiner Correspondence). — The death of James Nelson Eastcott, which occurred with startling suddenness on Thursday, January 8, in his sixty-ninth year, removes one of the most widely-known and highly-respected citizens of the community, and of Cavan township, of which he had been practically a life-long resident. Deceased is survived by his widow, formerly Mildred Matilda Lewis, and by his only daughter, Edna Victoria, of the science staff of the University of Toronto.

The funeral, under the auspices of Millbrook Lodge, No. 306, I.O.O.F., takes place from his late residence, Regent street, on Saturday, at 2 p.m. Interment at Welcome cemetery.

W.M.S. GATHER.

Mrs. Leeper Gives the Topic at Norwood Ladies' Session.

NORWOOD, Jan. 9. (Examiner Correspondent).—The January meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Harper, with a good attendance, Mrs. Stillman, the president, being in the chair.

Mrs. Hamblin led the program, opening with a hymn, followed with prayer by Mrs. McNeil and Mrs. Packenham. Mrs. Stewart read the Scripture lesson, after which Mrs. Walker sang a solo. Mrs. Leeper gave the topic after the roll call. Miss Donna Leeper gave a reading on "The Lord's Prayer". Two of the oldest life members of the society, Mrs. W. R. Howson and Mrs. J. B. Pearce, selected the hymns.

A vote of thanks was moved to Mrs. Harper for her hospitality and the meeting was closed with a hymn and prayer and a social half hour was spent.

Cuba spent nearly $36,000,000 in highway construction in 1930.

MAJOR BURWASH GREAT EXPLORER

Story of Discovery

As early as 1603 Henry Hudson sailed in from the Atlantic in an attempt to find the northern route to Asia. He passed the southern coast of Greenland, and proceeded along what is now the northern shores of Canada. His voyage terminated in the large bay which bears his name to this day.

Other great explorers as Fox, James and Frobisher followed Hudson with the same purpose for the next two hundred years.

The British Admiralty took up the search in 1820. They commissioned Sir John Franklin to sail to Nelson, and then to go to the mouth of and down the Mackenzie River. This Franklin did. At the river's mouth the party separated, one going west and the other east, and several discoveries were made. Five years later they traversed the land and sea from Great Slave Lake to Coronation Bay, a mid point on the northern coast.

A few years after this, another expedition was formed, consisting of two ships and 135 men against under the leadership of Franklin. Communication with the party was disrupted, and a relief expedition was organized. The 1849 search party met with no success. In the following yqear scanty records were found, and later three graves and caches of food.

The Admiralty offered $10,000 for the first authentic information leading to the discovery of the whereabouts of the members of the Franklin party. A Hudson Bay employee sailed along the northern coast in the vicinity of King William Island. From natives he learned that they had received gifts such as watches from Franklin, and that the party were scattered near this locality.

Thus another expedition, financed by Lady Franklin was sent under McClintock to this island. Hobson, a leader of a division of the party, found a printed record of Franklin's latitude and longitude. The expedition found that in 1848 one of the ships had been abandoned on the west side of King William Island. The party of about fifty had evidently decided to tramp towards the interior, over the height of land, and into the Slave Lake region. But they did not go far, as the finding of fifty skeletons near the north shore testified.

The Burwash Expeditions

In 1928 and 1929 Major Burwash went up the Mackenzie River and along the northern extremity of Canada to the north coast of King William Island. There he discovered the locality of the second ship of the Franklin party. The boat was said to be under twelve feet of water and visible from the surface, but the extensive ice flow at that time of year prevented Major Burwash from seeing it.

On this trip the great explorer and scientist made data on the magnetic pole. He discovered that the compass changes 7 degrees per day. Therefore he arrived at the conclusion that the pole swings in an arc of the same number of degrees.

The remainder of Major Burwash's expeditions was portrayed with slides and films.

Views were shown of Fort Prince of Wales built in 1737, but now in ruins. Airplane photos of King William Island revealed the lack of trees, and the clay and limestone structure of the country. Similar photos of the Copper River portrayed the Bloody Falls around which centres the story of an early expedition up the river. Indians were used to make up the exploring party, and could only be made to go further by being promised to massacre the first Eskimos that they found. At the falls an Eskimo settlement was stormed by night, and all of the inhabitants except two were murdered.

Pre-History Found in Eskimo

Several Eskimoes were pictured whose features resemble those of Neanderthal man. Their habits are the same, as they use flint instruments as ancient man did. "The late Dr. Ami's work of research in northern France is finding a more substantial parallel in the study of the living Eskimo of northern Canada; in the latter case we can study pre-history first hand," said the speaker.

Views depicted the various forms of life in the sub-Arctic regions — the caribou, whale, seal, musk-ox, white fox, sleigh dog, bear cubs. Greenlanders show their skill by turning their kyaks about with one stroke of the paddle. The girls display their gaudy costumes. The inhabitants of Greenland are highly civilized—have their own newspapers, import goods, etc. A picture of Pond's Inland, Canada, showed the most northerly inhabitants of the country. There the women mushed ahead of the dogs, and plied their wooden snow shovels when necessary. Eskimo graves showed the belief of the people, that the deceased person's implements will be used by the spirit after death. Arctic plant life consists of ferns, white daisies, forget-me-nots, rock roses and blue bells, all of which were pictured in color.

Odd films depicted an igloo used as an observatory, the nearest white man's dwelling to the Magnetic Pole, and air views of this vicinity, Cape Felix which lies to the north of King William Island, remnants of the Franklin expedition — tent cloth, rope, harness, and navy broadcloth.

The moving picture machine revealed the plane left by the McAlpin party. In quick succession followed pictures of a cairn found, of Fort Resolution, Fort Providence, Fort Simpson, the Mackenzie River, oil lands, a scene in an Indian tent settlement, Shingle Point, which lies beyond the timber line on a long sand bar, Herschell's Islands, Coronation Gulf, and the Copper Mine River, Cambridge Bay, the area through which the Magnetic Pole moves, Victory Point, and the Franklin remains.

The films, though not chronologically assorted, gave a real insight into the life in and the physique of the so-called "great northern wastes of Canada." Through the heroic work of men like Major Burwash, these "wastes" will one day be turned into the "gold mine of Canada," through the development of the great potentialities which the North has to offer.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S. Officers Re-elected

WARKWORTH, Jan. 9 (Examiner Correspondence) — All the officers were re-elected for 1931 at the annual meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church and include: the Rev. Two Are Killed, Three Others Wounded In Gun Fights With Cleveland's Bad Men

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—(CP)—Gun fights with criminals cost the lives of two men here today and three others were wounded. Patrolman James Ryan, 37, and Albert Burke, 43, district telegraph operative, died in a hospital a few hours after they were shot. Patrolman John Cleary may be paralyzed for life from a bullet in his spine.

Ryan and Cleary were shot last night by an ex-convict, who fired through a door when they went to his room in a cheap west side flat to arrest him. Police said the killer was John W. Glasscock, alias Jack McCarthy, 37, who had served time in the Joliet, Ill., prison for a bank robbery.

How to End RHEUMATISM

New Medicine Drives Rheumatic Poisons from Joints and Muscles.

EASES PAIN FIRST DAY.

Poisons in the blood settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till every trace of these dangerous poisons is driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new medicine that acts directly on the liver, stomach and blood, and expels through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatic misery.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is the one rheumatism remedy guaranteed to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness, swelling and lameness.

McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store has so much confidence in RU-MA that they want every rheumatic in town to try it and guarantee money-back if it does not end rheumatism.

Miss Greta Clark, a former resident of the city who is now a missionary at Keifung, Honan, China, was remembered by her friends of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' church at a very interesting tea and shower of handkerchiefs held on Tuesday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. J. Edgar, Sherbrooke street. About two hundred handkerchiefs were brought in by the ladies, and these will be sent to Miss Clark to distribute as gifts among the girls in her mission school. The ladies, numbering about fifty, were received by Mrs Edgar and Mrs. Frank Huffman, and were entertained very enjoyably at a musical program and tea. Those contributing during the afternoon and evening, to the program, included Miss Marguerite Rome in piano selections, Mr. Roy Rome playing the violin, and Mrs. H. E. Connelly, in several readings. Mrs. Edgar and Mrs. Huffman were assisted by Mrs. J. M. McCulloch, who poured tea, also Mrs. F. H. Dawson, Mrs. J. D. Paterson, Mrs. F. Drummond, Mrs. W. Munn, Mrs. Francis Edgar and Miss Ella Brown. The table was draped with a lovely embroidered cloth of fine white Chinese linen and the rooms were attractive with a display of unique Oriental novelties; Chinese lanterns, pictures, ancestral tablets, lamps and mandarin beads. Mr. Wei of Keifung, China, who is at present visiting Canada, was a guest and explained the meaning of many of the Oriental wares. He also addressed a meeting in the parish hall in the evening, outlining for his audience the work carried on at the Anglican Missions and at the Cathedral, of which he is rector, in Keifung.

VANCOUVER WOMAN NOTED ARCHITECT

Designed British Pavilion At Paris Exhibition Of Industrial Art

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 19.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Among Vancouver Island women who are engaged in special work and whose exhibits have attracted great interest and admiration here, is an English woman, Mrs. Frank Holland, A.R.I.B.A. and A.A. diplomee, widow of the late Frank Holland, of Victoria. Mrs. Holland's special training in the architectural schools of London, where she completed a five year course under Howard Robertson, the celebrated architect, led to her being chosen to work with the architectural firm of Easton & Robertson in designing the British Pavilion at the Paris Exhibition of Industrial Art in 1925. The work entailed in this undertaking was by no means light, says Mrs. Holland, who recalled the "thrill" of rushing the plans each day to the Admiralty Office, whence they were dispatched by King's Messenger from the Embassy by airplane to Paris for inspection.

At one time she worked out the conversion of the news of a large London house in Eaton Square into a small modern residence, a job, very typical of what is taking place in London now; also on the new Horticultural Hall, one of the most advanced re-inforced concrete buildings in London which has now been completed.

Officers Elected St. George's Guild

The regular meeting of St. George's Ladies' Guild was held on Thursday afternoon in the church basement. Mrs. H. Wood, president, occupied the chair, and read the opening prayers. After the usual business the election of officers took place, the only change made in last year's officers being that of treasurer.

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. J. L. Hughes.
Pres.—Mrs. H. Wood.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. R. King.
Secretary—Mrs. P. Malsch.
Treasurer—Mrs. M. Farthing.

Ladies selected to be on the purchasing committee are Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Farthing and Mrs. F. McBride.

At the conclusion of the business the Rector closed the meeting with prayer.

BORGIAS' LETTERS FOUND IN VATICAN

Include Part of Private Correspondence of Pope Alexander VI

MILAN, Italy, Jan. 9 (C.P.)—In the Vatican archives some unpublished letters of the Borgias have been found by Dr. Pastor, historian, among them being part of the private correspondence of Pope Alexander VI. Letters of particular interest and value include six from Charles VIII., King of France, two from Giovanni Sforza, Lord of Pesaro, the first husband of Lucrezia Borgia, and seven from Lucrezia herself, all addressed to Pope Alexander VI. Other documents are two letters, to that Pope from Giulia Farnese, dated June 10 and August 14, 1494, three undated notes from Vannozza Catani, and letters from the Pope to Adriana Mila and Giulia Farnese.

The Village of X

The hills sloped down from the north to meet the village of X—— at the river. X—— had only two sidewalked streets, Bridge, which crossed the river and climbed the hill, and Main which wound along the river bank. There were three churches, all in a row. Father Tom's of grey field stone in its yard, and to the west the brick Presbyterian and the frame Methodist. There were two general stores, one tavern, a blacksmith shop, a sawmill, a gristmill and a grain elevator. The man who owned the latter also shipped the district's surplus cattle, sheep and hogs, to the nearest city, — five hours away over the bumpiest road on which it has ever been my lot to travel.

X—— had a population of five hundred, half of it retired farmers who had made a competence on the land and had come in to spend the carefree age they had dreamed of for so many years. Too late, however, many of them realized that happiness is not always to be secured by the shirking of burdens, and no Bolshevist was ever more discontented with life as it is than those ex-farmers as they gathered to gossip at the blacksmith shop or on the platform of the more popular general store.

X—— was charmingly situated. The magnificent river came down from the west, tumbling in foamy rapids below the old wooden bridge. The river's banks were well edged with pine, and many little islands its surface. These islands were later to be acquired by American sportsmen on which to build their fishing lodges in that veritable fisherman's paradise literally teeming with bass and lunge. In the dawn of Canadian history an Indian village had stood upon its bank, and many indeed were the arrow-heads and pipes which repeated plowings brought to the surface.

Some very interesting Indian relics are now to be seen in the museum of the county town. I saw there a tomahawk wonderfully bound to its wooden handle with thong. — I believe the best thing of its kind to be seen anywhere in Canada. And I have viewed most of the better collections. The two scalplocks which lay beside it in a welter of arrowheads provided an extra thrill. Alas, no one there knew anything of its history!

The village of X—— was quite a busy place on Saturday afternoon and night, when the district people crowded in to do their shopping, to get their horses shod, to gossip at the stores, to walk up and down Main Street or linger on the bridge. It was mostly the young people who lingered on the bridge, but petting parties were unheard of in those days. Most of those young people would come back to-morrow for one, if not both, of their church services.

But the X—— of to-day is quite up-to-date. It is proud, with due reason, of its public buildings and its paving and its industries. It has extended on all sides, even taking in the wide marsh to the east, — the reclamation of which is a triumph of engineering. The south side, then mostly woods and swamp, is now its best residential district. In short, very little of the old X—— remains. (M.K.)

TRAINS CRASH—60 INJURED

VILNA, Lithuania, Jan. 9.—Sixty passengers were injured to-day when a passenger train, en route to Wojtkowice to Ostki, crashed into a freight train.

The engineer, who was said to have been intoxicated, failed to observe the halt sign two miles before Ostki station. He was arrested.

RESEARCH WORK OF ORIENTALIST

Nine Expeditions Working in Egypt, Megiddo, Armageddon and Iraq.

EGYPTIAN LITERATURE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—They elected the King Canute of the oceans of time to membership among the immortals in the French Academy. He was Dr. James Henry Breasted, famous Orientalist of the University of Chicago. One of the things Dr. Breasted hopes to be able to do is to push back the dates of unknown history a million years.

Like the ancient Norse King he stands before the ocean of the past, bids it withdraw, and unlike King Canute's ocean, it does. It is a war upon nine fronts that Dr. Breasted carries on. He is commander-in-chief of the greatest onslaught ever made against the corrosion of the remains of the cradles of civilization in Egypt and the Near East. Nine large and well-financed expeditions are directed from his office here, where he sits before walls covered with maps in which pins bristle the location of his historical "armies."

Six expeditions are working in Egypt. There is another at Megiddo, which uncovered King Solomon's stables and is delving into the battlefield of Armageddon. Another, exploring the remains of the Hittite kings, has dipped into historic geologic structures that belong to the stone age. Still another in the Near East is exploring the remains of King Sargon II in Irah.

One of the Egyptian expeditions, on the Upper Nile, is seeking to link up the basic Egyptian civilization with the stone age, 1,000,000 years ago, and on its work, largely, Dr. Breasted pins his faith in the origin of civilization in the Nile Valley, as well, as perhaps, the origin there of biological man. His labor of life is the collection of all the literary remains of the ancient Egyptian civilization. With meticulous care, every scrap of the inscriptional legacy of Egypt is copied, photographed and published in permanent form. The Egyptian civilization, he says, left literary remains exceeding even the Greek and Roman civilizations, and they are to be made available to scholars for centuries more completely than the Greek and Roman literatures were. This work will not be completed, he believes, until long after his death.

Dr. Breasted is a kindly man, with white hair, and particularly luminous eyes. He doesn't talk like professors are supposed to talk. Rich in the experience of modern life, he has the faculty of being able to translate the life of ancient Egypt into terms of warm flesh and blood. For him, there is humor as well as human sympathy, and, sometimes, deep pathos, in hieroglyphs upon a tomb or monument.

DROUGHT RECORD SET IN 20 STATES

Official Figures Show 1930 Driest Ever Known in Country.

FEW ARE RELIEVED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—It took the midnight hour of New Year's to end officially the record-breaking drought of 1930, though in reality it isn't over yet.

The Weather Bureau, compiling its preliminary figures for rainfall during last year, to-day found that drought records of all time had been smashed in twenty States, while a number of others were saved only by downpours late in the year which made up the Summer shortage.

The rain shortage continued, the Bureau reported, in the area bounded by the Appalachian Mountains on the East, the Ohio River on the South, and the Mississippi to the West.

Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia were the driest section of the country for 1930, getting only 56 per cent of normal rainfall.

A movement to establish a zoo in Belfast, Ireland, is being bitterly fought on the ground that caging wild animals is cruel.

DRESS IS NEEDED FOR MOTHER OF 4

Is Just Home From Hospital and Has Not a Dress to Wear.

OTHERS WANT CLOTHING.

A dress is needed for a woman just home from the hospital with a new baby and three other small children in the home.

A little boy of twelve with a pair of bright black eyes and a very engaging smile would do better with a coat. The one he has now is oversize and hangs down to his heels. It also fastens with a pin instead of a button. But with nine children in this house, what can be done for this cheerful young man unless someone helps him out a bit?

A little girl of four wants a dress pretty badly also, and then there is a small lad of five who needs a little overcoat that will make him and his mother feel a whole lot better.

Will some kind person with any of the above things telephone The Examiner and we will call for them?

CLOTHING PRICES AT LOW LEVELS

Change in Raw Material Costs Reflected in Finished Fabrics.

MANUFACTURERS GATHER.

TORONTO, Jan. 9. — Clothing in Canada to-day can be purchased for less than at any time since before the war, and probably more cheaply than it will be for another generation, according to an analysis of the textile situation made here yesterday at a joint meeting, the first in history, of clothing manufacturers and woollen cloth manufacturers.

Devising of means for orderly marketing of the products of Canadian woollen mills during the coming season was the purpose of the meeting. Raw materials, including cotton, wool and silk have reached price levels below pre-war prices, a joint statement issued after the meeting pointed out. Finished fabrics, it is stated, are sensitive to any change in raw material prices and the two are substantially in line, being reflected in the prices of wearing apparel.

Means by which both the manufacturers and the consuming public may be mutually helped were indicated.

ITALIAN PLANES TO CONTINUE TRIP

Squadron Will Halt at Bahia on Way Down Coastline to Rio de Janiero.

CRIPPLE CATCHES UP.

NATAL, Brazil, Jan. 9.—A thousand miles of tropical coastline with, at the end of the journey, what many claim to be the most beautiful city in the world, Rio de Janeiro, lay ahead of General Italo Balbo and his trans-Atlantic flight companions to-day.

One stage of the final stretch in their flight from Orbetello, Italy, will be made to-day—that from Natal to Bahia, where they will wait probably three days before going down to Rio.

Eleven planes will make the flight between Rio and Bahia and perhaps twelve. The first of the two planes to come down en route from Bolana, Portuguese Gunia, was towed into Fernando do Noronha, prison island 125 miles from Natal by an Italian destroyer. Shortly afterward it set out for Natal and reached here yesterday afternoon The twelfth is expected to-day or later at Bahia.

HUNT CONTINUES FOR LOST PLANE

Blanket on Alaskan Island Gives New Clue to Search Party.

FISHERMEN MAKE FIND.

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, January 9 (C.P.). — New impetus was given the search to-day for Pilot Robin Renahan and two companions, missing since October 26, as it was learned the fliers carried a brown blanket similar to one seen on Duke Island beach.

Two Renahan plane wheels found on Annette Island brought Pilot Ansce Ecjmann to the scene yesterday from Prince Rupert, B.C., to search for other clues.

Reports by fishermen that their lines encountered an obstruction off Smith Island, which they were positive was not there a few months ago, sent a half-dozen expeditions to the vicinity 15 miles south of here.

Letter Speaks Well For Local Goods

The high quality and dependability of goods manufactured and sold in Peterborough is internationally known. Tourists buying here generally have the desire to come again because they know the value of quality. And this is aided greatly by the service and courtesy given by local merchants.

A letter has been received by the local Chamber of Commerce from a prominent Detroit business man, inquiring for a company from which he bought a stove some twenty years ago:

"Over 20 years ago a kitchen range by the name of Dixon No. 23 was bought from a stove manufacturer in your city. Is there such a company now in existence and doing business in Peterborough?"

"If so, would you kindly deliver this letter to them and have them get in touch with me at the above address?"

"I want to find out if they are still making this model as I am in need of a new firebox for the above stove which is located in a camp I own in Triton Club, Quebec."

The letter is being forwarded to Adam Hall Limited, manufacturers of stoves in Peterborough for over fifty years, who sold the range.

FASHION SERVICE

It's charmingly slender.

The bodice cuts all in one until it joins the skirt flounce that gives smart animation in its circular cut.

Another idea for this easily made model that will make it appear entirely different, is to make it sleeveless with the cape collar as shown in the miniature views. You'll like it immensely in black chiffon for Sunday nights.

Style No. 2922 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust, Size 36 requires 3 3-8 yards of 39-inch material with 7-8 yard of 32-inch contrasting.

Wool crepe, tweed mixtures and canton crepe also appropriate.

Our large Fashion Book shows how to dress up to the minute at very little expense. It contains most attractive Paris designs for adults and children, embroidery, etc.

Y.W.C.A. Drive Progressing Favorably

The annual drive for new gymnasium members conducted by the Young Women's Christian Association each winter is now in full swing. This year each class comprises a group and under the leadership of a captain and a mate is striving to get new members.

Progress of the campaign is recorded on a huge poster on the bulletin board of the main entrance. The poster represents a modernistic brightly colored sea flea race course and the various speed boats are named for the different classes. It looks as if Johnson Motors and Peterborough Canoe Co. boats were favorites in the race. Each new member helps one of the boats nearer the finishing flag. Captains appointed to date are: Juniors Captain, F. Trebilcock, Mate, L. Comstock; Babies, Capt. A. Gallagher, Mate, H. Lambert; Intermediates, Mate, Thelma Buller, Captain, Gladys Johnson; Elementary, Capt. S. Ecobichon, Mate, M. Leahy. Other classes will appoint their officers this week.

Although the campaign only started Monday, already several new members have been recorded and the present gym pupils are enthusiastic about the new ones they are going to bring in next week. The gym slogan for the campaign is, "Come one, come all, Fat girls, thin girls, Short girls, tall." The Y.W.C.A. Gymnasium is the place to have fun, so make another New Year's resolution and join the gym right away. Two kind friends have left donations at the 'Y' to supplement gymnasium fees for girls out of work. If you want to come to gym let us know.

The aim of the gymnasium department of the Y.W.C.A. is to build up and keep good health and through corrective work, general gymnastics, apparatus, reed, club, wand, dumbbell and swedish exercises and folk and aesthetic dancing to equip the whole body to meet the strain of strenuous business or school life.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

What does the atmosphere of your home seem to be? Is it one of constant quarrelling or is there a certain spirit of repose?

* * * * * * *

Many of you will agree with me when I say that there MUST be a certain spirit of repose about a house for it to be transformed into a home.

* * * * * * *

This does not mean that quietness prevails; that excitement is constantly quelled, that disputes never occur and that harmony is never disrupted.

* * * * * * *

Find a house where these things are entirely obliterated and you will also find a home without zest.

* * * * * * *

The calm will be from lack of interest in the concerns of one another. When this is the case, common interest, mutual happiness and real family life are at a low ebb.

* * * * * * *

Discussions, even those that verge on disputes, show a lively concern that all shall, to some degree, have a common viewpoint. And so there are times when it is worthwhile to thresh matters out to see if some meeting points cannot be established.

* * * * * * *

It is when discussions are the ordinary events, not the unusual, that repose forsakes a house. But even when these are seldom there must be a virile harmony at the root of home life in order for peace to be restored after heated discussions.

* * * * * * *

There must be that peace that rests on forgetting the unkindly words of a quick tongue or the sudden silences that in the midst of an argument indicate inability to agree with another's viewpoint.

* * * * * * *

Should resentment continue to lurk in the mind, there is one sure method of driving it out. Just for a few moments make yourself think of the loving side of the nature that is in opposition to yours.

* * * * * * *

Consider the nice things the person has done for you. Don't allow your mind to be so clouded by the recent disturbance that the illuminating light of such kindnesses cannot be glimpsed.

* * * * * * *

When once they are, it is amazing how their sunny glow will rekindle the warmth of affection. It is this glow that burns away the memory of disagreements.

* * * * * * *

The matter is past and gone and when time comes, which can be soon, if you will permit it to be, then there comes again that inner repose that is the strength of family life and home happiness.

13 BOYS ON ICE FLOE SAVED

QUEBEC, Jan. 9—Parents frantically manning rowboats affected the rescue of thirteen youths from Portneuf village, who had gone adrift on a huge ice cake in the St. Lawrence River. The boys were fishing in the evening, when one of them noticed that the cake of ice had become detached from the shore and was in mid-stream. Their shouts attracted Mayor Poliquin, who raised the alarm.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

THE HEIGHT AND WEIGHT OF YOUR CHILD.

Some day it may be possible to tell any particular child — boy or girl — exactly how tall he or she should be and the proper weight for the age.

Despite all our knowledge and despite all the work that has been done on child nutrition, it is not possible to say that any child is exactly the right height and weight for its age.

Of course, many valuable tables have been arranged, and every doctor, including myself, is guided to some extent by them, but every day we meet cases where the youngster does not conform to the height and weight of his or her age and yet common sense and tests show that the youngster ir normal in every way, strong and healthy.

At other times we come across youngsters who appear to be of normal height and weight for the age, whereas a little more weight would be beneficial.

What is wrong with our system of measurements?

Simply, as mentioned before, that bodies cannot be classed all alike, and of same height and weight at any given age.

What will likely be arranged some time in the future will be measurements of the bones as to their thickness and length, and length of the trunk as compared with the length of the legs; the width of the chest as compared with the depth; the girth of chest as compared with girth of abdomen; the width of shoulders and hips, the shape and size of the bones that form the spinal column, and other points that will help the physician and nurse in their endeavor to estimate what should be the height and weight of any particular child.

Roughly, for adults, we speak of the greyhound and bulldog type of physique: one slender and sinewy, and strong, and the other short and strong with wide shoulders and chest and a long body as compared to length of legs.

But in youngsters, before reaching the age of fifteen, it is rather difficult to classify them in this manner.

However, the big thing, the one important thing to remember, is that boys and girls should be continually growing in height and increasing in weight, and as girls reach the age of thirteen to fourteen, and boys fifteen to sixteen, there should be almost twice as much increase in growth and weight as during the years before and after these ages.

If your child eats plenty of good food and gets plenty of sleep, don't worry if he is not exactly 'standard.' But remember he should be always gaining some weight and some height. If he is not doing so, see your doctor.

Fast Plane Service to Save 27 Hours Between Montreal and Winnipeg.

MANY ONTARIO CALLS.

TORONTO, Jan. 9 (CP)—Announcement has been made by the post office department of the inauguration of a fast mail plane service between Montreal and Winnipeg effective on February 2.

As a result mail posted here for Winnipeg, will save approximately 27 hours over letters sent by rail. Planes leaving here at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon, are scheduled to arrive in Winnipeg at one o'clock the next afternoon.

Planes eastbound and westbound will make stops at Hamilton, London and Windsor. Practically all cities and towns in Western, Central and Eastern Ontario, as well as Eastern Canada, will be served by the new service.

PLANES SURVEY SECTION IN NORTH

Covering of Area From North of Port Arthur to Sudbury Take Nearly Month.

PARTY IN 2 SHIPS.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—The reconnaissance for a triangulation net across 500 miles of Northern Ontario is to be carried out by aeroplane this winter by J. L. Rannie and F. P. Steers of the geodetic survey, Department of the Interior. They expect to leave Ottawa on Jan. 12 in two Royal Canadian Air Force planes. The area it is proposed to cover is the lake and bush country from Lake Nipigon, north of Port Arthur, eastward as far as Sudbury.

The triangulation so laid down still form the basis for aerial photography for mapping, forestry, mineral and other investigations. The planes will be in charge of Flying Officer N. Carter and Sergeant Pilot Ewart, and will be accompanied by three mechanics of the Royal Canadian Air Force. The party will be absent from Ottawa from two weeks to a month.

A war memorial chapel is being added to Norwich Cathedral in England.

When Helen couldn't find the recipe she was heart-broken. It was Tom's special favorite ever since he was a little boy and nothing else would do for the anniversary dinner she had been planning all week. The whole day seemed spoiled.

Then she thought of the telephone. What a happy inspiration. A few minutes later she was telling her woe to Tom's mother, eighty miles away, and sure enough Tom's mother knew the recipe. She ought to, for she had invented it.

So the day was saved — all for a call that cost less than a movie.

In any emergency — great or small — nothing can equal the telephone. Out-of-town calls are so easy to make and so inexpensive. And they are quicker now than ever before.

Evening rates on "Anyone" (station-to-station) calls now begin at 7 p.m. Night rates begin at 8.30 p.m. Just give "Long Distance" the number you want—it speeds up the service. If you don't know the distant number, "Information" will look it up for you.

Petes Defeat Port Hope 4-3 For First Victory

LEAFS DEFEAT MAROONS 1-0 TO GAIN THE TOP POSITION IN CANADIAN N. H. L. GROUP

FALCONS LOSE AT HOME.

Flying Frenchmen Win From Americans in Close Squeeze at New York 2-1.

TORONTO, Ont., January 9 (C. P.). — Ascension of Toronto Maple to the Canadian group leadership, Montreal Canadiens' lucky victory over New York Americans and the first home defeat of Detroit Falcons by New York Rangers were salient features in last night's full five game National Hockey League program.

Maple Leafs ousted Montreal Maroons from the top rung of the northern division by defeating them at Arena Gardens, 1 to 0. It was the second tme this season that the Art. Duncan-coached squad has beaten the Montrealers, but it was a narrow squeeze.

For two periods both teams played cautiously and the capacity crowd of fans had little to get excited about. The big break came less than six minutes after the start of the final frame when Hooley Smith drew a questionable penalty for breaking the anti-defence rule.

With the odd man advantage, Toronto endeavored to force the issue, and they did. At least "Ace" Bailey did. The Leaf right winger stickhandled cleverly about the Maroon blue-line until he had pulled the opposing defence out and enabled Andy Blair to slip inside. He then slip a perfect pass to the congated centre man, who easily hooked the rubber around Dave Kerr and into the Maroon net.

Fully aroused after this setback, the Maroons opened wide the throttle and thrills entered the game for the first time. For the last 15 minutes of the contest it was just one Montreal thrust after another shattering on a stubborn but somewhat wobbly Leaf rear guard. The Leafs maintained their slim lead to the finish, however, due to some remarkable playing by their super defence star, King Clancy, and brilliant goalkeeping by Lorne Chabot.

Montreal's flying Frenchmen outplayed the amazing Amerks throughout their hard fought contest and really deserved the victory, but their winning goal proved a bitter blow to the Americans' clever little goalkeeper, Roy Worters, who had turned aside the Red Shirt threat with rare consistency.

Billy Burch put the A's in front halfway through the opening twenty minutes by blazing Bill Brydge's pass past George Hainsworth, the nonchalant Habitant goalie. Pete Lepine evened the score in the last minute on Sylvio Mantha's pass.

The teams then fought on even terms, with Canadiens carrying the brunt of the attacking burden until the last minute of the second session. With most of the players waiting for the bell, G. Mantha skated down and flipped one from long range at Worters, who caught the flying disc. He lost his balance, however, and apparently became flurried, for in trying to toss the rubber aside aimed it right into his own net.

This goal proved the winning one and it enabled the Flying Frenchmen to climb into a second place tie with their fellow townsmen, the Maroons. Canadiens have two games in hand over their intra-city rivals.

Defeat Senators

Three goals in the opening period enabled Boston Bruins to to defeat the luckless Senators at Ottawa and increase their lead in the American group to six points over Rangers and Chicago. "Dit" Clapper and Cooney Weiland combined for the first counter less than a minute after the start. Weiland put his team two up 10 minutes later on an individual effort and then Clapper got his second tally three minutes later to complete Boston's goal getting.

Billy Beveridge replaced Alex Connell in the Ottawa cage starting the second frame and the Senators entered more into the picture, though they failed to score until the third session had gotten well under way, due to Tiny Thompson's fine display in the Bruin net. Frankie Finnigan put the Capital city hockeyists into the running with a sparkling goal after eight minutes, but the Bostonians held them out after that.

Bill Cook put the crimp into the Falcon's hopes of going through the season undefeated at home by scoring the only goal of the contest after five minutes play. He dashed down into Falcon territory accompanied by Joe Jerwa and took the latter's pass for the winning goal.

The game was fast and fairly clean but the failure of the league's leading scorer, Ebbie Goodfellow, and his team-mates to get the tieing goal put somewhat of a damper on the rabid Detroit crowd's enthusiasm.

By winning the Rangers were able to keep pace with Chicago in the tussle for second place, while the Motor city team dropped three points behind.

Hawks Win

As expected Chicago had little difficulty walloping the lowly Philadelphians by a 4 to 0 count. Miller scored in the opening frame and Gottselig in the second. Ingram and Adams notched a goal apiece to clinch the verdict in the final frame.

CAMPBELLFORD DROPS INITIAL HOME TUSSLE

WEAK IN SECOND.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 9 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Campbellford's cup of happiness was not full to overflowing last evening, when the Maroons went to defeat before the Tweed aggregation in the T.V.L. fixture with a score of 5—3. The game, which was played on the Campbellford Arena, was not without its fine points. Both teams played a good brand of hockey, the game being fast and featured by very heavy checking.

The second period was the Millers' weak spot. Half way through this session trouble arose over the penalizing of Cowall, with the result that the game was stopped while the officials threshed out the matter with the referee, O. Keneally of Peterborough. When play commenced, the entertainers were off their play and the score piled up on them, making a big lead for Tweed and one that Campbellford was not able to overcome.

Five penalties were registered during the game, all in Tweed's favor, but as the checking was severe, it was hard to say if these were deserved. Tweed have a fast team and play a fine, aggressive game, especially in the first two periods. With a strong forward line, they led the attack on the Campbellford goal, but as usual, came up against the Home Towners' defence, which played up to form. The lost period was Campbellfords, the entertainers staging a come back and playing up to their usual form, with the result that they scored the only goal of the twenty minutes.

Scores First Goal.

The first period opened with Tweed netting the puck in the first minute of the game, when Cripps shot from centre ice after Flemming had lost the counter from the face-off. Campbellford's goal was then the scene of some fast attacks, Campbell for Tweed breaking several combinations of the Millers.. Smith for Campbellford eventually cleared the visitors' house, but an offside was called in their area, and Horkins evened the count for Campbellford by netting the puck from the face-off. This started another battle for the lead. A. Geraldi and Cripps driving through the Maroons' forward line only to be met by Cowell on the defence and driven back.

Heavy checking started at this time, with the result that many of the players measured their length on the ice. Tweed, however, were determined to gain the lead, and forging toward the Maroons' net, staged a scrimmage in that area in which Cripps scored from a pass from Campbell. Campbellford, however, soon evened the count again, when Horkins made a counter from a pass from Smith after a drive from the face-off at centre ice. Again play became hard, Horkins being put on the fence for tripping, receiving an extra two minutes for talking back to the referee. From then on the game became loose until the gong sounded.

Lead Play In Second.

The second period was the deciding factor for the visitors. Starting by an attack on the Tweed net by the Maroons, several scrimmages were staged in front of their goal. This attack was returned, however, and in a shake-up in front of the Campbellford net G. Geraldi made another counter. Play then became heavy, with the result that McKay was put on the fence, followed also immediately by Horkins, and then by Cowall, leaving the Millers with half a team on the ice. Then followed the little discussion among the officials which delayed the game for some minutes. This was over the penalizing of Cowall, who was fenced for throwing an opponent's stick, but which, it was claimed, he lifted to free his own stick that was being held to the ice.

When play opened again. Tweed tried to break through the Campbellford half team, but were unable to do so. The Millers seemed to have broken down in this half, however, with the result that Campbellford scored another counter for Tweed, coming back with a second a short while after, the latter being a long shot. Then the visitors went on the defensive and played a good game, M. Geraldi, however, taking no chances but clearing the puck whenever he got possession of it.

Tally Last Counter

The last period told another tale. The Maroons came up to form and played on the offensive, with the result that they spent the best part of the time in front of the visitors' house. Altering their combination, they broke through the Tweed front line and kept McGee, in the Tweed net, busy; but he played a good game, only letting one counter through, when Smith shot from a pass close in to the Tweed goal. The period finished in the Tweed house, that team being hard pressed; Geraldi, on left defence, doing his best to clear the puck at every opportunity.

Campbellford had the better combination of the two teams, but received little support from Grier in goal, who did not play up to his usual form. Their defence, Cowall and McArthur, were as strong as ever, and the forward line of Flemming, McKay and Horkins, did right valiantly, being subbed by Bruyea, Smith and Copperthwaite. The Tweed squad is a fast-moving crowd, taking every advantage that comes their way, and supported by a good goalie, McGee. Marchen and M. Geraldi work well on defence, the latter however, playing loose on occasions. Campbell, at the pivot position, is a formidable opponent, breaking up many forward attacks and checking heavily, while Cripps and A. Geraldi give him splendid support.

Commencing the T.V.L. on home ice, the newly-elected Mayor of Campbellford, Major J. M. Bygott, faced the puck. The line-ups were:

WINNERS HOLD EDGE ON PLAY THROUGH TILT

FEUD AGAIN BREAKS OUT.

The Peterborough Intermediates broke into the win column at Port Hope last night when they handed the lakefront's aggregation of veterans a 4 to 3 defeat.

They say that figures don't lie but sometimes they do not bulge with truth. The score of last night's battle is an example of the numerals being astray, because the 4-3 count fails to give a true picture of the edge the Petes had over their old rivals. On their play the records could easily have shown double that number of goals.

For more than half the contest the winners uncorked a brand of speed and combination that had doughty Ontarios fairly hanging on the ropes. However, as in the game here against Oshawa, they repeatedly missed golden opportunities around the nets that their play had earned them. This lack of final punch together with sensational net-minding by Joe Micks combined to keep their tallies down, although for minutes at a time they practically controlled the play.

Stars In Net

The veteran Micks was in great form.. He was forced to give a regular acrobatic performnace between the posts to keep some of "Sailor" Maudsley's shots out of the hemp.

The game was not concluded without Ken Ware, fire-eater of the Ontarios, giving a fistic bout. The feud between Ware and Lebarr, existing over several seasons, began breaking out early in the proceedings with Ware carrying the hatchet. It was not until the third period, however, that the affair came to blows. Both were banished for ten minutes, and Ware opened hostilities again in the penalty box.

Leads Petes' Attack

Maudsley led the Petes' attackers and the nimble-footed centre turned in one of the best games of his career. He was the fastest man on the ice and many times weaved his way the length of the ice and in on Micks. He was a great playmaker and his passing showed improvement. He netted two goals; and should have got three more.

Lackey again proved a great strength on the defence along with Lebarr. Hatton and Creighton turned in great cards and their teamwork was especially noteworthy. The second forward line of Calladine, Jarvis and Utronki was so effective that they secured two goals.

Although far from having the busy time that Micks was having in the opposite end, Gillespie had his share of work to do. Especially was this true toward the end when the Hopers threw everything into the offensive and more or less succeeded in bottling the Petes up and disorganizing their play.

The Ware brothers were in for many hard shots and Ray Ware's work was the best for Port Hope. Hills and Hagerman also toiled hard. Crossett, who was expected to be the big difficulty to the Petes, did not play as he is away from Port Hope; but he will be in the next game.

The teams:

Peterborough—Goal, Gillespie; defence, Lackey and Lebarr; centre, Maudsley; wings, Hatton and Creighton; alternates, Calladine, Jarvis and Utronki.

Port Hope—Goal, Micks; defence, Harwood and R. Ware; centre, K. Ware; wings, A. Hills and Hagerman; alternates, Dawley and Fancey.

Referee—A. W. Armstrong.

Hatton started the battle off when he went down for the first shot at Micks. Ray Ware was leading the Port Hope attacks and his stickhandling several times carried him through the defensive and in on Gillespie. After four minutes of play Ken Ware took a pass from Hills at the defence and sunk the puck into the twine for Port Hope's goal.

Maudsley gave Hatton a great pass but the shot was off; and on the next rush Maudsley's pass allowed Lackey to go through but Micks saved. Hatton drew a penalty for tripping Ware, but it failed to slow up the Petes' play as Maudsley led repeated attacks. Combination efforts were again and again taking the Petes well within scoring range, but Micks proved unbeatable and also many shots were off the target. The period closed with the Petes hammering away without success rewarding their efforts.

Superior In Second

The Petes superiority was even more marked with the opening of the second stanza. After three minutes of sparkling play, Hatton gave Maudsley a pass midway up the ice and the Petes' centre split the defence, drew Micks out and shoved the rubber in the cage.

A little more than a minute later Utronki put the Petes one up when he took Jarvis' pass back from a face-off beside the Port Hope nets and plugged the twine.

The Petes were pelting Micks with shots but the wily guardian kept out the hail of shot. There was considerable bumping and Ken Ware was penalized for butt-ending Lebarr.

Ware and Hagerman were staging some dangerous sorties on Gillespie's domain. To close the session Maudsley circled the defence but his shot hit the post.

Gillespie Kept Busy

The Petes found difficulty in withstanding the four-man attack unloosed by Port Hope in the third period, and Gillespie was kept busy. It was at this stage that Ware and Lebarr staged their tiff. Maudsley went down alone and sunk the rubber into the corner for the Pete's fourth goal.

Five minutes later, Ray Ware took a pass from Hagerman and countered. The game speeded up with both teams making passing attacks, and both goalies were kept occupied. Hills took a pass from Harwood and from close in shook the nets for Port Hope's third goal.

Only one down and with five minutes to play, Port Hope shoved everything into the attack and the Petes found difficulty in clearing their nets. The equalizer nearly came when Ray Ware breezed through, but Gillespie skated out and checked him. The Petes were shooting the puck up the ice as the game closed.

New $1,500,000 Sports Arena Will Be Built In Toronto Within Next 8 Months

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 9. (CP) One of the most modern sports arenas on this continent, to be built at a minimum cost of $1,500,000, is projected for Toronto within the next seven or eight months.

Completion of the new arena is planned in time for the opening of the 1931-32 hockey season. It will have a seating capacity of 16,000 for hockey games with an additional 4,000 seats available for boxing and wrestling and will combine the most modern architectural and scientific features of similar structures to make it the equal of the best on this continent.

The site of the new arena will be the property owned by the historic old Knox College on Spadina avenue circle north of College street. A syndicate will finance the erection and the first payment has already been made on the property. The announcement was made by Arthur Hart of Montreal and Norman Boyd, of Toronto, brother of Captain J. Erroll Boyd, Canadian trans-Atlantic flier.

A charter has been obtained by the syndicate under the name of Spadina Gardens and Toronto furnishing the capital. The architect's plans call for a building 396 feet in diameter on an area of 2.85 acres.

The new building will be circular, the seats in one tier back from the ice cushion to rear, 60 feet above the ice surface, admission to which will be from ramps. No posts or galleries will obscure the vision of any spectator in any part of the building.

SEEK $5,000 DAMAGES

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 8.—(CP)—Alleging slander Louis Meconi Italian consul in Windsor, has started suit for $5,000 against Antonio Polegato, also of Windsor. The action will be heard at the non-jury sittings of the supreme court. Mr. Meconi charges that Polegato branded him as a spy in the employ of the provincial police with the object of securing liquor convictions against his countrymen.

BOSTON BRUINS ADD 2 POINTS TO AVERAGES

Three Out of Five of Last Night's Games Are Shutouts.

LEAFS IN LEAD.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 9. —(CP)— Every team in the National Hockey League went into action last night, and after the clouds had rolled away, Toronto was parked in first place in the Canadian section, while Boston had added two more points to further their lead in the American group. Three out of five games played were shutouts, and the scoring averages for individuals were not nearly so imposing as they have been in previous tilts. Toronto blanked Maroons 1-0; Rangers did the same to Detroit; and Chicago downed Philadelphia 4-0, which, incidentally, was the highest score of the night. Canadiens defeated Americans 2-1; and Boston beat Ottawa 3-1.

In the Canadian group, Toronto is one point ahead of Canadiens and Maroons, Americans are three points behind the second placers, and Ottawa is "in the hole" with but 12 points. Boston is continuing its runaway in the American section. The boys from the Hub are now three full games in front of Chicago and Rangers, who are tied for second position. Detroit is three points behind them, and Philadelphia has only three points so far.

Ebbie Goodfellow still leads the individual scorers, with 15 goals and 10 assists to his credit. Just one point back is Bun Cook, of Rangers, with 13 goals and 11 assists. In the Canadian group, Howie Morenz of Canadiens has scored 15 goals and 5 assists, and is being closly followed by "Ace" Bailey of Toronto, with 11 goal and 8 assists.

Boucher of Rangers, has scored 12 assists to lead the American section in this branch of the pastime, and Joe Primeau of Toronto has scored 10 to head the Canadian loop.

The Leafs and Chicago are still leading the shutout brigade. The local squad now has seven, five scored by Chabot and two by Grant, a former Leaf net guardian. Gardnier of Chicago has registered all of his team's shutouts.

Harvey Rockburn, Detroit, again leads the American penalty brigade, having now spent 74 minutes on the bench for minor and major offences as observed by the referee. Alex Smith, of Ottawa, isn't doing so badly himself, for Alex has been thumbed into retirement for a total of 59 minutes.

The Canadian Section

Teams—Toronto played 20, won 10, lost 6, tied 4, 24 points.

Most goals—Morenz, 15.

Most assists—Primeau, Toronto 10.

Most shutouts—Toronto 7.

Most penalties—Alex Smith, Ottawa, 59 minuts.

American Section

Team—Boston, played 21, won 14, lost 5, tied 3, 30 points.

Most points—(Goals and assists)—Goodfellow, Detroit, 15 goals, 10 assists, 15 points.

Most goals—Bill Cook, Rangers, 17.

Most assists—Boucher, Rangers 12.

Most penalties—Rockburn, Detroit, 74 minutes.

The Chryslers continued their rampage this week taking eight points from the Pontiacs to hold first place and break the tie with the persistent Fords. The game was a ding-dong battle with the Pontiacs being nosed out in almost every game. Consistent pin-toppling won for the Gillespie crowd with Joe Detcher and Rube Wilso supplying some extra heavy gunning. Detcher's score of 293 secured in this battle sets a new league high single beating the former record of 270 held by Bill Toms. Mike Duffus and Art Ralph were the outstanding maple busters for the Pontiacs.

The surprise of the night came when the Hudson-Essex team came through in top form to take the heavy-hitting Fords down a notch to the tune of two points, which forced the latter into second place, when they had a rather firm grip on the league leadership. Mrs. Leggott was the leader for the Combines, chalking up both high single and high three. Ross Hood turned in an exceptional card for the Fords, while Chas. Cummings was only seven pins behind him in the three game totals.

The Buicks slipped into a tie with the Pontiacs when they took six points from the Oldsmobile quintette in a spirited duel which was the noisiest fracas of the evening. W. Inch, M. Fawcett and T. Shields led the losers in enthusiams and ability and kept their team in the fight with some nifty pin-toppling. J. Shaughnessy and J. Darwin swung the decision in favor of the Buicks, however, by the close margin of sixteen pins.

CANUCKS WIN 2-1 DECISION JUNIOR GROUP

Pirates Lose South End League Opening Fixture By "Tough Break."

STARS TIE CHOATES.

Buccaneers Cop Victory in Second Game By Downing Electrics 3-1.

Three close games, one a tie, rang up the curtain for the Juniors last night in the South End City League. The ice at the Sacred Heart rink was fast and so was the play for the most part. A fair crowd of spectators forgot the cold weather in the excitement of the contests.

The first game began with the Canucks seeming to have it all over the Pirates, LeSurf and Lazure both scoring in the first period. The second, however, found the Buccaneers warming up and taking the odd shot on goal. But in the last frame they got going right, and nothing but tough luck and Goalie Collins robbed them from at least a tie. Watman scored their only goal in this period, and Canucks took the decision 2—1.

The teams:

Stars Tie Choates

The game between Stars and Choates was the feature one of the evening. It ended in a one-all tie, and the teams were as evenly matched as the score indicates. The play opened fast, with both goal-minders having to stop some hard ones early. G. Jay finally broke away for the Stars, speeded down the boards and whistled one shoulder-high into the net. Dennison balanced it up the second period when he batted one in from in front of the goal. In the last stanza, the boys fairly burned up the ice but couldn't break the deadlock. The teams:

Pirates came back for their second game of the evening and showed the Electrics how it was done, to the tune of 3—1. They appeared somewhat stiff for the first part of the game, and Gray put the Electrics one up. But going into the second, the Corsairs knotted it up on a nice bit of stick-handling by Watman. In the third, Watman was poison on skates for the losers, ringing the bell for two more, one of them on a combination with Rogers. He was the outstanding player of the evening, getting all the goals for the Pirates in both games. The teams:

Referee—H. Raney.

SKI CLUB GETS HILL AT NASSAU

Ten Captains Appointed For Drive For New Club Members.

CLUB CREST APPROVED.

Permission from the C.G.E. Company to use their hill at Nassau is the last little detail that is holding up the plans of the Peterborough Ski Club for a smart slide with jumps, according to the discussion at last night's meeting. It was stated that the company's sanction may be received within a few days, and the work of building a shack at the hill will be first undertaken.

The meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night was attended by about sixty skiers, twelve of them being feminine devotees of this thrilling sport. Doug Hall presided and Alex Darling ran off a set of reels of local ski-ing pictures taken last winter. Otto Ladrach's design of a club crest was unanimously approved, and Mr. Ladrach was congratulated upon its artistic effect.

Ten captains were appointed for a new membership drive, and with the increasing interest in this sport around Peterborough, it is expected that this effort will enlist many of the beginners who will find abundant company in their own stage of learning this Nordic accomplishment.

A board meeting has been called for Saturday night, at 7.30, in the Duffus Recreation Rooms, while a general meeting is to be held on January 14 to organize the first ski run of the combined membership.

Maroons To Secure Connell Of Ottawa

MONTREAL, Jan. 9. — It is learned from authentic source Montreal Maroons are about to complete a deal with Ottawa for the services of Alec Connell, crack goalie. The Senators are to receive a cash consideration along with either Flat Walsh or Archie Wilcox. Neither Walsh nor Dave Kerr, present Maroon goal tenders, have proven satisfactory this winter. It is understood Toronto and New York Rangers also have made attempts to snare Connell from Ottawa without success. The latter is recognized as one of the best net custodians in the National Hockey League.

ARSENAL AND ASTON FEATURE CUP FIXTURE

Third Round of English Football Association Will be Played on Saturday.

64 CLUBS IN RUNNING

Seventeen of Which Are Winners of Qualifying and First Rounds.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(Canadian Press Cable).—League soccer takes a back seat on Saturday when the third round of the English Football Association Cup competition will be played. The round includes 64 clubs, 47 of them making their appearance in the contest for the first time this season, the other 17 being survivors of the qualifying rounds. The new competitors are the big first and second division clubs of the English League, together with the Corinthians, the great amateur club, Hull City and Brighton and Hove Albion.

Matches that will attract attention are: Arsenal, the cup holders, and Aston Villa; West Ham United and Chelsea; Tottenham Hotspurs and Preston North End; Plymouth Argyle and Everton, the leaders of the second division; Liverpool and Birmingham; Burnley and Manchester City; Leeds United and Huddersfield; Stoke City and Manchester United. The Sheffield teams both have easy tasks before them, the United against York and Wednesday against Gateshead.

The first named clubs play at home.

TRICOLOR SENIORS LOSE TO BELLEVILLE

Winners Give Fine Display in Opening Game of Series.

BELLEVILLE, January 9. — In a game which scintillated with stiff body-checking, plenty of scoring and good offensive hockey, the Belleville team took the lead in the Local O.H.A. Senior B Section, by defeating the fast Queen's team here last night by 8 to 4. The contest kept the fans in a continual uproar throughout. Last night's game was the first of the schedule in which the two teams will engage.

Belleville had the edge throughout, and their lead was never menaced. They are a much improved team under Stan Burgoyne's coaching, and should be in the hunt for the group honors.

The first two periods were productive of fast hockey, but the last 20 minutes saw the play slow up, with the locals protecting their margin, while the visitors were content to shoot from outside, avoiding Belleville's sturdy defence, which gave them a merry ride all evening.

COOMBS BILLED TO HANDLE BIG GAME TO-NIGHT

Lindsay Official Will Be in Charge of Hockey Club-St. John's Battle.

KEEN RIVALRY.

Both Teams Will Be At Full Strength and Both Are Sure of Victory.

Elwood Coombs of Lindsay will referee to-night's Junior O.H.A. battle at Brock Street Rink between Peterborough Hockey Club and St. John's, which means that the players will have to stick to the hockey code all the way.

The game promises to be one of the hottest arguments of the year for both teams are all "het up" over the bout and with the leadership at stake and an old-time rivalry to spur them on the Petes and Saints will probably rise to the occasion and turn in a performance that will give the crowd plenty of excitement. Both will be at full strength; the Hockey Club being fortified by the presence of Freddy Meagher, who was an absentee the other night, while St. John's will have a complete team including Cuthbertson who, while attending University of Toronto, has elected to play with his home team.

A win for St. John's puts the Saints well out in front of the group race while on the other hand a Hockey Club victory means the league standing will be all tied in a knot so that to-night's game means a lot to both teams.

A fast sheet of ice will give the players a chance to do their prettiest and, under the circumstances, the season's largest crowd should see the two local rivals settle their argument.

HERBERT RAMSAY NEXT GOLF HEAD

Annual Meeting of United States' Golf Association Will Be Held Saturday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (CP) — A meeting of the executive committee to-day precedes the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association to be held here to-morrow.

As nearly as can be forecast, only routine matters will come before the annual meeting with the election of officers as the most important business. Herbert H. Ramsay of New York, is slated to become president, succeeding Findlay S. Douglas. Mr. Ramsay's place as vice-president is to be filled by R. E. Griscom of Merion. Robert N. Cutting of Chicago has been nominated for the other vice-presidency. Prescott Bush of New York and Charles H. Sabin, also of New York, have been renominated for secretary and treasurer respectively.

National officers expect no opposition to the re-election of Bobby Jones as member of the executive committee, despite the fact that the Atlantan has retired from amateur competition and signed motion picture and radio contracts.

Former Maroons Will Play With Bulldogs

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 9.—(C.P.)—After two days of practice with the team, Desse Roche, Paul Haynes and Al Huggins, three forwards secured from Montreal Maroons of the National League, will make their International Hockey League debut with the Bulldogs at Windsor to-night. When Herbie Mitchell's squad encounters Cleveland Indians.

It is the only game scheduled and gives the Windsorites a chance to reduce still further the lead of the Buffalo Bisons, who are coasting along at the top of the parade, boasting a four point margin over the Border City outfit.

The Bulldogs have an edge over Indians in the games played so far and aided by the Maroon reinforcements may be within two points of the Bisons when the final whistle blows.

Cleveland is tied for third place with Detroit and will try mightily to pull away from the Olympics who meet the league leaders to-morrow.

Hockey Notes.

Junior Pirates are advised to be on hand at the Sacred Heart rink Monday night from seven to eight when the team will hold a practise.

Fosters Bantams will hold their practise to-morrow afternoon from three to four at the Sacred Heart rink. All players are asked to be on hand.

Campbell to Sail Wednesday for U.S.

LONDON, Jan. 9. — Captain Malcolm Campbell, British racing driver will sail for America next Wednesday on the Homeric with a new "Bluebird," said to be his most powerful racing machine. He will take the automobile to Daytona Beach where he will seek a speed above 231 miles an hour, the world's record.

FAST GAMES IN LEAGUE OPENER

SAINTS WIN OUT 1-0.

Two midget and two junior games lifted the lid for the Church Hockey League last night at All Saints rink. Hard ice kept the boys working fast, and they showed surprisingly good condition for their first games of the season. The line-ups were changed constantly to give the managers an idea of their material. As no O.H.A. or City League player is eligible for this league, there is a great field here for the development of future stars.

In the first midget game St. Paul's nosed out Knox 3-2. It was anybody's game right up to the final bell, with little to choose between the teams. These boys are all under 15 years.

George street midgets stepped out and took the big end of a 5-2 score from Mark Street. This game was pretty one-sided as the Mark Street team were on ice for the first time this year.

The juniors iced two fast teams in St. Andrew's and St. John's. Both sides started fast and kept the high speed up to the last, with St. John's squeezing out a 1-0 victory.

In the second junior contest Mark Street chalked up a 5-2 win over All Saints'. The winners looked the stronger team all the way through, and should have scored a few more. All Saints' showed lack of practice, playing too much individual hockey. These junior players are all under 19 years of age.

RIFLE CLUB HELD ITS FIRST SHOOT

Shooting Was Exceptionally Good—Conducted by the Rangers' Civilian Club.

McGRATH IS WINNER.

The Peterborough Rangers Civilian Rifle Club held its first shooting match last night at the Armouries, and considering the fact that some of the men had not handled a rifle since 1918, the shooting was exceptionally good.

The practice carried out consisted of each man firing fifteen rounds in groups of five, the object being to have as small a group as possible.

Dave Clements, whose eagle eye seemed to be working good, gave the winner, Jim McGrath, a hard run for first prize. Each prize-winner also receives a nice handicap which may not be so good. Next Thursday evening should show more improvement among the marksmen.

Following are the scores:

James P. McGrath	2.5
Dave Clements	2.9
Lt. J. Parsons	3.1
G. G. Eason	3.4
G. Rightmeyer	3.4
A. Russell	3.5
J. L. Welsh	4.0

MOORE IS WINNER IN CUP ELIMINATION

See-saw Battle in First Game of District Cup Series.

The first game in the District Cup elimination series was played yesterday afternoon between two rinks skipped by Ira D. Moore and R. F. Downey. After a see-saw game Moore won out on the last end.

On Saturday afternoon a three-game series of six ends each, will be played commencing at 2 p.m. The players' names will be listed on the blackboard, as they enter the rink and the rinks will be drawn from that list. Prizes will be given to the winners, while a small admission fee will be charged.

LUSITANIA STORY VIVIDLY TOLD BY RISCA WILLIAMS

IN ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Mr. Williams Was Accompanied By Idris Hopkins in Musical Program.

The story of the sinking of the Lusitania, told in crisp, trenchant sentences by a survivor of that mighty holocaust of the World War, was a portion of the program of song and story and music that held the attention of nearly four hundred people in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church last night, when Risca Williams outlined briefly for his audience a word picture of that epic tragedy of the sea. The story hinted, rather than portrayed, the horrors of that day in May, 1915, when the proud mistress of the seas sank in eighteen minutes, her hull pierced by a torpedo from a German submarine.

Mr. Williams was assisted by Idris Hopkins, a pianist of great charm and ability, whose playing added a final interesting touch to the singing and the recital by Mr. Williams.

To the entertainment afforded by his graphic wording of the sinking of the mighty ship, Mr. Williams added the music of a very fine tenor-baritone voice. His selection of songs was charming. They included "The Deathless Army," a rousing war song; "I Picked a Flower," a dainty composition of his own, in which his command of pianissimo song was most noticeable; the jolly old "Skippers of St. Ives"; a trio that included "Vale," "Where My Caravan Has Rested," and the Welsh National Anthem, sung first in the Cymric, then in the English tongue, and finally "Land of Hope and Glory."

Mr. Hopkins' piano music made an artistic background of melody for the evening's entertainment. His playing, oddly enough, had the same quality of echoing sweetnes that was noticeable in Mr. Williams' softer passage of song. It was as if these two united to sing and play from a distance, their music seeming to be mellowed by a certain separation from the audience that was so near. Mr. Hopkins brings from his instrument a sweetly smooth, assured tone that is notable for a brittle brilliance and a lyric, singing atmosphere. It is artistic in the extreme.

Mr. Hopkins played Chopin's Polonaise Militaire, with its buoyant cadences; his own arrangement of "The Last Rose of Summer," and the Leschetizsky arrangement of the Sextette from "Lucia di Lammermoor," both illustrative in their dreamy softness of his manifest flair for music that is like a poem. He also played the well-known C sharp minor Prelude of Rachmaninoff, and the Miserere ("Ah Che le Morte") from Verdi's "Il Trovatore."

The Lusitania Story.

Risca Williams told the story of the sinking of the great ship, the event that brought the United States into the Great War and probably did more than any single other event of the time, to end the tragic conflict of nations.

Proud in the sureness of her invincibility, the mighty ship sailed out from New York on May 1st 1915, and, when within twelve miles of the Irish coast and forty miles from Queenstown, sank in eighteen minutes after a German submarine's torpedo struck her, taking to a watery grave 1,197 of 2,000 people on board. With a length of 790 feet and a beam of 88 feet, displacing 60,000 tons, and eating up 1,000 tons of coal a day, she was a mighty vessel.

She carried nine of the Welsh singers with her, Mr. Williams being one of the company, six of whom were saved after the disaster.

Picturing for his listeners the scene after the torpedo struck its death-dealing blow, the speaker drew for them a graphic scene. Struggling on the first-class deck, where they had rushed in a vain effort to seek for help, one thousand people attempted to get into two or there lifeboats, and, in the ensuing debacle, found themselves, struggling and shrieking, in the water. Mr. Williams recalled the picture of a young nurse who calmly went through her self-appointed task of fastening lifebelts on a group of little children, to ignore her own safety, and to be picked up lifeless later, sans the saving belt.

Sinking by the bow, the Lusitania dove to her grave on the ocean's bed, in a rush that took all surrounding life with it. Mr. Williams, after a mighty struggle in the water, found himself alone, floating on the surface near a lifeboat in which some fifteen people, two of them lifeless, were drifting on the sea. The cries of those in the water, he declared, were like nothing human, their dreadful wails reaching up to the sky like the shrieks of a band of lost souls.

To a waterlogged boat nearby, the men in this lifeboat were able to throw a towline that brought the survivors also in board the weighted lifeboat. One of the rescued was a woman whose head, almost submerged in water, was held up by the hair by one of the men in the little boat, in which the occupants, to buoy their spirits, were singing the well-known song of the time, "Tipperary." Led by the Welsh singers, the men in the other boat sang "Abide With Me."

Then came the horrors of the dead houses at Queenstown, where long rows of men, women, and little children lay waiting for identification by their maddened relatives.

Mr. Williams concluded his graphic recital with a stirring plea for efforts to bring about cessation of all warfare, and told his listeners that life at any price was sweet, when he recalled those moments on board that weighted lifeboat, when the green hills of Ireland in the distance seemed so very far away, and when, strangely enough for such a terror-wrought time, the mighty ship sailed alone, without a convoy, on those perilous waters.

The meeting, which was held under the auspices of the Men of St. Paul's, was opened with a characteristically-worded brief speech by the Rev. William Allan, introducing the artists of the evening and drawing attention to the very effective setting provided for the occasion. The reverent speaker also thanked M. B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., who gave a short organ recital as a prelude to the program; the Heintzman Company, who loaned one of their fine pianos, the Canadian Department Stores for the furnishings of the platform, and Jordan Brothers, who loaned the handsome palms which were such an embellishment to the setting. The attractive arrangement was in the hands of Arnold Allan, who contrived a simple but effective background for the speaker and musicians by the use of a trio of modernistic black and white screens, some rich drapings, and several tall lighted floor lamps.

MILITARY CLOTHING SENT TO APSLEY R.C.

St. George's Sunday School Presents Pleasing Play on New Year's Day.

APSLEY, Jan. 9 (Examiner Correspondence)—The president of the Apsley Branch of the Red Cross Society has been notified by the Directors of the Ontario Division that a small quantity of military clothing supplied the Red Cross by the Federal Government has been alloted to the local Branch for the needy unemployed.

The allotment consists of ten pairs of drawers, ten undervests, ten pairs of demin trousers and ten pairs of socks. This will be distributed at the discretion of the Board, as soon as it is received.

Visits Hospital

Santa Claus visited the Red Cross Hospital last week, in the person of the nurse, Miss Knages and forty-four children, eleven years of age and under, accepted an invitation to meet him, each being presented with a gift as well as candy and oranges.

Presented Play

On New Year's Day, the scholars of St. George's Sunday School under the management of Mrs. Spence, produced a short Bible play, "The Finding of Moses." The scenery and costumes together with the performance were very pleasing.

This was followed by a novel feature. Scenes from the Nativity in Shadowgraphy, with the old Christmas hymns and carols being sung by the children between the scenes. The scholars were afterwards presented with gifts from the Christmas tree.

Mrs. George Taylor Heads Warsaw W.M.S.

WARSAW, Jan. 9 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. George Taylor was elected president of the W.M.S. of the United Church at the annual meeting held on Tuesday in the Sunday School room.

After the opening excercises, the treasurer reported that the amodnt allotted to this branch, $150 has been reached, with a small amount in excess. The bale was sent in October. There is a membership of thirty-four, thirty ordinary members and four life members, twenty of the members using the systematic giving envelopes.

There are four groups and each aided in securing the alloament. No public entertainment was given to secure the funds.

Rev. J. W. Wilkinson conducted the election of officers and these are: first vice president, Mrs. Wilkinson; second vice president, Mrs. David Taylor; secretary, Mrs. W. Cooper; treasrer, Mrs. Arthur Edwards; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. Cooper; Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. Uriah Payne; strangers' secretary, Mrs. W. S. Anderson; Associate Helpers' Secretary, Mrs. Digweed; press secretary, Mrs. David Miller; temperance secretary, Mrs. J. Sargent; literature secretary, Mrs. Digweed; expense fund secretary, Mrs. Anderson; pianist, Mrs. James Hawthorne.

Mrs. Taylor gave a few words of encouragement for the New Year, following which Rev. Mr. Winkinson sang "God Will take Care of You" and the Mizpah Benediction concluded the meeting. Arrangements for the Day of Prayer on February 20, were informally discussed at the close of the meeting.

More Enthusiastic

The young people attending the classes were more enthusiastic at the classes yesterday, the girls having an interesting lesson on foods in general and in particular; the uses of foods and the general constituents and what they supply to the body. Two more girls were present at this class.

In the afternoon all attended the lecture by Mr. Marston, who spoke on "The Prevention of Diseases in Poultry and the Feeding and Care of Turkeys and Chickens."

He advocated dry feed in hoppers and troughs always before the chickens. Plenty of milk and a little salt should always be given. A certain amount of green feed for both turkeys and chicks is good. Chicks should have a roost when eight days old. Mr. Marston killed and dressed a fowl. Many others besides the class members attended this lecture.

MARMORA CLUB VISITS TRENTON

St. Paul's Organization Put on Splendid Program of Songs and Music.

FINE ADDRESSES.

MARMORA, Jan. 9. (Examiner Correspondence).—Twenty-six members of the Men's Club of St. Paul's church ignored the cold weather of Wednesday evening to pay the return visit to the St. George's Men's Club at Trenton. Upon arrival at Canterbury Hall, a little warming up was needed and then came a jolly evening for both clubs.

After the singing of the National Anthem, President Weir of Trenton handed the meeting over to President Buskard of the visiting club who, following the giving of a felicitous message, announced that a program wuld be given by the Marmora men under the chairmanship of W. J. Cottrell.

Duett, Springtime in the Rockies, J. F. Baker and G. Woodhouse; address, Rev. A. B. Caldwell; violin solo, Hungarian song and dance, T. L. Jones; song, Someone is waiting at home sweet home, G. Woodhouse; address, W. R. Reynolds; comic song, I got mine, J. F. Baker; violin solo, Irish Medley, T. L. Jones; address, Rev. M. J. C. Levason; recitation, Uncle Josh buys an auto, J. Rice, Junior; song, On the road to Mandalay, L. R. Rundle; Violin solo, Benedictus, T. L. Jones.

At this juncture, President Weir again took charge. Among speakers called upon by him for short addresses were Major Lott, Rev. Percy Heywood, M.A., B.D., rector of St. George's chruch, Trenton, Reeve L. T. Neal of Marmora Township and Mr. J. North. The playing of vibro harp selections by Mr. Heal, organist of King Street United Church, Trenton, was much enjoyed by the gathering. Hawaiian music and old time fiddling also contributed to the evening's delights.

GEORGE ST. AID HAS GOOD YEAR

Annual Reports Are Read By Various Committee Chairmen.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

The first meeting of the New Year of the Ladies' Aid Society of George Street United Church was held in the board room yesterday afternoon with a very large attendance. The President, Mrs. W. P. Hetherington, presided and opened the meeting with prayer, after which she expressed her delight at the splendid attendance.

Mrs. E. E. Harvey took charge of the Devotional Exercises and gave a splendid talk on prayer, after which Miss E. Higgins led in prayer. Mrs. J. B. Nelson and Miss Pearl Carruthers sang a beautiful duet accompanied by Mrs. D. Howat.

The secretary, Mrs. G. C. Staples, gave a very concise report of the last meeting, and Mrs. S. Oke the financial report. The members of the standing committee submitted their monthly reports and then their yearly reports, showing great activity and success in all departments. Mrs. J. Stubbs, convenor of the sick and visiting committee, reported seventy-two calls made during December by her and her assistants and a total of 781 calls made on sick shut-ins and strangers during the year.

Mrs. B. Shortly, for the Cupboard Committee, reported table linen, towels and dishes purchased during the year, and everything in first-class condition.

Mrs. Long, convenor of Christmas cheer baskets, reported on number sent out, and on behalf of the committee, thanked all who had assisted the Sunday Schools "White Gift," the church collection and the supplies donated made it possible to send out a large number of very fine baskets.

Mrs. E. Bartlett, convenor of the Decoration Committee, reported on the special occasions at which the Church had been decorated.

Miss Morrow gave the yearly report of the number of bouquets and plants sent out.

Mrs. T. Mark, convenor of the Social committee, gave the yearly report of their activities. They had served refreshments on a number of special occasions and taken charge of the Christmas Fair supper.

The congregational meeting was announced for Wednesday evening, January 28th, when the social committee will be in charge of refreshments.

Miss M. Elliott, corresponding secretary, read a number of letters of thanks from those who had received plants for Christmas and flowers during illness.

Convenors of committees for year 1931 were appointed: Mrs. E. E. Harvey, devotional, assisted by Mrs. S. R. Armstrong, Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard, Mrs. E. W. Coon and Mrs. R. Parnell. Sick and Visiting: Mrs. J. Stubbs and Mrs. P. Hagerman. Parsonage: Mrs. H. M. Yelland. Look-out: Miss E. Higgins. Cupboard: Mrs. O. G. Gray and Mrs. J. Tinney. Flower Convenor: Miss Morrow. Decorating: Mrs. T. Mark. Program: Mrs. H. Foote. Social: Mrs. J. M. Fanning. The President announced that the February meeting would take the form of a Rally meeting when every member was urged to be present and bring a new member. At this meeting tea will be served and a social hour enjoyed.

The meeting closed with a hymn and repeating the Mizpah Benediction in unison.

INDIAN OFFICERS TRAINING SCHOOL

dia. The establishment of a Sandhurst would not prevent the continuance of the existing scheme by which a number of Indians could attend Sandhurst in England.

Sir Mahommad Ismail, Premier of Mysore, welcomed the decision with regard to the establishment of an Indian Sandhurst but did not think the complete elimination of the British officer in India was desirable even if practicable. He preferred fixing a percentage of Indian officers which could be increased in the light of experience.

To permit preparation of resolutions and the drafting of reports no further conference proceedings are planned until Monday.

Because private owners in British Malaya are sacrificing their automobiles, the sale of used cars is almost as large as that of new machines.

THE OUNCE OF PREVENTION

The old saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure has no truer application than in the case of fire.

Carefulness costs nothing, yet thousands of dollars are saved every day, for instance, by the matches that are not thrown away while burning.

Every child should be taught to recognize and appreciate the dangers that lie in all exposed flames.

Of the ten thousand annual deaths by fire in the United States, one-third are children under ten years of age.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 41 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

With a gasp of terror, Jane clasped the stricken infant closer, turned and fled up the trail. Far behind came the shouting of men and the sound of shots. She knew the Swede had met the Russian! There was no time to be lost! A half hour later she stumbled, exhausted, into a little thatched village. Quickly she was surrounded by a swarm of eager, curious, excited natives.

They asked a hundred questions, no one of which she could understand. Pointing fearfully at the piteously wailing baby, she repeated over and over, "Fever—fever." A young woman now seemed to sense her trouble and took her to a hut, where the witch doctor came. He boiled a zebra's tail, made weird passes, and mumbled strange incantations. The women sat about moaning and wailing.

It must have been nearly midnight when she became aware of a commotion in the village. Presently footsteps approached the hut in which she sat before a fire, with the baby that now lay very still in her lap. She looked at the little face, with fear-haunted eyes. The footsteps she had heard without the hut halted before the door and she was conscious of a strangely familiar voice speaking without

And now she was aware that someone had entered. One of the women threw a fagot upon the dying embers, which, with a sudden flare, lighted up the interior. The blaze disclosed to Jane's horrified gaze that the baby was lifeless! Over the silence broke the hideous wailing of the women. In her misery, Jane heard her name spoken. Startled, she raised her eyes—and beheld the evil visage of Nikolas Rokoff.

LAWRIE SUPPORTS CHINA SILVER LOAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—While banking circles were keenly interested in reports from Washington and Ottawa of discussions of plans to extend an international silver loan to China, the price of the metal continued to sink to still lower levels today.

Wall Street was particularly interested in a report by H. N. Lawrie, Washington economist, urging the Federal Government to take the iniative in international action to support silver and restore the purchasing power of the Far East, which uses that metal for monetary purposes. It is felt in banking circles that restoration of Far Eastern purchasing power would go far toward bringing world consumption of such commodities as cotton and wheat into balance with production, and prove an important step in the restoration of world prosperity.

156-Year-Old Turk Visiting U. S. Flops To Tune of $8,000 as a Fortune Maker

NEW YORK, January 9 (C.P.). — Affairs of Zaro Agha, the old Turk, are in the red. So far he's a total loss of $8,000.

He came here months ago from Constantinople to stimulate the interests of science in his longevity, improve Turko-American relations and pick a few shekels from the golden bushes.

The news films made him pose, specialists X-rayed him, and the public rubbered its fill — without admission. That for a man whose passport shows him to be 156 years old.

"I am the man who has to pay the $8,000," says Asin Redvan, his manager, "but I am charging it up to improved Turko-American relations and forgetting it."

Agha is writing his memoirs, but the book isn't coming along very fast, says Redvan, what with Agha taking time out for heavy meals and dashing off to the movies. He is crazy about pie candy.

He will return to Turkey as soon as his writing is finished.

SOVIET FINANCES ON FIRM FOOTING

Commissar Grinko Claims Reserve of Billion and Half Rubles Piled Up.

NO PAPER MONEY ISSUE.

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., January 9 (C.P.). — Soviet Russia's current income is in excess of operating expenses, Gregory Grinko, Commissar of Finance, reported to the Central Executive Committee of the Communist Party to-day, and the state has been able to establish a reserve of a billion and a half rubles (the ruble is nominally worth fifty cents).

"Our 1931 financial program," he said, "not only does not contemplate the issue of any paper money, a matter about which our enemies abroad are so fond of talking, but on the contrary we can see our income surpassing our expenses."

Reports abroad of a financial crisis in the Soviet Republic were laughable, he said, asserting that "bourgeois observers" are unable to understand "conditions of Soviet economy under which distribution of material resources is conducted through an organized centralized system."

"How can anyone speak of inflation," he demanded, "when prices of manufactured articles for the overwhelming majority of the consuming masses remain practically unchanged?"

The 1931 financial program, he said, contemplates an income of 31,750,000,000 rubles and expenditures of $30,200,000,000. About 42 per cent. of the total income will be derived from such socialistic organizations as the Soviet industries and the collective state farms, 35 per cent. from direct taxation, 12 per cent. from voluntary contributions by the people through bond purchases.

LATITUDE AND LONGITUDE

New Outbreak Looms In British Industry

LONDON, January 8 (C.P.). — British industry, already disturbed by disputes in the coal mines and cotton factories, encountered still another serious difficulty to-day as a deadlock threatened in the boot and shoe trade.

Employers and workers in this field were to meet to-day to discuss disagreements over working hours and wages. The union wants a minimum wage of $15.00 a week and the manufacturers have countered with a demand for a $13.00 wage. The present scale is $14.00.

The workers want a five-day week and the employers base their demand for a wage cut on depression which they attribute to foreign competition.

MEETING TO-NIGHT
An urgent request is being made to all active distributing organizations and relief societies in the city to send two representatives to the meeting of the Volunteer Relief organization which is called for eight o'clock this (Friday) evening in the City Council Chamber. This meeting is being held for the purpose of actively organizing the relief agencies of the city into a band united to do their utmost to help in the present situation, when unemployment has decimated the resources of many homes.

PRESENTATION TO LADY WILLINGDON.
The women in the Dominion of Canada are planning a presentation to Lady Willingdon, wife of Canada's Governor-General before she leaves with her husband to take up their new post in India. An appeal has been made to the women of Peterborough to help, and any who wish to contribute can send their donations to Lady Borden in Ottawa, who is the general treasurer, or to Mrs. George S. Henry in Toronto, the wife of Ontario's Premier. Contributions must be in by Monday, January 12, as the Viceregal party leaves Canada on the 17th.

LEGION DOING GREAT WORK
One of the particulary busy persons this season, as well as other years, in the distribution of relief and in looking after those in need, is the president of the Canadian Legion, James Abraham, who is especially active in this type of work. As well as looking after ex-soldiers and their dependents, the Legion reaches out through its president to many other disabled homes of the city.
The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion also does yeoman service, with its busy and active president, Mrs. Joseph Mills, as the guiding spirit of the splendid work done in so many homes.

CLOTHING NEEDED.
Clothing is urgently needed for several small children: a boy of ten (wants an overcoat), boy of twelve (any clothing), and small girls of from five to ten years of age.

RADIO SERVICE

I have received recently numerous letters on this subject, and, as it is a matter of general interest, I am taking the liberty, by this means, of acknowledging these communications and to express my thanks to my correspondents for giving me the benefit of their views on the subject.

I may add that in every instance these letters express the view that present conditions are satisfactory and that the writers are opposed to the suggested Government ownership of the distributing stations.

E. A. PECK.

I wish to thank all who gave me their support at the recent Election, and will serve them to the best of my ability.

DUNDAS AND SMITH BOTH PLEAD GUILTY

John Clarke County Council Veteran Retires

VETERAN REEVE SERVED COUNTY FOURTEEN YEARS

SPOKESMAN OF THE NORTH.

With his retirement from the Reeveship of Galway and Cavendish Townships, John Clarke concludes his long, continuous term of fourteen years' membership in Peterborough County Council.

According to scanty news from the Kinmount section of the county, up in the north-west corner, Mr. Clarke voluntarily retired from the field, making way for his municipal sponsor and successor, the new Reeve, Austin Jackson, who was elected by acclamation. It is understood that Mr. Clarke was originally nominated for the Council of Chandos and its Reeveship by Mr. Jackson, and as the years merged into the long span that has made Mr. Clarke the dean of the County Council there seems to have been a gentlemen's agreement that the position would devolve to Mr. Jackson whenever he wished to assume it, and of course with the approval of the ratepayers of that municipality.

Retirement Regretted.

Such is the substance of the reports that have come through from Chandos since nomination day, and while every one of Mr. Clarke's friends in the city and district will endorse his motives, and will have a higher opinion of him, if possible, than ever, his retirement is deeply regretted. He was one of the most amiable and popular members of the County Council during the last twenty and perhaps thirty years. Not since the passing of the late "Bob" Shaw, as Reeve of Harvey Township, from the County's forum has there been the same keen sense of loss in the intangible element of personality as that which has been felt and expressed since Mr. Clarke's retirement became known. It is true that other estimable Reeves have come and gone during these last fourteen years. Some of them were at least the peers of Mr. Clarke in their knowledge and practice of municipal affairs. Their responsibilities had been heavier and their experience more concentrated, and they merited no subordinate place in any public estimation of their service. But there has always been a warmth of heart and a rich vein of friendliness in John Clarke's character that won the affection of his associates just as his prudent advice and his dependability in the discussion and transaction of the County's

25,000 WEAVERS ARE LOCKED OUT

Owners' Threat That Mills Would Close Fully Lived Up to in Connton Area.

5-000 ON STRIKE.

BURNLEY, Eng., Jan. 10 (C.P.).—Twenty-five thousand weavers in the Connton textile industry were locked out this morning by ninety per cent. of the mill owners, carrying out the owners' threat that the mills would be closed unless 5,000 men who struck earlier in the week returned to their jobs by to-day.

The lockout was an organized action on the part of the employers and it appeared unlikely that any of the mills involved would re-open individually, although two large mills not affiliated with the owners' organization continued in operation.

The textile dispute arose from the weavers' refusal to accept the mill owners' demand that each man now operating four looms take over eight. There were fears that the difficulties with the weavers would spread throughout the industry, affecting 250,000 weavers and as many spinners.

JOHN R. COOKE MOST PROBABLE HYDRO CHAIRMAN

If Appointed Would Resign Seat in Legislature After Session.

Represents North Hastings.

William H. Ireland, West Hastings, Expected to be Taken Into Cabinet.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 10.—Simultaneous with the announcement by C. A. Magrath of his retirement from the chairmanship of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Premier George S. Henry stated he had received a letter from Mr. Magrath, asking to be relieved of his duties.

Premier Henry gave no inkling as to when the Government would act in the matter but intimated it would be soon. A successor to Mr. Magrath has not yet been chosen but the name of Hon. J. R. Cooke, Minister without portfolio in the Ontario Cabinet and present vice-chairman of the Commission is prominently mentioned in this connection.

Other names mentioned in connection with the Hydro Chairmanship were those of Sir William Hearst, who was Prime Minister of Ontario.

Hold Session First

Premier Henry intimated the post may not be filled until after the forthcoming session of the Legislature. It is understood there will be a further re-shuffle of the Cabinet after the session.

If Mr. Cooke is appointed he will probably resign his seat in the Legislature where he represented the riding of North Hastings since 1911, being returned by acclamation in three of the five elections since that time.

With the elevation of Mr. Cooke to the chairmanship, C. Clafred Maguire, who is the municipalities representative on the Hydro Commission, is expected to assume the position of Vice Chairman and it is said William H. Ireland, M.L.A. for West Hastings and Chief Conservative whip would be taken into the Cabinet and represent the Ontario Government on the Commission.

C. A. Magrath was appointed to the Chairmanship of the Commission in 1925 after the death of Sir Adam Beck. He specified at that time, that his appointment be for three years only and his resignation has been anticipated for some time.

President of Canadian General

DANIEL CLARENCE DURLAND

President of the Canadian General Electric Company who declares that Canada's industrial growth in the past decade is a story of the transformation of this country's latent water power into electrical energy and for an indefinite future Canada's development will be measured in terms of expansion in the electrical industry.

POWER IS ESSENCE OF INDUSTRIAL EXISTENCE DECLARES D. C. DURLAND

Canada's Industrial Growth Will Be Measured in Terms of Electrical Expansion.

REQUIRES MEN OF POWER.

By J. H. Turnpenny. Copyright, 1931

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (Special to The Examiner).—Power is the essence of industrial existence, and, to the increasing extent, power is emerging into definite outline in the background of domestic existence. Power and electricity are terms to-day almost synonymous. Canada's industrial growth the past decade is a story of the transformation of this country's latent water power into electrical energy and for an indefinite future Canada's development will be measured in terms of expansion in the electrical industry.

Power must be manned by men of power, men of penetrating foresight. Daniel Clarence Durland, president of the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, is one of the foremost men in this enterprise of bringing federal power under control. Electricity is an agent of which we are aware but cannot see, whose physical existence is apparent only to the esoteric few steeped in its mysteries, and Mr. Durland's strength, like that of electricity, must be measured in results—and of results there are ample evidences.

American by Birth

Burglars Ransack Einstein's House

KAPUTH, Germany, January 10 (C.P.). — Burglars broke into the home of Prof. Albert Einstein some time during the night, and when the caretaker entered the place this morning he found that it had been ransacked.

The front door had been jemmied open, all the drawers in the great scientist's home had been turned upside down, and thoroughly searched. The caretaker said that only Prof. Einstein himself could tell whether anything had been stolen.

POLAND'S POLICY IS ONE OF PEACE

Anxious to Co-operate With Other Nations in Economic Field.

FRIENDS WITH GERMANY.

WARSAW, Poland, January 10 (C.P.). — Poland's international policy will be one of peace and economic co-operation with the rest of the world, Foreign Minister August Zaleski to-day told the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee.

"I note with some regret," he said, "that other European countries seem to believe that the economic crisis can be relieved by political changes. Such measures merely add to the distress. Economic difficulties can be mastered only by economic methods.

"Poland is anxious to co-operate with all the nations of the world in economic fields and she has shown her own initiative by calling an agrarian conference which will consider the problems of the farmer."

Regarding Poland's relations with Germany, the Foreign Minister said. "Despite all that has happened since last March when the German-Polish Commercial Treaty was signed, Poland still desires to maintain friendly relations with Germany and the Commercial Treaty was sent to Parliament for ratification two days ago."

CONSERVATIVE ELECTED.

EDMONTON, Jan. 10.—(C.P.) — The election of Col. F. C. Jamieson, Conservative, to fill the Edmonton Legislature seat made vacant by the death of Col. C. Y. Weaver was conceded by his nearest opponent, Elmer Roper, Labor, this morning.

LOOP LEADERS ARE ELIMINATED IN CUP TIES

SEVERAL SHUTOUTS.

Hundreds of Persons Crushed in Line-up Jam at Highbury Park Entrance.

LONDON, Jan. 10 (C.P. Cable). — Out of the fog in which many of the Third Round games in the English Football Association Cup ties were played to-day, emerged many startling events and weird results.

At Highbury, where Arsenal, the Cup holders, and Aston Villa, clashed, 75,000 people, held outside the gates until nearly game time because of uncertainty as to whether the visibility would be good enough for play, milled and struggled in the side streets for hours. Finally, when hundreds clambered up the walls, the gates were opened.

A desperate melee followed as the thin line of people were admitted. The jam became so great that hundreds of women and boys fainted. Police and First Aid men fought their way through the mob to the sides of the victims of the crush, who were handed out to the waiting ambulances over the heads of the throng. Above the screams and shrieks of the crushed could be heard the noise of rattles and trumpets brought by the fans to add to their cheers for their teams. Many crawled in on the backs of the in-going people, which looked like a human caterpillar.

When many of the people outside saw the impossibility of securing entrance in a regular way, the exit gates were assaulted.

Hurry-up orders were despatched to police headquarters for more men and extra mounted police were despatched to the scene. They wedged their horses in between the crowd and

20 ARE TRAPPED IN MINE TUNNEL

SCENE OF FORMER TRAGEDY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 10. — (C.P.).—Trapped by a cave-in they were working to prevent, but saved from death by the quick wits of a fellow-laborer, 20 men awaited deliverance to-day from a tunnel of the Hetch Hetchy municipal water project.

Rescue crews boring through the debris were impeded by new cave-ins as they retimbered the tunnel. Rescue operations began immediately after the first cave-in, which occurred early last night.

The slide, 400 feet from the east entrance, occurred near the spot where 12 men were killed by an explosion of methane gas in the tunnel last July.

The stretch where the men were working, 750 feet below the surface, is known as the most dangerous section of the tunnel through the coast range, east of San Francisco.

LAST HONOR PAID PRINCESS ROYAL

ROYAL FAMILY ATTEND.

WINDSOR, England, Jan. 10. — Louise, Princess Royal was laid to rest in the Royal Tomb House under Albert Memorial Chapel in a ceremony containing just a touch of the glitter she avoided so much while alive.

Among those present to do last honor to the departed daughter of th...ate King Edward and Queen Alexandra was a company of the Military Knights of Windsor in their brilliant scarlet and gold uniforms. The pall-bearers were members of the fourth-seventh Dragoon Guards, of which the Princess Royal was Colonel in Chief.

Scottish pipers preceded the body when it was brought into the chapel for the brief service conducted by the Dean of Windsor, Dr. Albert Baillie. St. George's choir sang the musical parts under the direction of Sir Walford Davies. The Dragoon Guards trumpeters sounded the last post over the body.

A little group of the Royal family otherwise had the chape service virtually to themselves. Those present included the King whose oldest sister she was, the Queen, the Prince of Wales the Duke and Duchess of York and the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and other members of the Royal Family.

Princess Louise died last Sunday afternoon of heart trouble after a brief illness. She was 63 years old.

NO TRACES OF KINGSTON MEN.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.).—No further word or trace of the missing men, Cecil Phillips, Capt. William Sheridan and Anthony Kane, had been found up to a late hour this morning, and it is firmly believed that the three men, who left the Main Ducks on Friday last for Bath, have perished.

No more parts of the Firefly, their boat, have been found, and it is thought that in trying to make Bath the boat was swamped, the men drowned and the craft afterwards battered to pieces.

Two Are Remanded Until Next Friday On Robbery Charge

Dundas Was Brought Back Yesterday Afternoon From Cobourg Where He Was Serving 15 Days' Sentence For Being Intoxicated—Fred Todd is Implicated.

CARL SMITH AT HIS OWN REQUEST BROUGHT FROM JAIL CHANGES PLEA ENTERED IN FRIDAY'S POLICE COURT

Job Was Planned Last September and Was to Have Been Done Then, But at Last Moment Smith Backed Out — Todd Was With Men Before and After Crime, Police Allege.

Gordon Dundas and Carl Smith walked into the prisoner's box at Police Court this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge of having robbed with violence G. W. Johnston, aged Smith Township farmer, at his home on the Chemong Road. Both were remanded to Friday for sentence.

Dundas was brought back yesterday afternoon from Cobourg, where he was serving fifteen days in jail for drunkeness, by Detective William Meagher and Provincial Constable David Sylvester, to stand trial. His right eye was rimmed with a noticeable black and blue bruise. Police say he w... given the "shiner" by Chief E. Murphy, of Port Hope, on Wednesday night, when he tried to resist arrest.

Omemee Man Implicated

Fred Todd, 30, Omemee farmer, is also implicated in the hold-up, police say; and he faced the charge this morning of robbery with violence. He pleaded not guilty, and was remanded to Friday.

At his own request, Carl Smith was brought down from the jail to change the plea of not guilty he had entered yesterday.

Police say that Smith and Dundas have given a detailed account of the crime. Smith told The Examiner today that last September he and Dundas had planned to hold up Johnston. They would have done it then only he backed down, he said. On that occasion the two had planned to hit the old man over the head with a hammer and take his money. They walked out as far as Johnston's gate, where they halted to decide who was to strike the blow.

"We flipped a coin to see who would hit him," Smith told police. "I lost, but I wouldn't do it. I told Dundas I wasn't going to kill any old man. Dundas said he'd do it himself, but he didn't, and we walked back again."

Todd is implicated in the crime, according to police, because he was with the hold-up men before and after the crime. Dundas and Smith both say that Todd was with them that evening and stood at the gate while they went in and beat up Johnston. Todd states that he was drunk that night and remembers little of what took place. He recalls dimly of being near Johnston's place.

Both Smith and Dundas tell the same story concerning Todds part in the crime. According to their story, they met Todd, who several years ago worked in the Auburn with Dundas, on the street Monday afternoon. They wanted some liquor and coaxed

WRECK YIELDS MACHINE GUNS

Police Believe Norwegian Vessel Which Blew Up Was Carrying Arms.

CARGO LITTERS COAST.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A Reuter's dispatch from Colombo to-day said that fishermen had brought ashore five cases of machine guns and that police regarded the find as an indication that the Norwegian steamer Tricolor which blew up and sank off Colombo last Monday was carrying arms.

The Ceylon coast for thirty miles was strewn with wreckage of the ship and her cargo, including quantities of matches, barrels of wine, and cases of cloth. There also was a partly-burned lifeboat. The authorities at Singapore, where the Tricolor's survivors arrived to-day, are to hold an inquiry into the wreck.

Aviatrix Abandons Flight to Peiping

MOSCOW, Jan. 10 (C.P.)—Amy Johnson, the British aviatrix, arrived here to-day by train from Warsaw and announced she had given up her plans to fly to Peiping across Siberia, at least until next Spring.

The young woman flier said she would remain here until Tuesday, returning then to Warsaw to fly her plane back to England.

TRADEWIND HEADED OVER ATLANTIC AZORES, 2,000 MILES OF SEA AWAY

Mrs. B. Hart and Lieut. Maclaren at Controls of Single-engined Monoplane.

WEATHER FAVORABLE.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, January 10 (C.P.). — The monoplane Tradewind hopped off for the Azores at 12.15 p.m. (11.15 a.m. E.S.T.) on the second lap of a "pay-load" flight" from New York to Paris.

Local weather conditions were favorable as Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieut. William S. MacLaren started on their 2,000 mile all-water hop across the Atlantic.

Mrs. Beryl Hart, 27-year-old widow, and Lieutenant William S. MacLaren, naval reserve officer, planned their "pay-load" flight to Paris last fall with the idea of demonstrating that ocean flying could be "taken out of the stunt class and put on a sound commercial basis."

Start Proves Failure.

Their initial attempt to reach Bermuda, first of two ocean stops, ended in failure when they were compelled to return to the American coast after nearly reaching their objective in a flight from North Beach, Long Island. A broken sextant made navigation difficult, and they feared missing their objective in misty weather.

That was on January 3. Four days later, after minor repairs had been made to their plane and a new sextant obtained, they again took off for Hamilton, making the flight easily in six hours fifty-five minutes from Norfolk.

The hop to the Azores, 2,042 miles, is the longest one scheduled. From there the aviators plan a direct flight to Paris, 1,520 miles. A chart of the Seine, drawn by Dieudonne Coste, will guide the Tradewind to its landing place at Suresnes, near Paris.

400 Wolves Shot Last Year in North

NORTH BAY, Ont., Jan. 10.—Bounty on 400 wolves was claimed in this district last year, according to the figures of M. M. Parks, Superintendent of Game and Fisheries, for this area. This district includes Nipissing, Cochrane, Sudbury, Temiskaming and Manitoulin Island. The animals taken ranged in length from six to ten feet. In the Algoma district only 260 wolves were shot this year.

SIX PER CENT CUT FOR RHUR MINERS

Owners Refuse to Abide By Decision of Gov't Arbitrators.

NEW MEETING CALLED.

ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 10.—Government arbitrators in the Ruhr coal mines dispute to-day directed six per cent wage cut for the miners, ending an impasse which threatened to tie up the mines.

It was a compromise decision, the owners having demanded an eight p.. cent. reduction and the miners having offered to take a four per cent cut.

The mine owners rejected the arbitrators' award immediately and the Unions called meetings for to-morrow to consider the decision. The Government, however, was expected to declare the award binding on Monday under Article 48—the so-called Dictator clause—of the German constitution.

NUN LOSES LIFE IN SEEKING AID

Falls to Ground While Sliding Down Rope to Summon Firemen.

FRENCH TOWN MOURNS.

PARIS, Jan 10.—The little town of Fleury les Aubrais paid tribute to-day to the heroism of a Catholic nun, Sister Therese Augustan, who sacrificed her life yesterday to save the inmates of the Catholic Hospital there from a fire which threatened to destroy the building.

The flames broke out suddenly on a lower floor, cutting off escape by the stairway. Sister Therese made a rope of sheets and started to climb down so that she could summon firemen whose quarters were at some distance. Half way down she was overcome by smoke, lost her hold on the improvised rope, fell to the ground and broke her spinal column. She died immediately.

Neighbors, seeing the smoke and hearing the cries of the inmates, brought the firemen who extinguished the blaze after rescuing all the patients. Another nun, Sister Marie Patricia, died of a heart attack during the fire.

HASTEN 1,000 MILES IN SEARCH FOR GOLD ON GLOOMY WHITE ISLAND

Diggings on Island in Rice Lake Are at Last Solved By Police.

CAME FROM NORTH.

COBOURG, January 10 (Special to The Examiner). — Investigation by police of mysterious diggings on Gloomy White Island, near an abandoned farm building has brought to light, not suspected horrors, but a weird tale of a vain search for hidden gold.

Drawn to White Island in Rice Lake from the grim fastness of Millberta, north of New Liskeard, in New Ontario, by the mendacious fantasy of a "fortune teller" that a chest of gold was "buried ten feet deep and half-way between the old farmhouse and the stone wall around it," a middle-aged woman, her father and another man hastened more than a thousand miles with an old pick and shovel to make a search.

The three seekers after the romantic treasure, the woman of whom police are told is Mrs. William Paisley, dug more than 200 cubic yards of earth, excavating and refilling several holes. The curiosity of the neighboring farmers was aroused, and when three adventuresome young men decided to re-excavate the holes, they were puzzled by the grave-like appearance of the diggings, and communicated with High Constable William Robins, of Alnwick Township. The three youths were Easton Dunnett, Glanville Dunnett, and Albert Braithwaite.

Under the supervision of the police one hole was completely re-excavated, and the find was a man's red bandana handkerchief and part of a loaf of stale, mouldy bread.

Police were subsequently told by other farmers who had talked with the three strange visitors, that the New Liskeard fortune-teller had told Mrs. Paisley that "the chest of gold is buried north-east of the old abandoned farm house, and half-way between the house and the great stone fence which encircles it."

Promises to Press for Probe Into Whole Brokerage Situation.

TWEED TAKES PART.

PRESCOTT, Ont., January 10 (By J. F. Sanderson, C.P. Staff Writer). — Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., the new Leader of the Ontario Liberals, last night gave to the electors of Grenville the cardinal articles of faith in the Party's revamped platform. In his first speech as Leader, Mr. Hepburn presented a three-fold attack on the Provincial Government. He branded its financial record as one of "reckless extravagance and maladministration"; he criticized the Government for what he termed centralizing power in Toronto and ended up by demanding the resignation of Col. W. H. Price, Attorney-General.

Mr. Hepburn, who was chosen Liberal Leader at the Provincial Convention three weeks ago, selected the riding of Grenville as the locale of his first speech. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson represented this riding for many years until his resignation from the Ontario Premiership a short time ago to be Canadian High Commissioner in England.

Barnard Chosen Candidate.

As a prelude to Mr. Hepburn's speech, the Liberals of the constituency chose Percy Barnard of Spencerville as their candidate in the February by-election. He is a native of St. Thomas, Ontario. He and his leader were boyhood chums who attended school at the same time. Mr. Barnard coming to Eastern Ontario over 20 years ago. At a convention some days ago, the Conservatives of Grenville selected James Sanderson of Oxford Station as their candidate.

S. C. Tweed, M.L.A., North Waterloo, who spoke, attacked specially the financial record of the Ontario Government, declaring that its debt-retirement scheme was not accomplishing its avowed purpose nor was the administration practicing economy in its taxation of the people.

Asserting that Col. Price, as Attorney General, must have been aware of financial conditions in Ontario regarding brokers, Mr. Hepburn said there was no action taken until W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal House leader, had demanded it. As leader of the party, Mr. Hepburn promised the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate the whole situation, if the Liberals were placed in power. At the same time, the Liberals, he said, would demand some restitution, "for the thousands of men and women who were fleeced out of millions of dollars."

Northern Machine Scored

The Conservative administration in Ontario, Mr. Hepburn said, had developed a political machine in Northern Ontario which he termed "Tory octopus". In Toronto, Queen's Park was 'honeycombed with political parasites", he said, adding there would be a 'mighty quick housecleaning" if the Liberals gained power.

Regarding the liquor question, the only reference made to it by the Liberal leader was his statement that in the part it had served as "smoke screen which beclouded the real issues of the day". These, he said, were the government's financial record and its "general autocratic manner of dealing with the people of Ontario."

Couple Fight Fire, May Die of Burns

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 9 (C.P.).— Terribly burned while fighting a fire in their home, Lloyd Vaughn, aged 25, and his wife, aged 22, are near death at the Memorial Hospital. Physicians stated last night that their chances for recovery were slight.

Vaughn rose yesterday morning in his night attire and threw some kerosene on the fire. A portion of the fluid fell to the floor and took fire. Vaughn fought desperately to check it, and his young bride hurried to his aid. Together they put out the fire, but in doing so had their clothes burned completely off.

LARGE GAS TANK EXPLODES.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 10. —(C.P.)— One of the largest gas tanks of the Municipal Works exploded here to-day. The number of victims was not immediately ascertained but two bodies were recovered and several injured persons were sent to hospitals. The explosion broke windows and caused other damage over a wide area.

BRITISH STOCK BEST FOUNDATION FERGUSON SAYS

Mother Country Must Dominate at All Costs For Good of Empire.

AT UTILITIES BANQUET.

New Commissioner Lauded as Generous Champion of Hydro.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.) — Canada's two greatest needs at present were capital and people, declared Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to London, in an address at the joint annual banquet of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association and the Association of Municipal Electrical Utilities.

Mr. Ferguson hoped both of these requisities would be drawn primarily and mainly from British sources. "British domination of Canada in population as well as spiritually and sentimentality must be preserved at all costs, for both Canada's and the Empire's good," he said.

"I do not say we will not welcome capital and people from other countries," added Mr. Ferguson, "but for the sake of future generations I feel it is essential the Dominion of our people and our country should be British, nurtured under traditions and ideals which have made the Empire a vital factor in the world's civilization.

Mr. Ferguson was accorded a prolonged ovation when he rose to speak after being introduced by Alfred C. Maguire, Hydro Commissioner and President of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association, who hailed Mr. Ferguson as a "consistent and generous champion of Hydro throughout his tenure of office as Premier of Ontario."

DINNER TO VICEREGAL PARTY.

TORONTO, Ont., January 10. — The Prime Minister and Miss Mildred Bennett are tendering a farewell dinner to Their Excellencies Viscount and Lady Willingdon at the Chateau Laurier on Tuesday evening next. Their Excellencies will leave the following day for Quebec and St. John, sailing from the latter port on January 14. A select number of guests have been invited to attend the function.

ISAACS OPPOSED IN NEW OFFICE

Eminent Australian State Governor-General's Appointment is Invalid.

MAY BE COMPLICATIONS.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 10.— The appointment of Chief Justice Sir Isaac Isaacs as Governor-General of Australia is invalid, unless the British Cabinet actually discussed or approved it, in the opinion of Sir Edward Mitchell, K.C., and John Fullager, K.C., two eminent constitutional authorities of the State of Victoria.

The opinion was forthcoming in reply to questions addressed the lawyers by a number of societies which have long opposed the appointment of a native Australian to the Viceregal post.

If the constitutional view expressed by Sir Edward Mitchell and his colleagues is correct, not only would the appointment of Sir Isaac be invalid, but all Federal bills which received his signature, as His Majesty's representative would automatically be rendered invalid also.

FAMOUS RACER MAY BE HELD UP

Daytona Beach's Proposed Contribution of $4,000 Not Considered Enough.

QUICK ACTION NEEDED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.— Financial difficulties with Daytona Beach officials may prevent Captain Malcolm Campbell from attempting to seek a new world's automobile speed record at the famous Florida natural speedway this winter.

Ted Allen, secretary of the Contest Board, American Autoombile Association, announced yesterday that unless Daytona Beach officials formally apply for sanction for the speed trials by Monday, he will notify Capt. Campbell not to leave England for the United States. Campbell has planned to ship his new car, Bluebird II, on Jan. 14 and to leave himself ten days later. Daytona Beach's proposed contribution of $4,000 was not considered adequate to cover expenses of the trials.

Allen pointed out that early action by city authorities was imperative in view of the fact that racing conditions on the beach of Daytona are favorable only for a short period in January and February.

CHINA IN CRISIS AS SILVER DROPS

Mexican Dollar So Low Foreign Business Almost Paralyzed.

BUYERS REFUSE GOODS.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 10 (C.P.).—The fall of the value of the Mexican silver dollar in China to the lowest on record has almost paralyzed foreign business, and commercial houses face a crisis. Some Chinese, however, professed yesterday to see in the situation the possibility of quick industrial independence for their country.

With the silver dollar worth only 22.12 cents gold, many importers said their customers could not pay four silver dollars for foreign goods worth one dollar in gold.

Many Chinese buyers refused to accept contracted goods from importers, saying the declining price of silver made it impossible to sell the articles without heavy losses.

CONTROL OF RADIO BY GOV'T, URGED

Delegation Suggests National Broadcasting Company to Duranleau.

DIRECTORATE OF 12.

OTTAWA, Ont., January 10 (C.P.). — A National Radio Broadcasting Company, sponsored by the Federal Government, which would own, operate, and control a number of powerful broadcasting stations throughout the Dominion, was the desire of the vast majority of the radio owners, in this country, a delegation from the Canadian Radio League informed Hon. Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine.

Such a company should be administered by a directorate of 12 persons, voluntarily employed, who would be drawn from industrial, educational, amusement, and other circles, it was stated. Distributed throughout Canada, according to the representations of the Radio League, would be six 50-kilowatt broadcasting stations that would reach into every section of the Dominion, thus neutralising to some extent the virtual monopoly enjoyed by the higher powered and more numerous stations at present operating in the United States.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

BUSINESS MEN STRONGLY ENDORSE PUBLICITY MOVE TO GET TOURISTS

Money Spent By City is Being Returned Four-fold to Citizens.

DISTRICT GOING AHEAD.

That the tourist trade is a great booster to the industry and commerce of Peterborough and district, through the publicity campaign of the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association, was the undivided opinion of several of the leading business men of this city in recent interviews. The seeming extravagance of exhibiting at shows far from Peterborough and publishing and distributing expensive pamphlets was upheld in every instance. Figures show that while this district is sponsoring a vigorous publicity campaign, yet it is paying much less than any other city, according to its size, in the province, and is getting far more for every dollar spent in advertising.

W. A. Richardson of the Peterborough Canoe Company dwelt on the psychological side of publicity. At the forthcoming Motor Boat Show in New York, consisting of fish and game exhibits, descriptive booklets on the district, and continuous motion pictures, business men will be present in a holiday mood. When the mind is at rest, it is more easily impressed; thus an attractive exhibit will have a marked effect on the visitor, and will interest him beyond any of our expectations. The summer holidays will most likely find him on his way up to Peterborough or the Kawartha Lakes. Arrived here, he will naturally spend money on pleasure, but will also catch a glimpse of Canada industrially. On his return, discussions as to future extensions of American industry and commerce will lead to Peterborough or its vicinity receiving added business, that is if the visitor has been sufficiently impressed with the beauty and great possibilities of the country.

To Hold Dance

On motion of J. R. Bedford and Harry Anderson it was decided to hold a progressive euchre and dance after the business was dealt with at the next regular meeting. This will be Feb. 4th.

To Extend Invitation

At this point it was decided to extend an invitation to the Junior Institute and Agricultural Society of Keene to attend this social evening of cards and dancing.

The girls of the Junior Institute intimated they would be willing to supply the lunch and pay half the cost of the hall for the evening. The boys will bear all the other expenses.

A delegation from the Girls' Society asked that the boys pay half cost of a chintz curtain to be used in dividing the meeting rooms.

The society had intended to have J. B. Nelson, agricultural representative down from Peterborough to give a talk on farming, but it was understood he would be very busy with short courses to be held in Warsaw.

It is thought the local society will challenge the Warsaw boys to a debate on a topic of local interest. This will be after the short courses are concluded in that village. If this is done some very interesting speakers will be heard.

Hugh Buchanan, the representative from Havelock at the conference in Kemptville gave a brief but very interesting report on the procedure of the conference.

The purpose of this conference was to promote better farming and to urge the forming of producers clubs etc.

Mr. Buchanan has been kept very busy trying to catch up with his work and didn't have time to prepare a lengthy report, but assured them of a good full report along with some of the more interesting speeches given at Kemptville.

The business having been all dealt with the meeting was adjourned.

The two societies then got together and enjoyed a social half hour of dancing.

HAVELOCK SOCIETY TO AID THE NEEDY

Junior Agricultural Society Planning to Use Surplus Funds For Relief.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 10. (Examiner Correspondence) — The local Junior Agricultural Society's regular meeting was held in the Orange Hall Wednesday evening.

To Contribute Food

The resolution to devote any surplus funds to relief of various families in both the village and township needing food and clothing was dealt with. It was reported that a family at Cordova Mines was in very great need of assistance.

It is understood other organizations, including the Junior Institute, were preparing some relief for the present for this family, so the boys voted a substantial sum for food to be given to certain families in the village.

Winter On Prairies Has Been Very Mild

WINNIPEG, Man., January 10 (C.P.). — Bare, dusty streets can be seen in Alberta cities and towns; Saskatchewan reports very little snow, and Manitoba has yet to feel a real heavy stroke from the hand of Old Man Winter. Throughout the Canadian West Jack Frost so far this season has failed to maintain the reputation he had built himself on the Prairies.

Old timers are wondering where winter has gone, some even predicting that in 50 years' time there will be no winter on the Prairies.

ALL TWISTED OUT OF SHAPE WITH RHEUMATISM

NO RETURN OF PAIN

There may be no such thing as miracles, but just try to convince Mr. Geo. H. Leaman of this. Nine or ten years ago, he had a terrible attack of Sciatic Rheumatism. Despite all kinds of treatment he suffered excruciating pain and became all twisted out of shape, so badly so that it was decided to try and straighten his poor arms and legs by a system of ropes, pulleys and weights.

"They never had to be used," he says. "Just a few days before, a relative in Toronto sent me a box of T-R-C's. From the first box I got relief. After using them for a few weeks, I found the pain had left me. My arms and legs gradually straightened out. Anyone on seeing me now would not believe I had been so terribly laid up with Rheumatism."

Deep-seated, stubborn cases of Rheumatism require patient and correct use of T-R-C's for a reasonable length of time; but you are sure of relief if you persist with T-R-C's. Repeatedly they have given safe, speedy relief from Acute Rheumatic suffering; also from Sciatica, (stabbing pain in hip and thigh), Neuritis, Neuralgia and Lumbago (Lame Back). No harmful or habit-forming drugs.

T-R-C's do this—Enter the blood stream and help your body throw off the misery-causing poisons which have accumulated in your blood. When these go, health and happiness return. T-R-C's are 50c and $1 per box at your dealer's. 102

Willingdons Given Receptions In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—Hundreds of Ottawa citizens yesterday said farewell to Viscount and Viscountess Willingdon. Two receptions were arranged in their honor, one by the Canadan Legion and the other by the Canadian Club of Ottawa and the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club.

During his term as Governor-General both Lord and Lady Willingdon took an actve interest in both organizations. In appreciation of her services as patroness for all Canada of the annual sale of veterans' poppies, members of the Canadian Legion presented Her Excellnecy with an illuminated address at a large gathering in the Veterans' Hall.

Both Lord and Lady Willingdon spoke feelingly of the debt the country owed disabled soldiers, and of their pleasure in assisting the Poppy Fund.

AWAIT FAVORABLE WEATHER.

HAMILTON, Bermuda Jan. 10.—(C.P.)—Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieut. William S. Maclaren today awaited favorable weather conditions before continuing their trans-Atlantic journey in their plane, the Tradewind, to Paris.

Rain and a strong south-west wind yesterday prevented a take-off for the Asores, netx stop on the flight, but they remained ready to depart whenever conditions should improve. They arived here Wednesday from Norfolk, Va., after a flight of six hours and 55 minutes.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Price 50c a box

Was Weak and Run Down
Could Scarcely Do Housework

Mrs. Edward A. Allen, Bezanson, Alta., writes: "I would like to tell you of the great benefit I have received from your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was feeling very much run down in health, and was so weak I could scarcely do my housework, in fact, I would have to lie down in the afternoon for an hour or so. I saw your Pills in the drug store and took a box home with me, and I was delighted with my renewed strength. I have recommended them to a neighbor and feel sure they will help her too."

Sold by all drug and general stores, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

RALPH STARR BUTLER

Vice President in charge of Advertising

General Foods Corporation

"I cannot believe that the present enormous budgets would have been voted by responsible business men without such a measuring stick as the A. B. C. provides. Its foundation marks the turning point in advertising."

Looking back over the active decades, they search out the turning point in American Advertising, the period when the confidence of business was won.

Independently, they agree on time and place.

It was the discovery of the Yardstick . . . The finding of a unit of measure for the value of advertising space. A unit as positive, as reliable, as the measure for coal or wheat.

PHIL L. THOMSON

Director of Public Relations

Western Electric Company

"Business would never have spent millions to buy circulation by the pile. Accustomed to purchase copper, lumber or lead by an accepted unit of measure, we asked the same type of yardstick for space. The A. B. C. gave it to us."

Sixteen years ago a group of advertisers met with publishers and agencies in Chicago. To bring order out of chaos in circulation claims, they founded, on May 20, 1914, the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

In 1914, publication advertising totalled about $250,000,000. In 1927, year of the latest government report, it had reached over a billion dollars.

That this growth could not have come without the A. B. C. is the judgment of advertisers themselves.

Founded at the instance of advertisers, having advertisers in the majority on its Board of Directors, the A. B. C. exists to safeguard the interests of advertisers.

For them, it forms the bulwark against the chaos that once was advertising. It has enabled them to buy advertising with confidence.

In recognition of this service, an increasing number of leading advertisers hold membership today in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

ACCORDING to Elbert Hubbard, an educated person is one who is Master of his Environment. He believed that education should be a preparation for life—and life resents over-specialization. He used to say "The Millenium will arrive when parents refuse to send their children to any school, college, or university where the curriculum does not provide that a least one-half the school day shall be spent in work." He contended that an educated person is one who knows how to produce more than he consumes, and is qualified to take care of himself under a variety of conditions and circumstances.

John Plane tells me that there is a long article in Elbert Hubbard's Selected Writings which begins on page 397 of Vol. 1 and runs almost 10,000 words, the subject of which is that a college education (in the purely "academic" college) is something worse than a waste of four years of time at a critical period in a boy's life and five thousand dollars of money.

Hubbard and Ingersoll.

In the course of this article Hubbard says: "The college gives honor where there is no merit; position without character; rewards the unworthy; inflates the foolish; makes mention of the mediocre and advertises nullity. As Robert Ingersoll said, 'It polishes pebbles and dims diamonds.' It imparts to a nobody the standing of a somebody, and as such supplies service which will long be in demand."

After passing through Harvard, Henry D. Thoreau refused to accept his diploma and pay five dollars for it—he said it wasn't worth the money.

In his "Walden," Thoreau expresses his opinion of college training this way: "If I wished a boy to know something about the arts and sciences I would not pursue the common course, which is merely to send him into the neighborhood of some professor, where everything is professed and practised but the art of life. To my astonishment, I was informed when I left college that I had studied navigation! Why, if I had taken one turn down the harbor I would have know more about it."

"A Chiel Amang You."

Under the above caption there appears an editorial in a recent issue of "The Varsity" the undergraduate newspaper of the University of Toronto. I saw it first in the Workshop of John Plane, and from him I have got permission to use it. Here it is:

"Every day we are surrounded by thousands of earnest young people taking notes. They are justifying their existence.

They will go home at Christmas. Friends and acquaintances will stop them in the street, to ask tolerantly: 'And what are you going through for?' If he, or she, can answer proudly, 'I am going through for medicine'—or dentistry, or bridge-building or the ministry, or dietetics, or basket-weaving,—the situation maintains its orthodox complexion. But if there is any hesitation; if the answer is, 'I am taking a general arts course'; or if it is, 'I don't know—yet,'.....the universe reels

The wise student learns that it is safest to regard the path of an honour arts course as leading to a definite profession. The paths of classics and of English and history are presumed to lead to teaching. The path of an economics course leads to law or banking.

The path of a general arts course, however leads but to the grave.

A Young Country.

"This is a young country, we are to remember. We are carving our destiny out of the solid rock, digging it out of the soil, or wringing it out of the stock market. It behooves the Canadian university student—divinely elected from among his fellows to prepare for a great destiny—to attend lectures faithfully, listen intently to professors, and take notes like mad. Even if he is only, blushingly, 'taking a general arts course,' he may some day be able to justify himself with a set of beautiful leather-bound notes neatly and carefully rewritten in a small, round hand. And, to be even more pragmatic, a few nights' close companionship with these notes in May will enable him to pass his examinations, face the watching world unbashed, and eventually in the second week of some June take his place on the platform with the Olympians.

What Is Wrong?

"Not for a moment would we suggest that there is anything wrong with our system of higher education. But we do say that there is something very decidedly wrong with our attitude toward it. Our iconoclastic editorial soul even permits us to go so far as to suspect the prevailing professorial attitude. The dons may not be entirely free from blame for the popular attitude which regards as a gift from the gods the professor who speaks slowly, tabulates, and repeats whole clauses so that no perspiring penman may miss them.....the same attitude which eyes askance the enthusiastic lecturer who rushes heedlessly on, or the professor who finds the ceaseless scratch of the arduous pens both annoying and idiotic.

"What would happen if for a whole week every arts student in this university decided to sit back in his seat and listen to the lectures? He might discover, for one thing, that the material of some of the professors is pretty thin. What he would be more likely to discover is the complete lack of ideas existing in his own mind—that, as a matter of fact, his mind has been constitutionally incapacitated by disuse and abuse for any independent analytical thinking.

Why Have Independent Thinking?

"But, it will be asked, is the classroom the place for independent thinking? The answer to that is that the attitude of mind inculcated in the classroom is the attitude of mind carried into every other department of undergraduate life. Students do not enter a classroom to think—nor even to be stimulated. And when they enter the library or the study, they do not do so for thought or stimulation, eitehr. They do it to take notes from a book.

"The discussion group is cited as the place of places for individual expression. No one more than the leaders of those groups realizes the appalling aridity which exists in the mind of the average undergraduate. Give your student a chance to read a carefully prepared essay, and he is in his element. He will marshall his authorities in ranks and pit one against the other; he will cite his examples and quote from a hundred sources. But get him into an open discussion on the same subject and he cuts a pathetic figure

Too Sophisticated.

"A certain philosophy don in this university recently complained that his classes had become too sophisticated for him, that he couldn't get his students to commit themselves. Consciously or unconsciously, he paid his students a compliment we suspect they did not deserve. The chances are that not one of them was possessed of an idea, and that even the best of them were merely torn between conflicting commentators.

"Let any professor interrupt his lecture long enough to ask the class a question presupposing independent thought, and he will be greeted with a great silence. His auditors, waiting for the discourse to resume, will be leaning mute and panting on their notes."

* * *

A Radical Ignoramus.

At the risk of being thought an intellectual degenerate or a radical ignoramus I have to confess that I got a real thrill out of that editorial. It carried me back in thought to a time when I sat in a place of "learning" and only got a chance to do some independent thinking when note-taking days and cramming-nights were done. The day of days came to me, and I was handed a diploma which is still in its original case; and nobody except myself knows where it is hidden. Why I keep it is more than I am able to understand. Perhaps it is due to that superstitious background which goes through life with most Scotsmen who have been exposed to education of the regulation type!

Yet Elbert Hubbard may be right when he says that without Harvard there would have been no Thoreau. Having earned his diploma, he had the privilege of declining it; and having gone to college it was his right to affirm the emptiness of the classics. Only the man with a goodly bank-balance can wear rags with impunity.

John Ploughman Says.

"To get through this world a man must look about him, and even sleep with one eye open; for there are many baits for fishes, many nets for birds, and many traps for men. While foxes are so common we must not be geese

"There is a very great difference in this matter among people of my acquaintance; many see more with one eye than others with two, and many have fine eyes and cannot see a jot. All heads are not sensebones. Some are so cunning that they suspect everybody and so live all their lives in miserable fear of their neighbors; others are so simple that every knave takes them in, and makes his penny of them. One man tries to see through a brick wall, and hurts his eyes; while another finds out a hole in it, and sees as far as he pleases. Some work at the mouth of a furnace and are never scorched; and others burn their hands at the fire when they only mean to warm them. Now, it is true that no one can give another experience, and we must all pick up wit for ourselves; yet I shall venture to give some of the homely cautions which have served my turn, and perhaps they may be of use to others as they have been to me.

Keep Your Eyes Open.

"Nobody is more like an honest man than a thorough rogue. When you see a man with a great deal of religion displayed in his shop window, you may depend upon it he kepes a very small stock of it within. Do not choose your friend by his looks; handsome shoes often pinch the feet. Don't be fond of compliments: remember "Thank you, pussy, and thank you, pussy," killed the cat. Don't believe in the man who talks most; for mewing cats are very seldom good mousers. By no means put yourself in another's power; if you put your thumb between two grinders they are apt to bite. Drink nothing without seeing it; sign nothing without reading it, and make sure that it means no more than it says.....

"Lastly, my advice to all is—remember that good wisdom is that which will turn out to be wise in the end; seek it, friends, and seek it at the hands of the wisest of all teachers, the Lord Jesus. Trust Him, and He will never fail you; be guided by His Word, and it will never mislead you; pray in His name, and your requests shall be granted. Remember, he that leans on man will find him a broken reed, but he who builds on Christ has a firm foundation. You may follow Jesus with you eyes shut if you please, but when others would guide you keep all your eyes open even if you have a dozen, and all of them as powerful as telescopes.

Yours for more independent thinking,

—Allan Fairbairn.

Greatness And Goodness

SHALL the theatrical vagrant be proud of his borrowed robes, or the mud wall swell because the beams of a beautiful sun shine upon it? Gold in your bags may make you great; but it is grace in your heart which makes you good. Goodness without greatness shall be esteemed, when greatness without goodness shall be confounded. Proud sinners are the fittest companions for proud devils. The more prosperity man enjoys, the more humility God enjoins.

HANDFULS OF PURPOSE

"Establish Thou the work of our hands upon us."—Psalm 90:17.

* * *

WORK for its own sake were well worth while. It saves the earth from the palsy of inaction, spares the waters the doom of stagnation, keeps the weeds down and the flowers in bloom. Surely it were right to pray for talent to make some gift to human knowledge or to human treasure—to write a book, to chisel a statue, to invent a machine, to isolate a culture—which of itself and apart from our name would mark a step in the history of human development. But that is only an item in life, a fraction of labor. To only one end does every action tell from dawn to dark and from dark to dawn again. Upon only one clock are all the seconds of all the hours ticked off. ME! Work is for the worker. The effects of the lie may perhaps be warded off, save from the liar himself. Generosity may sometimes go awry, but he who gave, though he may know regret, is richer for his giving. To have dared, and to have mastered, or even to have failed, this is growth.

Light Amid Darkness

I have read of a poor, weather-beaten ship rounding Cape Horn on a stormy, starless winter night. The man at the wheel stood shivering, unable to see a cable's length through the howling tempest, when suddenly the whole scene was aflame with the lightning, and by the terrible gleam he saw, close on his weather bow, and within hail a great ship bearing down upon him, and with his strong hand straining at the helm, and his awful cry sent out upon the tempest, he escaped destruction. That flash of lightning saved him. And sometimes I do not doubt God uses spasmodic piety to alarm the ungodly. Unquestionably, a fitful and intermittent life is better than no life, but as certainly it is not the type of life to be most efficiently used.

"Be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord," is the inspired rule of Christian living; and whatever qualities a man's piety may have—though at long intervals it may flash and roar like a thunderbolt, and flood the whole landscape with an awful splendor, nevertheless I am persuaded that in all this he does not come up fully to the text's requirement—"letting his light so shine that men may see his good is in heaven."

Life As a Dream

WE rejoice in God since He has taught us that everything which is true in us, is but a faint expression of what is in Him. And thus all our joys become to us the echo of higher joys, and our very life is as a dream of that nobler life, to which we shall awaken when we die.

The Hour Of Prayer

O GOD Thou art never hard to find. Thou hast kept Thy word never to leave us or forsake us; but all we like sheep have gone astray, we have turned every one to his own way. Thou knowest and we know where we parted. We who have been dishonest know Thou art to be found when the old wrongs are righted. We who have been impure and breakers of Thy law know we must confess our sin with broken and contrite hearts, for such Thou wilt not despise. We cannot afford to live longer with our sin instead of our Saviour. We mourn the foolish waste of years that have left Thee unhonoured and behind; and, fearing to lose another day, we return now to begin anew with Thee. Amen.

It's Not Charity

THEN our cup runs over, we let others drink the drops that fall, but not a drop from within the rim, and call it charity; when the crumbs are swept from our table, we think it generous to let the dogs eat them; as if that were charity which permits others to have what we cannot keep; which says to Ruth, "Glean after the young men, 'but forgets to say to the young men, "Let fall also some of the handfuls of purpose for her."

SATURDAY, JANUARY 10, 1931.

THE FIRST WOMAN CHAIRMAN.

The Board of Education is to be congratulated upon its choice of Mrs. W. R. Morris as chairman for the current year, an honor that is most certainly due to Mrs. Morris following her long and efficient service as a member.

Mrs. Morris is the only woman who has ever been elected to a civic position in Peterborough, and it is fitting indeed that the ability she has shown since her first election twelve years ago, the unflagging interest she has always displayed in educational matters, her firm grasp of every detail of business coming within the jurisdiction of the Board of Education, and the time and energy she has unhesitatingly devoted to matters affecting the welfare of Peterborough's school population should be recognized by her elevation to the position of executive head of the Board.

She should make an admirable chairman because, in addition to her long service as a member, she has had the advantage of being president of a number of important organizations, several of them provincial in character, that have given her experience that should be of excellent service to her in her new post.

A TEST FOR PREMIER HENRY.

The resignation of Charles A. Magrath, who for the past five years has been chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, is not a surprise, for it has been frequently prophesied during recent months.

Hon. George S. Henry, Ontario's new Premier, may find in the selection of a successor to Mr. Magrath a real test of whether or not he has taken over the Ferguson success in major appointments along with the responsibilities that have come to him.

It was one of Mr. Ferguson's strongest features that when a big job was to be filled he was able to induce a big man to assume the position; the securing of such outstanding men as D. B. Hanna and Sir Henry Drayton to head the Liquor Control Board being a typical example.

The chairmanship of the Ontario Commission is a highly important appointment and one that Mr. Henry should carefully consider before making his choice.

There are rumors that Hon. W. H. Price, the Attorney-General, may resign from the Cabinet and succeed Mr. Magrath.

Colonel Price has ability and business training, but his administration of the Attorney-General's department has not been free from strong criticism in a number of instances, and there is some reason to believe that his selection for such a responsible post of heading the Ontario Commission would not inspire that general confidence that should be associated with an appointment of that nature.

ADVERTISING THIS DISTRICT.

Plans are complete for the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association exhibit at the New York Motor Boat show during the week of January 16-24, and the organization, which has done so much to advertise this section of Ontario before thousands of American citizens of a type likely to be interested in the outing possibilities of the Trent district, is confident that this year's exhibit will be the best yet shown.

Representation at the Motor Boat Show is assured by the financial assistance given by the municipalities along the route of the waterway, and municipal governments are showing sound judgment in contributing toward the cost of something that has shown its ability to get results.

The fact that while tourist traffic in Ontario as a whole last season was not as brisk as in other years, the influx of visitors into this section and the amount of money placed in circulation as a result were larger than ever before, should be a convincing proof of the efficacy of the advertising campaign carried on by the association, and particularly of the success of the New York exhibit which constituted the biggest feature of the year's publicity drive.

Investing civic money in a campaign that brings thousands of dollars of new money into the district every year is good business, and it is expected that this year's Council will show its appreciation of that fact by making a worth-while donation toward the cost of financing this year's exhibit.

THE RADIO SITUATION.

It is not surprising to learn that E. A. Peck, M.P., has received a large number of letters from local radio enthusiasts in regard to the mooted change to Government ownership of broadcasting in this country, and that every correspondent has condemned the suggestion and expressed satisfaction with conditions as they are.

The Aird Commission, it will be remembered, recommended doing away with privately-owned radio stations and the substitution of a number of publicly-owned and operated broadcasting units.

The King Government, probably because of the storm of protests from individual set-owners that greeted the publication of the report, took no action, and the radio problem was one of the many questions inherited by the new Government when it took office last August.

There has been no intimation from Mr. Bennett that he proposes to implement the recommendations of the Aird Commission, but radio enthusiasts are leaving nothing to chance and are taking active steps to convince the new administration, if it should happen to favor the Government-ownership plan, that to do so would be a decidedly unpopular and politically unwise move.

Public opinion is undoubtedly strongly opposed to interference with private stations or to the establishment of an expensive Government system that could not hope to match the programs now being given.

The present plan is not perfect, especially in the time it gives to advertising, but in the opinion of the majority of set-owners is infinitely to be preferred to the suggested public-owned chain of stations.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

No matter what comes of Senator Robertson's week-end visit to the Border—and he is personally optimistic—it is encouraging to our people to know that those in authority in Ottawa are keenly interested in our problems and anxious to help us in solving them.

The commuter situation has been a source of anxiety, locally, for some time. Our troubles in this respect commenced over three years ago and from time to time the situation has been intensified by "drives" made by the American immigration authorities for the evident purpose of discouraging our citizens from crossing the river. That extending over the last month or so has probably been the most serious of the lot, because it came at a moment when general employment conditions were depressed and it was not easy for a workman, barred from Detroit, to find a job on this side.

We do not know what they may have done in this regard, but it seems to us that the important business interests who own the various international transportation companies—ferries, bridge and tunnel—should be very much alive to this situation, and using their strongest influence to bring about a change of attitude on the other side. The companies referred to are American and it stands to reason that they should have a voice at Washington. At the present time they are undoubtedly losing a great deal of revenue because of the embarrassment caused their customers and potential customers when they reach the Detroit side. For the protection of their own interests it would seem that these companies should be adding their voices to those of Canadian officialdom in getting Washington to appreciate the absurdity of maintaining the present immigration attitude in Detroit.—Border Cities Star.

THE YEAR'S PROSPECTS.

It is interesting and encouraging to read the industrial reviews which have been published since the year 1931 made its appearance. These reviews, coming from men and institutions whose names have been for years household words in the industrial, business and commercial life of Canada, carry weight. They are the utterances of men who are schooled to study conditions, who have the knowledge, the experience and the ability to analyze events and tendencies. And it is gratifying to note that in every case, there are expressions of confidence that the year 1931 will see Canada lifted out of the slough of despondency, and placed once more on the road to complete prosperity.

After reading scores of such assertions from the leaders of Canadian business life, one is bound to be impressed. They all agree with each other that conditions will improve in 1931, and that a definite upward trend in business can be expected in the near future. The only point of difference is that of time. Some say that the revival will come in March, some in April, some in May. The main thing, however, is that they see brighter days in store for Canada, and they are confident that, of all the countries in the world, Canada will be the first to recover.

One can only express the hope that these predictions, these hopes, will be fully realised and that before a few months have passed conditions in Canada will have improved to such an extent that the bogey of depression will be definitely chased out of the country.—Oshawa Times.

IN THE MATTER OF CAREERS.

With the blessing of the Premier of Ontario, college principals and other notable persons of good intentions and amiable habits, an organization has been launched at Toronto for the purpose of "directing the youth of the nation from the school into the line of endeavor each scholar, boy or girl, is best fitted for." The movement, it appears, is equipped with "a real dynamic force" who proposes to surround himself with a research bureau, a reference library and a corps of public speakers.

Obviously nothing remains to be done but to devise some infallible means of deciding whether a boy should be a lawyer or a locomotive engineer, his sister a demonstrator of canned soups or a social secretary. When it is possible to sort out the potential preachers from the embryonic plumbers, to say with scientific authority who shall work with the hands and who with the brain, no doubt there will be power to enforce vocational rulings, there will be no more misfits in industry or business and everybody will be happy in the performance of the task assigned him. It is a delightful picture of individual bliss and national harmony.

But at the risk of being considered blase and cynical we must express sorrowfully the fear that nothing whatever, or very little, can be accomplished in our present state of trial and error by any such mass guidance. It might be done in Russia, but in this country the individual is not yet submerged in the nation and we have a separate as well as a communal existence. Regrettably it is true that under the present plan by which boys drift more by chance than by deliberate design into their lifetime jobs, and girls similarly into the places they are to fill unless and until they are elevated to matrimony, there are many persons badly placed. Everyone knows instances of the kind, and much unhappiness would be eliminated from the world if it were possible to sift and sort the round pegs into the round holes and the square ones into the square holes. People are contrary, though, and human nature being what it is perhaps the "educational guidance movement" has come a century or two ahead of its time.

In the application of this benevolent plan for human improvement we foresee endless complications unless some way can be devised by its promoters for levelling the race into a monotone of equality. Otherwise a bright youth will be picked for the pulpit, for instance, and presently it will be obvious to all that an error was made: he was meant for the plow. What is to be done about this and the countless other cases of the kind bound to occur? Should we have a readjustment every few years, the misfits given a trial in other jobs? That is precisely what goes on now, in a quiet way and without the intervention of college principals.

It is to be doubted whether very much more can be done than is being done to assure the proper placing of boys and girls in the work for which they are likely to be best fitted. Opportunities for girls still are circumscribed by convention or physical limitations. Boys have the open world ahead, they form their preferences by what they read and see, the schools give them the chance to try their hands at sundry trades and crafts before they are committed to the business of making a living. With it all, with the advice of parents and parsons and kind friends, mistakes are made, lamentable errors in judging inclination and measuring intelligence, but we suspect just as grievous blunders would be perpetrated in the name of efficiency under the Toronto plan.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

An onion week for Canada is the strongest bit of propaganda of the present year.

Peterborough's relief work cannot be allowed to lag. There are many cases of real need that must be looked after until conditions improve.

Toronto is to have a $1,500,000 sports arena, which isn't exactly a sign of hard times.

BURNING BEAUTY

She had no blushes for him, no hint of interest in their future meeting. And how could he know that no sooner had the front door closed behind him than she forgot him. Mary Lee had gone with the others, and Virginia left at last alone, ran upstairs to the second floor, all the echoes of the old house thundering after her. When she reached Rickey's room, she unlocked the desk where he kept his papers. The money Grogan had given him was not there! She searched everywhere, pulling out dresser drawers frantically, going through the pockets of Rickey's clothes in the closet. At last she stood very still in the middle of the room. The truth had come to her. Rickey had a thousand dollars with him, and he was propably at that very moment matching his poor skill against the cunning and sharp practice of Lute Carney.

She rushed back again to the kitchen and blew out the candles. The fire lighted the room and its confusion. The gold kitten was on the table lapping at the cream. But Virginia felt there was no time for anything but her quest of Rickey. Every moment might count. He had all that money . . . all that money . . . ! Her fingers trembled as she buttoned her raincoat. Her heart was beating almost to suffocation. She wanted to cry, but she mustn't. She must go out into the night and find her brother. He needed her, she knew it. She had to go to save him.

CHAPTER SEVEN.
WILD GEESE FLY AGAINST THE MOON.

Out in the windy night Virginia found that the rain was over and that the moon sailed high against ragged clouds. She hurried through the dark streets and came at last to the long bridge which spans the Severn. It had lamps strung along the side, but the lights only deepened the darkness beyond. A motor car went whirling by, seeming to stare at her with golden eyes. After that she met neither motor cars nor pedestrians until she was within a few feet of the opposite shore. A man was leaning against the stone coping, gazing down into the water. As he heard her step, he turned and looked at her. Then as she came under the lamp, he spoke her name in a startled way.

She felt a great surge of relief. "Oh, Michael McMillan!" Her lifted face was illumined. "I am so glad—it's you!"

She was breathless, beautiful, in the shining night. He took a step toward her. "You should not be out alone as late as this."

She hesitated. "I had to come to find —Rickey. He went away this afternoon and he hasn't come back. He had a lot of money with him—all the cash we got from the sale. I'm afraid he's with Lute Carney."

"The man we saw yesterday?"

"Yes. Rickey promised to come home for supper. We had guests, and I wanted him to be there."

Guests? Anthony Bleecker? Anger flamed in Michael's breast. Yet there was about Virginia something so child-like, so troubled, that he found himself ashamed of his doubts, and set himself to help her.

"Where is this Lute Carney?"

"There's a place in the woods by the river, where the men meet. Rickey has never told me—but I went there—once. Mother was with me—but we didn't find him. We just looked through the window and came away. I know I can find it again if I follow the path . . ."

His voice was sharp. "You don't mean you swere going alone."

"Yes. What else could I do? Lute and the other men will get him to playing cards, and he will lose the money. And then he will hate himself—and nobody knows what will happen."

"What could happen—?"

"Oh, I've seen him before, Mr. McMillan. He was desperate."

He felt a raging sense of anger but did not show it. "You must let me look for him. It's no place for you . . ."

"Rickey would be furious if he thought I'd sent you."

"He need not know. Anyone can walk by the river, and chance upon a friend. I'll work the thing out. Don't worry."

She seemed uncertain. "I might go with you."

"Better leave it to me," he spoke with decision.

So it was settled. There wasn't any time to lose, she told him, breathlessly. It was so very late—anything might have happened. "Perhaps I'm silly to imagine things. But I can't help it."

He offered to go home with her, but she wouldn't have it. "I am all right, really."

And "you're not to worry. Remember I shall bring your brother back, or if not, I'll bring news of him."

She laid her hand lightly on his coat sleeve. "Do you know you are being rather wonderful to me, Michael McMillan.

"Am I?"

"Yes." She turned quickly and left him, and he watched her until she was lost in the shadows on the other side of the bridge. His heart ran after her. There was something significant to him in this meeting. It had given him a chance to serve her. And he would see her again that night. His pulses pounded as he thought of it. Whether he brought Rickey back again or not, he meant to see her.

Leaving the bridge, he followed a path through the pine woods, across which the trees cast black shadows against the brightness of the moon. There was hardly a sound, a little lapping of the water, a little rustle of dry leaves under his feet, the low note of some wild thing awake and hunting.

On and on he went, making his way swiftly, aware in the midst of his anxiety of the beauty of the night. Then, suddenly, breaking the silence, voices, Rickey's high and shrill with a hint of despair. "Well, you've cleaned me out, Lute, and that's the end of it."

"End—notliing. You'll have more when Grogan gives it to you. And better luck next time."

"There'll be no next time. And how do you think I can face Jinny?"

"Oh, you ain't tied to your sister's apron string like that, Oliphant."

"I'm not tied to anything but my own darned foolishness! I'm done with you, Lute, and if anything happens you've got yourself to blame for it."

Michael drew back into the bushes. Lute was drunk again, he could tell by his voice, and the two men were angry. There might be need for him to jump into it. But he'd keep out until forced to interfere.

"What's going to happen? You're too white-livered to hurt yourself."

"Take that back—"

"Who are you talkin' to?" There was a snarl in the coarse voice which changed to an oath as Rickey struck him. He went down like a shot, and Rickey stood over him. "Get back to your hut, and learn how to speak to a gentleman," the boy raged, and Carney got to his feet and walked away muttering. It was the triumph of caste, Michael decided. Carney was a bigger man than young Oliphant. But when Rickey took that tone the bully was cowed by it as the generations back of him had been cowed.

Rickey stood still until Carney entered the hut, then he began to run, and Michael followed him. And so they came presently to a rickety pier which went out between rows of tall rushes to where the deeper waters spread their sheen. The moon hung low, and a flock of wild geese flew dark against it.

Rickey left the path and made his way to the end of the pier. There he stopped and stood looking down into the water. His face in the moonlight was white and staring. Micheal went to him at once. At his step Rickey raised his head and spoke in a startled voice: "Who's there?"

"Michael McMillan."

"McMillan?"

"Yes, it's a marvelous night isn't it? Did you see those geese flying against the moon?"

"I was out for a walk. I followed the river path." He was standing now beside Rickey. There was a moment's silence then Michael laid his hand on the boy's shoulder and spoke earnestly. "Look here—I heard you talking to Lute Carney. You seem to be in a bit of a hole. Is there anything I can do to help?"

Rickey wrenched himself away. "Why should you help?"

"Why shouldn't I? You and your sister seem to be a pair of babes in the woods. I heard you say you hated to face her."

"I'm not going to face her."

"What are you going to do?"

"Kill myself or—run away."

"Nonsense," sternly, "you must think of yourself in some other terms than that of melodrama."

Rickey blazed, "It's none of your business how I think of myself."

"Perhaps not. But I'm making it my business."

"I wish you'd let me alone."

The boy seemed dazed and Michael was aware of his quick breathing. "The money's gone," he said, "and there's no way to get it back. But I can't help it. Gambling is in my blood."

'Stop that," again Michael's voice was stern. "We'll try to find a way out. But don't pity yourself."

"There isn't any way out."

"I think there is."

His tone was so sure that Rickey asked quickly, "What do you mean?"

"Your sister says you are writing a book. I'm an editor, Oliphant. I'm looking for young authors. I'd like to read your manuscript."

He interrupted himself, "How much did Carney win from you?"

"A thousand dollars."

"Well, I'll give you a thousand dollars advance on the chance of my liking your story. I'll get the money to you to-morrow."

The boy turned and looked at him, then cried with a touch of wildness. "What chance is there that you'll like what I write? If I fall down I'll have your money, and you'll be out of it."

Michael gave a little laugh. "I've a bit of sporting blood myself, and now and then I gamble on my authors."

"But why on me?"

"Your sister says some of your short stories have found a place in the big magazines. That shows you have it in you. And now, what about it?"

"I accept, of course. But I don't see why you're doing it."

Michael shrugged. "Oh, well, I hate to see people go under when they've got it in them to make good."

He stood up, "I make only one stipulation. That the whole thing shall be between the two of us. There is no reason why your sister should learn that you lost at cards. When the manuscript is ready you can let me have it. After that, you can tell her what you please. But I wouldn't trouble her with it at this time."

Rickey tried to thank him. "You needn't," Michael protested, "only keep away from Lute Carney. You don't belong to his crowd, and you know it."

Rickey lifted his face to the sky—"If I could really do a book—" He drew a sobbing breath—

"You can," Michael's arm went about the heaving shoulders, then, after a moment, "Shall we move on? The wind is getting sharp."

The world wore a white pallor as the moon dropped back of the clouds. The woods were dark as they went through them. Rickey, in an excited reaction from his depression, asked eager questions. Michael's magazine? That? Oh, Gosh, he didn't really mean it? Oh there wasn't anything to beat it!

They shook hands when they parted Michael stood back in the shadows while Rickey opened the door with his key. He heard Virginia's voice. "Rickey, darling. . . ." Then the door was shut and through the uncurtained window he saw them going up the stairway.

Michael leaned on the sundial. The street lamp shone on him faintly, so that he was a gray shadow among darker ones. And presently he saw Virginia and her brother come down. Rickey descended to the kitchen, but Virginia opened the front door, closed it behind her, softly, and came towards him. I saw you," she said, in a hushed voice, "how can I ever thank you?"

"I need no thanks."

"Yes . . . you brought Rickey home, Mr. McMillan, I don't dare stay a minute, or he'll miss me. He wants his supper."

"Won't you come back? I must see you."

"I may be late."

"You'll find me on the stone seat."

The stone seat was set between two great box trees which boiled up about it in green luxuriance so that it was hidden from the street, and indeed from the sight of those in the house. Michael, shut in by it, thought of the lovers who had found it a retreat. The smell of the box was aromatic, delicious. He picked a leaf or two and stuck them in his notebook. He was aware all at once of a sense of romance, foreign to the habit of these arid days, as if something unexpected might happen this night under the moon.

Through the window where Anthony had first glimpsed Mrs. Montgomery and the gold-colored kitten, Michael now saw Virginia busy with Rickey's repast. It was like a moving picture, and the high lights were Virginia's green gown and the leaping yellow flames of the new-built fire, for Rickey had brought wood, and was sitting now on the hearthstone, staring at the flames as he talked to his siter. The yellow kitten had leaped to his knee and lay flattened out, her tail waving.

When the coffee boiled, they sat at the table and Rickey ate and drank. Virginia ate nothing. She leaned her chin on her hand and listened, while Rickey talked to her. After Rickey had finished his meal, the two of them straightene the room, then again they went together up the stairs.

News of Our Own Village

The village council will hold its inaugural meeting at the town hall Mon., but Rolly Denne, our worthy mayor, aint going to wear no official robes or chains at the same.

Ernie Marks, who used to be a favorite actor in these parts back in the days when you could get a whole nites entertainment for a dime has been elected Mayor of Oshawa, to the west of us, fooling the fellows who said Ernie had no show.

Great excitement was registered at the curling rink Wednite when Charlie Westbrooke win himself a curling match for the 1st time in 3 seasons. Charlie must have tossed away them wishbones and rabbit foots he used to carry.

Owing to Harry Huffman, who used to be chairman of the village works committee, getting the works from the electors New Year's Day, the councillors has to select a new chairman for the same now.

Unless Aggie McPhail of South west Gray gets it stopped they is going to be a militia rifle club formed at the drill hall this winter to get the boys in shape for the turkey shoots and such.

The village curling club has gone artistic, the tees being all decked out with flags and so forth under the ice. Up to this season the only thing picturesque about the rink was the language.

Ike McNabb was up to Toronto, west of here, Wed., and installed a new president in the Kiwanis Club of that town. And when Ike instals them they stay installed.

The village School Bd. met this week and discovered they was over $200 they forget to spend last year. Well the boys likely find a place to get rid of that in the next 12 months.

1 of the problems the village councillors will hafta settle soon is what to do with Fred Tuggey's wages, Fred having kept his amateur standing by not collecting no money for his services last year.

They was a fight at the Rotary Club feed at Graham's Hotel Mon. as to which of the boys' trades was the best for humanity, but the riot was quelled just when the constabulary was getting ready to step in.

No robins has been reported to your scribe as yet and the dandelion crop seems to be over. Otherwise things is as normal as could be expected.

What To-day Means To You

"CAPRICORN."

If January 10th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., from noon to 1 p.m. and from 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

You will derive energy and initiative from the astrological influences on this date, and a load which you have been unable to budge, should be readily moved. There will be a tendency to overdo things, however, and you should curb the fury of your impulses. Increased health and vitality for the ailing elderly.

Children born on this January 10th will have flexible natures, and environmental more than hereditary influences will stamp their imprint upon their characters. They will be imitative, highly imaginative, and afflicted with moods. They will want others to make up their minds for them.

Your short-comings as well as your virtues, if January 10th is your birthday, are negative in nature. Your faults are prohibitory, but are not vicious or destructive to your character. The world damns you for your unfulfilled intentions, and not for the deeds you do. You realize that your procrastinating habits show weakness and indecision on your part, but your will power is too weak for you to change. Opportunities come and go before you have time to make up your mind, or to get the nerve to meet them half way. You naturally lean on any one who will act as your prop, and experience has shown you that some of your props have been rotten at the core, letting you down at the wrong moment.

You have rather fatalistic views of life and accept good and bad fortune alike, as the workings of your Destiny. You seldom blame yourself but sometimes whine at your luck, or envy those upon whom Fortune has seemed to smile more graciously.

You are happy with simple pleasures and comforts, and are a great homebody. You shun society in general, and do not readily make new friends. You are a passionate, loyal and jealous lover, and you are very possessive with those whom you consider your own. You are inclined to pout, and it would be better if you would spout" out your troubles, when things are not to your liking.

"CAPRICORN."

If January 11th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The one danger period is from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The planetary aspects for January 11th show it to be an extraordinarily good time for working out plans for the future, and such mental work which requires steady emotions and clear vision, and an undisturbed mind. Foundation laid for a new and lasting friendship.

The child born on this January 11th will crave excitement and will not have a restful personality or a contented disposition. Envy and jealousy are two of its weaknesses. It will shirk responsibilities until it reaches maturity, but it will carry its own load when it once launches forth on its own.

Since that first January 11th when you opened your eyes upon this plane, the world has never frightened you, for you were born with a large bump of self-assurance. If necessary, you are mentally and physically equipped to fight your way, unaided, to the top of whatever peaks you aspire to climb. Strength and force are found in your character more than gentleness and diplomacy. Justice and squareness may be expected from you, but very little patience or softness. You will win respect, but inspire very little love, although underneath your hard exterior may be found both sentiment and affection, both of which you seem afraid to express.

You are not imaginative, and facts always interest you more than fiction. You are not afraid to listen to the truth, or to express it. Your own life is lived entirely in the open. Your frankness of speech is too brutal for those who prefer subterfuge and flattery ,and you often unconsciously make enemies through your imprudent tongue. Because of your lack of diplomacy and finesse, you are not given due credit for the sincerity and honesty of your character.

Your horoscope shows considerable travel, changes of occupation and residence, and alternating periods of success and failure. You will encounter conflicting forces within the home. Marriage is not essential to your happiness, and will not insure it.

Police Fight Jobless Premier Looks On

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 9 (C.P. Cable, via Reuters).—A fight between police and more than 1,000 unemployed was witnessed to-day by Hon. R. L. Butler, Premier of South Australia from his office windows. The unemployed who were marching through the city, suddenly attempted to force an entry to the Premier's offices, but were resisted by the police. The ensuing battle lasted 30 minutes and resulted in several minor casualties. Twelve of the marchers were arrested.

IRREGULAR TONE IN MINE ISSUES

Profit-taking and Reduced Demand Cause of Early Weakness.

GEM LAKE ACTIVE.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.)—Tone of the Mining Market to-day was somewhat irregular, with minor recessions appearing in higher-priced issues on end. Profit-taking and reduced demand caused early weakness but the big majority of prices held firm with last night.

Hollinger remained strong, gaining another 5 to $7.10, and Sylvanite was up a point to 58. Dome lost 15 to 9.40; Wright-Hargreaves 7 to $1.98 Teck Hughes and Granada 5 apiece, to 6.40 and 1.65 respectively, and Kirkland Lake 3, to 67.

In the miscellaneous group Mining Corporation was unchanged, Gem Lake active and up a cent at 21, and Bunker Hill Extension off a point to 5.

Another cut in export copper had an adverse influence on the base metal group. International Nickel dropping a half to $15.60, Noranda 35 to $14.75, Base Metals 10 to $1.15, and Abana 4 to 18. Lindsleys were steady and Amulet closed up a cent at 36.

Lower-priced oils were soft. Home Oil sold down 10 at $1.76. East Crest 4 to 55, Calmont and Ajax Oil a couple each to 27 and $1.65, and Commonwealth and Nordon a point apiece to 34 and 37.

STRONGER TONE IN RAIL ISSUES

Stocks Rule Higher During To-day's Trading on New York Exchange.

MARKET CLOSES FIRM.

NEW YORK, January 10 (C.P.).—Stocks ruled higher during the two-hour session to-day. Short covering in the chemical shares and moderate buying in miscellaneous groups, including the independent steel, baking, and railroad issues, provided a strong tone. U.S. Steel did little, for traders seemed uncertain as to the size of the expected gain in the corporation's December unfilled tonnage, published at the close of the market. The close was firm.

Allied Chemical, which has been conspicuously weak, rallied more than 5 points and Republic Steel Preferred was up 3. Gains of 1 to 1¾ developed in Sears-Roebuck, Vanadium, Union Pacific, Purity Baking, Wilson Preferred, Republic Steel, American Can., American Smelting, Air Reduction, Auburn Auto and Baldwin. American Telephone recovered an early loss of one point.

Sales approximated 750,000 shares.

TORONTO LIST REMAINS FIRM

Only Minor Fluctuations Recorded During Quiet Session To-day.

BRAZILIAN HIGHER.

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (C.P.).—The Toronto Stock Exchange market finished the week with a quiet session, the market as a whole firm. Only minor fluctuations were recorded. During the first hour several of the recent leaders re-acted moderately under weight of profit-taking and the list as a whole looked easier but the market firmed before the close and losses were either wholly or in part recovered.

Brazilian closed ¾ higher at 24¾ after having been below last night. Ford lost approximately one point when it sold down to 23, but on end was quoted 23½ to 23¾. Canadian Dredge firmed from 30 to 30½, C.P.R. showed a small net gain, Goodyear Common was up ⅛ point and Walkers firmer.

Nickel finished just under last night's close of 15⅝ and Noranda lost ¼ of a point. The oils closed unchanged after having been down a minimum fraction.

CANADIAN COAL

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, British Columbia and the Yukon produce only bituminous coal; the Saskatchewan mines yield lignite only; Alberta produces bituminous, subbituminous, and lignite, and formerly also mined some anthracite.

INCREASE IN CANADIAN FUR FARMS

Prince Edward Island still leads in the Canadian fur farming industry. Statistics place the value of fur-bearing animals in Prince Edward Island at $3,872,220. Ontario comes next with $3,247,336, and Quebec third with $3,236,466.

SECURITY PRICES STRENGTHEN MARKET RECOVERS LOST GROUND

Buying is Careful, However, and Exchange in Stronger Position.

IMPROVED SENTIMENT.

(Special to Examiner, Copyright 1931.)

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—Security prices continued on the upgrade this week on the local exchange with strength in some of the Canadian leaders enlivening the proceedings. Improved sentiment noticeable at the opening of the year continued and by Friday the weighted index had regained all the loss sustained in the reaction of last December. Prices were not pushed aggressively higher and the advance in trend was interrupted at times when profit-taking appeared or buying fell off. Discriminate purchasing was apparent in sections of the board in securities currently selling to return liberal income yield, probably as the result of increased enquiries received by brokers from clients with accumulated funds on hand and others who were revising their investments, selling some and buying others offering more attraction.

According to precedent, the opening of each year usually meets with an advance in the security market. It may be psychological, due to the better feeling at the turn of each year, or it may be due to the fact that on January 1st dividend and interest distributions are heavy, placing considerable money in the hands of the public for reinvestment. The openings of 1931 has been no exception and in some respects the technical position of the market itself hasbeen an aid rather than handicap. Deflation in values has carried security prices down to a level which at current dividend rates present the best buying opportunity at this time in three or four years for those seeking income return. With stocks at their present low prices and considering dividend increases in the interval it is necessary to go back years for equivalent market valuations. Enhanced income yield naturally suggests reduction but there are at present common shares of well-managed Canadian concerns selling at prices to permit of a dividend reduction and yet give liberal yield to purchasers on the money invested.

In the curretn month dividend distributions are estimated at $21,555,937 bringing total payment for 1930 to $258,417,197 for 1930 contrasted with $219,702,877 in 1929, an increase of $38,714,320. In only two months did payment fall below the corresponding month of 1929. In September and December the estimate was below that of similar periods of 1929 due to the fact that in the closing months of the year there were omissions of dividend and reductions not only in the annual rates but in bonus and extra distributions as well. The early months of the year presented the most favorable comparison as a large number of initial payments were made in the closing months of 1929 and appeared in the early months of 1930 and not 1929. Toward the close of 1930 the totals fell off and in October the estimate was only $400,000 have the previous year. November was not only a record month for the year but for all time. An extraordinary bonus of $13,000,000 by Imperial Oil, Limited, boosted the aggregate to show an increase of over $16,000,000 in the one month. It is reasonable to assume that a portion of this quarter of a billion dollars found its way back into the stock market for reinvestment and helped absorb liquidations.

Banking statistics hold much interest for students of general business conditions and the stock market and the statement of the Canadian chartered banks for the month of November 1920, the latest available, presents a few interesting contrasts with December 1929. Savings deposits in November for the fourth successive month showed improvement the total of $1,438,611,843 being about $4,000,000 above that of $1,434,405 as of December 31, 1929. It denotes a change from the decline which started in April and continued until July when the low for the year of $1,402,027,767 was touched. Deposits have yet a long way to reach the high level of January, 1929, above $1,500,000,000,- yet it is encouraging to see the way deposits climbed in the final months o 1930.

Second in importance are the figures for current loans down approximately $219,000,000 from $1,402, 787, 330 to $1,183,723,359 in th. eleven month period. This drop can be attributed more or less to two factors. First, it means that the wheels of industry did not turnover as rapidly in 1930 as in 1929 and corporations. therefore did not need to finance through the banks to the same extent. Secondly, it is evidence of liquidation of inventories and the moving of goods off the shelves of manufacturers, which is the brighter factor of the two, The increase in savings deposits and reduction in current loans also improved the credit situation that the spread between deposits are loans has been widened considerably since the two crossed in 1929 for the first time since early in 1921.

From the stock market angle the change in call loans is the most interesting, denoting the liquidation inmarginal committments and deflation in values in the period. Call loans in Canada dropped approximately $50,500,000 from $262,289,071 to $211,805,598 while call loans outside Canada dropped approximately $52,000,000 from $245,172,108 to $193,491,067.

EGGS SELL AT 30 CENTS DOZ.

Potatoes in Little Demand at $1.00 and Ninety Cents a Bag.

VEGETABLES PLENTIFUL.

A marked and general reduction in prices was noticeable on the produce market this morning, eggs selling at as low as 30 cents per dozen and as high as 40 cents. Potatoes which were selling at $1.25 a bag two or three weeks ago, were to-day finding little demand at $1.00 and 90 cents a bag. Carrots have likewise taken a drop in price to 20 cents a peck.

There was a good supply of vegetables, meat and poultry and choice dairy butter. The butter was bringing from 30-35 cents a pound with chickens 25 cents a pound. One goose was observed on the heavy-laden benches, for sale at 22 cents a pound. Pork was 14-16 and and 18 cents, beef 12 and 14 cents, lamb 20 and 25 cents and mutton 15 cents.

Several cords of wood were brought in from the country on sleighs and on motor trucks, the prevailing price being $10 per cord.

A small boy was standing at the foot of the stairway to the closed market, with a box mounted on a sleigh, and containing two collie pups for which he was asking $2 50 each.

PINCH OF HUNGER FELT IN WALES

Shopkeepers, Still Trying to Collect Former Bills, Reluctant to Give Further Credit.

UNION TO OPEN CANTEEN.

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 10. (CP)—The pinch of hunger is beginning to make itself felt in the drab valleys of South Wales where a general depression has settled over the coal mining community as a result of delay in settlement of wage disputes which threw 140,000 miners into idleness on New Year's Day.

The shopkeepers, still trying to collect bills incurred by miners' families in previous strikes were reluctant to extend long credit and it was feared that actual privation would follow in the next few days if present conditions continue. The Miners' Union in Ogmore Valley is to open a canteen next week for the relief of the needy.

The deadlock will continue for at least until next week, for unions and mine owners have deferred a final meeting at which they will try once more to settle their differences.

TANK EXPLODES ONE MAN KILLED ANOTHER MISSING

Blast Wrecks Copenhagen Store Injuring Four Young Women.

AT MUNICIPAL GAS WORKS.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 10.—One man was killed, one was missing and another seriously injured today when a violent explosion wrecked one of the largest gas tanks of the municipal gas works here. Several other persons were less seriously hurt.

Four men were dismantling the tank, which they thought was empty when the explosion came. One man fell through the top of the huge container and was burned to death. The others were thrown some distance by the force of the blast.

The explosion partially wrecked a store nearby and four young women in the place were injured. Windows in many houses in the vicinity were broken.

Firemen said the explosion was caused by a spark from one of the workmen's hammers igniting gas remaining in the tank.

Todd into buying a permit and two bottles of whiskey. They remained together all afternoon, and by evening Todd was rather drunk. Dundas took the liquor, and he and Smith started walking out the Chemong Road. "I followed them because I wanted to keep my liquor in sight," Todd told police.

Nearing Johnston's gate, Todd states he asked Dundas what they had come out there for. Dundas explained that they were going to hold-up Johnston, and that if he stayed with them he'd get back the money for the liquor.

Refused To Be Party To Crime.

Both Dundas and Smith stated that Todd refused to be a party to the crime. They called him "yellow," and then he said he would go. However, when they entered the gate he stopped and would not go up to the house.

He was standing there when the pair came out. Dundas states that he gave Todd two dollars.

Still drunk, Todd made his way down street that evening and was arrested. He pleaded guilty to being drunk in Police Court Tuesday morning. Unable to pay his fine, he went to jail to serve ten days. The next day a friend paid his fine and he was released. Last evening Provincial Constable David Sylvester, in company with Detective Meagher, arrested him at his home near Omemee.

Police state that when Todd was searched Monday night, following his arrest, two dollars were found in his pocket.

In court this morning, when asked to plead, Todd exclaimed, "Not to the robbery," and then pleaded not guilty.

No Skating Brock St. This Evening

The mild spell has again affected the ice in Brock St Rink. While it is in good shape now, a crowd on it tonight would wear too much of it away and it might not be possible to get it in shape again for Monday nights big hockey game with Bowmanville, consequently there will be no skating tonight at Brock St. Rink.

In many cases the bobbies had to pull up people to safety for fear they would drop back into the crowd and be trampled on.

Chief among the results was the defeat of Arsenal by four goals to two after the scenes that marked the jamming of the crwods.

An unexpected result was the defeat of Derby County. The great first division team, by Exeter City, a third division club. Leicester City, also of the first division, was beaten by Brighton and Hove, a brilliant minor team.

The draw between Sheffield United and York was hardly expected and Blackburn Rovers were picked to beat Walsall, whereas they only got a tie.

Tottenham Hotspurs came through safely against Preston North End. In another London game West Ham United and Smelyea drew at Upton Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Havelock Graham, of Toronto, spent the week-end with her mother and sister, Mrs. A. A. and Miss Muriel Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Barnes and family expect to remove the beginning of next week to their new place of residence, formerly occupied by Mrs. A. A. Smith, King Street. Mr. A. Lunn, who has purchased Miss Dean's house which Mr. Barnes is vacating, will shortly take possession; T. J. Lang was the sales' agent.

Mr. Jack Nattress and son, Vincent, motored from Toronto on Sunday and were guests of friends in town. Ernest L. Burnham returned with them on Sunday evening, to resume his studies at the University the following day.

Mrs. William Archer has closed her home for the winter months, and is with her sister, Mrs. A. Payne, until the spring.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly at the family gathering during the holiday season were: Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones, and daughter, Gertrude, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones, and family, of Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hatherly, and two boys, David and Evans, and Miss Ethel Hatherly, of Toronto.

Miss Anna Kells is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sims, having remained over since the Christmas holiday for a more extended stay, her mother, Mrs. J. C. Kells, and Miss Margaret Christie, returning the holiday week. Mrs. Kells was with her daughter at Barrie for a seven weeks' visit.

Mrs. L. E. and Miss May Needham were guests, during the holiday week, of Mr. George and Miss Emma Morrow, Peterborough.

The annual executive meeting of Saint Andrew's United Church Sunday School will be held on Tuesday, January 13, at 8 p.m., in the church parlors; annual reports and the election of officers will be the chief features of the gathering.

FAMOUS OPERATIC BARITONE NERVOUS BE FORE MICROPHONE

Lawrence Tibbet Would Like to Be a Lumberjack—"Mike" Too True.

"TALKIES" TOUGH GAME

By ART BOSSIN
(Special to the Examiner—Copyright 1931)

TORONTO, Jan. 10—Lawrence Tibbett is afraid of the microphone. Tibbett — acknowledged the greatest baritone of the day—dreads the ordeal of singing for talkies. Even radio "mikes" give him a mild form of stage-fright.

"It puts the fear of the Lord into me each time I have to step before it," he confessed in his dressing room after having received the acclaim of a super-critical Toronto audience. "I am far more nervous before the microphone than before an audience."

"The microphone is so exacting—it picks up every little defect." Tibbett explained. "Even though your voice may not be in perfect condition you can satisfy an audience. Not so with the microphone. It catches the slightest 'burr.'"

Those who were astounded at the power of his voice in "The Rogue's Song" will be surprised to learn that it is not the result of having been amplified in recording.

"No, I do not modulate my voice before the microphone," he smiled. "To alter or modify its volume would be to rob the voice of its vitality."

Therefore he sings with all the fire at his command. And the result—as demonstrated in "The Rogue's Song"—is that audiences are thrilled to the marrow by the very uncurbed power of that glorious baritone.

"Talkie work is much more fatiguing than concert or opera," this youthful veteran of all three observed. "One goes through a song so many times before it is finally recorded. The orchestra rehearses it twice. Then come several rehearsals for the microphone. Then for camera positions. And when all that is done something might interfere during the actual recording—and it begins all over again. Oh yes, I much prefer audiences."

Born in Bakersfield, California, Tibbett comes of English, Irish and Welsh stock but considers himself a genuine American for his family have resided in the United States since away back in the early 80's.

Tibbett had a narrow escape from becoming a physician instead of a singer. In fact he even went as far as to take the first steps in the study of medicine. He found it boring, however — much more tiresome than singing—and went back to the stage.

He almost became an actor, too. Of course he does a certain amount of acting now, but we mean a real acting acro—the kind who would portray a villain so that you would just naturally hiss, or a hero you would cheer as he swept in in the nick of time to save the fair Belinda from the villain's clutches.

However, fate was kind and after a few appearances Tibbett was finally convinced that although he might some day rate with Sir Henry Irving he had a much better chance of winning fame and fortune as a singer. He concentrated on singing and, having climbed to the highest peak in the operatic world, is now rescuing the aforesaid Belinda on the silver screen—with vocal accompaniment.

As he sat amidst the throng of gloriously-gowned women and men in formal attire, autographing programs it was hard to picture this polished young man in evening clothes as swinging an axe in a lumber camp. Yet he would love to be a lumber-jack.

WIDE-AWAKES WILL HOLD CANDY SALE

Millbrook C.G.I.T. Group Holds Weekly Meeting at Home of Leader.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The weekly meeting of the Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group was held on Wednesday evening, at the leader's home, with twelve members in attendance, and the president, Miss Marian O'Brian, in the chair.

Discussion of business items led to the decision to hold a candy sale and afternoon tea, on Saturday, January 17, in order to raise funds to allow the group to make its annual contribution to the M. and M. fund of the church.

The new motto for 1931 was chosen, and the password for the first six months of the new year was also received. An invitation from the president to hold next week's meeting at her home was gratefully accepted, and further details in connection with the tea and sale will be completed at that gathering.

The devotional period was opened with the usual ritual, and each member read a slip containing either a verse or prose selection giving helpful counsel for the new year. The scripture lesson, covering the contest between Elijah and the priests of Baal on Mount Carmel, was read alternately, and the leader's talk was based on the necessity of prayer and faith for success in the year upon which entry has so recently been made. The meeting was closed with prayer, and all repeating in unison the group benediction.

TWO GIRL FLIERS SET NEW RECORD WITH 122 HOURS

Bobbie Trout and Edna Cooper Forced Down Unexpectedly.

CYCLINDER CRACKED.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 10.—Bobbie Trout and Edn.. May Cooper, both in their middle twenties, rested to-day after having established a new women's endurance flight record of 122 hours, 50 minutes.

The girls landed unexpectedly at 5.20 o'clock last night, ending their flight because of a cracked cylinder in the 170 horse-power motor of their small monoplane, the Lady Rolph. They almost tripled the former women's record of 42 hours, 10 minutes set by Miss Trout and Elinor Smith, of New York.

As fresh as though the five-day flight had been only a pleasure spin of a few minutes' duration, Bobbie and Edna each had a "glad to be back" and a "hated to come down" for the startled crowd.

Smoke Gave Warning.

The first intimation they were having trouble came at noon when observers noticed a tail of black smoke wagging behind the plane as it circled the municipal airport. The girls, however, admitted they discovered evidence of motor failure ten hours before the end.

"The motor wouldn't turn enough revolutions to gain altitude," Miss Trout, one of the few women to hold a transport pilot license, said, "and it began missing, so down we came."

The motor began to falter just after they had ridden out one of the most severe storms ever to beset endurance fliers.

Promoters of the flight said they ordered the girls to land because householders near the airport were objecting to their low flying.

Asked how they managed to keep their faces free from smudge and their clothes clean, the girls said it was a feminine secret.

Tomatoes have become a very important and staple article of diet. Time was when dietitians measured proteids and carbohydrates only in comparing the value of foods. Food studies have taken a great step forward, however, since the formulation of the vitamin theory. It is with reference to vitamin content that tomatoes are especially valuable, since they constitute a source of vitamin C, which has great influence on growth and health. It is almost impossible to get definite figures as to the consumption of tomatoes in Canada, but study of the subject quickly reveals the important basic position held by this crop, not only during the growing season, but throughout fall, winter, and early spring, when delicious canned tomatoes form an important part of the diet.

Five field tests were conducted last summer by the Department of Chemistry, Ontario Agricultural College, in the vicinity of St. Catherines, Bloomfield, Port Hope, and Collingwood. Suitable medium to light loam soils were chosen for the growth of the crops. Good preparation was given to the soil and the fertility of the soil was supplemented by an average application of about 750 lbs. of fertiliser at the time healthy, vigorous tomato stock was set out last spring. The analyses of fertilizers was decided upon after taking into consideration the type of soil and the special needs of the tomato crop. The five tests showed an average yield of 174.2 bushels per acre where 750 lbs. of fertiliser was aplied. The unfertilized section averaged 54.9 bushels per acre, giving a gross gain from fertising of 119.3 bushels. The cash cost of the fertiliser was $39 per ton, hence an application of 750 lbs. represents an investment of $14.60. Valuing the increase in tomato yield at 50 cents per bushel, the gross return was $59.60. Investment in fertilizers was $14.60, hence the net return was $45. per acre or the tomato growers made over three for one on their investment in fertilisers. Fertilizers used in these tests were 2-12-8, 0-14-6, 3-10-5, and 4-6-10.

The summer of 1930 was rather unfavorable for tomato growing, yet an average of these five field tests showed a return of three for one on investment in fertility. On one test the return was almost four for one. It is interesting to note that although 1930 summer was unfavorable yet the average return was 2.24 bushels per acre greater than that obtained in 1928 and 1929 tests.

Not only is the benfit of attention to soil fertility shown in the increased yield, but experimenters report a marked improvement in the regularity of size and uniformity of ripening. All tomato growers were troubled more or less last year with tip-end rot. The general theory as to the cause of this is that when a severe drought follows a favorable early growing season, the processes of growth are abruptly upset. The tip of the expanding fruit, where rapid growth is being made, is injured and the fruit is exposed to spores of disease. When disease develops it causes serious loss. While tip-end rot was present in practically all of the tomato fields, yet it was observed,—and yields confirm the conclusion—that where the growing tomatoes were supplied with an abundance of suitable available plantfood, the crop produced a maximum of sound fruit.

The field demonstration tests are of great importance to Ontario tomato growers since they provide a means of testing out theory under prevailing farm conditions. Many visitors to the tests in the sections mentioned, remarked on the vigour of the growing crops and on the uniform high quality of fruit which was produced on the sections where special attention was given to the ferility question.

GOV'T. IS STUDYING CATTLE DISEASE

Answer Received From Hon. R. Weir in Reply to Chamber of Commerce's Plea.

The dreadful diseases which are destroying thousands of cattle annually in Canada are now coming to the attention of men interested in stock all over the country. It has been felt that the Government has not been doing all that it might have done in research work in this respect. The losses have been brought more closely to the public's notice by recent meetings and resolutions passed.

The following is a resolution of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, sent to Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture:

"Whereas, we understand that haemorrhagic septicaemia and contagious abortion are making serious inroads on the cattle in Canada, and whereas, further, we understand that at the present time no investigation is being carried on in regard to these diseases, we, the Chamber of Commerce of Peterborough, respectfully urge upon the Government the commencement of research work with the object of eradicating or controlling these diseases throughout Canada."

A reply has been received from Hon. Weir, in which was intimated, however, that work was already being carried in the research department, but with nevertheless promised further intensive work:

"I wish to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 17th December to Mr. Weir enclosing information with regard to research work in connection with animal diseases, and would say that considerable research work is being done at the present time in connection with both these diseases, and the Minister has had this matter under discussion several times and intends having further steps taken in this connection so that the serious losses which are being incurred annually may be prevented."

"He has asked me to thank you for bringing this resolution to his attention as it is one of the phases of the work he is engaged in and that interests him very much." Signed.

D. L. Burgess, private secretary.

Farmers in general will anxiously await any further developments, and will welcome any curtailing of the diseases which yearly ravage his cattle and cause great money losses.

Hatchery Approval Scheme Is Popular

Saskatchewan and Quebec are so far the only provinces in Canada which have no entries in the Hatchery Approval scheme of the Federal Department of Agriculture. British Columbia has 24 entries, Alberta 1, Manitoba 2, Ontario 21, New Brunswick 1, Nova Scotia 3, and Prince Edward Island 2; a total of 54. The combined egg capacities of these hatcheries indicates that there will be around 2,000,000 approved chicks for sale in Canada in 1931. The lot of entries taking advantage of the government inspection and supervision under the Hatchery Approval Policy will undoubtedly be considerably augmented before the hatching season starts.

Baking Blueberries Are Mostly Exported

Blueberries represent probably Canada's greatest unorganized industry. No modern methods for cultivating or harvesting have as yet made their appearance in the Dominion, and only a superficial idea of the volume of production is obtainable. They represent both a fresh and frozen fruit trade and at the present time there are some 600,000 lbs. held in storage for the baking trade. Only about one-tenth of this quantity will be used in Canada.—Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Trent River L.A. Holds 1st Meeting

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Ladies' Aid of the United Church held its first meeting of the New Year on Wednesday afternoon. Owing to weather conditions and sickness in some of the members' homes, there were only eight members in attendance.

The president, Mrs. Preston, had charge of the meeting. Reports were received from the secretary, Mrs. I. Lawson, and the treasurer, Mrs. John Scott; and Mrs. H. B. Wood gave the report from the Deaconess, Mrs. Ridley Wood.

The Society has paid all expenses in connection with the installation of the electric lights, and after giving $25 to missions has a balance on hand to begin the New Year.

Members of the congregation who are "shut in" through illness were thought of, and have the sympathy of members of the Ladies' Aid.

DEHORNED STOCK MUCH PREFERRED; SAFER TO HANDLE

Prevent Horn Growth When Calves Are Week or Two Old.

USE CAUSTIC POTASH

Nip Button Off With Knife, Moisten Caustic, Rub on Till Bleeding Stops.

Many of the breeders of pure-bred cattle, who follow the practice of showing, prefer to leave the horns on both males and females. The chief reason give n is that the animals look more breedy and attractive to the judge and public. On the other hand, dehorned cattle, especially the males, are safer to handle and cause much less injury to each other, and as the horns on cattle under ordinary farm conditions serve no useful purpose, most cattle owners prefer to have hornless cattle. It is more desirable to prevent the growth of the horns when the calves are a week to two weeks old than it is to remove them after the animals are three or four years of age. At an early age the horn, or "button," is only loosely attached to the skull and development can be most easily prevented at this time.

Caustic Potash Used

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta, the Holstein calves are dehorned with caustic potash at from one to two weeks of age. The hair is clipped from around the horn button and a heavy coating of vaseline is rubbed around it in the hair to prevent severe burns wherever the caustic is likely to touch. Heavy brown paper is wrapped around the stick of caustic to prvent it from burning the fingers. The top of the button is snipped off with knife and the end of the caustic with water and rubbed on the wound until bleeding is stopped. In applying the caustic, care is taken that it does not run down the calf's head and either injure the eyes or take off the hair. After the caustic has been properly applied, the horn button is treated with vaseline. It will heal up in a short time and if thoroughly done this will do away with any necessity of dehorning grown animals. On the other hand if the dehorning is not done properly a scraggy horn develops which may be only two or three inches in length. This will be very unsatisfactory and may be worse than not attempting to dehorn at all.

Nicotine Sulphate Poultry Lice Remedy

Entomologists of the Federal Department of Agriculture find the use of nicotine sulphate (Black Leaf 40 applied 7 to 8 ounces per 100 feet of perch) extremely effective in the control of biting lice on poultry. A recent experiment on five pens of eleven infected birds each; from one application of nicotine sulphate to the perches shortly before the birds went to roose gave the following results in dead lice:

Pen No.	Dead Lice Collected Large	Small	Totals
1	58	650	708
2	164	2,309	2,473
3	30	1,523	1,553
4	244	1,954	2,198
5	50	2,010	2,060

A total of 8,992 lice were collected from the thirty-five hens, an average infestation of 164 per bird. The effectiveness of the control medium is shown by the fact that when the treatment was repeated ten days later only 26 lice were found on this lot of hens. Care must be excercised in using nicotine sulphate to provide good ventilation and an ample circulation of air.

1930 Farm Crop Average is Higher Than in Forty-Eight Years

Final estimates of Ontario farm crops of 1930 by the Department of Agriculture show the acreage yield of the principal grains to be greater than for the annual average for the 48 years, 1882-1929, and in most cases considerably greater than last year. Flax is an exception, though higher than last year and only slightly below the 42 year average Fall wheat on 676,802 acres averaged 26.7 bushels per acre while spring wheat on 98,966 acres averaged 22 bushels; oats on 2,468,912 acres averaged 39.5 bushels and barley on 609,879 acres averaged 34.3. The potato crop on 159,1902 acres ran to about 18,275,655 bushels or 114.8 bushels to the acre.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—Eggs continued their downward price trend and cheese advanced and butter and potatoes were unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Ontario fresh eggs, in car lots, declined 1c a dozen, extras selling at 36c to 37c, firsts at 30c and pullets at 27c. British Columbia eggs were off 2c, extras being quoted at 37c to 38c, firsts at 31c to 32c, and pullet extras at 28c to 29c a dozen. Quotations to retailers were also down, fresh specials and extras being down 1c a dozen at 47c to 49c and at 45c to 46c. Fresh firsts declined 2c at 40c a dozen. Fresh pullet extras and fresh seconds dropped 1c at 33c to 35c and 31c to 32c. Storage extras were down 3c at 33c to 34c and storage firsts were unchanged at 31c to 33c a dozen. Storage seconds were off 1c at 26c to 28c a dozen. Receipts were 1,178 cases.

White cheese, current arrivals, lost ¼c, being quoted at 11c a pound, with colored chese 1c a pound higher. Receipts were 52 boxes.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized butter remained unchanged at 31½c to 32c a pound, and to retailers solids were 33c and prints 34c a pound. Receipts were 57 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in car lots, were quoted at 85c per 90 pounds, bulk, and to retailers 85c per 80-pound bag.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—During the week butter prices reached new levels on the local market, but the strong demand of the previous week was not evident. A general lull seemed to have been reached, which was explained when the amount of butter sold during the short heavy buying spell was figured. Sales were made, but not in comparison with previous transactions which reached a total of many cars.

At the close of the week dealers were asking 32c per pound, but the high point reached by most was 31½c while the general range of the market was 31c to 31½c for No. 1, and 30c to 30½c for No. 2 solids. These prices were considerably higher than previously quoted on this market, but the general undertone was strong, even if buying was lower than before. It was the opinion of most of those in the business that still higher levels would be reached within a short period.

Cream

Cream prices held firm, showing no advance, at 29c to 30c for special, 28c to 29c for No. 1, and 25c to 26c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

The cheese market took a turn for the better, and brokers were able to procure 13½c to 14c for new, large, 13¾ to 14¼c for twins and 14 to 14½c for triplets, toward the end of the week.

Eggs

The egg market showed considerable weakness during the entire week and prices were lowered a few cents at the first and latter part. Consumption was very poor, and receipts were steadily increasing, which made sales difficult even at the reduced range.

Prices

Country shippers were quoted 30c for extras, 26c for firsts, 23c for pullet extras, and 20c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned, these prices being in effect on Friday. Brokers were offering fresh supplies at 35c for extras, 29c for firsts, and 26c for pullet extras, graded, and in free cases, but were not quoting seconds, as the pullet extra grade takes care of the fresh second grade at this season. Retailers were able to secure extras in cartons at 38c; extras, loose, 36c; firsts loose, 31c; pullet extras, loose, 27c; and seconds, 25c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.— Responsive to stock market reactions, all grain dropped yesterday. Temporarily, corn rallied on reports that shipments from Omaha were about double arrivals, and that Nebraska feeders were paying elevators 3 cents a bushel premium for corn. Drought advices from domestic wheat territory were also a transient stimulus, but afterward strength oozed out of the markets all around.

Corn closed unsteady, 5-8c to 1 1-8c lower than Thursday; wheat, 1-8c to 1-4c off to 3-8c up; oats, 1-4c to 3-8c down, and provisions at 15c setback to 5c gain.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 10.—Lessened support in foreign markets induced a weak tone in yesterday's wheat trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and at the close net losses of ¾c to 1¼c were chalked up.

The price range was narrow, and pit operations not important in character. Trade volume was comparatively light.

Export business, both overnight and for the day, was negligible. Cash wheat trading was very slow, and spreads unchanged from Thursday.

No business of any account was reported in the coarse-grain commodities. Prices followed the trend of wheat.

MILL-RUN OAT FEED DISCOVERED AS LIFE-SAVER IN DROUGHT AREAS

EQUAL TO TIMOTHY HAY

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 10—Hay scarcity and its unusually high price in Maryland, Virginia, the South and some states of the Middle West are being successfully met by farmers and stockmen of these sections with a stock ration hitherto considered of little value as feed. This is mill run oat feed, a by-product of the oatmeal we eat at breakfast. It is estimated that more than 300,000 tons are produced annually in the United States. Until this emergency, much of it has been burned by the great oat mills because it was thought to be without a marketable value.

Highly Recommended

To-day this newly discovered feed is recommended by agricultural colleges and county agents. Hundreds of tons are being rushed to the drought-stricken areas from the oat milling centers of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Akron, Ohio, and St. Joseph, Mo. The Agricultural College of the University of Maryland and the experiment station of Virginia Polltechnic Institute, in their endorsement of this feed consider it the equivalent of timothy hay and not far below alfalfa hay and wheat bran in nutriment. These states are among those whose hay crops were hardest hit by the rainless weeks of July and August.

"Feeding experts who for several years have been conducting extensive research into this mill-run oat feed, have established its food value," said W. E. Suits, vice president of The Quaker Oats Company here, in commenting on the gravity of the situation affecting Eastern and Southern dairymen and stock feeders. "Now an emergency gives these findings great importance. Overnight, what many previously considered a product of small value, becomes an important livestock ration. I predict that because of its low cost and ease of handling and shipment, it will continue to play a big part in feeding even with large hay crops and ample pasturage."

Parallel in Wheat Bran

This discovery of the great value of mill-run oat feed has a parallel in wheat bran, cotton seeds and sugarcane bagasse, the manufacturer points out. These things, now so valuable, were once considered valueless refuse. Millers and cotton and cane planters gave them away and even at times paid to have them removed. Meanwhile oat mills all over the country are being called upon to ship their oat feed to Dixie and the Atlantic seaboard, and flocks and herds are being saved.

FOAL RAISING SET IN FIGURES PROVES COSTLY

Account of 23 Kept from Weaning at 5 Months Till Ready to Work at 34 Months.

FED TO LIMIT

Cost Per Colt, Including Hay, Oats, Bran and Pasture, is $227.66.

All feed given to twenty-three French Canadian foals was weighed from the time they were weaned at five months of age, until they were ready to earn their living, when they were thirty-four months old and weighed 1215 pounds. During that period, the average feed consumption was 8936 pounds hay, 4066 pounds oats, 3702 pounds bran, and 7.3 months pasture. Instead of stinting these youngsters, they were fed to the limit, getting them as strong as possible to tackle the average ten years' work which a horse has before him when broken.

Prices Change Often

Prices of feeds change quite often, and there is the question whether one should charge to the live stock the actual cost of raising feeds or their value at the farm. But if hay is calculated at $15 per ton, oats at 2 cents per pound, bran at $35 per ton, pasture at $2 per month, the cost of feed per colt is $227.66 from weaning until ready to work. This does not include service fee, loss of time by dam, stable room, bedding, care, and risks of accident or death, which would, of course, bring the total cost to a higher figure.

A Question?

This brings us to the perennial enquiry: Will it pay me to raise horses or is it cheaper to buy them? In general, it is better for a farmer to raise his working stock, as he is thus fairly sure of getting what he requires. But if he does so, the most elementary common sense should decide him to use the best stallion obtainable, sound mares of proper conformation, and suitable feeds. For there is no getting out of the fact that a young horse, ready to work, costs a good deal of money.

BENNETT BACK AT DESK.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9.—(C.P.) — Back in Otawa to-day after his trip to the west, Premier R. B. Bennett plunged into work at his office. He arrived this morning from Winnipeg where he conferred with the Premiers of the three Prairie provinces to-day.

More Cattle, Sheep During Year 1930

The Agricultural Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics estimates the numbers of farm livestock as of June 1, as follows:

	1930	1929
Horses	3,295,028	3,376,487
Milch Cows	3,683,453	3,684,766
Other Cattle	5,253,680	5,139,866
Total Cattle	8,937,133	8,824,632
Sheep	3,696,049	3,685,922
Swine	3,999,934	4,381,725
Hens & Chickens	56,247,141	55,243,787
Turkeys	2,399,497	2,423,029
Ducks	988,644	1,111,903
Total Poultry	60,795,169	59,932,963

While the numbers of cattle and sheep show slight increases other farm animals, particularly swine, are lower with the notable exception of poultry which shows an increase of over one million in the number of hens and chickens.—Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

HOLSTEIN HEIFERS MAKE FINE SHOWING

Animals Owned by Lindsay and Foxboro Men Granted R.O.P. Certificates.

A group of five Holstein heifers, 2 two-year-olds, 1 three-year-old, and 2, four-year-olds, owned by J. N. Hall and Son, Lindsay, Ont., have just finished making highly creditable records in the R.O.P., all the animals excepting the three-year-old qualifying in the 305 day division. Their total production aggregated 60,699 lbs. milk containing 3646.25 lbs. butter, giving an average production per heifer of 12,139 lbs. milk containing 529.25 lbs. butter, a real good showing for heifers of the age mentioned, and the division they were entered in. The two-year-old heifer, Highview Grace Veeman, Posch, led the group in milk, her production totalling 13,578 lbs. milk containing 585 lbs. butter. The four-year-old, Highview Helena Veeman, carried of high honors in the production of butter-fat, her record crediting her with 13,553 lbs. milk containing 602.50 lbs. butter, giving her an average test of 3.56% fat on twice a day milking. Messrs. Hall are to congratulated on the splendid showing made by these young heifers in their herd, and more particularly in view of the fact, that they were all bred by themselves.

284 Day Tests

One of the highest testing Holstein heifers developed this year in the R.O.P. has just been reported through a certificate granted the two-year-old, Pontiac Tillie Alcartra, owned by George M. Ketcheson, Foxboro, Ont. This heifer on twice a day milking produced in 284 days, 8,262 lbs. milk containing 445 lbs. butter, giving her an average test of 4.30% fat. She was bred by Frank L. Atkins, Mossley, Ont.

BEGINNERS MAKE MANY MISTAKES IN BEEKEEPING

Novices Advised to Spend Season as Helper to Successful Apiarist.

ENLARGE YARD GRADUALLY

Department of Agriculture Offers Valuable Information in Booklets Free.

Each year sees a number of new recruits joining the ranks of the beekeepers, this alone indicates that the beekeeping industry is still in a fairly healthy condition. Some of the newcomers have gained considerable experience in the management of bees before attempting to establish an apiary for themselves, and because of this are able to commence their operations on a fairly large scale. Others come with little or no experience and must therefore make the start with only a few colonies, enlarging their holdings as experience in management is gained.

It is this group of beginners that usually find the first steps in beekeeping difficult and oftentimes expensive because of mistakes that are bound to occur. Those who are contemplating making a start with bees are well advised to spend at least one full season as a helper to some successful beekeeper, or failing this to visit some apiary as often as possible during the active season and watch the operators at work.

Courses at Colleges

Some of the Agricultural Colleges now offer extensive courses in beekeeping and prospective beekeepers can obtain valuable information at these courses. Furthermore, there are many books now available that deal with beekeeping from the beginners' standpoint. Among these might be mentioned Bulletin No. 33, "Bees and How to Keep Them" published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, and which may be obtained, free of charge, by writing to the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa, or to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Other bulletins that are available from the same sources and dealing with beekeeping are "Wintering Bees in Canada" and "Package Bees and How to Install Them." Most of the Provincial Departments have also issued bulletins dealing with some phases of beekeeping and these may be obtained free by writing these Departments for them. There are also a number of valualbe bee journals that no beginner can afford to overlook. Knowledge is the key to success, obtain as much of it as possible.

JUDGE O'CONNOR REFUTES REPORT COMPARES NEW AND OLD LEVIES

Equalized Assessment Only $58,906.20 Higher Than Valuators'.

REPLIES TO "STAR" STORY.

In a letter to E. L. MacNachtan, clerk and treasurer of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg replies to a recent news report in the Toronto Star dealing with the equalization of the counties assessment which tended to leave the impression that this assessment had been increased from $30,783,410 to $51,589,815.

Throughout the references to the equalization of assessments there have been three equalized assessments mentioned. The first was the old one which has been used with but slight amendment for more than twenty years as the basis of the county taxes. Another was the equalization which was determined by the three valuators, Col. T. J. Johnston of Peterborough, George Thompson of Cobourg and R. J. Rowe of Clarke township. And the third is the new equalization which has been fixed by Judge O'Connor as a result of the appeal by certain towns and villages against the report of the valuators.

Judge O'Connor's letter to Major MacNachtan says: "The article goes on to say that the equalization as found by myself is over $1,000,000 more than the valuation made by the Board of Valuators appointed by the Counties Council."

The actual increase is $58,906.20. The old equalized assessment was $29,604,567; the valuators' assessment was $51,530,909 and the Judge's valuation is $51,589,815.82. In this letter to the counties clerk, Judge O'Connor takes the pains to reduce the three assessments and their tax effects to comparative percentages which every ratepayer can easily understand.

Judge O'Connor's letter which is actually intended as an explanation for the benefit of the members of the 1931 counties council continues as follows:

Assessment Faults

"For some years it appears that a system has been adopted in your Counties' Council whereby the amounts of the equalized assessments for the several municipalities were fixed by agreement. It must be quite clear to any person who might give this matter any thought that no municipality has assessed its properties for local purposes at an amount in excess of the actual value of those properties. A casual glance at the figures indicating the local assessment as against the equalized assessments as adopted by the Counties' Council, will show that in the urban districts the equalized assessments were made much less than the local assessments, and in the case of one municipality the equalized assessment was made over $1,000,000.00 less than its local assessment.

I have though it best to write you this letter, with a view to setting right a false impression that might be taken from the newspaper article above referred to, and also for the purpose of furnishing important information to the members of your Council, so that when they assemble at your first session they will be able to discuss this matter with intelligence. My report, as you will note, has appended to it Schedule "A" setting forth the equalized assessment for each municipality and the percentage of the Counties' requirements that each municipality will be called upon to pay. In order to enable your Councillors to make comparisons I have prepared and have set forth below a table showing the values of the taxable properties in each municipality as adopted by your Counties' Council for the past number of years and the percentage of your Counties' taxes which the different municipalities have paid, and by reason of the fact that the newspaper article above mentioned refers to the report of your Counties' Valuators you will find also below a statement setting forth the actual values of the assessable properties of the several municipalities as found by the Counties' Valuators and the percentage of liability of each municipality of the moneys required for Counties' purposes in accordance with the said Valuators' Report.

Should there be any further information that you or the members of your Council might require, I shall be glad to furnish said.

Faithfully yours,
L. V. O'CONNOR.

Cobourg Rate Higher

The right hand column of percentages in the appended tables is of special interest. It represents the municipalities' percentage of the total tax which must be paid into the counties' treasury this year. Of the four towns, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Campbellford and Port Hope, Judge O'Connor's tax percentage is less than the valuators' for all except Cobourg. Hastings and Millbrook are slightly higher in the Judge's report, and Newcastle is a little less. However, the comparisons can be easily made. There are fifteen decreases and eight increases. The new table of tax percentage will apply of course in determining the amount of the taxes each municipality shall pay when the council is making up the 1931 budget.

The Old Assessment

Towns	Values Agreed Upon	Percent
Bowmanville	1,169,432	3.9502
Campbellford	798,780	2.6982
Cobourg	1,600,729	5.4070

The Valuators' Assessment.

The next table is the valuators' equalized assesment and the tax levy percentage which has been deduced from that fact:

Towns	Actual Value	Percent.

Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous CAMPBELLFORD

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10.— Mrs. J. Coombs, who has been visiting relatives in the town and district returned to her home at Smith's Falls on Friday.

Mr. Harold Spencer attended the meeting of Hastings County Black Chapter, held at Madoc on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Megginson and Miss Maud Megginson of Stirling were the recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Chappel.

The out-of-town friends who attended the funeral of the late Miss Catharine Clark on Tuesday were: Mr. Harold Hoar, Mrs. Annie Tait, Miss Jean Tait, Mr. Thos. Tait, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hoar, Bowmanville; Mrs. A. Morgan, Mr. John Morgan, Madoc; Mr. Clarence Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Goodman, Mrs. W. F. Goheen, Mr. Chas. Goheen, Port Hope.

GRIFFITH ASKS VOTE RECOUNT

HAVELOCK, Jan. 10.— (Examiner Correspondence.)—Ex-Reeve Griffith of Belmont has made formal application before S. S. Joyce, J.P., for a recount of the ballot taken in the recent close election in Belmont and Methuen townships, when his opponent, J. F. Breckenridge, was declared elected by a single vote.

It is rumored that a certain well-known ratepayer in Belmont has stated that if any irregularites are found in the polling of the much-talked of vote at the Oak Lake poll he will apply for a full investigation and institute proceedings against the offenders.

JOHN R. COOKE

Elected in 1911

Hon. John R. Cooke was first elected to the Legislature as member for North Hastings in 1911, and has since been re-elected in 1914, 1919, 1923, 1926 and 1929. Three of these re-elections were by acclamation. At the last Provincial election the Liberal Party of the riding nominated him, it is understood, before his own Conservative Party did. In two different elections four subdivisions in one particular township gave him every vote. He is one of the most popular Ministers in the Provincial House; an ardent champion of the great Hydro undertaking he has for so long during the 1929 campaign when Preserved; and a doughty debater who, mier Ferguson was confined to his home through illness, stepped into the platform breach, took off the Premier's shoulders several very important speaking engagements, and there displayed flights of oratory that since have marked him as one of the most effective speakers in Provincial life to-day.

WEDDINGS

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Jan. 10.—The wedding was solemnized on Monday evening of Myrtle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Potts and Thomas Dickson of Omemee. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. H. Howard in the presence of about twenty relatives and close friends of the contracting parties.

Miss Jean Campbell was bridesmaid and Mr. Joseph Greenely was best man.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAMES MACDONALD.

STIRLING, Janhary 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — The death occurred of Mrs. James MacDonald (nee Loretta McPaul). Mrs. MacDonald was born near Campbellford in 1893. Shortly afterward the family moved to the Oak Hills, and from there to Stirling. Loretta was on the staff at the Telephone Office until her marriage in 1918. Her illness was of brief duration, just six days. Complication of pneumonia and appendicitis proved fatal, however.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and five small children, her father, one brother in Saskatchewan, one brother in Kingston one sister in Belleville. Interment took place in St. James' Cemetery.

GIRL FLIERS STILL ALOFT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9. (CP)—Endurance flying has proved no lark for "Bobbie" Trout and Edna May Cooper.

Nevertheless the girls and their plane, the Lady Rolph, named in honor of the First Lady of California, showed no signs of weakening to-day as they passed the 106-hour mark at 12.30 a.m. The perseverance of the fliers, who for more than 23 hours were dogged by a rainstorm, apparently was rewarded, for at midnight the rain ceased and the clouds began to disperse.

The Charity Ball and bridge party held in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, under auspices of the King's Daughters, was an extremely successful affair. There was an attendance of over two hundred people, the majority from the senior circles of the city who do not as a rule attend the dances for the younger people. The dance was voted as one of the best in the season's round and guests appeared to have an exceptionally jolly time. They were received by the president, Mrs. E. H. Wood, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, who acted as general convenor of arrangements, and Mrs. F. L. Roy. Mrs. A. H. Stratton was in charge of the bridge tables, about forty people enjoying the games on the stage, and prizes going to Mrs. F. C. Webber and Miss M. Archer. The orchestra, Mowry-Steer and their Silver Collegians playing splendid music in a seven-piece organization, was placed at the west end of the hall, which was decorated in red and green streamers, with evergreen boughs in the windows spaces. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Roy, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Taylor. Just Between Us Women

• • • • • • •

You, too, perhaps have noticed this as a sharp reaction from the cold severity of ultramodernistic vogue. In this the cold grey of steel or a finish simulating this metal tone has been much in evidence.

• • • • • • •

It would seem too, at times that the coldness of office furnishings had crept into this decoration.

• • • • • • •

As is always the case, however, when a fashion rises to heights, it becomes so ultra that the zenith is reached. Then modifications set in and with them cover reversals of styles.

• • • • • • •

So it is with this modernistic decoration. It reached its apex in oddity, and now are discernible the modifications mentioned and the reversals.

• • • • • • •

In the former more grace is being instilled and an artistry that rings true. The unusual is stressed but it conforms more to the accepted lines of beauty.

• • • • • • •

In the reactionary decorative vogue, daintiness is the keynote. It sounds clearly in bedroom furnishings. Dressing tables are entirely concealed by silks and laces that hang in folds or frills.

• • • • • • •

The word dressing table is very apt (for it is so dressed up that it challenges whoever sits before it) to vie in beauty if possible.

• • • • • • •

• • • • • • •

While the return to daintiness is felt most in chambers the main rooms of a home are not devoid of this element—except where modified modernism prevails.

• • • • • • •

Lighting fixtures are soft in tones and have the nets, laces, embroideries and silks used in the making of shades.

• • • • • • •

If the dainty note is selected, it has to be developed with restraint, just as the modernistic note has to be handled with reserve lest it becomes too coldly forbidding for home comfort.

Reports Read At Caledonian Meeting

The regular monthly business meeting of the Caledonian Club was held last evening in the Woodmen of the World Hall, with W. Petrie, president, in the chair.

A fairly large representation of members were present, and much routine business was discussed. Reports from various committees were heard, and a new sick visiting committee appointed.

Last week a party of the members who had been appointed by the Club visited the Protestant Home and entertained the old people. On Monday, January 12, a like mission will be held to the House of Providence.

The present bowling schedule will finish on January 24th, and a new schedule will be organized.

Arrangements were completed for the annual Burns' Supper, to be held in the Paragon on Friday, January 23, and tickets are now available for same. Will members please secure their tickets before January 19.

Next Friday a card party will be the order. A large turnout is anticipated.

The ladies of the Club will hold a Valentine dance in February, and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for this function.

After the business ended a social hour was held, in which refreshments were served and dancing engaged in.

$250,000 Damage Suit Alleged Shadowing

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Health broken by detective shadowing was given to-day by counsel for Dr. John Streeter Sidney of Racine, Wis., as the reason for filing notice of a $250,000 damage suit against William Perkins Bull, K.C., a lawyer of London and Toronto, and the Harrison Secret Service Agency of Chicago.

Attorney J. Frederick Reeve said the suit would be fyled to-day and charge constant shadowing for three years by detectives of the Harrison Agency hired by Hull. The shadowing, he added, related to a suit for divorce filed three years ago by Mrs. Sidley, charging cruel and inhuman treatment, which is still pending.

Bull, known as a travel lecturer, lives in Toronto and founded a hospital for Canadian army officers at Putney Heath. He is in Chicago at present.

PILOT AND MECHANIC KILLED.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 10.—(C.P.)— A pilot and mechanic, the only occupants of the night airmail plane from Brussels to Croydon, were killed when the plane crashed at midnight at Melle. Because of the fog the pilot decided to return to Brussels but turned at too low a height. The wing tip struck the ground and the plane was wrecked.

RELIEF ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED CENTRAL COMMITTEE IS NAMED PLANS LAID FOR WINTER'S WORK

James Dutton President of New Body and Mrs. Morris Heads Women's Section.

SPLENDID REPRESENTATION.

Peterborough's reputation for looking after the wants of its own people in the most satisfactory fashion is going to be upheld, if Peterborough's citizens have anything to say about it. Such an intention, combined with an inspiring and splendid spirit of co-operation, was evident in the meeting held last night in the City Council Chamber, to perfect and round out the organization whose development was foreshadowed on Wednesday evening, at the meeting called by His Worship Mayor Denne, when a resolution formed the inception of the new Peterborough Relief Association, as it will be known.

Starting out in the spirit of crusaders animated with a regard for those of their fellow-men less fortunate at the moment than they, a splendid representation of various social service agencies last night signified their intention of doing everything in their power to help in the present, and, it is hoped, temporary, unemployment situation which has depleted the resources of so many homes.

The society, which is regarded in the light somewhat of a venture in unchartered seas that promise, however, to be eminently worth while and to give those helping, as those being helped, an opportunity for real community service, will have a somewhat unique personnel. It will have in the background a Ways and Means committee which will act as an advisory board and will be asked to help more especially in the financial backing of the organization. The society aims to do everything possible to increase and inspire individual effort on the part of the societies which will co-operate with it, while asking them to afford that co-operation as whole-heartedly as possible. It will also have a strong executive body composed of a president, a vice president, a secretary-treasurer and a committee of men and women.

James Dutton, who acted as the efficient and impartial chairman of last night's meeting, will be the president of the newly-formed body, Mrs. Myles Henry will be vice president, and the secretary-treasurer will be nominated later.

The committee's members will be Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mrs. Ada Craig, Mrs. W. O'Brien, Miss Cathleen McCarthy, A. B. Cunningham, R. M. Glover, Fred Sutcliffe, James Juby and Alderman G. A. Macdonald.

Mrs. W. R. Morris will head the Women's Section which will be an important part of the organization. The ladies will meet at Mrs. Morris' request, while Mr. Dutton will call the meetings of the general board.

Last evening, James Abraham acted as clerk of the meeting.

Splendid Representation.

Representatives were present from twenty-one different organizations, in the city which are interested in civic assistance and betterment. A glance at the list shows the very widespread range of their activities: the King's Daughters, the Red Cross Society, the Central Home and School Association, the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association, The Examiner Cheer Fund, the Catholic Women's League, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, the Canadian Legion, the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church, the 57th Regimental Chapter I.O.D.E., the Trinity Church Social Service Committee, the Employment Service of Canada, the Rotary Club, the King George Home and School Association, the Big Sisters, the Local Council of Women, the Home and School Council, the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., the Trades and Labour Council, the Chamber of Commerce and the Peterborough Chapter Order of the Eastern Star.

Names suggested for the Ways and Means Committee, who will be asked by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce to signify their intention of accepting or rejecting the opportunity to co-operate in this way, were numerous. The list will be published later.

R. M. Glover, managing director of The Examiner, outlined briefly, at the request of the chairman, the ideas behind his suggestion to form this Ways and Means committee, and the matter was disscussed fully by various people present, before it was decided that the formation of such a committee would facilitate the work of the organization and would be the connecting link between the new society and the Central Charity Board. The exact relationship of the newly-formed Relief Association to the Charity Board will be defined by that body at a subsequent meeting, when representatives to the Board will be named.

The executive of the new association, after the meeting decided that a clearing-house where garments may be brought, sorted and arranged, cleaned and mended, and also given out to those in need of it, was an absolute necessity, will be asked to make suitable provision for such a convenience.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUSTER'S CAKE.

As Jingle was walking home from the Hollow Stump School one day, back of her brother Buster and some of his boy friends, the little rabbit girl heard Buster say:

"Fellows, are you hungry?"

"Are we?" barked Jackie Bow Wow, a puppy dog boy. "Why, I could almost eat a snowball, I'm so hungry!"

"I could eat an icicle!" barked Peetie, his brother.

"You don't need to eat icicles or snow balls," went on Buster and Jingle heard him.

"Well, what can we eat, then?" bleated Billie.

"Come to my house and I'll bake you fellows a cake!" said Buster just as if baking cakes and inviting his friends to eat them was something he did every day.

"Oh! Oh!" murmured Jingle. "What a bold thing to do! Why, Buster is just copying after me. And, anyhow, I don't think he can make a cake at all. This is going to be terrible!"

The day before, as I told you in the story last night, Jingle had invited some of her girl friends to the bungalow when they were hungry. Jingle promised to make a pie and she did. But when she set it on the back steps to cool, Uncle Wiggily hopped along. He and his fat friend, Mr. Twistytail, the pig gentleman, ate Jingle's treat pie all up, and said it was very good. Then Uncle Wiggily gave Jingle some money to take her friends to the ice-cream store for a treat.

"Since I ate your pie by mistake it is only fair that I pay for it," said Mr. Longears. So everything came out all right.

"Buster heard what happened to my pie," thought Jingle as she followed behind her brother and his chums. "Buster thinks if he makes a cake Daddicums will eat it, as he ate my pie, and then will pay for it so Buster can take his friends down to the ice-cream store and treat them! But Buster is just copying after me! It isn't fair. Buster is a copy cat, that's just what he is!"

However, Jingle didn't say this out loud nor did she let the boys know she was following them. But she was in the hollow stump bungalow almost as soon as the boy animals were and she went softly to the kitchen. Nurse Jane was out, so was Mrs. Longears and Buster was taking all sorts of things from the pantry and putting them on the table.

"What kind of a cake are you going to make, Buster?" asked Billie.

"I don't know," answered the little rabbit boy, pretending to think very hard. Then he saw some sugar in a bowl and he said: "I guess I'll make a sweet cake."

"Yes, that kind is best," agreed Jackie.

"I never cared much for sour cake," barked Peetie.

And then Jingle had a queer idea. Stepping suddenly out from behind the kitchen door she sweetly said:

"Would you like me to help you make the cake, Buster, dear?"

"Why, yes, Jingle, I would," he answered. For, truth to tell, after promising his friends he would make them a cake, Buster began to think he didn't know how even to begin. He was glad his sister offered to help him. But he didn't know Jingle. She was a queer little tyke.

"Hand me the flour, Buster," ordered Jingle. "Jackie, you get me the milk. Peetie, get the eggs from the ice box, but don't drop them. Billy, you hand me the chocolate!"

"Oh, a chocolate cake!" cried Buster. "That's just the kind I was going to make!" But while he and his friends were handing her the different things, like flour and eggs, Jingle herself took down the mustard, the cloves, the vinegar and pepper and put a lot of them in the cake which she stirred up and then put into a pan to bake.

"When will the cake be done?" asked Jackie hungrily.

"Oh, soon," said Jingle, smiling to herself to think how the boys themselves would be fooled if they tried to eat the funny cake. And if Uncle Wiggily tried to eat it he would be so surprised he would not give Buster any money. "But it will serve him right for being a copy cat!" said Jingle. "Oh, how surprised they'll be!"

At last the cake was taken from the oven and set on the back steps to cool. And while Buster and his friends waited impatiently to taste it, along came Uncle Wiggily, and he was being chased by the Fox. Uncle Wiggily ran and ran until he was at his bungalow back stoop, and the Fox almost had him, when, suddenly the Bad Chap saw Buster's cake set there to cool.

"Oh, I guess I'll eat this cake first and then nibble you, Mr. Longears!" howled the Fox. He gobbled the cake in one bite but then, when the mustard, pepper and vinegar in it began to burn him, the Fox howled: "Oh, there is something wrong! What a pain— Oh, wow!" And away he ran.

"That was a clever trick to play on the Fox, Buster," said his father. "Here is some money for you and your friends!" Buster was happy, but he was surprised. So was Jingle.

NO MORE WORRY ABOUT WEATHER CHANGES

With the change of weather to rain, or sleet, or high winds, a great many people in this northern climate suffer from stiff and aching muscles and joints, which is a form of rheumatism. Other causes are sprains, over-exercise, and after various strenuous sports.

Immediate relief can be obtained by rubbing in a few drops of Absorbine, Jr., to the parts affected. And in most cases a few treatments will drive away the pain.

Absorbine, Jr., safeguards you against infection because it is both a highly efficient antiseptic and a germicide. It is greaseless and stainless and quite harmless. Buy a bottle at your druggist's—$1.25—and prove its great value by actual experience. 132

Woollens Are Smart For Daytime Wear

(1) A pretty, old fashioned model of white net over a gold net slip. Gold lines accent the bouffant skirt and occasional flowers are in blue, scarlet and green. (2) A pretty red woolen frock sketched by Marie Marot, with a belt and bow of matching crepe de chine. With it is sketched a beige woolen crepe dress smartly tailored, with scarf collar in brown astrakan. The short jacket is dark brown cotton velvet, which is collarless and slipped on beneath the astrakan collar of the dress. The sleeves are trimmed with deep shirred cuffs of astrakan. (3) An attractive model of black woolen material, with a straight box coat bordered and cuffed with black astrakan.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

MILLBROOK.

A group of women, Institute members, had met one evening to discuss the matter of a program for the next meeting of their Society. Many matters came up for consideration, and at length one motherly woman mentioned footwear as a matter she would like taken up and discussed because of her daughter's insistence on high heels as a necessary adjunct to her shoes.

The mother insisted on her own conviction that these spool-like appendages were most detrimental to her daughter's health, and others in the group agreed with her, telling their own troubles with daughters who had a like desire for ridiculously high heels when shoes were purchased.

These girls, who were also Institute members of the younger group, would be at the next meeting, could not some information be advanced to cure them of the tendency to health injury through such a custom?

So one member was appointed to prepare a paper on the subject, and the others promised to find all they could on the topic and come ready to add to the discussion, the intention being to draw the girls into the talk when the meeting was thrown open for questions, and suggestions, from the gathering.

Some of the facts advanced at what proved to be a very helpful meeting were; foot vigor and graceful carriage are promoted by an elastic step, and cannot be obtained by poorly fitting, and inappropriate shoes nor those with extremely high heels which throw the body out of line, thrust the abdomen forward, give one 'ewe neck', and cause backache because the spine is malformed by the practice. "The wearing of proper shoes is one of the best remedies for headache, and other forms of ill-health, and shoes that are too short, too narrow, too high in the heels, are sometimes chosen because of a mistaken idea that they add to the beauty of the appearance; or because they have been purchased and there is still wear in them; and the feet are crippled, bone deformity results, and the joy that should be felt in walking and in other active enterprises is entirely obliterated, and replaced by suffering, ill-temper, and often by really serious effects in mind and body. Indeed since the physical does most materially affect the spiritual, you have only to pursue the matter to its logical conclusion to see for yourselves that actual sin may grow out of the wearing of improper footwear.'

Discussion brought out suggestions that correct shoes fit comfortably from the first; should have heels of reasonable height, should be sufficiently broad at the toe; and as flexible as the foot. The importance of choosing properly fitting stockings was emphasized, as probably of almost equal need with the shoes and came in, too, for a share of attention.

The girl members all seemed interested put in a good many question and objections, and yet appeared to be impressed with the information advanced since it had been chosen from reliable sources, and was not expressed in any degree in arbitrary language.

WARSAW.

Another year has gone for Institute branches, as for any other organization, and though Institutes hold their annual meetings in May, it is as well at the beginning of the actual year to check up. Warsaw branch feels that it has been of enough good in the community to justify its existence.

It is now handicapped for lack of a proper home of its own, which through not perhaps ideal is far better than none.

With a home of its own it hopes to realize more of the dreams of usefulness. Already, it is of community benefit, as the classes in agriculture and home economics are being held in the building. It is doubtful if these special classes in home economics could have been held concurrently with the Agricultural classes, had the Institute not been able to provide a room for the girls' classes. The rooms they had were too small. The boys could have held their classes in the Town Hall. The Town Hall will also be used for the public meetings.

The classes now being held are in no way connected with the Institute, except that the Institute pushes them, and aids. Rented homes have been part of J. A. Crowe's house in the village, a vacant room in A. F. Choate's store buildings, the upper story of T. Clements' store, which was large, and well equipped for the work done during war time, and the Town Hall. The council gave the use of the hall so long as the branch paid the janitor, and when Henry Clements had the care of the hall, he kindly opened it free in summer time. Sometimes for years at a time meetings were held in homes of the members. These meetings brought crowds.

Much of the work of the past year was a special effort for funds to buy property. And almost unexpected success attended the efforts. The first class ever held in Warsaw was before the war, a dressmaking class under the direction of Mrs. Woelard, in an upper room in the Choate building. The class now being held is the fourth sewing class and the second domestic science class. There have also been two nursing classes, a millinery class and a basket - making class. With these classes, except the first, council meetings and evening entertainments have always had to be considered. Now there will be nothing of that kind to interfere. There are hopes of making the grounds, what there is of them, a beauty spot, also of greater educational facilities, of choral classes, of general good in every way, of just being useful wherever they can be. In Warsaw Institute once, the use of old newspapers was a topic. Some uses were to wipe grease from dishes and cooking vessels, to place under pots and pans, cold or hot on tables, to protect floors when some spattering work was done; to wipe off the stove, one member kept orange and lemon wrappers especially for her stove.

Newspapers are splendid windbreaks. If one be caught away from home and a cold wind storm faces one home, a few layers of newspaper slipped under the outer garment, back and front, will afford great protection; also, if camping, and weather becomes colder than expected, newspapers, if present, help out a shortage of blankets. For standing pots upon regularly a thick magazine is often used, and the soiled leaf torn off neatly, so it is always handy.

CAVAN

At the beginning of the New Year a good idea would be for each Institute member to consider "How can I help to make our Institute more intersting and helpful!"

Among our New Year's resolutions we might include a few with reference to our society.

Resolve to attend regularly and be on time.

Study our program, that we may know what topics will be under discussion and go prepared to add something to any subject being discussed, thus giving help as well as receiving it.

Answer the roll call by the topic assigned for the month. Take a share of the responsibilities, not leaving all for the officers to shoulder.

Take your turn in moving and seconding motions when you are in favor of them. Do not leave it for a few, or waste the president's time waiting to get a motion through.

Remember our Institute Ode and live up to it.

As an aid to this perhaps there is nothing better than the prescription to live by, once given to an assembly of Institute workers, by Dr. Margaret Patterson, Toronto.

"Whatsoever things are truer, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, if there be anything worthy of Praise, think on these things."

It means so much to us, ourselves, as to others.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

MOVING PICTURES OF BODY PROCESSES.

I believe everyone who reads of the discovery of the X-ray feels sorry for Crookes, the British research physician, that he was not the discoverer of this wonderful aid to medicine and surgery.

Whilst he was busy on some other research work, the tube that he originated and that bears his name, happened in be in a certain location in the laboratory of a German scientist, Roentgen, who thus accidently discovered the X-rays, and they are quite properly called the Roentgen rays.

These rays were first used to diagnose fractures of bones, then to find 'lost' articles in the body, and similar uses.

Then came the knowledge of the condition of the lungs, the working of the heart, the use of the barium meal to locate ulcer of the stomach or cancer anywhere in the digestive tract, then putting iodised oil into the bronchial tubes and spinal cord to locate any trouble there, and dyes into the system to show condition of the gall bladder.

And now in Berlin, by the use of the X-ray, they have been able to take moving pictures of the actual working of the difficult processes of the body.

They have been able to take pictures for a period of twenty five seconds at a time without any burn or other damage to the skin or tissues.

These films show the heart in health or disease with the effects after long periods of exertion in some form of sport.

They have been able to take side views of a person speaking, whose tongue had been made visible by coating it with bismuth. It is hoped by the use of these views of persons speaking, that progress will be made in the training of deaf mutes since they can study in dentil the motions of the tongue in producing various letters.

These moving pictures should prove of wonderful help in the training of physicians. To actually see the organs working in normal healthy individuals and then see how these organs do their work when interfered with by infection or other cause, should prove of great help in diagnosis, and also in treatment.

All these steps forward are certainly comforting, not only as we think of ourselves, but more particularly as we think of our children and the more strenuous life of people in the years that are ahead of us.

TEXAS GIRL LOST $22,000 ON SHOW

All Her Money Gone in Stage Ambition.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—A month ago New York looked like a land o glory to Elvira Stanford of Texas. Now Broadway is the street of disillusion to her. She had some money and an ambition to get on the stage. Miss Stanford got part of her wish, getting into "Love Thieves" because of her bankroll. Nearest to Broadway it got was the Bronx, where it folded owing every, two weeks ago.

It is all tragedy to Miss Stanford. Every cent of her $22,000 was tossed into the show. Securities she deposited with Equity were sold to take care of the players' salary claims. The girl herself says she is wiped out and has no money to go back home.

"Love Thieves" was put on by one Michael Kallesser who has something of a rep for writing and presenting shows of the shoestring type. Miss Stanford happened along with the bankroll and got the lead part. Previous stage experience said to be negative.

The show got into trouble, right off, opening in Toronto, a rather costly journey for a single week. The house management took care of the hotel bills and Equity paid off when the troupe returned for a week at the Windsor, Bronx. Several players waived the salary bond but held out for salary or else. Saturday afternoon, representatives of costumer went back stage and took away costumes.

CHAPLIN EXPECTING $6,000,000 FOR FILM

Record Quota Set For His "City Lights."

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10.—Charley Chaplin becomes an exhibitor of his own picture with "City Lights," having taken the Cohan Theatre, New York, for a minimum of 12 weeks, starting the first week in February. Wherever possible, Chaplin personally will make similar arrangements as an exhibitor in the key cities.

At the Cohan, "City Lights" will grind at $1 following a $10 premiere with Chaplin on hand for the opening.

Chaplin has set the record quota of $6,000,000 on his "City Lights." This is just the States and not the entire world. United Artists exchanges have been advised to close contracts on this basis. This means that the film as ordered will be offered nowhere under 50 per cent of the gross, and that's strictly percentage.

In starting after business U.A. thus reverses its plans of last summer. This was to hold off selling "City Lights" until after the film had opened on the coast or in the east. All former contracts for the picture have been cancelled, automatically, since they were made under the old standard agreement around two years ago.

U.A.'s previous plans for holding off on selling plans was on the contention that Chaplin's quota was too high.

Don't let SORE THROAT get the best of you...

FIVE minutes after you rub on Musterole your throat should begin to feel less sore! Continue the treatment once every hour for five hours and you'll be astonished at the relief.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

SCREEN AND STAGE NOTES

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, appealed to by Mary Hay, former wife of Richard Barthelmess, and by Barthelmess, to decide upon the custody of their 7-year-old daughter, decided that child should be with her mother until next July. The following month she will be with Barthemess and return to her mother for six months at the end of next August. Both Miss Hay and Barthelmess have remarried since their divorce a few years ago.

Marlene Dietrich could thank Gloria Swanson and Phyllis Haver for her opportunity in Ufa's "Blue Angel." At the time Von Sternberg, director, sailed to Germany to make this picture, he cabled back for either American girl to come over and play the part. But Miss Swanson couldn't get away, and Miss Haver had decided to give up her career for marriage. Von Sternberg went on a search which ended at Miss Dietrich.

Luigi Romanelli, leader of the King Edward Hotel orchestra, Toronto, has a music library insured for $35,000. It contains all of the popular and semi-classical arrangements that have been made for his use.

Among the cuts in budgets on pictures ordered is one by Radio on Wheeler and Woolsey. Pictures for this team have been reduced to around $200,000 a feature, it is said, for the rest of their contractural life unless potentialities merit an increase. "Half Shot at Sunrise" is understood to have cost around $750,000.

Marlene Dietrich may be a picture notable but she's just the boss to the chauffeur who's driving her first Rolls. Chauf once caddied the cars of Albert, King of the Belgians; Lord Northcliff, and Lord Kitchener, for whom he was bodyguard during the Boer War.

Marian Marsh, 17-year-old actress, was personally picked by John Barrymore out of 60 screen tests for the role of Tribly in "Svengali."

Barrymore has the title role. The tests were screened at the Barrymore home, where the star is still confined by illness.

"The Bartered Bride," the opera by Smetana, the noted Czech composer, will soon be filmed by the Prague firm, Robert Zdrahal, in conjunction with French and German concerns. The film will be offered in French, Czech and German, with the aid of artists of various countries.

Fourteen sons of clergymen, five wartime flyers and two former members of the Foreign Legion, it is said, have parts in the Fox movietone picture, "Squadrons," featuring Elissa Landi. Among the sons of clergymen are Ian MacLaren and Douglas Dray, both former stage players.

Richard Dix, who has the leading male role in "Cimarron," will serve in the dual capacity of director and star in his next picture, an adaptation of Rex Beach's novel "Big Brother."

H. B. Warner has been assigned to play opposite Betty Compson in an untitled Radio Company picture adapted from "Children of the Streets," a screen story by Robert Milton and Guy Bolton.

David Manners will play Little Billee and Marian Marsh will make her screen debut as Trilby in "Svengali," the Warne Brothers' production based on the celebrated novel and play by George Du Maurier, in which John Barrymore will be starred.

Dolores Costello, who retired from the screen after her marriage to John Barrymore two years ago, has signed a new contract with Warner Brothers. She will start work in her next film in the Spring.

"Daybreak," adapted from Schnitzler's novel, has been definitely selected as Ramon Navarro's next picture. Jean Hersholt is the first player to be selected for the supporting cast. Since the completion of "Call of the Flesh," Mr. Navarro has been busy directing and acting in Spanish and French versions of that film.

DETAILS OF PROGRAM.

British International, leaders of the field, plan around 35 features and 50 shorts for 1931, with a standing list of about 10 producers to be developed, and others engaged from picture to picture.

British and Dominions line up around 10 subjects, although their productions are included in the schedule of the Gaumont British corporation, who, between their various subsidiaries, reckon on around 50 features.

Dominions, although not in the combine, release through them. In the Dominions line-up is "The First Mrs. Fraser," talker right of which have just been picked up.

Subject recieving advance publicity is "The Chance of a Night Time," original screen musical authored by Ben Travers, writer of the Aldwych farces, talker versions of which have proved the best bets leaving the Dominion studios this year.

Present indications stamp British studios as aiming at a picture crop of around 150 subjects next year. Figure is more than that needed to cover the renter's quota. Exhibs look like being able to pick and choose.

"DISRAELI'S" VOICE IN NEXT ELECTION

George Arliss Makes Series For British Conservatives.

The voice of Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, will again be heard in British politics. At the next general election, probably in the Spring, three short talking pictures will be shown by the Conservative party as campaign propaganda, each presenting the great Victorian Premier as impersonated by George Arliss. They were made recently in London, just before Mr. Arliss sailed for the United States.

Mr. Arliss was chosen to represent Lord Beaconsfield because of his interpretation of the role in Louis N. Parker's play, "Disraeli," on both stage and screen. His make-up in the three pictures was the same as that used in the Warners' film, but he speaks only Lord Beaconsfield's own words. Conservative party leaders believing that these extracts from speeches delivered long ago will be found to express with surprising force the Tory viewpoint on current issues.

One of the films, Mr. Arliss reports, has for its background the Crystal Palace in London, which was built with great ceremony in Disraeli's time. Another shows a section of the House of Lords, with Lord Beaconsfield leaning back in his seat, his hat tilted over his eyes —a characteristic pose. He rises as though to reply to an opponent and delivers an oration on liberty and imperial responsibilities. The third film presents Disrael as though on a political platform in the midst of a hotly contested election.

TIMES SELECTION 1930 BEST FILMS

Mordaunt Hall Ranks Byrd's Picture Best.

The Best Ten.

In the estimation of this reviewer the ten conspicuously good films for the past year were:

"With Byrd at the South Pole," photographed by Willard Vander Veer and Joseph T. Rucker.

"All Quiet on the Western Front," directed by Lewis Milestone.

"Journey's End," directed by James Whale.

"Lightnin'," with Will Rogers, directed by Henry King.

"The Devil to Pay," based on an original screen story by Frederick Lonsdale and directed by George Fitzmaurice.

"Tom Sawyer," directed by John Cromwell.

"Abraham Lincoln," produced by David Wark Griffith.

TRENT RIVER.

(Examiner Correspondence).

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Pollock.

Mrs. George Longmuir, of Seymour West, had the misfortune to fall and break her right wrist on Friday, January 2. Fortunately, Mrs. Longmuir is left-handed, and she will not be as inconvenienced as otherwise. However, her many friends wish for her a quick recovery.

Mr. David Robinson, formerly of Trent River, is critically ill at the home of his son, Herdie, in Percy Township.

Mrs. Henry Wood has returned from spending the holidays with relatives north of Havelock.

Mr. E. Hubble began work at his blacksmith shop on Thursday.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

"MARIGOLD"

The "Marigold' Company which is due to open at the Grand on Tuesday, January 20, started their tour in this country at His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, where the reception was so favorable as to encourage the belief that "MARIGOLD" will prove as great a success in Canada as in Great Britain.

That dozen of Canadian critics, S. Morgan Powell says of it: "It is not easy to convey in a phrase or two the wealth of comedy—or the character of that comedy—this play holds. But surely not in twenty years upon our local stage has the spirit of comedy been more charmingly exemplified, or portrayed with more subtle skill, more delicacy and refinement. After having seen it one understood why it has enjoyed a run of more than seven hundred performances in London."

The Company is headed by Miss Jean Clyde, who will be remembered in Toronto as having played the lead in "Courting" which a year or two ago, was brought to the Royal by the Shuberts. She has carved out a niche for herself as the leading Scottish Actress of the day and has impersonated many of the Barrie heroines and, of course, Bunty. In this latter character she has made over 1000 appearances and has now eclipsed this record in her present part of Mrs. Pringle in "MARIGOLD." Of Miss Sophie Stewart the Marigold of the play, Mr. Morgan-Powell says. "It would be difficult to imagine this character more delightfully played."

Mark Street W. A. Hears Splendid Talk

Mrs. C. H. Edwards, president of the Local Council of Women, delivered an interesting address, "Be Strong in Spirit," at the meeting of the Women's Association of Mark Street United Church, held Thursday night for the induction of officers. This ceremony was performed very impressively by the Rev. A. E. Thornley.

Mrs. E. Wand is president of the society, and the following committees were formed: Social: Mrs. L. Agnew (convenor), Mrs. H. Cooper, Mrs. C. English, Mrs. A. Andrus.

Visiting: Mrs. Dossee (convenor), Mrs. A. J. Throop, Mrs. W. K. Payne, Mrs. A. Clarke, Mrs. A. E Thornley.

Parsonage committee: Mrs. W. Pomeroy (convenor), Mrs. A. Andrus, Mrs. J. J. Welch.

Cupboard committee: Mrs. T. Thorn (convenor), Mrs. G. Record, Mrs. H. Cooper, Mrs. R. Record.

Representatives to Local Council of Women: Mrs. W. Binks and Mrs. A. Andrus.

The committee in charge of the supper to be held on the 22nd of this month, includes Mesdames Throop, Hurl, White, Agnew, Copper.

Mrs. W. Magee was called to Bobcaygeon on Thursday owing to the serious illness of her brother, Mr. Mills.

LEGION L. A. HEAD IS RE-ELECTED

REPORTS READ.

Mrs. J. Mills was re-elected by acclamation as president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, at the annual meeting of the society, held in the Legion Hall this week.

The meeting opened with a splendid supper which was very much enjoyed. The toast to The King was made by Mrs. E. McKinstry and the toast to The Legion by Mrs. W. R. Morris, which was responded to by one of the guests at the supper, Dr. N. H. Sutton, who spoke of the splendid co-operation given by the ladies to the men's branch of the organization.

After supper, the election of officers took place, also the reading of reports. Mrs. F. Millard, convenor of the Relief and Visiting committee, gave her report, showing total calls by herself and her committee during the past month, of 160, and total calls during the year, of 944. Clothing given out during the year totalled 67 new pieces, 530 second-hand and made-over pieces.

During the year, expenses of the Auxiliary totalled $929.78, for meat, groceries, milk tickets, bread tickets, coal, wood and flowers for the sick.

The correspondence was then read, also many letters of thanks from families who had been assisted. Cheque and donations were acknowledged from the following: Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E., Dr. G. S. Cameron, Mrs. Carlisle, City of Peterborough, Mrs. H. Fallis, R. E. Layfield, Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., the Thursday Club, Red Cross Society, E. A. Peck, .P., the Weddell family, R. M. Glover of The Examiner, the Lakefield Auxiliary, Mr. Hopwood, Grafton and Company, Ackerman and Borbridge, Mrs. E. H. Wood.

Mrs. Mills reported that she and Mrs. W. R. Morris had collected $60, which had been expended for boots and rubbers for school children, to fit them out for resuming school after the holidays. Mrs. Mills also reported that she had been given a piano in splendid condition, to be drawn for, for relief work.

Officers for the Year.

The list of officers includes: Mrs. W. R. Morris, honorary president, (acclamation), Mrs. A. Tamblyn, honorary first vice president; Mrs. R. Bugg, honorary second vice president; Mrs. J. Mills, president (acclamation); Mrs. W. Hughes, first vice president (acclamation); Mrs. R. Paterson, second vice president; Mrs. A. L. Kent, recording secretary; Mrs. B. Head, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Budd, treasurer (acclamation). Visiting committee: rs. F. Millard (convenor); rs. C. H. Porter and Mrs. J. Mackness, south end; Mrs. Dormer, central; Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Manley, north end. Social committee: Mrs. W. Hughes, convenor; sewing committee: Mrs. E. Houghton, convenor. Representatives to Local Council, of Women: Mrs. R. Bugg and Mrs. R Paterson. Auditors: Mrs. W. Duvall and Mrs. J. Mackness.

The officers and members of the Auxiliary desire to thank all who contributed so generously to their funds and also all who sent in new and second hand clothing and assisted in any way.

REDUCE WORKING SCHEDULES

MONTREAL, Jan. 10. (CP)—Rearrangement of working schedules whereby the hours of the train and yard men of the Canadian Pacific Railway east of Fort William will be reduced to make way for 500 additional employees was announced yesterday, at the conclusion of lengthy discussions between railway officials and the general committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

GAS relieved

WHAT most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. Food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention, it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate with no harmful after-effects.

Once you learn this perfect way you'll never deal in any other manner with the headaches, gas, bloating, nausea, dizziness, indigestion, biliousness, etc., due to an over-acid stomach and bowels.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips'. It is always a liquid; never made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips on the bottle. All drug-stores sell it—50c.

HOCKEY CLUB JUNIORS SURPRISE SAINTS WITH FLOCK OF GOALS GAME PLAYED UNDER PROTEST

SCORE IS 6 TO 0.

Peterborough Hockey Club Juniors made history last night when they gave St. John's a surprise shellacking by 6 goals to 0, and hung up the first O.H.A. win for the P. H. C. Juniors in four seasons.

The big margin registered by the Young Petes was an outstanding upset, for local fandom expected a close, hard battle with only a goal or two difference between the two teams, and St. John's were in most quarters given the call to win by reason of their victory over Havelock-Norwood and the Petes' defeat at the hands of the same team.

But you never can tell about a hockey game, especially where young teams are engaged.

The Petes, given a great deal more punch by the addition of Freddy Meagher at right wing and the shifting of Jones over to his natural position along the left boards, were a different aggregation to the one that yielded a win to the Combines on Wednesday night. They got the jump on the Saints right off the reel, took advantage of some slow clearing by Wesley in the Saints' nets, and sloppy defence work, to rattle in four goals and, after standing off a desperate St. John attack during the second period, increased their lead in a ragged final session. Their win was earned despite the fact that there was not six goals difference between the two teams on the night's play. The winners checked closely, did some nice puck carrying and they were quick to take advantage of the breaks the losers presented them with, while, on the other hand, the Saints were slow to get going and when they did carry the play to the Petes in the second period fell down on close-in- plays or were beaten by great stops by Foley, who played an air-tight game between the posts for the Petes.

The game was played under protest, the Peterborough Hockey Club management claiming that Ellis and Merrett of the Saints signed Hockey Club certificates last season and had not been given their releases. The Saints, on the other hand, declare that as the players were not used by the Hockey Club last season and were released in order to qualify as non-O.H.A. players in the Junior City League, they were free agents this year and entitled to sign with whom they pleased. The squabble will have to be threshed out by the O.H.A. executive. To add to the confusion, both players have already participated in two O.H.A. games against the Havelock-Norwood team, the Peterborough Hockey Club management holding back their kick until yesterday.

The Petes, both individually and as a team, were a vastly improved squad last night over their first appearance and every player in a blue sweater played his part in the victory. Outstanding, however, were Meagher and Jones on the forward line, Wood on the defence, and Tom Foley in the nets. Meagher, especially in the first period, was the Petes' most dangerous attacker, getting two smart goals, while Jones bagged two nice counters by closing in fast. Wood checked well and his rushing was a feature. Foley's work was a very real help; his clever blocking keeping the Saints off the score sheet. They were inside enough in the second period alone to have pulled up on even terms, but Foley beat them on every occasion.

Jimmy Ellis was the pick of the losing outfit, his speed and stick-handling keeping him in the limelight all the way, after he replaced White. Gardner, Calladine and Cuthbertson, starting forward line, never stopped trying. Wesley, in the nets, had a tough night, and he was not given much help, especially in the first period, when the Blue Shirts were allowed to stroll in unmolested and drive home a bunch of rebounds.

The Petes took the lead within two minutes of the start when, after a rush by Wood and a scrimmage in front of the Saints' nets, Meagher pushed a rebound into the cage.

McCulloch and Cuthbertson drew penalties almost together and with the teams each shy a man Hockey Club went further out in front when Wood went down the side and shot a pass out to Jones, who registered.

Meagher made it 3 to 0 by banging home another rebound and Jones got credit for the Petes' fourth goal, although it really was carried into the net by one of the Saints, as he tried to check the Hockey Club's left winger. The Saints managed to stop the onslaught at this point, and for the balance of this period had the edge in attacking, although it got them nothing.

There was no score in the second period, during which St. John's played their best hockey of the game. Early in the period they killed their chances by drawing penalties and at one stage had only four men in action again six, but then they steadied down and began carrying the play to the Petes with Ellis leading the attack with a series of lightning rushes. He was inside several times and Calladine, Cuthbertson and Gardner all had golden chances, but the play close in was bottled up or beaten by fine blocking by Foley, who was invincible. This was the best period of the battle and it was enlivened by a live boxing bout in which it looked for a while as if every player on the ice would be involved. Scollard and Milliken, the original contestants, were the only players to be banished as a result of the encounter.

The last period saw the most ragged hockey of the game. St. John's pressed for a while, the Petes being satisfied to play a defence game, but when Wood cut loose a long shot from outside the blue line that beat Wesley, for the winners' fifth goal, the argument was settled and it was just a case of playing out the string. Foley was called upon to deal with a number of close-in shots, but the Saints could not beat him and it was the Hockey Club who finally scored, Tuck going in for his own rebound and slamming one into the corner of the net.

LEAF-CANUCK GO SHOULD BE TIDY BATTLE

Both Teams Will Be at Full Strength in Battle For Leadership.

TWO GAMES TO-NIGHT.

Montreal Maroons Assured of Valuable Points With Quaker Victory.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.)—Will history be repeated or will Toronto Maple Leafs prove to be as good as rated by their supporters? are questions being asked by hockey enthusiasts of the Canadian section of the National Hockey League to-day.

Leafs and Montreal Canadiens clash at the Forum to-night in the feature contest of the week-end schedule. Just one month ago the Leafs journeyed to the Habitant domicile, tied for leadership with Montreal's speedy Red Shirts. They came away from the Metropolis in second place.

To-night they go into action against their worthy rivals with a one-point lead. But, whereas they were minus two of their star "Kid" line on that occasion, the Duncanites will be at full strength to-night.

Canadiens were also somewhat battered and they will also be at full strength. It is the third meeting between the teams, with honors even, each having won on home ice by identical scores of 2 to 1.

Montreal fans appear destined to witness at titanic clash. Both teams favor the fast, open style of play, and there appears little to choose between them.

The Habitants, with their meteoric centre ice star, Howie Morens, leading them on, will no doubt be favored by most to emerge victors. Morens is the leading goal scorer of the senior division, but is being closely pressed by "Ace" Bailey, Leaf right winger.

Only one other game is programed to-night. The result of this match also vitally affects the Canadian section standing. Montreal Maroons tied for second place with their intra-city rivals, invade Philadelphia. The latter have but one victory to their credit in 21 starts and the Maroons appear assured of two valuable points. Victory will therefore place them in a tie for the leadership with Canadiens, should the Flying Frenchmen down the Leafs.

Once again the possibility of a three-cornered tie for the leadership exists. A tie in Montreal coupled with a Maroon triumph, will place the three teams on an even footing with 25 points each. This is unlikely, however, as the Leafs and Habitants play a style of hockey that is not inducive to stalemates.

Two games are carded for Sunday night. Both are all-American clashes. One involves a continuance of the struggle for second place between New York Rangers and Chicago. In the other tilt the American group leaders, Boston, invade the home of the Detroit Falcons.

Possessing a handsome margin over their second place rivals, the Bruins will no doubt encounter considerable difficulty in increasing their lead at Detroit. The teams have met twice before this season. The first clash in the Motor city ended in a 2-all tie while in the second Art Ross' Bean Eaters nosed out a 3-2 decision.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, it ain't been a terribly exciting week in sport circles, so to speak. Last Fri. nite the Oshawa intermediates come to town and managed to outscore the locals by 1 goal, although they didn't have much of a edge on the nite's play. In fact, if some of the home talent had acted a little cooler in front of the enemy nets we mighta brought home a big share of the bacon. The Motorists, as I call the talent from Mayor Ernie Marks' town, didn't look none too hot, the shift from their own big ice sheet to the cosy little cushion at the Brock st. auditorium, or what have you, cramping their style considerable. However, they has tripped the Petes twice in a row and should be sure of a place in the group playoffs where their opposition oughta be the local puck-chasers.

In the junior doings, Mac, the Peterborough Hockey Club jrs., which ain't win a game in the O.H.A. race for 4 or 5 seasons, come close to spoiling that record here Wed. nite when Mister Alex. Kempt's Norwood-Havelock combines paid a visit to Peterborough. Over most of the journey the youngsters from down east was well out in front of the parade, when all at once the home kids rattled the net behind the youthful Mister Beavis for their 1st goal, and that felt so good they come back with 2 more to sew up the old ball game. It was anybody's hockey match right then, but Mister Kempt's talent had a kick left and they used it to toss a 4th marker into the cage to take the verdict. It looks like, however, as if the Peterborough kids is bound to bust that long drawn out list of defeats this season, for they showed enough in their 1st start to make it a safe guess that they'll knock the props from under some of the group teams before the race is over.

The Maple Leaves, Mac, has been going great guns, and if Mister Smythe's lads can keep up the pace they certainly are going to figger in the playoffs. Incidentally, Mac, have you noticed that in spite of the repression, as Brother Andy calls it, the crowds has been so large in Toronto that they're talking of another new stadium, and they ain't a doubt that the interest in the pro game is so great that a 15,000-seater could be filled every nite the Leaves play.

Next week, Mac, the new East Peterborough League is due to bust loose on local ice, and the E. P.'s promise to put on a show that will give the fans plenty of entertainment, what I mean. The league has already got a good start, and the 1st local games oughta to be worth while, or more than that.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

CAMPBELLFORD JUNIORS LOSE OUT TO NORWOOD COMBINES 1-0

PLAY FAST HOCKEY.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10 (Examiner Staff Correspondent). — One of the flukes of the game proved fatal to the Campbellford Juniors last evening, when a shot fired by Kemp of the Norwood Combines, a floater to be exact, struck Hendy's stick and glided between the Campbellford nets registering the only count of the game in the Junior O.H.A. fixture staged at the Norwood Arena.

Coming up against a team that has proved a winner, the junior Millers showed what could be done to hold a game to a small count, and despite the persistent efforts of Kemp and Voyer, with some terrific rushes by Shannon, only the one tally was made. The Combines were determined to pile up a score, and from the facing of the puck in the first period pushed forward into the Campbellford house, only to be met and driven back times without number. A fast team with a strong forward line, they did some heavy checking, having a heavier team than the visitors. This however did not deter the Home Towners, who held their own in good style, using their defence with cast and efficiency. Hepstanstall in the Campbellford nets shone at his position, turning back some splendid shots and showing good combination with the defence line.

Scoreless Periods

The first two periods of the game were scoreless, and when the gong rung down on the finish of the second it looked like a deadlock. Then the only count was made after two minutes of play in the last stanza and from then on the Combines showed some real fast hockey, only to outskated by the Millers, who fell into a better combination with the result that much of the play was carried into the entertainers' house, and a near goal scored, the puck missing by a fraction.

The game, which was played on very poor ice, was fast and featured by heavy checking. Six penalties were registered in all, but despite these, the game was clean and a good exhibition of hockey. Perry Sanders of Campbellford handled the bell and kept the play in good trim, giving impartial decisions and catching the majority of miss-plays.

Th game was a fine display of trockey, clean and fast, with combination good on the Combine side and Campbellford strong on defence and goal. The entertainers showed a very fast team and one that works well together. Campbellford was weak on team work in the first two periods but developed better form in the last, more than holding its own in the final stages of the game.

The Teams

Norwood Combines—Goal, Beavis; defence, McLaughlin and Shannon; centre, Thompson; wings, Kemp and Voyer; subs, Campion, Shearers, Rathwell.

Campbellford—Goal, Hepstanstall; defence, Wilks and Holmes; centre, Hendy; wings, Stokes and Busche; subs, Runnions, Cubitt and Scott.

Referee—Perry Sanders, Campbellford.

STIRLING HEADS VALLEY LEAGUE

Hastings County Town Takes 1-0 Decision From Madoc For Second Time.

FIVE PENALTIES.

MADOC, Jan. 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—Stirling Red and White lads stepped into town last night and took the locals for a whitewashing of 1 to 0, for the second time in succession that left them sitting pretty on the top of the Trent Valley group.

Despite soft ice the game was a whirlwind from the drop of the rubber and close to a thousand fans jambed into the arena to see the battle had their money's worth and a little more.

In the first period, which was scoreless, the Black and White boys missed a couple of heart-breaking chances when Johnson and L'Heureux tore through the works, only to have the speedy right winger miss with the goalie down and the net wide open. The second came on a pretty play by McGuire, which also failed. During the second session neither outfit tallied, though both battled hard. It was in the opening minutes of the last panorama that the decision was made. The outfits had gone into a scramble in front of the home net when someone dug the disc out of the pile and lifted it to C. Little who, with his wing open, slammed it into the twine behind Hulin.

Johnson and L'Heureux were outstanding for the locals, while Davis and C. Little stood out for the visitors. The game was held up very little with penalties; Henderson, Andrews and McGuire making the trip for the Black and Whites, while Ingram drew two for Stirling.

Stirling—Goal, Morton; defense, Ingram and Beattie; centre, Davis; right wing, C. Little; left wing, B. Little; subs., Day, J. Ackers and White.

HAVELOCK TRAPPER SHOOTS BLACK BEAR

HAVELOCK, Jan. 10.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—On Monday last as Charles McCutcheon of Round Lake, was running his trap line in the vicinity of Mud Creek, he heard his collie dog barking excitedly in the swamp and walked over to investigate. As he drew near he discovered a dark object lying near a root. Closer observation disclosed a large black bear taking a nap beside a dog.

Thinking the .22 calibre rifle, which he carried, a trifle small to tackle a bear, he hurried back to the camp to procure a more dependable gun. He returned immediately, accompanied by his brother Bob and Harold Seeney. The lads, thinking they would get a good look at a sleeping bruin, were surprised to find him wide awake and apparently ready to depart.

Whether he was going out to vote, or did not care for such noisy company is a matter of conjecture among the boys. Howeve,, he did not get far until he fell in his tracks, a prey to the expert marksmen.

CANADIAN COBALT

Canada continues to supply practically half the world's requirements of cobalt, the remainder coming chiefly from the Belgian Congo. Practically all the cobalt produced in Canada is a by-product of the silver mining industry and is obtained by treating arsenical silver-cobalt-nickel residues from the Cobalt, South Lorrain, and Gowganda silver camps.

FOUR HUNDRED HOCKEY FANS SEE NORWOOD DEFEATED BY VETERAN RIVALS OF NORTH

MANY PENALTIES.

Buster Whitton and MacKay of Last Year's T.V.L. Champions With Combines.

On their own ice last night Lakefield won two games in one from Norwood last night by the score of 4—2.

The intermediate O.H.A. engagement of these perennial rivals also counted as an East Peterborough League fixture, and about four hundred of the Cementville fans were thoroughly content with the double victory.

Any time these teams clash there is an unwritten guarantee of no dull moments while they are in action, and last night's game was no exception to the long string of encounters that accumulate with every season. Neither team was at full strength, nor have they had hard ice long enough to get in shape, but they were evenly matched probably to the number of penalties. In spite of the procession which Max Board strung along to the penalty box the game was clean, and the tilt was played in an apparent friendly spirit which might seem to be discounted by the number of minor infringements. Refereeing his first assignment in Lakefield, Board started to work early on tripping, body-checks and slashing, but these infractions were just about what might be expected from two teams lacking midseason form, and incidentally accustomed by the encounters of other campaigns to a certain generosity in giving and taking.

Max Board's handling of the game met with the approval of the home crowd, a fact that speaks well for Lakefield's sportsmanship. Their attitude was in indication that the fans want the most possible time spent in the ice and the least in the box. Board took no chances on allowing any latitude that might have brewed ill-feeling, and it is expected that as the teams shake down into shape the referee's bell will play less obligato in the new circuit.

Buster Whitton and MacKay of last year's Campbellford champions of the Trent Valley League were on the Norwood-Havelock team last night, but both were away off the form they showed last February. Stan Stevenson of Hastings was also with the Combines. Jim Hooper and Barney Quinn were back again on the defense. Bill Rogers in the Norwood goal played a fine game in spite of the four counters against him, and Junkin looked even better for Lakefield. Jack Sabatino and Braden Blewett were Lakefield's best, with the veteran Blewett turning in some of the best play of the night. Stuffy Mahood worked hard every time Manager Murduff sent him out as a Lakefield sub. Charlie Brennan for Norwood and both Louie Sabatino and Harry Stabler helped in the northern victory. Tom Wood would have been better had he not worn a path to the penalty station.

The game was loose in stretches, but it was always interesting and often exciting. Both teams need more practice, and especially more attention the prime necessity of playing in position.

Referee—Max Board, Peterborough.

First Period

The first period went fourteen minutes before Lakefield scored the first goal of the game and series. Charlie Brennan and Whitton went down together, but Johnny Sabatino relieved. Lakefield's defence smothered MacKay's solo dash. Wood and Blewett returned the play to Lakefield territory, but the puck drifted into the corner. Louie Sabatino laid a long shot dead on, but Rogers eased it out.

Whitton and MacKay drew penalties in quick succession. J. Sabatino shot wide from inside the blue line, and Wood came through with the next attack on Norwood, and followed up his shot by charging Rogers and upsetting him into the net. L. Sabatino and Blewett combined nicely. Norwood failed to clear fast and Sabatino scored on a pass from Blewett.

Whitton and Beckie Jack threatened Lakefield, but Jack's shot was wasted. Blewett carried the puck from behind his own blue line through the Norwood defense, drew Rogers out and flipped in the puck for the feature play of the evening.

Stan Stevenson's rush went for nothing with no one at centre to take his pass inside the Lakefield defence. MacKay and Jack teamed up in the next effort, and Brennan got through for a shot than Junkin cleared smoothly. With Louie Sabatino and White looking on from the penalty box, Stuffy Mahood pestered the Norwood front line for two or three minutes, holding them back of centre. Beckie Jack missed a pass in front of the Lakefield net. Wood was benched for slashing, and the period closed with Norwood's first goal a long easy shot by MacKay that bounced into the corner of the net.

Second Period

The second period opened fast, and just to remind both teams that he was still on the job, Max Board paraded Wood and White to the penalty box. With that break for the visitors Whitton tied up the score on a smart play. Stabler got the next ticket from Board, and at just about that stage the congestion to the penalty timers balled up their count or their check-up, and the game was stalled until the referee unscrambled it and Albert Armstrong sent in a substitute Norwood timer. The Havelock-Norwood combines pushed this advantage to the limit but they couldn't get a goal in the absence of the Lakefield Whitton, right wing, MacKay; left Sabatino were resting, and the crowd took this medicine from the referee without any demonstration. Stevenson broke through Lakefield's delimated line, but slammed the puck against Junkin's pads. Hooper drew a penalty for dumping White with a bodycheck. Jack and Whitton combined neatly but the shot went over the net. Wood went off for bumping Quinn, and Louie Sabatino and Jack drew five minutes for a tangle that did no damage. The period closed without any further incident.

Third Period

The teams came back from the rest with the score tied and Beck Jack and Louie Sabatino still doing time. The pace was slower. Blewett got inside the Norwood defence and shot from close range, but Rogers blocked. Whitton rushed twice without effect. Stabler's long shot was on the target, but it was easy for Rogers. Lakefield stepped out in front on a fine play by Stabler and Blewett, the latter getting the goal on a smart assist. MacKay and Stabler drew penalties, and shortly after the teams were reduced to three men apiece. Rogers almost took the count when a fast shot from Blewett's stick hit him on the head. The Norwood youngster needed attention, but gamely stayed in there. Barney Quinn tipped Louie Sabatino and got his name on the penalty sheet. Whitton sifted through alone, but Junkin handled his shot nicely. With about five minutes to go Blewett notched his third goal, and put Lakefield up two, and in a fairly safe position. Mahood rested for a strenuous check. MacKay drew a ticket with the same label. Wood had only Barney Quinn to beat. He took a sprawl and Quinn renewed his acquaintance with the penalty timers. And so it went through the last few minutes. Nothing happened and then Max Board's bell rang just as the last gong sounded.

THREE ON TAPIS TO-NIGHT.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.).—Breaking forth in a wild scoring spasm in the second frame, Cleveland's doughty Indians climbed to within two points of second place in the International Hockey League, by defeating Windsor Bulldogs, 5 to 2, in last night's only scheduled fixture.

Earl Robinson, high scoring centre star for the Bulldogs, gave his team a two-goal lead in the first period, by slapping two pretty counters into the Cleveland cage.

Then the Indian onslaught started, and before the desperate Windsorites had checked it, the Clevelanders were leading 4 to 2. Brophy started the fireworks by netting Captain Alex. Gray's pass after three minutes of play. Gray then knotted the count on a pass from Stewart Dunning. Little Ken Doraty caught the spirit at this stage and notched another marker to put his team in front. Briden wound up the parade with a tally on Doraty's pass.

Gray scored the only goal of the last session by breaking away when the Bulldogs were attacking in full force.

Three Games on Tapis

Three games are on tapis to-night. Syracuse Stars, still safely entrenched in last place, invade Cleveland. The fourth place Detroit Olympics tackle the league leading Buffalo Bisons at Fort Erie, while the fifth place Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets journey to London.

The Olympics try the iron-man stunt this week-end. Following Saturday's game with Buffalo they travel to Syracuse for a Sunday game with the Stars.

Victory for the Indians to-night will place them in a tie with the second place Bulldogs. This is confidently expected as the Stars have failed against the Indians in the Ohio City every time this season. There also exists the possibility of a three-cornered tie for second place as the Olympics, by winning their two games, can advance right into the picture. They will have to beat the Bisons at home first, however, an accomplishment seemingly confined to the Windsor Bulldogs.

London and Pittsburg will be battling for fifth place. The Yellow Jackets nosed the Tecumsehs out of this position last Wednesday and the Londoners are aching for revenge.

Clem Loughlin has taken over the coaching duties of the Western Ontario City team, while Manager Roy Brothers scouts for material to strengthen his lineup.

The Yellow Jackets are a greatly improved team over the one that commenced the season. Eddied Rodden from New York Rangers of the National League, Tex White of the Philadelphia team, and other major league players, have placed the Wasps in the contending class.

May Reinstate Eight Amateur Ball Players

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 10. (CP) Following the wholesale suspension of more than 10 athletes in the Border Cities district for infraction of the amateur rules, the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, the body which inflicted the suspensions, with the aid of L. W. Ouellette, Amateur Athletic Union of Canada commissioner, has recommended that eight players be reinstated.

Of the 20 suspended players only 15 took the trouble to try and clear themselves by attending a meeting called by Mr. Ouellette.

Hockey Notes.

Managers in the South End City League are requested to attend a hockey meeting Monday night at 7.30 in the Raybestos. Revision of the junior schedule, and the question of finances will be discussed.

WINS FINAL GAME.

OTTAWA, Ont., January 10 (C. P.). — His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, enthusiast of the "roarin' game," played a farewell match on the Government House Rink yesterday with members of what has come to be known as "The Governor-General's Club." The rink led by His Excellency won by a score of 11 to 9.

E. P. L. OPENER TUESDAY NIGHT

Lakefield Will Meet Cogs While Norwood Clashes With C.G.E. Toolroom.

AT BROCK STREET RINK.

The eagerly-awaited opening of the East Peterborough Hockey League will take place next Tuesday night at Brock Street rink with a double-header introducing all four clubs of the circuit. Lakefield will play the Cogs at 7.30 o'clock and Norwood will meet C.G.E. Toolroom at 9 o'clock. The puck will be faced in the opening game by E. A. Peck, M.P.

Hockey fans have warmed up to the new organization and its success is assured. All teams are strong and with Intermediate and Junior O.H.A. players available for reinforcements the league is bound to produce many hotly-contested battles.

AL. RIOUX ILL.

LONDON, January 10 (Canadian Press Cable). — Al. Rioux, Montreal one of Canada's leading heavyweights, is lying seriously ill in a local hospital with erysipelas.

Rioux, since his arrival here some weeks ago, has participated in several boxing matches with English heavyweights.

Summer Songsters Pay Winter Visit

COBOURG, Jan. 10 (Special to Examiner). — A beautiful robin, two purple grackles or blackbirds, a high holer, a screech owl, a Canada Jay and some starlings are seemingly making their winter home in Cobourg, the famed summer resort.

The birds are all making the Ontario Hospital here their headquarters, and Dr. W. C. Herriman, superintendent, his staff and patients are interested spectators.

The robin made his appearance Thursday, the coldest day so far this winter, and while he kept his wings tucked in at the sides and his feathers were ruffled, he appeared to be well-nourished.

Two blackbirds or purple grackles have been associating for several days with the starlings, which make their home each winter in the hospital tower, but which leave in the summer.

A screech owl has been making a nightly visit for a week, and a Canada jay has made his home at the hospital for several days.

Earlier in the week a high holer, a woodpecker type of bird with red on his head, paid a winter visit, but has not yet returned to renew the acquaintance.

GUELPH-GALT TIE FIVE-ALL

Old Rivals Fail to Break Deadlock and Still Lead League.

CATARACTS ALSO TIE.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.)—It was a night of deadlocks in the Ontario Hockey League last night. Two games were contested and both ended in stalemates. Guelph and Galt tied for the leadership, battled to a four all tie before a large crowd at Guelph. At Kitchener, the home club and Niagara Falls Cataracts, tied for last place, fought to a five-all deadlock.

Both games were fast, interesting matches which kept the fans excited throughout. In the Galt-Guelph tussle the Terriers took the lead on three different occasions, only to have the Maple Leafs tally and knot the count. Late in the second period, the Leafs took the lead for the first time, but the advantage lasted exactly 30 seconds, for it took just that long for Al Guthier to even the score.

The Cataracts enjoyed a two-goal lead in the tilt with the Kitchener Dutchmen at the end of the second period, but it seemed a night of lapses for they weakened in the third and their opponents outscored them three to one, to knot the count.

Only one game is scheduled tonight, and it involves the second-place teams, Stratford and Oshawa. They are tied with four points apiece, three behind the leaders and one in the van of the cellar occupants.

GORDIE BRYDSON
IS STILL MUCH IN THE LIMELIGHT
RECENT STANDINGS SHOW HIM THE LEADER OF THE PUCK-CHASERS OF THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Gordie Brydson while getting inting into the limelight over the Roy Brothers affair, has also distinguished himself in a big way as a golfer. He has commanded a good deal of respect from many of the best professionals in Ontario. A few weeks ago it looked as if Gordie was going to be the storm centre of the little affair scheduled between the N.H.L. and the American Hockey Association, but things settled down and he is peacefully chasing the little disk around the pond. He broke into professional hockey in Chicago as a member of Eddie Livingstone's Cardinals and is making a mark in the hall of fame for scoring in the American League. Brydson whose differences with the London Internationals lead him to go to the American League is now the leading goal getter in the circuit, having fourteen goals and two assists for a total of sixteen points. He has had only 10 minutes in penalties this season so far.

Daytona May Lose 1931 Speed Trials

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Unless the spirit of speed decision is injected into present negotiations, the flash and the roar of the fastest machines on earth will be missing this winter from the famous natural speedway at Daytona Beach, Florida.

Speaking to-day for the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, Secretary Ted Allen, in effect, served an ultimatum on the City of Daytona Beach by announcing that unless an application for the official sanction of speed trials is received by next Monday, Jan. 12, he will advise Captain Malcolm Campbell not to leave England for the United States and a series of speed tests on the Southern sands.

To keep down the number of used cars, in the Netherland East Indies, many old machines are being shipped to other countries.

business won their respect and trust.

Successful Representative.

Mr. Clarke has been in every respect a successful representative of his municipality, and in later years had become virtually the spokesman of the northern townships. He was particularly effective in persuading the Council to appropriate grants for the improvement of roads and bridges, but no one ever suggested that his requests were unreasonable or unnecessary. Reference to this phase of his work does not imply that his interest was sectional. As a matter of fact he knew the county from one end to the other. As Warden and chairman of various committees he had visited all the municipalities, and in the broad grasp of the county's affairs and also in his sympathies Mr. Clarke was an outstanding administrator, and it was his breadth of view that heightened the confidence of his colleagues.

Also as a member of the old-age pensions board of the county, Mr. Clarke has proved himself a valuable assistant. He has been one of the most active promoters of the Galway Agricultural Society's Fair, of which he is president. In these enterprises and public efforts Mr. Clarke has certainly won the esteem of many friends in the county, in the County Council, and also in the city, and in returning his commission to his ratepayers he certainly deserves their gratitude and respect. For the Reeveship of Galway became a brighter honor under his stewardship.

At the nominations on December 28 the old Council stood for re-election, and the following new candidates were nominated: Peter Pearson, Frank Wright, Seward Crego, and David Curtin. The following were elected on January 5: David Curtin headed the polls, with William Dudman a close second, and Peter Pearson and James Allen occupy third and fourth places respectively.

BUSINESS MEN

keep Peterborough on the map," declared Mr. Richardson. "The grant given to and expended by the Waterway is worth it for the business it brings in through advertising. Cheap publicity gives a poor representation of the district. The best always gets the best. And, finally, people will come to work where they come to play."

J. W. Fraser, local manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, pioneer in reforming the old Board of Trade and one in connection with the forming of the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association, spoke of the canal and the revenue traceable from tourist traffic. At present only the smaller boats can go through. The two unfinished locks at the north end of the system are supplanted by marine railways. The waterway should be completed, and this could be accomplished with some of the extra money coming through tourists as a result of the Association's publicity campaign. The grant for this campaign must be looked upon as an investment and not as a gift.

Capital No Longer National

Capital flows to the place of demand; it is no longer national, but is world-wide through the annihilation of distance. Tariff and counter-tariff make it necessary for Canadian branches of American factories to be instituted, and organized under Canadian laws. These are two important factors, in Mr. Fraser's estimation, in the solicitation of tourist trade.

The pecuniary side of the matter was further mentioned by C. S. Cummer, manager of the George Street branch of the Bank of Montreal. He stated that the increased intake of American currency is showing indirectly the result of publicity in this region. Peterborough is doing better than any other city in Ontario in the tourist trade. Kingston received a grant from the council last year of $4,500, but still the tourist returns fell off from those of the preceding year. Similarly Belleville and Oshawa are obtaining larger grants than this city for publicity, but are also not geting the trade they ought to. Mr. Cummer concluded by saying that the Peterborough City Council is "getting off easy compared with other cities of the province."

More detailed accounts of tourist revenues were given by C. M. Moncur. He mentioned his three little cottages on the Kawartha Lakes. It was estimated that Americans living in these spent some $1,800 during the months of July and August. Lake and stream fishing are very popular sports of the tourists. When they were tired of fishing, they looked for golf courses or horseback riding. All of these conveniences should be given a little more publicity.

Unlike other great tourist districts in the province, this section has a good-sized city conveniently near. People from the States will not buy furs or jewelry from dirty little stores, but from reliable dealers like those found in Peterborough. One man alone put $1,000 in a local bank for buying articles in the stores of this city.

Keith Lech stressed the point that fishing in this district should be advertised the most, as that was the main attraction for most of the tourists. Lakes and rivers should be kept well stocked so as to satisfy as many Americans as came. This, Mr. Lech said, was a very good form of advertising as 1000 tourists who enjoyed fishing here would bring 50,000 with them next year. But he also advocated the expenditure of as much money in bringing people here as possible, for the more that is spent for this purpose the more will be the returns from an increased number of visitors.

As a result of the agitation of the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association, eleven or twelve extra game wardens have been employed. Eagle Lake has been closed to fishermen for the purpose of hatching and propogation of fish.

A letter from J. J. Turner shows the approval of a man whose firm has been in business for many years in Peterborough: "Whole countries in Europe practically live on their tourist trade. Likewise, we, in the Trent Valley, have had wonderful returns for the amount spent, because we can give customers good value for their money, bracing air, plenty of sunshine, rivers and lakes stocked with fish."

"There is a feeling in some quarters to retrench on expenditures, but I think this is not the time to 'bank our fires,' but rather to 'put on more steam,' spend more money wisely, believing there are thousands who seek health through travel and recreation every year. What we have to offer is not far from their own homes; they need not spend hundreds of dollars in reaching us, and living expenses are reasonable here."

A. W. Blade of the Imperial Oil Limited, showed through actual figures of his own company how the whole district would benefit through tourist trade. Extra traffic, automobile and motor launch, meant the sale of an additional $200,000 worth of gasoline and oil, and an extra $8,000 in profits to the people of Peterborough and immediate vicinity. This would entail the need of more men and equipment.

Hundreds of acres of land are being sold to tourists annually in the neighborhood of the Kawartha Lakes. This implies a transfer of much business and capital to the region. To help this, fish hatcheries should be increased and enlarged, and the season should be opened earlier.

Mr. Blade said that the Secretary of the Association should be heartily congratulated on his excellent work of publicity, but that the City should find its way clear to give a larger grant.

The Lift Lock is not boosted enough. Even so there is a stream of traffic in the summer on Hunter street going to see the great engineering feat. Tourists marvel how it is possible for a boat with two or three hundred people on board to be let down or lifted 66 feet to continue its course along the canal.

The added revenue from the visitors keeps down prices for people of this city. "Tourist traffice" said Mr. Blade, "is to Peterborough as a bumper crop is to a farmer. There is added spending power through extra money spent."

C. F. Cumming treated the tourist industry as a selling proposition. It is most necessary to spend money in order to bring people here to buy merchandise. 250 cars can be handled as easily as 200, with little extra overhead expense. Other stores can easily double their stock also without much further expenditure. Thus additional sales will make almost clear profit. Likewise, the Government through its gasoline tax returns being swelled are able to draw up a more extensive road building program.

With these opinions expressed by men in business in Peterborough one may see through dissimilarities the one great dominant fact—that the pubicity campaign of the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association is being more than repaid by the financial, industrial and commercial benefits accruing, and has in store much in the future for the citizens both of this city and of all the towns along the system.

READ YOUR CHARACTER IN DR. CHASE'S ALMANAC

Learn the Influence of the Planets and Zodiac Signs on Your Character

AN EVENING'S ENTERTAINMENT

The 1931 edition of Dr. Chase's Almanac contains an outline of astrology which enables you to read the character of persons according to the zodiac signs and planets under which they were born.

With a copy of this Almanac in hand, you can afford a fine evening's entertainment by reading the character of the members of the company. Everybody is interested to learn what is said about them and you will be very popular if you can supply the information.

There is also in Dr. Chase's Almanac a page of checker problems which will be interesting to those who follow this age old but ever young game.

For over a quarter of a century Dr. Chase's Almanac has made its annual visit to about 1,750,000 homes. In most of these homes it remains throughout the year because of the useful information which it contains in reference to the rising and setting of the sun and moon, the moon's changes, forecast of the weather, etc.

Many thousands use the memorandum space in which to keep a diary of business transactions and social events. Some keep their almanac year after year on account of the valuable records they contain.

Dr. Chase's Almanac for 1931 has been mailed and distributed throughout the length and breadth of this country. If you have not received your copy, it will be sent free if you mention this paper and write to The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co. Limited, Toronto, Canada.

KEENE ENTERTAINS BAILIEBORO Y.P.

BAILIEBORO, Jan. 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—About twenty-five of the members of the Bailieboro Young People's Society motored to Keene on Monday evening and were entertained by the young people of Keene United Church.

The local society put on the entire program and at the conclusion of the program, were royally entertained by the younk folk of Keene, in games, songs, and a bountiful luncheon.

The president, F. Barnard, led in the devotional service. At the conclusion of the devotional service, the following program was enjoyed: a duet by D. Taylor and K. Barnard; reading, "The Beautiful Snow," Miss A. Brackenridge; solo, "Beautiful Garden of Prayer," Mrs. W. Bateman; quartet, by Mrs. Bateman, Mrs. N. Thompson, N. Thompson and D. Taylor. Keith Barnard then gave an address upon the story of "The Other Wise man," by Henry Van Dyke. Miss Frances Watt presided at the piano for the song service and musical numbers.

Mr. Fletcher, president of the Keene Y.P.S., welcomed the Bailieboro Y.P.S. to their church and in well-chosen words, voiced his belief in young people's societies exchanging meetings.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Keene Y.P.S. by K. Barnard and heartily applauded by all the Bailieboro young people.

Those present from the local society were: Mr. and Mrs. N. Thompson, Mrs. W. Bateman, Misses D. Dawson, A. Brackenridge, F. and W. Watt, M. Dawson, E. Jeurson, and G. Dean, S. Johnston, E. Townsend, D. Taylor, A. Dawson, F. K. and . Barnard, A. Watt, R. Dawson, R. Buttler, K. Long and L. Dawson.

Despite the heavy roads and stormy weather and the fact that the young people were stuck in the snow on several hills on their return trip, they all voted it one of the most worth-while evening outings they had enjoyed in a long time.

Next Tuesday evening's meeting will be the monthly missionary meeting, when Harold Churnsides will be leader and J. Barnard will give a talk upon education in Japan.

Snow Blocked Roads

The snow which arrived on Monday evening came in sufficient quantities to make the motoring on the township roads almost impossible. Cars have been ploughing their way through the heavy snow, but the winds have kept the track blown in constantly.

The highway, however, has been kept cleared and sanded and is in excellent condition for motor traffic.

Use Rice Lake

The motorists have once again found Rice Lake a splendid highway for winter driving and at almost any hour of the day cars driving at a great speed can be seen gliding over the smooth surface.

Many of the residents who used to be snowbound during the entire winter, now find an excellent outlet by using the lake, from where they get on the Port Hope-Peterborough highway at Bewdley.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Sunshine Mission Band Hears Reports For Year

MILLBROOK, Jan. 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the Sunshine Mission Band of Saint Andrew's United Church, met in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon immediately after school to elect their officers for the current year, and to hear reports covering the work done in 1930; the joint superintendents, Mrs. M. McDowell, Mrs. J. Ridge, and Miss Phyllis Kidd, being in charge.

The list of officers for 1931 includes:

President, Lloyd McMahon; Vice-President, Arthur Richards; Secretary, Marjorie McDowell; Assistant Secretary, Jack Arundel; Treasurer, William Ridge; Pianist, Gordon Jones; Assistant Pianist, Esther Might.

The Band has remitted its allocation of one hundred dollars to the Presbyterial Treasurer, thirty dollars of this going toward the upkeep of the "Millbrook Sunshine Cot," in the Women's Hospital, Chengtu, West China; an enterprise which the boys and girls have supported for several years, the initiative in this matter having been taken when Miss E. C. Hawken was the superintendent.

SCHOONER RESCUED

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 9. — The schooner A. M. E., which broke from her anchorage at Baie St. Paul during Tuesdays' heavy wind and snowstorm, has been towed back to its wharf by the ice-breaker Montcalm.

OBITUARY

HARRY R. REYNOLDS

Harry R. Reynolds, eldest son of Mrs. Eva Drake Reynolds and the late Harry Reynolds, passed away in Chicago recently, at the age of eighteen years. The deceased who formerly lived in this city, was a very popular young man, as the numerous floral offerings testified. He was laid to rest in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Chicago, where 'taps' were sounded by his former comrades of the 134th Field Artillery I.N.G.

The funeral was held from the family residence 520 W. 66th Place to St. Bernard's Church, where requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father Kinney and choir. The pall-bearers and escort were: His beloved comrades and Captain M. G. McEachren of the National Guard.

The late Mr. Reynolds was also a member of the Junior Holy Name Society of St. Bernard's.

MRS. J. W. ROBINSON

BRIDGENORTH, Jan. 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Annie Robinson, widow of the late John W. Robinson, was held recently, the Rev. J. O. Totten, of the United Church, officiating.

The late Mrs. Robinson, whose maiden name was Annie Edmison, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Edmison and had been a resident of Bridgenorth for the past thirty-eight years.

The deceased, who had a wide circle of friends, was a devoted and affectionate mother, a kindly neighbor and a willing worker in the church, especially in the W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid work. Her husband predeceased her on February 26, 1893. One son, Melville, died when he was quite young.

Survivors are one brother, Thomas Edmison, and one sister, Mrs. F. McIlmoyle, residents of Bridgenorth; two sons, Gordon and William, and one daughter, Mrs. Bert Nichols, who resides in Smith.

THE COTTAGE ON THE MOOR

(BY WM. L. HZMMERSTEADT)

Beverly was a village, a very pretty village, the scenery around was well wooded, hilly, and on the hilltops you could see the ridges of hills and moors.

Nestling at the bottom of the hill was the village church, nearby was the vicarage, all covered with ivy and in the summer with rambling roses. Just a little farther along was the village inn, where all were wont to go at night when the day's work was done.

The doctor, the squire, the labourer all enjoyed the hospitality of Simon Tetley and his bonny daughter, Joan. No one had such roaring fires, on a cold winter's day, nobodies' ales or cherry brandies tasted so delicious no one had such lovely apple pies, why they simply made your mouth water!

Right on the top of the hill where the moor lay was an old cottage standing alone. It was reported a witch lived there but 'twas certain some one did and what's more they appeared to have several cats and a goat. Smoke was always seen coming from the chimney, yet no one ever saw any coal going there and who, in a village ever misses anything?

Sweethearts passing down the lane at night often told about strange things they saw and heard. A party of school boys one moonlight night dared each other to go up the hill as far as this cottage. It being very frosty and the moon shining as bright as day off they went as brave as lions.

They reached the top of the hill and looked at each other—it must be confessed they were sore afraid but would not say so.

However, one braver than the rest led the way. He crossed the stile they all followed, their hair stood on end and they held their breath but they were determined to have a look in.

There by the light of a penny candle stuck in a bottle, in front of a great roaring fire, sat an old fearful looking woman, toasting meat on the fire for the cats, of which there must have been six or seven.

Either one was not at home, or it was a visitor, but at any rate the tip of its tail as it ran along just touched the leg of one of the boys as he was perched up looking in. He let out one of the most fearful yells, the others joining in the chorus.

Immediately the candle went out, and they heard a door close. They flewso fast that Jimmy Jones lost his shoe, and Philip Stones fell over a tree stump. They dragged him up but they never once stopped running until they got back to the village and straight to Simon Tetleys and gaspingly told their story, but they said the witch had chased them.

Nobody knew either what to do or say. The doctor being there, was naturally looked up to as to knowing best what to do. It was finally arranged, the next night being Saturday, that the men folks should go in a body and storm the witch from the place.

Next day excitement reigned in the village. The ladies could not get their work done and the men were seen talking in little groups. How everyone hoped the frost would hold, and the moon would shine and the doctor would be free.

The Vicar was greatly concerned, rather given to quoting scripture at every end. He loved to pray by sick beds, the reason was he had a deep bass voice, and he dearly loved the sound of it.

Well tea time came, then everyone made their way to the Inn. You would have thought something wonderful was about to happen. Luckily the night was fine and bright. They formed into a queue walking two by two, the doctor and the farmer leading it. Every man carried a stout stick.

The vicar was not in the procession. He wanted to head it, but he wanted to chant prayers for whose benefit no one knew.

They marched up the hill, no one spoke a word, but they could hear each other breathing. At length they reached the cottage, they could see the firelight shining through the window but no candle stood there, neither could they see any cats or even the witch.

The farmer said the cottage was his but it was nearly tumbled down, so he had never been there for any rent, especially as he had heard what lived there.

Well anyway he said it being his, he would go first to the door and demand admittance.

Now the vicar had a son who differed greatly from his father. He wanted to be an actor. His father thought it was profanity being an actor. He was supposed to be away at college.

Well the farmer knocked at the door, he felt a bit nervous but anyway he thought there's enough of us surely, as we cannot be afraid of a woman even if she is a witch. No one came so he knocked again, but he certainly heard music and voices inside. He told the others so they planned to open a door.

They all received the shock of their lives, who do you suppose the witch was? Why, the vicar's son!

He had planned to be a witch because he knew no one would come near him, unless some love sick maiden did and he could easily have invented some tale for her.

The cats were stray cats, the goat was bought for the purpose. Here he came daily to practice his talking. He lodged at the village down the other hillside. His landlord and wife shares his secret.

How they did laugh about it every night to be sure. Well, they marched back down the hill feeling rather crest fallen. Who was to tell the vicar? But that gentleman being offended at being left out in the cold, had taken a short cut to the cottage and got there first—poor man, imagine his feelings, his only son!

Well anyway it ended they all filed into Simon Tetley's sat around the roaring fire, drinks were brought, food was brought and great fun began.

The vicar forgave his son, and he actually did become a great actor. He never forgets the time when he caused the village to be in a panic and how it would have ended goodness knows if it had not been for those mischievous boys and that visiting pussy's tail.

POWER IS ESSENCE

He is an American by birth, an alumnus of Princeton University. Practically his entire professional and executive career has been associated with General Electric Company and he has risen to eminence in an organization which draws upon the best brains of the universities not only of this continent, but of the world.

Mr. Durland was graduated from Princeton in 1894, two years after the organization of the General Electric Company. He became associated with a group of engineers engaged in the manufacture of electrical apparatus, a group who were pioneers in the field and specialized in the development and application of electrical power in industry and in electric lighting.

This organization, like so many others, joined with and became an integral part of General Electric. The change naturally enlarged the possibilities for the young engineer. His natural bent was toward executive work and he consciously began to mould his career in that particular field. Executive responsibilities increased with his experience in manufacturing and selling. His organizing and directing ability stamped him an invaluable man in the organization; soon he was being relied upon to efficiently organize and improve the earning power of companies which the G. E. was absorbing. These ordeals tampered the metal in the man proved his true worth. In 1917 he left the G. E. to take over the reorganization and management of the Mitchell Automobile Company, remaining with that concern until 1920, when he again joined the G. E.

Mr. Durland came to Canada in 1924 as a director of the Canadian General Electric, a subsidiary of the parent U. S. Company, and the following year was elected president. The Canadian company has made remarkable progress and today is in an exceedingly strong financial position. Mr. Durland is also president of the Canadian Allis Chambers, a subsidiary of the Canadian General Electric.

Mr. Durland takes particular pride in the efficient internal organization of these companies and the splendid co-operative relationship between the management, employees, and customers. Nothing is neglected to promote more favorable working conditions, that employees may dervie satisfaction and enjoyment from their work. Employees are encouraged to take a personal interest in the company through stock ownership, conveniently acquired, and today they hold over $1,000,000, or about 13 per cent. of the preferred stock issues.

To one such as Mr. Durland who is, as it were, watching over the transmission line of the nation's industrial life, Canada has great potentialities, development of which will place her in an even stronger world position. Mr. Durland has unbounded faith in Canada; he finds himself drawn to the country and likes its people.

Mr. Durland has not yet attained matured life and labor; that sustained energy which has carried him thus far, and he is a hard worker, coupled with the exacting and analytical mind of the trained engineer is productive of results which will redound to the credit of both his company and this country.

Although somewhat older, Mr. Durland rather suggests a man in the late forties or early fifties. He rides almost daily at the Eglinton Hunt, of which he is a vice-president and director, and in the summer plays some golf and tennis. The freshness of his complexion and his ease of movement attest to physical as well as mental fitness.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 42 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

For a moment Rokoff stood sneering down upon the wife of Tarzan. Then as he saw the baby in her lap and realised life had departed from it, his rage was frightful! "You have robbed me of the child!" he shouted. "I cannot make him the son of a cannibal chieftain now. But I can make you, its mother, the wife of a cannibal. And that I shall do—after I have finished with you myself!"

While the Russian stamped up and down, cursing terribly in his disappointment and rage, Jane studied him closely. Now she was convinced that Rokoff himself was not aware that he had kidnapped the wrong child. Perhaps somewhere, her own baby, Tarzan's son, was still safe from harm. For the moment she was content with this thought and a faint, almost happy smile touched her lips.

No, the Russian must never know that this was not her own little Jack. "So you are laughing at me," Rokoff shrieked. "I'll show you yet—you and the miserable ape you call your husband—that you cannot escape my vengeance." With that he shook the girl roughly by the arms and dragged her, half swooning with numb terror, out of the hut and toward the jungle blackness where his followers awaited them.

Along their pathway she could hear the stealthy footfall of great beasts. The earth fairly trembled with the roar of hunting lions. The native porters lighted torches, waving them to frighten off the beasts of prey. Vividly it recalled to Jane her fearless and unconquerable Tarzan, the days and nights they had spent together in a similar jungle. Where now was her forest god?

TUG IS RAMMED THREE MISSING

BARGE UNDAMAGED.

PHILADELPHIA, January 10 (C.P.). — Fear was felt to-day for the lives of three seamen, members of the crew of the Philadelphia-oceangoing tug Richmond, which was rammed and sent to the bottom of the Delaware River, near here, by the Norwegian motorship Gisla.

The tug, with seven members aboard, was outward-bound last night with the barge Lukeoil, owned by the Patterson's Oil Company, when it ran across the bow of the Gisla, due here yesterday from San Pedro. The Gisla and he barge were only slightly damaged.

Shortly after the accident a wireless report from the Gisla stated that four members of the tug's crew had been picked up. The despatch closed with the words: "——expect some of the tug's crew drowned."

PLEASING RECEPTION TO REV. R. WRIGHT

On Tuesday evening, January 6, the members and adherents of Gilmour Memorial Church tendered an official welcome to their new pastor and his wife, Rev. R. Wright, B.A., and Mrs. Wright. In welcoming the guests of honor, Deacons G. W. Mann and T. H. Graham represented the church, Mrs. Gordon Mann the women's organizations, and Clarence Mann the B.Y.P.U. Greetings from Murray Street Church were brought by Rev. Joseph Sutcliffe, while Park Street Church was represented by Rev. J. L. Harton. A short musical program was much enjoyed, consisting of a vocal solo by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, vocal duet by Misses Gladys Blewett and Jean Paul, a piano duet by Miss Mabel Paul and Mrs. Harold Lewis, and a selection by the Gilmour ladies' quartette. Miss Phyllis Moore also contributed to the pleasure of the evening with a recitation "The Old Mill."

Mr. Wright responded with thanks to the kind greetings, and expressed the hope that they might be permitted to make a worthy contribution to the Lord's work in their new field. The ladies served refreshments in the social hour which followed.

RISHOR ISSUES WRIT AGAINST E. JACKSON

Action is Sequel to Recent Case Heard in Division Court.

As a sequel to an action recently heard in the County Division Court before His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke, Charles M. Rishor has issued a writ of summons, through his solicitor, J. F. Strickland, M.L.A., against Ernest P. Jackson of Jackson Motor Sales in which he claims $750 damages, allegedly caused to plaintiffs through the negligence of defendant in selling to plaintiffs a motor truck which was not in a suitable condition of operation.

At the previous hearing in Division Court on December 8th last, His Honor awarded Ernest P. Jackson's claim for the sum of $102.25 with costs, subject to Rishor being allowone month from the date of judgment in which to renew action, for the loss of the use of his motor truck and damage to goods at the time of the accident.

It appeared that Rishor purchased a motor truck from Jackson Motors. After a few weeks running the steering gear went out of commission; the truck ran into a ditch. The truck was taken in for repairs, while Rishor contended that he was entitled to free replacement of parts under the terms of the warranty, which is understood to go with each new car or truck. Mr. Rishor on the previous occasion, counter claimed for $480 and costs.

ENGLAND FAVORS RELIGIOUS ACTS

New Drama To Reach Minds and Consciences Of People

WORSHIP AND DEVOTION

LONDON, Jan. 10 (C.P.).—A school of religious drama — the first of its kind — has been opened at Bournemouth and is being conducted by the British Drama League on behalf of the Religious Drama Society. At the formal opening by Rt. Rev. Frank Theodore Woods, Bishop of Winchester, His Lordship said they had ample precedent for the religious drama of to-day. It was for them to do what they could in their day and generation with more cultured standards and higher ideals, both in the matter and manner of the play. They must encourage the movement for production of sacred scenes in such ways as would make them acts of devotion and worship on the part of those responsible for them and acts of sacred education to those who saw them.

The Bishop said such a movement was needed in these days as much as in the Middle Ages. If they looked round at English life at present they would note an extraordinary craze for the pictures, as they were called. Why should the pictures or the drama always be left to what was merely secular and, comparatively speaking, commonplace? Why should they not use the eye and ear when they wanted to reach the minds and consciences of the people? If it was true that the Bible was not read so much as it once was, then surely they might hope to reach through religious drama many people who possibly might never be reached through the printed page. They all hoped that the school would encourage the thinking out, preparation and production of religious dramas in the spirit of worship and devotion, accompanied by the best technique possible.

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS INAUGURAL MEETING

PRISONERS FEAR AS 27 TREMORS SHAKE ISLANDS

Mexican Colony on Las Tres Marias Believe Home May Sink in Sea.

HUGE WAVES WASH IN.

Dread That Small Cones May Engulf Buildings With Lava, Spreads.

TEPIC, Nayarit, Mexico, January 12 (C.P.). — In the breasts of hundreds of Mexican felons imprisoned on Las Tres Marias Islands prison colony there burned to-day a desperate fear of a natural cataclysm which will sink their island home into the sea and drown them all.

For three days the islands have been shaken by some powerful subterranean force which has cracked buildings, opened crevasses in the earth, and washed in huge waves from the ocean. Twenty-seven such quakes occurred in three hours. Islet cones near the water's edge have smoked and emitted rumbling noises.

Some of the islanders believe, it is said here, that a super-natural vengeance is about to be visited upon the penal colonies, wiping out every trace of it in retaliation for the imprisonment of Sister Madre Concepcion, who is serving 20 years on Maria Magdalena as "moral author" of the assassination of General Obregon in 1928.

There is general fear that a volcano will open directly under the prisoners' feet, or that one of the nearby small cones will emit a flood of lava which will engulf them. That continuing quakes will reduce the buildings, or that an immense seismic wave will inundate the islands and wipe them bare of human life.

ANGUS McLEAN DIES IN MONTREAL

PROMINENT LUMBERMAN.

MONTREAL, Que., JaJn. 12 (C.P.). —Angus McLean, of Bathurst, N.B., president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, died here this morning.

Mr. McLean, a prominent figure in the lumber industry of the country, was elected president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at its convention last fall at Toronto. He came to Montreal over a week ago to undergo observation, and upon advice of his physician, entered the hospital. Death occurred at four a.m.

Mr. McLean was born at Thurso, Ont., Jan. 13, 1860, son of Donald and Mary Wilson McLean. He had been connected with the lumber industry since 1874, when he made a trip on a raft with his father from Thurso to Montreal, bringing their drive of logs to market.

He entered the employ of James McLaren and Company, Buckingham, Que., in 1879, and worked at North Nation Mills, Que., for J. A. Cameron and Co., from 1882 to 1887, when he went to Rockland, Ont., with W. C. Edwards and Company, at Buffalo, New York. He was in business with his brother under the firm name of Hugh McLean and Co., until his return to Canada in 1909, when he became General Manager and, later, President of the Bathurst Lumber Company. He was President of Canadian Lumbermen's Association in 1923.

Mr. McLean married Ida Florence Chamberlain, daughter of George Washington Chamberlain in 1883. He has three sons and three daughters. He was a Baptist.

New Parish School Burns Near Ottawa

OTTAWA, Ont., January 12 (C. P.). — A parish school inaugurated exactly one week ago at nearby Cyrville, Ont., was destroyed by fire of unknown origin over the week-end. The blaze apparently started in the basement and in four hours completely consumed the interior of the building. Only the stone walls were left standing. Loss is placed at $15,000.

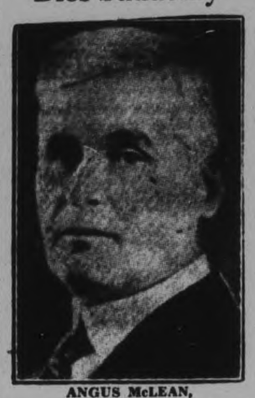
PRINCES LEAVE LONDON THURSDAY.

LONDON, Jan. 12 (C.P.). — The Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, expect to leave London next Thursday on the trip which eventually will take them to South America. Their plans now include remaining a day or so in Paris, it was said, before going to Santander, where they will sail on the steamer Oropesa next Sunday.

Dies Suddenly



ANGUS McLEAN,
President of Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and prominent New Brunswick lumberman, who died suddenly in a Montreal hospital this morning.

PROPOSE SIND BE SEPARATED FROM BOMBAY

Suggestions That District Be New Province Before Indian Parley.

CONQUERED IN 1843.

Gov't Policy on India Expected To Be Announced Thursday.

LONDON, Jan. 12.— (By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Correspondent.)—"India's new Cinderella," jocularly commented one delegate today when proposals to separate the District of Sind from the Bombay Presidency and establish Sind as a new Province, were submitted to the Round-Table Conference to-day.

Sind occupies about two-fifths of the Bombay Presidency, and was conquered in 1843. In some respects the Sind administration is already separated from the Bombay Provincial Government.

Discussion on this aspect continues to-morrow.

Announcement Thursday.

The Government policy announcement is expected on Thursday. All indications are that it will recognize the scheme of responsible government submitted by Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, approved in essentials by the British delegates, but received noncommttally by the British Conservatives.

In any event it is recognized that the British government statement will be one of the most momentous developments in the history of the East and will certainly be the outstanding mark in the history of British and Indian relations.

SPIRIT OF UNITY THROUGH EMPIRE PLEASES SCULLIN

Australian Premier Sees Closer Economic Bonds For Commonwealth in Offing.

FACES HARD TASK.

Returning Leader Tendered Civic Reception By Lord Mayor of Melbourne.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 12 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)—The importance of the Imperial Conference as a factor in colsolidating the Empire was stressed by Prime Minister James Scullin, speaking to a great civic reception tendered by the Lord Mayor of Melbourne to-day, on his return from the conference.

"The spirit of unity there displayed left nothing to be desired and closer economic unity of the Empire is coming," said Premier Scullin.

So far as the troubled domestic situation was concerned, the Prime Minister declared, "I do not come back with burning indignation in my heart about anything which has been done in my absence. I am not angry or fearful; I am going right ahead doing what I believe to be right, confident that my colleagues will do the same, honestly, fearlessly and with sincerity of purpose, without which no Government can last and no people can continue."

Among the distinguished gathering at the reception were Hon. Frank Brenna, Australian Attorney-General; Prime Minister G. W. Forbes of New Zealand, and Sir Thomas Sidey, New Zealand's Attorney-General.

Premier Scullin remarked he returned to Australia to face a difficult task. There had been created a feeling that with his return everything would be all right, and that he would have something magical in his pocket, he said. He hoped there would not be an illusions in that respect because he did not wish to cause disillusionment later.

MESSENGER AFTER HIKING RECORD.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Jan. 12 (C.P.).—After walking a distance of more than four times around the world at the Equator during the last 35 years, Fred A. Dullahan, Central Vermont Railway messenger here, is beginning his 36th year of hiking with the goal of making walking mileage equal to five globe circling trips before he even considers retirement from active service.

50 INJURED IN RIOTING.

KARACHI, India, January 12. — Fifty persons were seriously hurt and a hundred others slightly injured in rioting which began last night and continued until early this morning when Congress Party adherents attempted to hold mass meetings in defiance of police orders.

C.N.R. SOLICITOR DIES SUDDENLY

BORN IN COLOMBO.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—Hugh Hazen Hansard, solicitor in the Pensions Department of the Canadian National Railways, who died suddenly, Saturday night, was widely known in Canada, particularly in Saint John, N.B.; Ottawa and Winnipeg, as well as Montreal.

He was born at Colombo, Ceylon, of Canadian parents, and was educated in England, at Eagle House, Wimbledon; at Malvern College and Oxford University. He took his B. A. in law at Saint John, N. B., Law School, and was practicing attorney-at-law and barrister at Saint John in 1893 and 1894. In 1901 he entered the Department of Railways and Canals of the Dominion Government at Ottawa, and assisted in preparing and framing the Railway Act of 1903, under which the Railway Commission was appointed. He prepared the Government Railways Provident Fund Act in 1907.

For several years he engaged in private financial business in Ottawa, and in 1911 became Assistant Solicitor of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Winnipeg. In the following year he was solicitor, and, acting as Western counsel to the management, held responsible to the president for the proper conduct of the railway's legal business in the west. He was called to the Alberta Bar and the Manitoba Bar in 1913.

NOT CARL C. SMITH.

Because of a striking similarity in names, and some coincident circumstances, it shoud be made known that the local man arested on Friday, is not Carl C. Smith, Government Radio Inspector. Mr. Smith formerly resided here, and is widely known here, and still frequently revisits the city though his present address is Niagara Falls, Ont. Certainly his immediate friends would not confuse the two parties.

DEATH CHEATED OF 20 MINERS

Comrades Dig Through Tons of Debris and Rescue Entombed Men.

TIMBERS GAVE WAY.

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 12. (CP)—Crawling through a tunnel dug through debris of rock, earth, steel and timber by their comrades, 20 men entombed in the Hetch-Hetchy coast range tunnel came to the surface Sunday showing little evidence of their 30 hour ordeal.

All were in good spirits and although tired and hungry, none was known to have suffered. Trapped last Friday night when supporting timbers gave way 800 feet underground, allowing debris to clog the tunnel, he men probably owed their lives to the action of Welby Morgan 28-year-old nozzle-man.

DRIVER IS FOUND DEAD ON BEACH

POLICE INVESTIGATE.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 12.—The body of George E. Landry, a former shipyard worker, of this city, was brought to a local hospital last night after having been found, clad in a diving suit on the beach at Sakonne Point, Little Compton, R.I. Medical Examiner Dr. Frederick Barnes declared death was caused by suffocation and not by drowning.

William De Nadet, who brought the body from Sakonnet Point, told police he had seen a second man offshore in a dory, the craft apparently in a sinking condition. Rhode Island State Police believe Landry died below the surface when the air supply from the dory was cut off by accident. They are seeking to learn why diving apparently was being carried on, at that point late at night.

Sakonnet Point has been the scene of recent clashes between Coastguard patrol boats and rum-runners, police said.

DEROIT JOBLESS FEWER BY 70,000

Most of Re-employment Accounted For in Rouge Plant of Ford Comapny.

DETROIT, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Detroit's job-bound industrial army was augmented to-day by 70,000 or more men who were called back to their benches and assembly lines after several weeks of inactivity.

Most of the re-employment was accounted for at the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company, which had been idle since an inventory shutdown on December 18, with the exception of the employment of about 6,500 men on a part-time basis last week. The Ford Company for several months has been operating three days a week, eight hours a day, and the lack of an announced change from this policy indicated that it is to be continued. The company announced that the employees recalled to-day brought the total at the Rouge plant to 75,000, while 32,000 others were ordered back to work in other parts of the country.

C.E.S.A. OBJECTS ARE EXPLAINED TO ROTARY CLUB

Secretary of Association Gives Interesting Address on Industrial Standardization.

BASED ON SERVICE.

B. Stuart McKenzie Explains That Ideals of His Organization Are Akin to Rotary's.

The practical value of industrial standardization was explained to the Peterborough Rotary club at its weekly luncheon today by B. Stuart McKenzie, B. A., B. Sc., secretary of the Canadian Engineering Standards Association whose address on the aims and activities of that organization was followed with close interest.

Introduced by Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin, Mr. McKenzie declared that in its aspirations the association he represented was akin to Rotary inasmuch as both were based upon the idea of service. There was he explained nothing compulsory about the work of the Engineering Standards Association and it was the more desirable on that account because it preserved the confidence and good will of all concerned. The speaker remarked that the principle of industrial standarization was founced on common sense and most of the criticism that was heard in regard to it came not from hard-headed business men and industrial leaders, but was high-brow in nature and emanating from those not familiar with the details.

The Canadian Engineering Standards Association, Mr. McKenzie explain was organized in 1919 and was at first financed by a direct grant from the government, but in later years was assisted by contributions from the industries interested, these contributions last year amounting to $6600 and of a budget of some $15,000 which was a very modest sum in comparison with the budget for similar associations in other countries.

The speaker stressed some of the advantages accruing both to the manufacturer and to the consumer as a result of the adoption of practicable standards. The consumer gained, he pointed out, through lower prices brought about by a reduction in manufacturing costs while the standardization plan fostered good will between consumer and manufacturer, reduced waste production in industry and made the drawing up of specifications an easy matter.

Mr. McKenbie exhibited some of the standard specifications adopted by the Association in regard to certain industries and declared their the

70 COTTON MILLS ARE SHUT DOWN

Action Leaves 20,000 Workless—250,000 More May Be Idle By Saturday.

DIFFER ON POLICY.

BURNLEY, Eng., Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Seventy cotton mills were shut down to-day and 20,000 workers thrown into idleness in accordance with the lockout declared last week after 5,000 weavers in nine mills had struck in protest against the so-called more looms per weaver system.

The lockout became effective at noon Saturday, but to-day was the first full working day when the effects of the order could be fully visualized. The week-end produced no move toward negotiations and hopes for averting next Saturday's threatened lockout in all of Lancashire's weaving industry centered about the possibility of Government intervention, of which there has been no sign thus far.

If next Saturday's lockout materializes 250,000 weavers will be affected, and an equal number of spinners also will lose their jobs.

NATIONALISTS CLASH WITH POLICE AS FOUR ARE HANGED FOR MURDER

ORDER RESTORED.

BOMBAY, Jan. 12.—Violent clashes between police and Nationalists sympathizers developed to-day when the Nationalists attempted demonstrations of protest at hanging of four men convicted of murder of a Sholapur policemen during riots there last May.

A hartal, or stoppage of work, was decreed over the city. More than twelve Nationalists were injured in attempting to enforce the stoppage and carry out the demonstrations. Friendly members of the All Indian National Congress finally succeeded in helping the police restore order, although not before the police had charged them several times with their lathis or staves.

McBride Gains 15 In 30 Subdivisions

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12. — Scrutiny of the ballots cast in the recent mayoralty election, which began this morning under the supervision of Judge O'Connell, had resulted up till noon in reducing Mayor W. J. Stewart's majority by 15. The recount was ordered on the petition of Sam McBride the defeated candidate and a former Mayor. Mr. Stewart had been declared elected by a majority of 313. Re-checking of the ballots cast in 30 sub-divisions produced 15 more votes for McBride and there are 759 subdivisions still to be scrutinised.

WELSH MINERS SEEKING RELIEF

Canteens Dot Valleys Where Pay Envelopes Been Missing Two Weeks.

NO DOLE EXPECTED.

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 12.—Relief canteens are beginning to dot the Welsh valleys where the weekly pay envelopes of 150,000 miners have been missing on two pay days now because of the coal strike.

There have been a flood of applications for assistance from women and children and families which are in distress. No adequate funds are available to aid the men during the stoppage and unless decisions in the pending test cases differ from precedent they will not be granted a dole.

It is their contention that they are entitled to this recompense on the ground that the owners are attempting to keep them at work on illegal terms.

Doctor Asks $250,000 For Being Shadowed

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.— A declaration was fyled to-day by attorneys for Dr. John Streeter Sidley of Racine, Wis., in his $250,000 action against William Perkins [illegible], K.C., lawyer of London and Toronto, and the Harrison Detective Agency.

The charges in the declaration are the same as those in the praecipe fyled last week — "unlawful plot, conspiracy, confederation and agreement with the fraudulent and illegal purpose of ruining the plantiff's health and business career."

It also alleges that the plaintiff is unable "because of constant surveillance, espionage, harrasing, intimidation and shadowing" to procure employment or regain health. There was no indication given as to the reason for the alleged plot.

Tenants of the 1,000 new houses built by the Edmonton (London) Council already owe $7,000 in back rent.

ELECTION OF PARKER IN HARVEY MAY BE PROTESTED BY JAS. IRWIN

ELECTION FOR REEVE.

Five rejected ballots in Harvey Township's municipal election are mentioned in reports of a possible recount of the vote which gave Harry Parker a majority of three for the Reeveship.

The news that has been coming in from the northern township is rather spotty, but it all seems corroborative. It is stated that at Nogie's Creek, five Irwin ballots were thrown out because they were spoiled by too many choices for the Council. In many of the rural municipalities there was only one ballot printed, bearing the names of the candidates for the Reeveship and also for the Council.

In Harvey the ratepayers could vote for not more than four councillors, but the five rejected ballots at Nogie's Creek were marked for five candidates for the council. On that ground the returning officer declared them invalid, and this decision carried with it the five reported Irwin votes.

Were Irwin Votes?

It is contended that the ratepayers who marked these papers clearly desired to vote for Irwin, and actually did so, and that their votes for Reeve were properly marked. According to the information from the township, it is felt by Mr. Irwin's supporters that he should have received these five votes, which would raise his total to 156.

At Lakehurst, it is said, a Parker ballot was disallowed on practically the same grounds. If Mr. Irwin were given the five disputed votes reported from Nogie's Creek his total would be 156 to Mr. Parker's 154, and if Mr. Parker received the vote mentioned from Lakehurst his aggregate would be 156; but the election would be credited to Mr. Irwin by a majority of one.

It was reported on Saturday that Mr. Irwin was ill at his home. If a protest is to be entered it must be made within fourteen days after the election.

Mr. Parker has ambitions to be Warden this year, with Reeve C. S. Tanner of Lakefield regarded as his chief opponent. But Mr. Parker's hopes are meeting with obstacles that were unexpected in the city at the close of the December sessions of the County Council. Reeve Tanner was returned by acclamation, but apparently it is not yet certain whether Harvey Township has given Mr. Parker the opportunity for which his service has been a preparation.

Three Years Given To Bogus Priest

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12. — Girard Charest, self confessed bogus priest, who secured sums of money from various people in a city parish through representing himself a collector for religious charities, was today sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Judge Monetn, in passing, sentence, expressed regret that he could not send Charest away for 25 years. Garbed in the robes of a priest, Charest had preyed on people of the parish for over five years. Many victims had written to Judge Monet telling him they were mulcted by the fake cleric.

Chairmen Named, Committees Struck At First Meeting

Mayor Roland Denne in His Inauguarl Address Asks Members of Council to Make 1931 One of the Best Years in the History of City of Peterborough.

ALDERMAN JAMES HAMILTON HEADS BOARD OF WORKS ALDERMAN MACDONALD MANUFACTURERS' COMMITTEE

Alderman Phelan Named as Chairman of Finance Committee for the Eleventh Year—Legal and Reception Committees Are Split.

Peterborough's Council for 1931 got down to work this morning when Mayor Denne delivered his inaugural address, the various standing committee chairmen were chosen, and the members for each committee named. Two members of the press were the only ones present outside the members of the Council and City Clerk S. R. Armstrong. The five new members and the Mayor took their declarations of office before going up into the Council Chambers for the first meeting of the year. The meeting was short, after which the Council went into Committee of the Whole to strike the standing committees. To-night the Council will get down to business, the meeting being scheduled to start at 7.30.

For the most part the chairmen of 1930 will again head their respective committees. Alderman Hamilton takes ex-Alderman Huffman's place as chairman of the Board of Works, a post which Alderman Hamilton filled one year ago. Alderman George Macdonald is the new chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, replacing ex-Alderman Malcolm McIntyre.

Alderman Fitzpatrick, who headed the polls in 1929 was chosen as the chairman of the Legal and Claims Committees. Alderman Stocker will be given another year to further carry out his good work in developing and improving the city's parks, and Alderman Holland is again chairman of the Property Committee. Alderman Mel. Turner, who headed the polls at the recent election, was chosen as head of the Reception Committee, defeating Alderman McNabb for the position.

Mayor's Address

In an inaugural speech, characteristically expressive of optimism and confidence in the year 1931 and containing an eloquent plea for harmonious relations among the members of the City Council, His Worship Mayor Roland Denne, speaking before the entire assembly of the City Council in the Council Chamber this morning said: "Members of the the Council and the press, I must first congratulate those old members who are back into their chairs and also the new members of this year 1931. This is one year when we all have to take off our coats and dig in and make it a better year than 1930. There is no reason why we cannot put every effort forth, and I am go-

WRECKAGE GIVES CLUE TO TRAGEDY

SEEK BODIES.

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Jan. 12—A bit of wood to which is attached a remnant of blue-painted fabric, brought here late yesterday, was believed definitely to have solved the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Pilot Robin Renehan and two companions on October 28.

Pilot Anscel Eckman and his mechanic, Frank Wadman, identified the find as a part of the Renehan plane and said it indicated conclusively the machine crashed within a few minutes' flight of this place. The wreckage, still attached to a tie rod, was found by Clarence Myers and Bob Miller on the shore of the northeast island of the Percy group, southwest of here.

The fact that the piece of wood tapered from a width of about one foot was taken to indicate the plane was wrecked, and it was believed bodies of the three fliers would be found in that vicinity. Searchers will leave immediately for further search.

Renahan, Sam O'Lerf and Frank Hatcher dropped from sight while flying north to search for the late Capt. E. J. A. Burke and his two companions, who later were rescued from the wilds of the Liard [illegible] district.

Two Fliers Believed Lost in Atlantic

HOURS OVERDUE HOPE DWINDLES FOR TRADEWIND

Plane Caried Gas to Keep It Up Till 8.14 Sunday Morning.

UNREPORTED SINCE START.

Storms May Have Driven Craft to Moroccan Coast.

HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, January 12 (C.P.).—The storm-swept Atlantic was believed here to-day to have claimed the lives of two more transoceanic fliers.

There was still some hope for the safety of Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieut. William S. MacLaren, who left Bermuda on Saturday noon for Horta in their monoplane Tradewind, but with the passing hours it dimmed fast.

The two aviators, their little monoplane laden with a "pay-load" which they hoped to take to Paris, expected when they left Hamilton to negotiate the 2,000 miles to Horta in about 21 hours, which would have elapsed at 11.15 a.m. (8.14 a.m. on Sunday), but to-day there had been no word from them either of sighting by a passing ship or of having landed off their course.

Had 300 Gallons of Gas.

Three hundred gallons of gasoline which they had in their tanks on Saturday to keep them until 6 p.m. on Sunday, in which time they might have reached the Western European or Moroccan coasts, but in view of a prevailing north-east gale, poor visibility and other unfavorable weather conditions their success was considered improbable.

Have You Cold Feet, Fallen Arches, or Low Blood Pressure? Read This

H. T. Scott, Chiropractor,
Campbellford, Ont.:

Dear Friend.—In reference to your inquiry about the treatment you gave me for cold feet, which I have had for years, (and the most unusual part of it was that even in the summer time they were quitte cold), I want to let you know that I am well satisfied with the results of the one treatment you gave me on the third of January.

I can hardily believe it; my feet do not bother me any since and they seem as warm as can be. I hope you will print this in any of the papers you wish, so others who read it will know that cold feet and fallen arches can be easily relieved by your new method.

I have also been a sufferer from Low Blood Pressure, and like most people I tried everything else first, and Chiropractic Spinal Treatments last. Before I came to you my blood pressure was 80 now it is well over 100, and getting better all the time.

I sleep well, my headaches are gone, and all my friends are telling me how much better I look.

More power to you and Chiropractic.

Yours sincerely,

Seek To Investigate Police Commission

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12 (C.P.).—A resolution asking for a judicial investigation of the official acts of the Toronto Police Commission was endorsed by the fellowship of reconciliation at a meeting of the organization here.

The meeting directed its executive to approach the Board of Control and to present the resolution. The fellowship of reconciliation feels it has been placed under undue restraint and stigma by the Police Commission which has termed it Communistic, the resolution states.

PRAYER WEEK IS CONCLUDED

Services Held in United Churches of City Throughout Past Week.

SPLENDID SERMONS.

The week of prayer which has been observed during the past week by the United Churches of the city, was brought to a conclusion Friday night with the service in St. James' United Church. Rev. A. E. Thornley, of Mark street United Church delivered an inspiring sermon in keeping with the New Year spirit, to a representative audience.

Rev. J. E. J. Millyard of George St. United Church was also on the platform with the pastor, Rev. A. E. Moorhouse, and the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Thornely spoke from Hebrews II:24,25,26, dealing with the choice of Moses. "All down through the ages" said the speaker, "God has set good and evil before men, leaving to them which they would chocse. When Moses made his choice he left behind high position, money, and the pleasures of sin. In return what was he given? To the superficial eye he became but a poor slave and the leader of an ungrateful people. He met his end on a lonely mountain top without having reached the land of promise. But when we consider his true reward, we realize that it was indeed a fitting one. First of all he received the approval of God, which over balances all earthly gains. Moses also enjoyed the companionship of God and was a true prophet, which is the highest of God's gifts.

It was true that Moses never set foot upon the land of Canaan but he was present upon the Mount of Transfiguration conferring with Elijah and Christ concerning fulfilment of the real meaning of the passover which Moses had instituted at God's command.

Though his body lies in a lonely grave, yet he lives in glory with the Lamb.

As we see the wisdom of Moses' choice, does not the still, small voice speak to us, telling us too to choose the things of God, for there is the promise "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and all these things shall be added unto you."

The same spirit of praise and prayer pervaded the whole week's service which began in Mark street Church on Monday evening with Rev. Mr. Moorhouse preaching. Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean spoke on Tuesday night in Trinity and on Wednesday night Rev. Mr. Millyard addressed the combined congregations in Knox United Church. At George St. United Church, Rev. David Wren was the speaker on Thursday evening.

Sugar shipped from the Philippines in a recent month was valued at nearly $1,600,000.

PREMIER HENRY DEFENDS PRICE ON HIS ACTIONS

Claims Hepburn Will Gain Nothing By Attacks Such as Last One.

AT YORK RALLY.

TORONTO, Ont., January 12 (C.P.). — Commenting on the charges made against the Ontario Government administration by Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Ontario Liberal Leader at Prescott, Premier George S. Henry declared on Saturday there was nothing to prevent Mr. Hepburn from contesting either of the two by-elections in Ontario and making his attacks from the floor of the Legislature in the regular way.

"There are two seats open at the present time," said Premier Henry. "The door is open to Mr. Hepburn. Of course, there is nothing to stop him from making speeches when and where he likes, but the attacks gain nothing by being made in this manner."

As to thech arges made against the Government, Mr. Henry intimated Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General for Ontario, against whom Mr. Hepburn directed charges concerning the brokerage prosecutions, would enter the by-election campaigns on behalf of the Conservative candidates and would make a complete reply to the allegations of maladministration in the Attorney-General's Department.

Mum on Northern Ontario.

Premier Henry had little to say concerning the attack made by the Liberal Leader on Government expenditures in Northern Ontario, which Mr. Hepburn charged, had created "Tory octopus by partisan expenditures."

Speaking at the joint annual meeting of the East and South York Conservative Associations on Saturday, Mr. Henry declared problems facing Ontario at present require far more experience and maturity of judgment than a man of Mr. Hepburn's years possessed.

Making his first appearance on a public platform since his elevation to the Premiership, the speaker said he "didn't mind saying that I am proud to share the blame for the administration of any department in the last seven and a half years."

He lauded the administration of Mr. Price and expressed the opinion Mr. Hepburn's criticisms of the Attorney-General were not well founded.

HUGE COAL PILE AGAIN ON FIRE

Gangs Are Fighting Blaze in C.P.R. Supply Dump at Port McNicholl.

STARTS ONCE A YEAR.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 12.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The large pile of coal at Port McNicholl belonging to the C. P. R., is again on fire. It breaks out on an average of about once a year. It is caused by spontaneous combustion. Some very disastrous fires have been started in this way.

The moisture in the coal aids rather than hinders the process of spontaneous combustion. This is easily shown when it invariably breaks out in the winter after the snow has started to soak through to the centre of the pile. The pile is about three hundred feet long and forty feet high. It usually supplies the boats for a year, then it is replenished by two coal boats.

The C.P.R. has a series of pipes running through the pile vertically, about every ten feet. This is to allow the air to get down in the coal, but even this does not keep it from having its annual fire.

There are gangs of men working night and day digging down to the fire and pouring in water until that part of the pile is cool and so on down the long pile until it is completley checked. This usually takes about three weeks to completely extinguish.

MAYORALTY VOTE RECOUNT STARTS

Mayor Stewart Makes Inaugural Address to Toronto Council at Same Time.

NUMEROUS CHANGES IN AIR.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12.—(CP)—Synchronizing with Mayor W. J. Stewart's address at the first meeting of this year's council today, Judge Daniel O'Connell, will commence a recount of the mayoralty votes cast in the municipal elections.

Mayor Stewart was elected over former Mayor Sam McBride by the slim majority of 313 out of a total of 115,000 votes cast for both candidates. in his inaugural address he will outline to the council a tentative program of business to be accomplished during 1931.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

members of the council intend presenting numerous notices of motion that of Alderman Baird Ryckman to rescind the by-law for salary increases, passed by last year's council.

The new Mayor is confronted with several problems which have been given pre-eminence in the press recently. One is the police commission by-law calling for the finger-printing of taxi-drivers and the other concerns refusal of police to allow certain organizations use of halls for holding of "free-speech" meetings.

A body known as the Fellowship of Reconciliation last night passed a resolution which will be presented to the Board of Control criticizing the police for their attitude toward free speech, and requesting a judicial investigation into official acts of the Police Commission in this connection.

Dr. Bernard Conolly Dies In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 12. (CP)—A teacher, physician, and latterly a financier, who was widely known as Managing Director of the Capital Trusts Corporation, Limited, Dr. Bernard Gervase Connoly, died Sunday. Dr. Connolly, who was in very poor health during the past week, was unconscious for the best part of the day. He suffered in health following a train wreck in which he was involved between Toronto and Ottawa some time ago.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN McKINTY.

Mrs. John McKinty passed away Sunday at her late residence at Otonabee, near the Lift Lock, after an illness of five days. Mrs. McKinty was born in England and formerly lived in Harvey Township. She was a resident of Otonabee for 14 years. She leaves to mourn her loss one son, Bruce, of Hall's Bridge, and two daughters, Mrs. Annie Hall, also of Hall's Bridge, and Mrs. F. Cox, of Otonabee.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. F Cox, on Tuesday at 2.00 p.m., with Rev. Mr. Moore of Young's Point officiating. Interment will be made in Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield.

PUP SAVES LIFE OF LINDSAY MAN AS HOUSE BURNS

Neighbor's Boston Bull Sees Flames and Rushes to Bedroom.

JUMPS ON SLEEPING FRIEND.

LINDSAY, Jan. 12. — The frantic pummelling of little paws on his chest and a chorus of agitated yelps awoke James Elbury at an early-hour Saturday morning to the realization that the house was on fire and that he owed his life to a neighbor's dog.

"Jiggs," a thoroughbred Boston bull, owned by Harry Stubbings of 94 Regent Street, turned up apparently from nowhere while the street in front of the threatened house was deserted by humans, saw the flames glaring in the downstairs of the dwelling and pelted up the steps and into Elbury's bedroom, which already was foggy with smoke.

Jumps On Bed

Elbury was sound asleep. Jiggs must have tried barking at first and found it insufficient to rouse the slumbering man. The first thing Elbury knew was that something small and very animated was bobbing up and down along the length of his body and poking excitedly at him with nose and paws.

Then the smoke assailed the man's nostrils. He leaped out of bed and went downstairs, Jiggs scampering at his bare heels, and found the wall near the foot of the staircase in flames. A few moments later and he would have been cut off in his bedroom.

From a hastily opened window Elbury shouted for help and was heard by a bakery driver named Wall, who was near-by with his horse and van. Wall rang in an alarm to the fire department and after a brief battle the firemen conquered the flames. The cause of the outbreak is not known.

ONTARIO PIPE SMOKERS!

Our sales department felt that there was a demand for a superior grade pipe tobacco in what might be termed the popular price class. They said pipe smokers wanted a tobacco with more flavour, which would smoke sweet and cool, and last.

For the convenience of the light, medium and heavy smokers, Turret pipe tobacco is packed in 15c. packages with 2 poker hands; 20c. packages with 3 poker hands and ½ pound screw-top humidor tins with 12 poker hands.

WE have done all we can do to make Turret a good pipe tobacco—will you please tell us if it suits your taste?

No red tape—no difficult conditions to fulfil—no high-priced article to buy—you simply smoke a package or, perhaps, a few pipefuls of cool, long smoking Turret pipe tobacco and then write a letter telling us how you like it and what you think of it. For this simple, easy act we offer $250.00 in prizes to the pipe smokers of this Province.

Then give us your frank opinion of Turret pipe tobacco—write us a letter as to its coolness, its long burning qualities, its flavour and aroma.

For the letters, which are judged best, the following prizes will be awarded.

1st PRIZE . . . $50.00
2nd PRIZE . . . $25.00
20 PRIZES OF $5.00 EACH
75 PRIZES OF $1.00 EACH
and 100 half-pound tins of Turret pipe tobacco

SIX SIMPLE CONTEST RULES

1. The letter must be written on one side of the sheet only, and signed plainly with the writer's name and address.
2. All letters become the property of the Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada, Limited.
3. All entries must be accompanied by a wrapper from a package of Turret pipe tobacco.
4. The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, will not enter into any correspondence whatsoever regarding any entry in this contest.
5. The decision of the judges will be final.
6. The Contest closes February 28th, 1931.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT MAY VANISH DECLARES JUDGE JOSEPH WEARING

Canada May Be Faced in Future With Having No Hangman.

WRITES IN WORLD WIDE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (Special to The Examiner)—A striking indictment of capital punishment from the pen of Judge Joseph Wearing of London appears in World Wide weekly review here Saturday. Judge Wearing's contribution was requested after the paper had published two articles, one by Judge Marcus Kavanagh of Illinois defending the extreme penalty and the other from Warden Lewis A. Lawes of Sing Sing Prison, New York, who after a long experience expressed himself as very critical of "life for a life" laws and doubtful of their efficacy in lessening crimes of murder. Judge Wearing who inclines more to the views of the warden than those of his fellow-jurist, writes as follows:

One strange feature with respect to capital punishment is the fact that judges have apparently been always satisfied with this form of punishment. So far as I am aware there was never any suggestion from judges that the law be ameliorated even when death was the penalty for theft, forgery, and other offences now punished only by imprisonment. The story is told of Maule J. that after sentencing a batch to death for what would now be considered somewhat minor [illegible] it was learned that [illegible] been overlooked. [illegible] the man was recalled and Maule made a very elaborate apology for the oversight and then proceeded to sentence him to death also.

The truth is that our whole system of punishment is still wholly unscientific and haphazard. Our treatment of prisoners is of course more humane than formerly, but otherwise our methods show little of the results of research, experiment, or scientific approach. The case against capital punishment is found in a recent issue of the Montreal Standard, from which I quote the following: "Paul Belisle was carried from the death cell of Bordeaux jail this morning and hanged on the scaffold . . . . Belisle, who had been ill for a month . . . was too weak to walk to his death."

It is no great wonder that the Warden of Sing Sing is opposed to the death penalty.

The only other observation I will make is that it requires years of training to fit a surgeon to make even a minor operation. The operation of hanging requires great skill, experience, and courage. Yet no provision is made for any training to fet a man to become an executioner. Canada is particularly fortunate at the present time in this respect, for which we should be extremely thankful, but what of the future? Even courage of the highest order has its limits, and age is bound to take its toll. Humanity however, should be served, and it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that capital punishment will pass out of existence in this country because no executioner will be available.

The table was very pretty with a centerpiece in a spring bouquet of pink snapdragon, white narcissus and daffodils in a silver basket and pink candles in silver candlesticks.

• • • • • • •

It is the wish of every competent homemaker to preserve the beauty of this upholstery without detracting in any way from it.

• • • • • • •

It becomes necessary then to supply these pieces of furniture with adequate protection in the shape of what are called chair backs.

• • • • • • •

The least noticeable chair backs of a decorative sort are fashioned of a high grade of theatrical gauze matching the color of the upholstery and embroidered in a self toned medium.

• • • • • • •

The embroidery can be in cross stitch, each square mesh being considered as one square of canvas. Adjoining stitches are taken about the same strand in the weave.

• • • • • • •

The design can be run as in darning stitch. If the medium is fine, weave it twice or thrice through the spaces in each row. The stitches should alternate in the weaving to keep the medium well separated so that it will fill the mesh.

• • • • • • •

A coarse medium works up faster as one weaving through the mesh in each row will fill the spaces. But the work is not nearly so beautiful.

• • • • • • •

Cross stitch patterns can be used effectively. A row of flowering plants in little pots make a dainty decoration. Around the design make a border of rows of straight weaving and hemstitch the turned in hem.

• • • • • • •

When a chair is upholstered to order, and pieces of textile are available, a chair back is effectively made from a piece of this fabric fitted to the chair and made to slip on over the back.

• • • • • • •

Finish the edge with a scallop worked in a self-toned medium in buttonhole stitch. Or turn in a small hem and bind with galloon to match or sew on a narrow fringe, plain, knotted or consisting of tiny balls.

• • • • • • •

That Body of Yours

RESTING THE THROAT.

When you have a cold that affects the vocal cords and makes the voice husky the first thought is to try and rest the vocal cords by not using the voice. Where the voice must be used, allowing the words to come out without effort, keeping voice low, practically at a whisper, is the next best method of resting the vocal cords.

Soothing and relaxing the vocal cords by inhaling friar's balsam or tincture of benzoin compound, is excellent. A teaspoonful of this is put in a large jug of boiling water poured in on top of it. Placing a towel over the head the patient inhales this "steam" for some minutes.

A simpler and more comfortable method consists of making a tube of a piece of paper, putting the end down into the jug but not touching the liquid, placing towel in top of jug around the tube so that the steam can only come up through the tube. The patient breathes up the steam through the mouth, and blows it out the nose.

Where the nose is "blocked" from the cold, the towel over the head method must be used; when nose becomes 'free' the tube method may be used.

One of the most distressing aliments is when tuberculosis strikes the throat. In order to obtain rest, the method has been to insert a tube through the neck into lungs and have the patient breathe through this tube while the throat rested: because rest is the big factor in the treatment of tuberculosis in any part of the body.

However, a new treatment, originated in Europe, offers a less dangerous, and a more effective means of giving rest to the throat. The method is to temporarily paralyze the nerve going to the throat by injecting it with an alcoholic solution. This gives the throat a complete rest for from four to eight weeks.

In a series of 15 cases, 9 recovered, 3 showed no improvement, in 2 the tuberculosis continued to grow steadily worse, and of the remaining cases no information could be obtained.

As this method is not dangerous and gives good results it should prove of great help to patients afflicted with tuberculosis of the throat. Also to the patient's family and friends that they will no longer be distressed by the sight of the tube which formerly had to be used.

KEEP UP THE PRESSURE.

Radio enthusiasts who are signing petitions or writing letters to their Federal members protesting against the suggested launching out of a scheme of Government ownership would be well advised to keep up the pressure in view of the fact that certain interests are urging the Dominion Government to carry out the recommendations of the Aird Commission.

A deputation waited upon Hon. Mr. Duranleau, Minister of Marine, the other day to stress the desirability that the majority of Canada radio owners favored such a plan.

The Examiner is satisfied that the majority of Canadian radio owners favor nothing of the kind, and that they prefer the present system, despite its advertising atrocities, to a Government-owned and operated system that they believe could not equal the present bill-of-fare and that could not be carried on without requiring owners of radio receiving sets to pay a much greater annual license fee.

The authorization of more power for the present Canadian radio broadcasting stations is about all that is needed to give listeners-in in this country the reception they prefer and should have.

NORTH HASTINGS' FAVORITE SON.

The announcement that Hon. J. R. Cooke, Minister without Portfolio in the Ontario Cabinet and Vice-Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, may succeed Charles A. Magrath as Chairman of that body will be well received by those who have learned to appreciate the sterling qualities of North Hastings' favorite son.

Hon. Mr. Cooke has represented North Hastings in the Legislature for nineteen years; in three out of the five elections during that period he was elected by acclamation and on the other two occasions he might as well have been.

In that riding as a rule they do not vote Liberal or Conservative; they simply vote Cooke, and it is to be fancied that the only regret the people of North Hastings would have in hearing of the Hydro Minister appointment as Chairman of the Commission would be that politics in their district would be robbed of the most popular candidate the constituency has known.

If the verdict as to whether or not Hon. Mr. Cooke is to be appointed were left to North Hastings, however, the answer would be unanimous that he is the man for the job, for the confidence of those who know him best in the ability and integrity of the Hon. Robert is not to be shaken.

THE LIBRARY'S FINE YEAR.

While 1930 may have been one of commercial hard times, the annual report of the Peterborough Public Library indicates that the depression did not extend to that institution, which is able to announce the most successful year in the Library's history.

The greater use that has been made of the facilities of the Library during the past year, as indicated by the figures given by Librarian Fred. M. Dela Fosse, is gratifying, for reading people are usually thinking people, and the increased patronage shown in the Library report can be accepted as a sign that the general intelligence of the community is correspondingly improved.

The circulation figures show a remarkable gain in both the juvenile and adult departments, with increases of 2,691 and 6,728, respectively.

In the adult department there was an increase not only in fiction but down the entire list from biography to philosophy, an all-round improvement that must be a source of encouragement not only to the librarian and his staff but to the Library Board.

The reading room attendance, the number of new borrowers and the average attendance at the Saturday morning story hour all were greater in 1930 than during the previous year.

The successful year's operations show that Peterborough's Library is steadily growing in popularity and usefulness, a most satisfactory development indeed.

HIGHWAY EXPENDITURE.

After a study of highway expenditure and motor vehicle taxation, the Citizens' Research Institute has published a report covering the Maritime Provinces and giving, first, the extent and character of the highways in each; second, the basis on which the revenue for highway purposes is raised, and, third, a year by year comparison of expenditure on highways and the revenue collected mainly for highway purposes.

The figures are interesting, inasmuch as they show very large expenditures on highways, increasing faster in some cases than the revenue for such purposes, although, as the bulletin points out, this fact is not necessarily a ground for criticism, for such indirect benefits as increased tourist traffic may increase the tax-paying power of the citizens sufficiently to more than counterbalance such expenditures.

The report shows that Prince Edward Island has 3,090 miles of highways; Nova Scotia, 14,408 miles, and New Brunswick, 11,836 miles, the greater proportion in all three cases being unimproved. In each Province there is a gasoline tax of 5c per gallon.

In Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia current revenues, it is noted, have increased more proportionately since the introduction of the gasoline tax than have the current expenditures, while, on the other hand, in New Brunswick the current revenue for highway purposes is not keeping pace with current expenditure.

The first two Provinces have in recent years recouped about two-thirds of their expenditures on highways from revenue from motor vehicle licenses, gasoline tax or highway tax, while New Brunswick has been able to obtain a little better than 50 per cent. from these sources.

"OVER-CONFIDENT" MOTORISTS.

It is estimated by the roads department of the Province of Quebec that 93 per cent. of motor accidents occur on the streets of cities, towns and villages and most of these accidents it ascribes to over-confidence on the part of drivers. Here is a paragraph from an appeal that the department has recently addressed to drivers:

"In spite of regulations and reiterated appeals to prudence on the part of motorists, the number of automobile accidents once more showed an increase. The problem of highway safety is an important one, and one which will remain unsolved as long as the motorist fails to enter into complete co-operation with the department. The question of safety is the constant care of road and traffic authorities. Nothing is neglected in the effort to render the roads more safe. In this regard, the last few years have witnessed striking progress. The laws are coming more and more to ensure the safety of the public without encroaching on personal liberty. These laws are but the precepts of prudence, and derive worth only in so far as they are observed. Many motorists are over-confident of their driving ability, and quite naturally come to consider themselves above the law. It is they who render so precarious the safety of the road. They day when every motorist is firmly convinced of the dangers of motoring, whatever the width, kind of pavement, or other qualities of the road, and won over to the idea that safety depends almost entirely on his prudence and judgment, reduction in the number of automobile accidents will begin."

The department is right in declaring that over-confidence is responsible for many a motor accident. It is over-confidence or sheer folly that causes a man to race his machine round a curve at a rate of speed that causes him to end in the ditch. It is also over-confidence that makes him take a chance in passing another car on a curve or a hill or in disregarding the warning signs that have been placed in position for his guidance. Too much confidence amongst drivers is responsible for loss of life and loss of property annually and until, as the Quebec department says, those operating motor vehicles begin to realize that danger is ever present and that their safety demands prudence and good judgment, there is little likelihood of the accident toll being materially reduced.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

Dr. Lee DeForest, retiring president of the Institute of Radio Engineers and generally regarded as one of the principal scientists contributing to the discovery of modern broadcasting and receiving equipment, has returned to a topic that gave him a great deal of publicity some months ago.

Dr. DeForest, leaving office, has seized the occasion to utter another vigorous warning against what he calls "insistent ballyhoo of sales talk on the radio, which is consuming the vitals of the organism." He says that sales talk now "viciously interrupts 70 per cent. of entertainment programs" and that this overdose of air publicity is largely responsible for the general falling off in radio sales during the last year. He adds:

"Always a fervent optimist, the role of prophet of gloom is not at all to my liking, yet I have conscientiously felt impelled, as president of the institute, to sound a serious note of warning against a real and genuine evil; a cancerous growth which is relentlessly eating at the vitals of radio's usefulness and prosperity.

"In sad contrast to the situation of radio manufacturers and dealers, the year has admittedly been unusually prosperous for broadcasting stations and their owners. I am convinced that state of affairs is an unhealthy one; an alarming symptom for the future. The listening public is becoming more critical of program quality, and more luke-warm to what is being offered them. On the costly chain networks, this has already materially reduced the sum total of listening hours."

Dr. DeForest is 100 per cent. right. On more than one occasion, The Star has called editorial attention to the same situation. Radio listeners the continent over have become disgusted. Thousands of receiving sets which were once a joy and pleasure to their owners, are now standing idle most of the time. The people are "fed up," and even were the situation drastically changed to-morrow, it would take some considerable time to attract many of them back to the fold as radio listeners. It is perfectly maddening to the average man or woman to have program after program rudely interrupted in order to receive the wearying message that this or that cough syrup, this or that cigarette, this or that motor oil is the "finest in the world."

And there is another point to which we called attention recently, and that is the character of the programs themselves. The amount of stuff that goes through the air under the labels "music" or "humor" is appalling. It would seem that some broadcasting stations simply leave the front door open and permit anyone who happens along to broadcast his stuff.

The people who have invested millions of dollars in the radio industry should do something about this situation before it is too late. The goose that lays the golden eggs is slowly but surely being slaughtered.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

This time it is "Mitch" Hepburn who is calling for Hon. W. H. Price's resignation. The Attorney-General up to the present, however, doesn't seem to have heard the call.

Peterborough's City Council is officially away upon another year's business in the interest of the citizens generally.

Most people are of the opinion that the Bennett Government will have plenty to occupy its attention without launching out into the broadcasting business.

Hon. J. R. Cooke may be the new chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. His appointment would be popular in this section of Ontario at any rate.

Municipal requests for relief from provincial taxation have received a set-back in Hon. E. A. Dunlop's pre-sessional financial statement. With a deficit to report, the Government is not likely to be very sympathetic toward suggestions of giving up part of its revenue.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

It was a long time before the door again opened stealthily, and Virginia's shadowy form flitted along the path. "Did you think I was never coming?"

"I knew you would come."

She sat down beside him. She was wrapped in a warm cape. "Rickey's asleep, I think. Anyhow he won't dream I'm out here, but if he should miss me, I can say I was hunting the kitten."

The kitten had followed her, and came now purring, to sit on the arm of the bench and look, round-eyed, at the moon.

"How much did he tell you?" Michael asked.

"Nothing, really, but I am sure the money is safe. I asked him and he said, 'as safe as the bank.'"

He was aware of her relief and happiness. "I can't add much to it," he said, 'except that I'm glad I went. He and Carney were having words and Oliphant knocked him down."

"Oh!" Virginia's tone was startled.

"I shouldn't have told you except I wanted you to know that your brother isn't likely to go with that gang again."

"I shall be glad when we get away," her voice showed stress and strain. "You mustn't blame Rickey too much. He's had a lot of handicaps—father's handicaps, and his shutting us away from everything."

He laid his hand over hers for a moment. "Things are going to be better—I'm sure of it." There was a moment's silence, then he withdrew his hand and stood up. "You're going to let me come and see you in New York?"

Her voice had a touch of shyness. "If you'd like it."

"I should like it. I'm a rather lonely fellow. Somehow of late I haven't made—friends." He stopped and went on: "What about Bleecker, he's a friend of yours, isn't he?"

"I shouldn't call him that exactly. I've known him only two days."

"You've known him as long as you've known me."

"That's different."

His heart leaped. "Why?"

"Oh, to-night you've been so kind."

The moon shone full upon her earnest face. He met her earnestness with his own. "My dear child, I have done very little—"

"You have done a great deal. If I hadn't met you on the bridge—" her voice broke.

"It's rather remarkable, isn't it," he said, after a moment, "that two people meet. And the world is never quite the same."

She did not answer. Glancing across at her, he wondered if he had said too much. When he spoke again it was in a matter-of-fact manner: "You'll see the Bleeckers in New York."

"I'm not sure. I—oh, I wonder what you'll think of me, Mr. McMillan, when I tell you why I had Captain Bleecker to supper."

She was leaning on the sundial, and he could see her smiling. "Tell me."

She portrayed the scene with Jane graphically, "She condescended, and I hated it. And I knew she'd hate my having him, so I did it. But I was sorry afterwards."

"Why be sorry about anything. It's too wonderful here in the moonlight."

"I know."

There was a long pause before he spoke again. "What about this sundial? Are you going to sell it?"

"I hadn't thought about it."

"Will you let me buy it? I haven't a garden, but I've a sun-room in my apartment—with flowers, and a pool and goldfish swimming. The sundial could mark the hours for me there."

She was wistful, "It would miss the garden."

"How long has it stood here?"

"Over two hundred years—"

"How much it has seen." He traced the letters idly with his finger, then lifted his head and looked at her. "Here in this old garden men and women have lived and loved and—died. As we shall live—and love—and die—"

He hardly knew what he was saying. He was aware of her closeness, her beauty. He would be her friend, but he wanted more than that—

He held out his hand—"It isn't 'good-by,' is it?"

"No."

He was gone in another moment—lost in the shadows beyond the brick wall. But she did not resent his abruptness. His voice still rang in her ears. "As we shall live—and love—and die—"

The words from the lips of another man might have sounded stupid—commonplace— But Michael's emotion had transmuted them into something sacred and significant. Virginia, going into the house and up the stairs, was swept by a feeling that the moments by the sundial were to mark a crisis in her life's history.

CHAPTER EIGHT

DAYS OF DEPARTURE.

Anthony Bleecker came more than once to the old house before the young Oliphants left Annapolis. Virginia found herself liking him. His gayety and good nature were a relief from the depression which had fallen upon her. In these last days she felt that the things of little girlhood were slipping from her, and that she was entering an unknown world of strange adventures. What if Rickey didn't make good? What if in New York he was no more dependable than he had been in Annapolis? What would she do alone in a big city. Terrors loomed ahead.

Anthony, coming in, would dispel her fears. And he was always coming in, and making himself useful. He packed all of Rickey's books, having arrived one morning to find Virginia at her wit's end as to what to do with them, and Rickey standing helpless.

"You're a pair of babes in the wood," Anthony told them, "let me do it. After a man's been in the service as long as I, he can squeeze an elephant into a teacup."

With his coat off, he went to work, and Virginia, sitting on an empty box, watched him. His white shirt was open at the neck, and the informal effect suited him. He worked with skill, and she was amazed at his strength. Among the trunks and boxes he was like a young giant set to easy tasks.

He saw her eyes upon him and said, "You didn't think I could do it?"

"Do what?"

"Work like this."

"No, I didn't."

"Well, we're not lilies of the field, if you mean that."

He went into the next room for more nails, and coming back, said, "When I get through this you're going out with me on the river."

"Am I?"

"Yes. It's a gorgeous day. And when you get to New York there won't be any river."

She was wistful, "I shall miss it."

"Why not stay here then?"

She shook her head. "We've burned our bridges."

"Sold the house? Oh, you could find smaller quarters. And your brother could write here as well as in the city."

"He thinks not. He wants a different atmosphere."

She did not tell him as she had told Michael, that she was anxious to get Rickey away from old associations—away from everything which had hitherto bound him. She had a feeling that Anthony would not understand. Michael had understood—but then Michael was—different.

Tony, lighting a cigarette, said, "Snap out of it."

She looked at him in surprise, "Out of what?"

"Your mind isn't on me. It's miles away."

She laughed, "Not so many miles."

"Far enough anyway. And you haven't accepted my invitation. Do we go on the river or do we not?"

"Oh, I'd love it."

"I hope you mean it."

"I do, of course."

"Not 'of course', but we'll let it go at that. Do you know, young lady, that you've been a dreadful blow to my vanity?"

"Why?"

"I've never worked so hard in my life to get a few kind words out of a woman."

"You're spoiled."

"Perhaps."

He went back to his packing, and presently Rickey came in with the mail. "Three letters for you, Jinny."

The script on two of the letter was known to her, but the third was written in a strange hand. It was postmarked, "New York," and some instinct told her it was from Michael. She did not open it. She laid the letter aside, except the one from her mother which she read to Rickey while Anthony hammered.

She was able a little later, to escape from the kitchen. She found herself trembling as she tore open Michael's letter. Oh, how silly to let herself be moved like this! But she couldn't help it.

When, however, she had read the letter, she found her pulses stilled. She had a stunned feeling, a sense of shock. For the Michael of the letter was not the Michael of the moonlighted garden. The written words were cordial, pleasant, but some barrier had been raised which had not been there when she had talked with him beside the sundial. He wanted the sundial, and asked if she could have it packed for him. He was setting a price, after he had conferred with several dealers. If she felt it was worth more, he would be glad to add to the check. He hoped she was not finding it hard to leave Annapolis, and he would see her in New York. And he was most sincerely —Michael McMillan.

She did not know what she had expected. But she had expected more than this. Perhaps he had not said all that he felt, and if he were here, he would speak of friendship as he had spoken in the garden.

But he was not here, and already he might be regretting the things he had said to her, the things she had dreamed of in the night, and had waked to hear his voice—"as we shall live—and love—and die—"

Oh, what a fool she had been to lay such stress upon it. When she went back to Tony, a clear spot of red burned in her cheeks. "I'm going to get lunch for you and Rickey. What shall it be? You deserve a reward for all your hard work —and Rickey can run around to the shop."

"I thought the two of you might lunch with me."

She shook her head. "If you don't mind eating with the cook—" she flung him a challenging glance.

With the hammer in his hand he surveyed her. "You've come to life. What's happened?"

"Nothing."

"You're not telling the truth. But we'll let it go. And I accept your invitation. Let's take the vote, Rickey, on the eats."

"Oysters."

Good."

"Anything else?"

"Crackers and coffee and some little pickles."

Rickey went off with the order, and Virginia left Tony to finish the boxes while she cut flowers for the table. "There won't be any linen, but paper napkins," she told him, as she departed.

Alone in the garden it seemed to her that every leaf and bloom shouted, Michael, Michael!—" How wonderful it had been that night— She had not known how she had counted on seeing him again, and now she was not sure she wanted to see him. Not if he was like his letter.

By the time she had gathered an armful of golden chrysanthemums, pride had come to her rescue. She would put him out of her thoughts, and take the immediate good the gods gave. Anthony was the immediate good. He wanted to play the game, so why not? He was not in earnest, and neither was she. No one would be hurt, and she would forget.

She carried her flowers in and Tony helped her set the table. When the oysters were bubbling in the chafing dish, he put on his coat. She took off her apron, and sat down opposite him. I feel," Anthony said, incredibly domestic."

Denounces Divorce

Pope Pius XI., whose encyclical is a sweeping and unqualified denunciation of birth control and "modern scientific inventions of man to deride the sanctity of marriage."

What To-day Means To You

"CAPRICORN."

If January 12th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2:45 p.m. from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger hours are from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 4 p.m. to 5:45 p.m.

The astrological signs of January 12th point to a day of achievement, not, however, untinged by disappointment. In every and any line of endeavor there will be opportunities for progress and advancement, although one in whom you have trusted may go back on you.

A child born on this January 12th will be full of mischief, but free from malice. Adulthood will see it virile and mentally strong, with great force of character. It will possess a dominating, but not domineering, personality, intelligence, common sense and practical vision.

You, if born on a January 12th, have many striking characteristics. You have will power, ambition, and the ability to "make good." Perseverance and concentration are also good traits in your "make up", and in order to achieve your ends, you are willing to work unceasingly and conscientiously. You will never be happy in a subordinate position, and, in order to bring out the best that is in you, absolutism is essential.

You, quicker than most people, can undress a problem, and get at the real truth. You talk freely of your work to others. Not so much however, to secure ideas from them, but, in talking, new ideas come to you, and many of your problems have been solved in this manner. Although your best efforts are made without outside help, you are not a friend of solitude, and you always seek the association of others.

You revel in the limelight, but applause does not turn your head. It serves as an inspiration for future energies. You are slow to anger, but, once aroused, it takes a long time to pacify you. A very sincere friend and implacable enemy. In the home, you relax, and with spontaneity, become a homely soul. You will not only influence your mate, but your way with children is such as to engender love and to command, at the same time, their respect.

BERT MONK HEADS BETHANY Y.P.S.

Miss Hazel Jackson Appointed Delegate to Winter School at Cobourg.

BETHANY, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—Bert Monk was elected president of the Young People's Society of the United Church at the annual meeting held on Wednesday evening.

Other officers for the coming year are: 1st vice-president, H. G. Payne; Christian Fellowship, Miss Hazel Jackson; Missionary, Mrs. Bert Monk; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. H. G. Payne; recreation and literary, Miss Winnie Dawe and Stanley Whiteside; pianists, Miss Patton and Miss Fair; secretary, S. P. Whiteside; treasurer, Stewart Thompson.

It was also decided to send Miss Hazel Jackson to Cobourg as a delegate to the Winter School.

The president was then asked to take charge of the meeting which closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Bailieboro Association Receives Crest Sweaters

BAILIEBORO, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — The members of the Bailieboro Athletic Association received their shipment of club sweaters this week. The sweaters are of a pull-over style with roll collars and garnet and gray in color.

The crest is in red lettering on a gray background. The letters ABA standing for Bailieboro Athletic Association make a smart looking garment.

The association now have over thirty members enrolled.

The president, Arnold Brown, with the other members of the executive including A. Dawson, A. Deyell, A. Watt and K. Barnard, are doing all in their power to provide interesting and instructive meetings which are held in Fletcher's hall each Monday evening.

The hockey team will provide outdoor amusement for the winter months, while the boys will be back on the job next spring when the baseball season opens. It is expected that the majority of last season's players will again be available and the local boys will put up a hard battle to win the league honors.

The members of the association have rented a suitable field for athletics from Mr. W. Thompson, and before the ground frose put in many busy hours preparing the ground for next summer's activities.

Gen. Escobar's Wife Wishes Her Freedom

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12. — In company with her lawyer, C. L. Powell of El Paso, Texas, Senora Escobar, wire of General Jose Escobar, former Mexican revolutionary leader, arrived in Montreal from the Texas city to-day.

It is understood that Senora Escobar and her attorney are here to discuss settlement of the annulment of marriage action which she has taken in local courts against the General, the actual negotiations have not yet started, it is stated by Montreal lawyers engaged in the case.

China To Phillipines Air Line To Be Opened

SHANGHAI, January 12 (C.P.). —The L. E. Gale Company, of Shanghai, importers of aircraft, today announced plans for a trail-blazing scot airplane flight between China and the Philippine Islands to pave the way for permanent aerial communication.

A biplane with a 110 horse-power motor probably will be used for the flight, which will begin here on January 17. It will proceed to Canton, 800 miles south, for refuelling and then await favorable weather for the 1,650 miles trip over the Pacific to Manilla.

SHAW TO VISIT U.S. THIS FALL.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Bernard Shaw has not changed his mind about visiting the United States and today he issued a denial of reports that he would go there in the autumn.

"For thirty years," he said "something like this has been said three times a year and contradicted."

He is only 74, however, so there is still plenty of time for him to cross the Atlantic.

Molasses is being shipped from Hawaii to the United States in tanker boats.

BUFFALO INTERESTS PURCHASE PORCUPINE DISTRICT PROPERTY

Ankerite Mines Have Produced n Neighborhood of $750,000 in Gold.

COMMONWEALTH ACTIVE.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12. (Special to Examiner.)—The mining market though quiet, displayed underlying strength with prices holding well up to last week's closing levels. News from the north, which has been coming down in improving quantity of late, was scarce the whole solution apparently enjoying a breathing space following activity of the past few weeks.

One interesting report was to the effect the property of Ankerite gold mines in Deloro township, Porcupine district, had been sold to Buffalo interests understood to be identified with March gold, which holds an adjoining property. Ankerite is equipped with a 300 ton mill and is reported to have produced in the neighbourhood of $750,000 in gold. Controlling interest was owned by the Porcupine Gold Fields Development and Finance Co.

Common West has been an active member of the lower priced oil group for some time. A calgary wire to-day states the company has approximately 12,000 cubic feet of gas in its new well. This is considered a good commercial production but the company is understood to be planning deeper drilling.

Rumors of exceptionally high grade developments on the bottom of 4,400 level at Kirkland Lake gold continue to reach town. The latest is that unusually rich ore over 7 feet eight inches was recently encountered in the crosscut which is said to have been driven over 150 feet from the shaft.

Spot and futures copper, both standard and electrolytic, was somewhat easier in London to-day, though a fair tonnage of metal was sold therefore distant delivery. New York advices reported copper unchanged. In the latter centre opinion is expressed that despite the cuts of one half cent a pound in both domestic and foreign copper prices late last week, indications point to a resumption of slow buying to furnish depleshment of plant stocks. With the problem of year end inventories out of the way, consumers will likely show more courage in their commitments.

Gold has been found on claims held by C. B. Stevenson in the township of Tyrell west of Gowganda. The discovery was made by Joe Miniiri, a prospector who chanced to be passing over the claims. Samples brought out contains visible gold. A crew has been sent in to undertake stripping and general surface work.

PRESENT FINANCIAL STAND OUTCOME OF THE WORLD WAR

Hard Work and Rigid Economy Only Solution for the Situation.

INTERESTING STATEMENT.

Sir Herbert Holt and many eminent bankers have expressed the opinion that much of our present conomic difficulty is due to the maldistribution of the worlds gold. As Mark Twain would say, everybody is talking about it, but nobody is doing aything.

Truth to tell, there is very little that can be done. Leading international bankers get together and arrange credits and transfers but these effect only temporary conveniences and do little to correct the main situation.

Such expedients are well illustrated by the recent action of the Bank of France in demonstrating that all gold should be "fine". This was done to check the flow of English gold to France, as England had very little "fine" gold and the cost of refining raised the differential at which it was profitable to ship the precious metal to France.

Thus the flow of English gold to France was retarded but the fact that Great Britain is buying more from France than the latter country is from Great Britain remains a fact, and as long as it remains a fact, the drain of English gold to French coffers will continue.

The situation is even more aggravated in the case of the United States, whose imports are so small that the nations of the world must pay largely in gold for what they desire to buy. The position of Canada is that it takes just about all our annual production of gold to correct our trade balance with the United States, leaving us scarce enough to carry on our own business.

That this sterilization of such large quantities of gold accentuated the rapid drop in prices can scarcely be doubted. It has been estimated by the experts, and seems reasonable, that the world needs a three per cent annual increasein gold production to match present day production and hold prices stable. For the past eight years the increase in gold production has been about two per cent. This indicated and was actually accomplishing an orderly reduction in price levels. But when the effect of the vast and legitimate hoardings of France and United States began to be realized the price of basic commodities tumbled alarmingly.

The debtor nations of the world must now pay their debts in gold which is scarce and high in price or they must pay in goods and services which are low in price. A year ago 100 bushels of wheat would approximately redeem a $100 bond. This year it takes 200 bushels..

And so it would seem about time that the leading bankers and economists told the people frankly that we are at length paying for the war in real earnest, and that the only way we can accomplish it is by hard work and rigid economy.

Canada can set a good example by a determined effort to balance her external trade and keep her large and growing gold production within the empire.—G.C.S.

ITALIAN FLIERS FETED IN BABIA

Eleven Planes To Continue Down Coast to Rio de Janiero Tuesday.

END 7,000 MILE FLIGHT.

BAHIA, Brazil, January 12 (C.P.) —Forty-four Italian airmen, led by General Italo Balbo, Air Minister, and Colonel Umberto Maddalena, one of the Nobible rescuers, were the honored guests of the Government and the Italian colony here to-day as their eleven seaplanes, victors over the Atlantic, swung at anchor in the harbor.

To-morrow or the next day they will continue down the Brazilian coast to Rio de Janeiro, alighting on beautiful Botofogo Bay in what probably will be the end of their 7,000 mile trans-Atlantic flight from Orbetello, Italy.

UKRAINIANS MAY CHANGE CALENDAR.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Change of the Ukrainian calendar from the Julian to the Gregorian was advocated by V. H. Koman, vice-president of the Ukrainian Reading Society, "Prosvita," in a report to the organization yesterday. The Julian calendar, used by 350,000 Ukrainians in Canada, was not practical, he declared. Workers who followed the calendar were obliged to observe two Christmas holidays.

LIGHT DECLINE NEW YORK LIST

General Trend Weakens Following Heaviness in the Rail Issues.

LIGHT TURNOVER

(By Claude A. Jagger)
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. —An obviously tired stock market sought refuge in a decline to-day, although the volume of trading was considerably lighter than the turnover on the recent advances.

Heaviness of the rails, which had been piloting the new year rally, together with the failure of U.S. Steel to respond to its favorable unfilled tonnage report, were signals for renewed activity by the shorts, who also looked ahead to the unfavorable fourth quarter earnings reports which soon will be appearing in bulk.

After an early sag, the market improved somewhat toward noon by speculative sentiment refused to be stimulated by this rally and the downward trend was resumed, gathering a little momentum as it proceeded. The largest losses were in carrier and specialty shares although all groups were affected.

Atchison, reading and New York Central sank 4 points, while Erie, Delaware and Hudson, Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Railway and Frisco dropped about 3. This was also the extent of the decline in Westinghouse, Allied Chemical Republic Steel preferred and Eastman Kodak.

U.S. Steel, after making up an early loss of a point, slipped off again and joined a sizable group including American Can, Case, Auburn Auto, Gulf States Steel, Union Pacific and Rock Island, that showed recessions of 2 to 2¾.

Pronounced easiness was still evident in the money markets. Demand loans held officially at 1½ per cent, with plenty of funds offered at 1 per cent.

LIQUOR EXPORT TO U. S. CUT OFF

Total, However, Remains Unchanged—Now Goes to St. Pierre and Miquelon.

ROUTE MUCH LONGER.

OTTAWA, Ont. Jan. 12.—The ban which prevents the export of liquor from Canada to the United States ports has entirely eliminated direct shipments to that country, but in no ways does it seem to have affected the general total of Canada's liquor exports.

Information given to-day by the Department of National Revenue shows that spirituous beverages now embark on a longer and more circuitous journey when they are cleared from the distilleries. To much the same extent has exports of whiskey to the United States declined. In December 1930, when compared with the same month in 1929. They increased to the French possessions of St. Pierre and Miquelon.

There was little or no feature to the wheat market Saturday, trade volume being the smallest in several weeks. Prices held within a narrow range, dipping 3- during the first period and recovering later. Export sales overnight were somewhat larger than was reported early, and were finally placed at 500,000 bushels, but very little of this business was reflected in this market. Liverpool was slightly lower than due and this caused a little selling at the start, and while the market climbed to 1-8 higher than the close Friday, even this was not held, prices mostly being 1-8 to ¼ lower. Buenos Aires after opening ¼ higher closed ¼ to ½ lower. Chicago old crop futures were slightly firmer due to some foreign short covering going on, while the July futures was slightly lower due too forecasted rains or snow over many winter wheat states during the week-end. Corn was heavy and about one cent lower. Locally the demand for cash wheat was quiet with spreads unchanged offerings were very light and only small lots were trading. There has been a small volume of new business coming to the mills the last day or two and there is a shade better tone to inquiry. The weather in the Argentine is now favorable and threshing is now progressing, and an increased movement to seaboard is anticipated. Broomhall reported the milling demand for wheat as very dull. A two sided market within a narrow range is indicated for the present, but advise the buying side on the weak spots.

Coarse Grains—The futures markets were steady but very dull. There was a few cars oats and barley worked to Eastern Canda overnight, but the coarse grains generally are quiet and there is a continued absence of any export business or inquiry.

Liverpool cables due unchanged to 1-8 lower based on Winnipeg.

STEADIER TONE IN GOLD GROUP

Lakeshore Up ¼ at $24.75 While McIntyre Gains 15 to $22.15.

IMPERIAL OIL EASES.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12. (CP)—Trading was relatively quiet in to-day's session on the mineing market, but underlying strength marked action in the gold section and Base Metals and oils were merely irregular.

Lake Shore was strong at $24.75, up ¼, McIntyre gained 15 to $22.15, Dome 10 to $9.50 and Granada a like amount to $1.65. Mining Corp., advanced another 7 to $2.07, Kirkland Lake gold 4 to 69, Premier 595 but balance of the lower-priced base metals were steady. International Nickel firmed 15 to 15.75 and Noranda was holding at $15.00.

Commonwealth eased 3 to 31 and Imperial 10 to $17.90. Ajax and Acme were up a couple each to $1.67 and 27, respectively and Home Oil regained 5 to $1.75.

CHAIRMEN NAMED AT FIRST MEETING

ing to ask each and everyone of the committees to meet at least once a month and more if possible. Also would I urge every Councillor to familiarise himself with the work that is going on. It is the only way we can expect co-operation and good fellowship. I also appeal to you to give full one hundred per cent attendance at committee meetings.

"I have said on previous occasions, in referring to interviews with different commissioners connected with banks and railroads that there are many manufacturers in the offing, and it is the duty of this Council to do its best to secure one or more factories this year. It will be our duty", he reiterated in adding emphasis to his remarks.

"There has been a lot of business depression, but we are thankful that in Peterborough, we have the least unemployment of any city of a similar size in the country. By February it is confidently expected that local manufacturers will be absorbing more employees, and by that means our unemployed list may look for a material reduction."

"In conclusion," said His Worship, "I hope this will be a banner year for Peterborough and that we will continue to have the best of fellowship, with the one object in view of making this a better city."

Committee Chairmen

In moving Alderman James Hamilton as chairman of the Board of Works Alderman Cotton said that Ald. Hamilton was a man of experience on the Board, having served several years as chairman. He had plenty of time and he thought it was in the best interests of the city to appoint him as chairman. Alderman Stocker seconded the motion.

Alderman Cotton is again the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee but the appointment was not made until after considerable discussion. Casting no reflection on splendid service which Alderman Cotton had given the city as chairman of the committee in the past Ald. Tuggey thought that there ought to be a change because from what he understood there was not the co-operation in the Fire department that there should be and he believed that a new chairman might be able to clean up conditions which he alleged were prevalent at the Fire hall. Asked by Alderman Stocker who he had in line Alderman Tuggey had no suggestion to make. Alderman Cotton replied that he was in the fire hall at least three nights a week and outside of one instance last year he said he believed that there was nothing wrong in the fire hall but was willing to stand aside for a new chairman.

Alderman McNabb—Without casting any reflection on Alderman Cotton, I believe that it is in the interests of the city to change the chairman of committees so that all the men could get to understand thoroughly the business of the city. I am satisfied that Alderman Cotton worked hard on the Fire, Water and Light committee but I believe that another man might rectify the trouble in the fire department.

Alderman Cotton—The firemen have assured me that everything is going fine at the hall.

Alderman Stocker—There are some men better qualified than others to head committees and when they have made a success of things why not keep them there—any organization would do that.

Alderman Turner—I am in and out of the fire hall a great deal and as far as I can see there is no criticism of the way Alderman Cotton has handled things. I am satisfied and certainly think we should keep him there.

Aldermen Fitzpatrick and Macdonald moved that Alderman Cotton be the chairman.

Alderman McNabb moved an amendment to appoint Alderman Tuggey chairman and to test the feeling of the council in the matter Alderman Holland seconded it. The amendment was lost and Alderman Cotton was declared chairman. Alderman McNabb moved that it be made unanimous.

On motion of Aldermen Turner and Holland Alderman Macdonald was elected as the chairman of the Manufacturers' committee.

Alderman Phelan was again chosen as chairman of the Finance committee on motion of Aldermen Macdonald and Cotton. For the past ten years Alderman Phelan has headed this committee and his work was praised by several of the aldermen.

On motion of Aldermen Stocker and Tuggey, Alderman Holland was re-elected as chairman of the Property committee.

The Legal and reception committee will be split with the same alderman heading the Legal and Claims committees as many of the Aldermen thought that the work of these two committees were interlapped. Alderman Fitzpatrick was elected chairman of the Legal Committee on motion of Aldermen Phelan and Hamilton.

In re-electing Alderman Stocker to the Parks committee Alderman Turner paid tribute to the work which he had done in the past and thought that the council would be well advised to keep him as chairman of the committee. The motion was seconded by Alderman Holland.

The Reception committee which in past years was incorporated with the Legal committee will now be separate with Alderman Turner as head. Alderman Stocker seconded by Alderman Holland, that Alderman McNabb be the chairman but the amendment moved by Aldermen Cotton and Macdonald that Alderman Turner be the chairman carried.

A by-law was ordered to be drawn up for to-night's meeting of the council forming a reception committee on the list of standing committees.

Standing Committees

The following were the chairmen and members elected to the Standing committees for the year 1931:

Board of Works—Alderman James Hamilton (chairman) and the whole council.

Fire, Water and Light—Alderman Robert Cotton (chairman), Aldermen Macdonald, Phelan, Fitzpatrick, Tuggey, Turner and Stocker.

Finance—Alderman Nagel Phelan (chairman), and the whole council.

Property—Alderman Daniel Holland (chairman), Aldermen Stocker, Tuggey, Cotton, Macdonald and Hamilton.

Legal—Alderman John Fitzpatrick (chairman), Aldermen Cotton, Stocker, Hamilton, McNabb and Phelan.

Railways and Parks — Alderman Walter Stocker (chairman), Aldermen McNabb, Turner, Cotton, Phelan, Holland and Tuggey.

Claims — Alderman Fitzpatrick (chairman) and City Clerk S. R. Armstrong and City Treasurer Frank Adams.

Reception—Alderman Mel. Turner (chairman) and the whole council.

LITTLE CHANGE IN PRICE TREND

Nickel, Noranda, Brazilian, Ford of Canada and Oils Lightly Traded.

STRENGTH IN C. D.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12. (CP)—Quiet trading and narrow price changes marked trading the first two hours on Toronto Stock Exchange to-day and at noon prices were little changed from the close of last week.

Nickel, Noranda, Brazilian, Ford of Canada and the oils were very lightly traded. Most of these stocks were unchanged to slightly lower. Nickel was off ⅛ at 15⅛, Brazilian off ¾ at 25,e Noranda unchanged at 15. Ford of Canada came out ¼ higher at 24 but dropped back to its previous closing level.

Canadian dredge continued to display strength, rising nearly a point on limited number of sales to above 31. Consolidated Bakeries was strong at 9. Walkers eased to 75¾ and C.P.R. lost ½ point to 41½.

NEW YORK STATE ABLE TO USE SHARE OF ST. LAWRENCE POWER

Engineers' Report Shows Output Bo Available in Year 1937.

PROFIT FROM SALE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—New York's share of the power available in the International section of the St. Lawrence River can be absorbed beneficially by users of electricity in this State, present and potential, according to a report of the marketing board of the St. Lawrence Power Development Commission.

This report, written by Colonel John P. Hogan, consulting engineer, and Dr. John Bauer, economic consultant and statistician, members of the Marketing Board, holds that power from a development of the St. Lawrence could be made available by 1937.

Considering the direct benefits alone, St. Lawrence power can be transmitted, economically to New York city, but the economic benefits would be less than for other points of delivery in the State on account of the great length of transmission lines." The report reads:

Best Method.

"The best way to utilize the St. Lawrence power in order to preserve its direct and indirect economic advantages, would be to use a certain portion of it at the site in continuous industries and distribute the balance in existing markets where it could be mingled with power of other sources, such as steam-generated electricity and power from inland streams controlled by storage."

The report, submitted as the findings of the Marketing Board will be incorporated in the full report of the Commission, which will be made public on Thursday.

The report holds the best way to obtain the appropriate market for the power to realize full economic benefits would be by contract with existing utility corporations on fair and reasonable terms.

"If no satisfactory contract can be made with existing utilities," the report continues, "it is our opinion that a profitable initial development can be made immediately for industries at the site and for distribution in the immediate vicinity."

The experts find that a reasonable profit can be made in the sale of power to industries at the site and that the indirect benefits to the state in building up such industries would be great. They observe that in recent years industries using large quantities of power have migrated to other parts where cheap power was available. The report then continues, in part:

Large Investment Needed.

"Although a very large investment of private capital, running into hundreds of millions of dollars, would be required for the industries and communities which would have to be built up to utilize the full power development, and a considerable period would be required for complete absorption, it is probable that such industries will be attracted and that the initial increment of 300 000 firm horse-power could be absorbed in a relatively short period.

"The operating expenses for a separate power house for the New York State share of the development are estimated a $660 000 a year or sixty cents an installed horsepower.

"The total annual charges and operating expenses for New York State's share would be $6,560,000 at the generating station. The annual charges are taken as 6.9 per cent of which 5 per cent. is in terest, 1 per cent. amortization, and 0.9 per cent renewals.

IRRIGATION PLAN BE BOON TO SIND

Nearly 6,000,000 Acres More Available Through $80,000,000 Project.

FINISHED IN 1934.

LONDON, Jan. 12 (By George Hamton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—A gigantic irrigation project which will cost $80,000,000 is being carried out in Sind, the territory which occupies two-fifths of the Bombay Presidency and which, it was suggested in the Indian Conference to-day, should be made a separate Province.

The project is designed to create another "world granary." It involves constructions of dams on the Indus River, 400 miles from the sea, and it is expected it will increase the cultivated area in the Sind to nearly 6,000,000 acres, almost three times the present cultivated area.

The project is to be completed in 1934.

DEMPSEY NAMES STRIBLING AS BEST OF HEAVYWEIGHTS

Former World's Champion Rates Schmeling Second and Sharkey Third in His Annual Selection of Ring Celebrities.

MUST LOOK TO YOUNG GEORGIAN TO REGAIN AMERICAN SUPREMACY IN FISTIC ART CIRCLES

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (C.P.).— W. L. (Young) Stribling, of Macon Ga., is the best of the current crop of heavyweights in the opinion of Jack Dempsey.

Making his annual selections of world fistic stars for "The Ring" boxing magazine, Dempsey places Stribling at the top of the heap with Max Schmeling second and Jack Sharkey third.

"To Stribling, I think, we must look to regain American supremacy in the heavyweight ranks," said Dempsey "for it is my opinion that if Sharkey has ten more opportunities to win he still will fall short of the mark. Were I to attempt a comeback, which I am certain I will not, poor as I might be, there is one heavyweight I am sure I can knock out—none other than Jack Sharkey."

Here's the way Dempsey ranked the leaders in various fistic divisions:—

HEAVYWEIGHT.— Young Stribling, Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Primo Carnera, Tuffy Griffiths, George Godfrey.

LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHTS.— Maxie Rosenbloom, Jimmy Slattery, Larry Johnson, Lew Scozza, Tait Littman, Pete Latzo, George Courtney.

MIDDLEWEIGHT.— Mickey Walker, Len Harvey, Dave Shade, Harry Smith, Angel Chiville, Vince Dundee, Jack Hood.

WELTERWEIGHTS.— Young Corbett, Tommy Freeman, Jimmy McLarnin, Jackie Fields, "Young" Jack Thompson.

LIBRARY HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR INCREASE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT

92,941 BOOKS USED.

"The year 1930 was the most successful in the history of the Peterborough Public Library. Both the adult and juvenile sections, showing a most gratifying increase in point of view of attendance and in circulation of books", stated F. M. DelaFosse, Librarian in presenting his annual report at the meeting of the Library Board held under the chairmanship of J. A. O'Brien.

Continuing Mr. Dela Fosse said.

The Reading Rooms also were thoroughly well patronized and the public showed itself appreciative of the privileges accorded it by observing, in a noticeable manner, the rules and regulations. There were a few regrettable cases of mutilation, but in only one instance was the damage of any consequence.

The increasing popularity of the Library is most surely evinced by the fact that although there have been many circulating libraries started during the year through the city, we have had a most healthy increase in the circulation of books in every department.

106 books were presented to the Library during the year. Some of these were quite valuable.

There were 823 applications for borrowers' cards, being 119 more than last year in the adult department.

The increased circulation has of course, caused the withdrawal of many more books than in former years and has necessitated the purchase of a correspondingly large number of new volumes. This is true of both the adult and juvenile departments. During the past twelve months about nine hundred books from the adult and 731 books from the juvenile department have had to be discarded. During the same period there have been added to the library 2259 books. 1288 adult and 971 juvenile.

The increased expenditure in books has, I think, been amply justified by the largely increased circulation and by the attendance in the reading rooms and in the reference department.

Juvenile Department

In the juvenile department there has been activity all along the line. The reading room attendance was 12,031 during the year, an increase of over 250 in attendance in 1929.

From the figures compiled by the Librarian, it is readily seen that the increase in the circulation in the juvenile department in 1930 as compared with the previous year, amounts to 2691 books. Books of fiction take first place in juvenile popularity, and incidentally in the adult preference also. In the former instance the total number of books of fiction issued last year was 16,605 an increase over 1929 of 967 books.

Books of philology come next in order of preference in the juvenile section, and show an increased circulation of 500 over 1929 or a total circulation of 4546. There is quite a decided decrease in the use of reference books among the younger people amounting to 851 books. The total issue of reference books was 2362.

During the year 1929, 410 new books of fiction were purchased for the juvenile department, 100 books on philology, 91 on travel and 89 on sociology. In all 971 new books were purchased, 18 of these being religious books.

In the reading room an increased attendance, in the past year of 271 people is noticed, while 686 applications for library membership were taken out last year as compared with 602 in 1929.

Adult Department

In the adult department an increase in book circulation is apparent in every class of literature. Collectively that increase amounts to some 6,728 books. The complete circulation figures for this department are as follows:

The overplus in salaries is accounted for by the extra help needed in the children's department and the extra pay given to the janitor during Sundays in the Library. The work of the staff has been very satisfactory throughout the year.

Scout News and Notices

FIRST. ST. JOHN'S TROOP.

The weekly meeting of the First St. John's Peterborough Troop got under way as usual last Friday evening with flagbreak. After the customary inspection by the leaders, the boys went to their corners for patrol-in-council. Here the idea of another father and son banquet was discussed. First-aid work was taken by some of the patrols, while others specialized on other parts of the work. During the evening the following promotions were announced by the Scoutmaster on behalf of the Court of Honor: P.L. Victor Millard, promoted to Troop Leader; Patrol Second Reginald Perks, promoted to Patrol Leader; Scout Fred Ford, promoted to the rank of Second. These patrol appointments concern the Buffalo Patrol. The camp fire program was particularly enjoyable, being featured by much singing. The Wolf Patrol sang a song entitled "Three Blind Mice" (no applause), and Bill Coleman, in his inimitable style also sang.

The final standing of the patrols in the competition was read out and the competition was closed as follows: Seals, 137 points (P. L. Henry); Wolves, 143 points (P.L. Wemp); Buffaloes, 145½ points (P.L. Millard); Bulldogs, 152 points, winners (P.L. Coleman). Rover Scout Howard was present during the evening and gave baluable assistance. The meeting closed in the usual manner.

DEPRESSION

"I'm a Different Woman"

"Two years ago I began to get depressed, and everything was too much trouble for me. I was a misery to myself and everyone around me. I was advised to take Glauber Salts by my friends who said it was the same as Kruschen but it did me no good, so at last my husband got me a bottle of Kruschen and no one would realise the different woman I am. I have been taking Kruschen now constantly for two years. My daughter also would not be without it. I have got my neighbour to take Kruschen as well and she has found its worth as she feels a different woman."

—(Mrs. G. A. K.)

The commonest cause of depression is partial constipation—an insidious complaint because the sufferer is seldom aware of it. It means the gradual accumulation of body poisons which dull the mind, damp the spirits, sap the nervous strength and lower the whole vitality.

Kruschen Salts make constipation impossible. Therefore, if you keep to Kruschen you need never know the meaning of melancholy; never feel "nervy" or depressed.

Husband and Wife Both Relieved

All Credit Goes to Dodd's Kidney Pills

"I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills for backache and they sure did me a lot of good," writes Mrs. J. A. Kunze, Box 232, Herbert, Sask. "My husband used them last winter after he had the Flu which left him with such a backache that he was unable to get up. After taking two and one-half boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills he was completely relieved."

Three Styles:

BAKER'S PREMIUM SHRED—in the familiar triple-sealed, air-fresh cartons.

BY THE POUND—the same fresh, full-flavoured coconut in bulk.

"ALL the many tasty dishes that can be made with coconut," say prominent restaurateurs, "take first place in the menu among our men customers." Yet why should your husband have to get his favourite desserts away from home? Such home-made desserts are so much more appetizing.

You'll find extra praise for such tasty dishes if they are made with Baker's coconut. It's always so lusciously-fresh, full-flavoured and handy. Made in Canada. A1-31

VANDALS SMEAR PAINT ON PALACE

Police Blame Reds For Disfiguring Cathedral in Breslau.

PROTEST AGAINST BRUENING

BRESLAU, Germany, Jan. 12. — (C.P.).—Vandals combining an anti-religious protest with agitation against the Bruening Government, smeared red paint on the facade of Cardinal Bertram's palace during the night, scrawling signs derogatory to the Chancellor.

Herr Bruening is to be the guest at a reception in the Palace to-night. The signs of the facade read, "Death to Bruening, the Hunger Dictator."

The vandals, whom police believe were Communists, emptied a bucket of red paint in the main entrance of the Cathedral and smeared the paint on the statue of the bishop near the Cathedral entrance.

HOME TOWNERS

Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—Have you obtained your T.V.L. hockey schedule from Dr. H. T. Scott? If not, see that you do and check up closely on the games as they are played.

It is expected that the Rev. J. C. Robinson will take up residence in town this week. He is being inducted into the charge of St. Andrew's Church on Thursday.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. G. Lucy has been confined to her home through illness for the past few days, and hope that she will have a speedy recovery.

Messrs. J. R. Battisby and G. Thompson were visitors to Brighton on Friday.

Several of the fans from town took in the Stirling-Madoc game on Friday evening.

Membership Drive By Marmora L.A.

MARMORA, Jan. 12. (Examiner Correspondence). — The January meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Marmora United Church took place on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Sabine, a good attendance being present. Mrs. H. R. Haacke, president occupied the chair and much business, old and new, was dealt with.

A new feature, having for its aim the greater efficiency of the organization, is being tried out this year. The members of the Ladies' Aid were divided into six circles with six ladies in each with power to add to their numbers. Each circle will endeavour to raise a certain amount of money this year. The Circles are as follows: Circle 1, Mrs. F. N. Marett, Miss M. Brown, Mrs. E. Rose, Mrs. J. Nayler, Mrs. A. Kennedy Mrs. (Rev.) T. H. Howard and Mrs. T. Warren. Circle II, Mrs. F. R. Wells, Mrs. N. Mitchell, Mrs. F. Sweet, Mrs. P. Sopha, Mrs. S. Henry and Mrs. M. Jones. Circle III, Mrs. E. C. Prentice, Mrs. H. Nayler, Mrs. W. Narrie, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, Mrs. A. H. Connor and Mrs. (Dr.) D. L. Curtis. Circle IV, Mrs. D. E. Bell, Mrs. C. Jones, Mrs. T. E. Potts, Mrs. W. Grant, Mrs. C. Airhart and Mrs. A. Anderson. Circle V, Mrs. W. E. Gould, Mrs. H. W. Sabine, Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. W. J. Pack, Mrs. (Dr.) D. Thomson and Mrs. C. Reynolds. Circle VI, Mrs. T. A. Bapty, Mrs. H. R. Haacke, Mrs. H. Loveless and other Deloro ladies.

The homes and hostesses for the remaining meetings of the year were decided on. Meetings will be held the first Wednesday in each month. Before the gathering dispersed a duet was rendered by Mrs. D. E. Bell and Mrs. E. C. Prentice and lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. T. N. Marett.

Warsaw Short Courses Meeting With Success

The annual classes in agriculture and home economics at Warsaw are being very well patronised and a good attendance is noted. At present there are 32 boys and 25 girls taking in the courses, and these pupils come as far as ten miles to the school.

On Tuesday there was a special poultry meeting at which E. H. Marston, B.S.A., St. Williams, gave an address. One hundred and fifteen people were in attendance—there were as many visitors as pupils. At the Thursday plowing meeting addressed by Clarke Young of Milliken, 50 men and boys were present. Friday's lecture on fruits and vegetables by J. A. Goldie, B.S.A., Vineland, was attended by 90 interested people.

A literary meeting on Friday morning proved a popular affair. There were 10 boys and 5 girls from this county who, as prize winners, were given trips to the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, and some of these addressed this meeting.

Besides giving higher education in farming to country inhabitants, the courses should have the practical result of sponsoring better produce, and thereby enrich the farmer who at present is making only a bare living. It is for this reason that the attendance numbers are gratifying.

Sound films of jungle hunting expeditions are popular in Germany this winter.

OBITUARY

MRS. H. BURRELL

STERLING, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence) — The funeral service of the late Myrtle McMurray, beloved wife of Henry Burrell, in her 21st year was conducted by Rev. B. Byers at St. John's Church, assisted by Rev. E. W. Rowland.

There were many beautiful floral tributes and each minister gave an address, touching on the brevity of life and immortality beyond. The choir vested in white robes, preceded the body from the entrance of the church.

The hymns, "When Our Heads Are Bowed with Woe," "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed Away" and "How Bright Those Glorious Spirits Shine" were sung as the cortege proceeded from the church. The hymn, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" was sung by the choir.

EPHRAIM BICKELL.

LAKEFIELD, January 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Ephraim Bickell, held from his late residence, Queen Street, on Thursday afternoon, was largely attended by a wide circle of friends and neighbors. Rev. W. J Creighton officiated, with Rev. J. B. McCormack reading the lesson. The funeral service was simple, following the Church of England ritual, but was distinctly impressive. Mr. Creighton drew attention to the sudden manner in which death had come to the deceased, who had been active and going about his accustomed life when stricken down. He is safe now in the keeping of the Father Whom he knew and loved on earth.

Pall-bearers were Messrs. Fred G. Kendall, Bruce Preston, Garfield Crowe, John R. Darling, Frank Darling, and William Petty. Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough.

Mr. Bickell lived for many years in Dummer Township not far from Hall's Glen, and there he married Mary Payne, who predeceased him three and one-half years ago. About fourteen years ago Mr. Bickell sold his farm and moved to the village. He was keenly interested in the village and made a large circle of friends, who regret his passing. Always cheery and friendly, he will be a distinct loss to his community, and in a quiet, unostentatious way did much among those who needed help. He was a strong Liberal in his political leanings and very devoted to his community and friends.

Canadiens Regain Top Place in Canadian Group

MAROONS LOSE TO QUAKERS BY 4-3 DECISION

Habitants Set Fast Pace Throughout Game to Defeat Leafs 6-1.

CONACHER TALLIES.

Hawks Shove Rangers Back Into Third Place By 2-0 Count.

TORONTO, Ont., January 12 (C. P.). — Flashing fast, spectacular hockey, Les Canadiens, of Montreal, regained first place in the Canadian section of the National League by trouncing Toronto Maple Leafs, 6 to 1, while their intra-city rivals, Montreal Maroons, were suffering an overtime defeat at the hands of the lowly Philadelphia Quakers, 4 to 2.

These were the only games played on Saturday night. On Sunday four United States division teams clashed. New York Rangers slipped to third place, when they went down before the speedy Chicago Blackhawks, 2 to 0, while Boston Bruins increased their hold on the top rung by defeating the Falcons at Detroit 4 to 1.

While the Torontonians were decisively outscored at Montreal they were not so decisively outplayed as the score might indicate. Both teams travelled a terrific clip with the Flying Frenchmen living up to their nickname by setting the pace throughout. They were blessed by that pleasing facility, possessed by teams when they are "on," of making every move count, and, while the Leafs narrowly missed on a number of promising plays, the Habitants "clicked" on most of their dangerous sallies.

Howie Morenz, incomparable centre ice star, engineered the play which put the home club in the lead less than a minute after the start. Johnny Gagnon took his perfectly executed pass to slap the rubber into the Leaf net.

Aurel Joliat, hockey's "mighty atom," increased the Habitants' lead half-way through the second chapter, by scoring unassisted. Then Marty Burke added another less than six minutes later following a three-man thrust and the game was "in the bag." Chuck Conacher notched the losers' lone marker in the last minute of the frame, but it did not mean anything as the winners scored thrice in the last 20 minutes, Gagnon getting his second tally and G. Mantha fired a brace of goals into the Toronto cage.

The defeat shoved the Leafs down into second place, one point behind Canadiens and one in the van of the Maroons. The latter club's loss at Philadelphia was one of the biggest upsets of the season.

Nels Stewart opened the scoring near the end of the first period. Then the Quakers gave the fans an inkling of what was to come by tieing the score in exactly 50 seconds. Hib Milks got the equalizer on a pass from Crossett.

Two quick goals, late in the second period, shot the Quakers to the front Jerry Lowrey got the first and Hutton the second. Stewart reduced the margin in the last minute of play and Bill Phillips tied the count after 14 minutes had elapsed in the third.

"Peaches" Lyons surprised the Maroons, Quakers and everyone else by scoring the winning goal half way through the extra frame on a triple passing bout with Lowrey and Hutton.

Chicago regained sole possession of second place in the junior section by outskating Rangers for their victory. Youthful "Mush" March, started them on the winning trail by stickhandling through the entire New York team to score after eight minutes of play.

No scoring the hectic second session which was featured by brilliant hockey on the part of both teams and particularly clever goal-keeping by Johnny Roach and the shutout king, Chuck Gardner.

Rangers were caught napping in the final chapter when, with four men attacking the Blackhawk citadel, Des Jardins broke away, flanked by Ingram and with only one man on the defence, the former easily netted.

A brace of goals in the opening frame and another pair in the final 20 minutes gave the Bruins their clean cut triumph over the Falcons. Dutch Gainor and Harry Oliver were the successful snipers in the first spasm while Red Beattie and Eddie Shore completed the rout in the final.

A determined mid-game offensive by the Motor City team netted them only one goal. Tommy Figmore tallied it on a pass from George Hay, but the Falcons really deserved more than the solitary marker as they broke through to have tiny Thompson, Bostons keen-eyed goal guardian at their mercy on a number of occasions, only to have him block the rubber in heart-breaking fashion.

NEW HAVEN EAGLES DOWNED BY SPRINGFIELD INDIANS, 2-1

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 12. — The Springfield Indians clipped the wings of the New Haven Eagles 2 to 1 in a Canadian-American Hockey League tilt here Saturday night while Obs Heximer and Jack Keating were halted short of a decision in their abbreviated bout in the third period.

A palpable high stick by Georgie Himes, New Haven veteran, caused Heximer to have recourse to manual weapons. Keating, thereupon, took up the quarrel of Himes with the result that both Heximer and Keating sustained major penalties. Radley of the Eagles, later was given a major for expressing disagreement with a referee's decision.

Indians Move up by Defeating Syracuse

SCORES ONLY TALLY

CHARLIE CONACHER

Spectacular player on the Leafs' "Kid" forward line who scored the only goal for the Toronto squad in Canadian tangle at Montreal on Saturday night.

CLEVELAND IN SECOND PLACE

LONDON BEATS PIRATES 6-3.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—Cleveland went into second place in the International Hockey League race Saturday night by defeating Syracuse's strengthened last-place team 3 to 2 before a "standing room only" crowd in the local Elysium. It was the Indians' eleventh victory against eight defeats.

It was a bad night for Goalkeeper Farrell of Syracuse, who withstood forty-eight shots, but saw three go shooting past. That was one too many. Goalkeeper Baxter of Cleveland had a more quiet evening, but averaged about the same, letting two into the net while stopping thirty-six.

Bisons Win 1—0

FORT ERIE, Ont., Jan. 12.—Buffalo defeated Detroit here Saturday night 1 to 0, in an International Hockey League game, which was slow and uninteresting with sticky ice preventing fast combination. The lone goal which was credited to Stan Jackson, was flukey as the puck was deflected off Spring's skate into the net. Jackson, with less than four minutes to play in the initial period, broke with the puck from behind his own blue line. He stickhandled his way up to the defense, but was edged off to the end boards. He centered the puck and as it reached the mouth of the goal, it struck Spring and glided into the cage. Venne never had a chance to save the shot. Both teams kept up spasmodic attacks, but close checking prevented team-work on the slow ice.

Pirates Defeated

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 12.—Pittsburg went down to defeat before London, 6 to 3, in an International League hockey game here Saturday night. The teams went into overtime deadlocked at 3 to 3, and the visitors took advantage of a shortage of Yellow Jacket man-power to boost their total and win the contest.

The first period saw only a lone goal registered, and that by Groh, the Tecumseh's stalwart left wing. Groh faked a pass to a mate as he reached the defense, then cut sharply to the right to elude the local rearguard and left the disc over "Bud" Fisher's shoulder as he reached the corner of the cage.

O.H.A. BULLETIN.

The Campbellford-at-Peterborough H.C. Junior game, originally scheduled for to-night, will be played on Thursday, Jan. 13.

INDIANS WIN EASILY.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 12.—The Springfield Indians last night scored a 6-to-1 victory over the New Haven Eagles in a Canadian - American Hockey League game. The Indians went on a spree in the third period, scoring four goals after what was otherwise an evenly contested match.

Moore, Springfield's netman, was an outstanding player, while Callighen and Seibert shared honors in the Indians' offence. Pringle starred for the Eagles.

Boucher accounted for New Haven's lone tally.

LEADS CANUCK RUSH

HOWIE MORENZ

Canadian centre man who lead the Habitants to 6-1 victory over Toronto Leafs to regain first place in Canadian section of the N.H.L.

FOUR TEAMS ARE WELL UP IN RACE IN N. H. L. GROUPS

Canadians, Leafs, Maroons and Americans Are in Dead Heat.

BOSTON WELL IN LEAD.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12. (CP)—Four teams in each section of the National Hockey League are still in the race for the respective pennants and judging by week end results, anything may happen. In the Canadian loop, Canadiens again took the leadership, but only by one point. The fighting Maple Leafs are in second place, and Maroons are another point further back. The latter missed a golden opportunity when they were downed by the lowly Philadelphians in the real upset of the week. Americans are two and a half games behind Canadiens, but still within striking distance. Ottawa is in last place with 12 points and seem hopelessly out of the contention.

Boston Well in Lead

In the American group, Boston seems headed for the stars. The hub town boys have now won 15 games and tied two for a total of 32 points, six more than Chicago, and eight more than Rangers. In fourth place is Detroit with 21, and Philadelphia added two to the previous total of three by defeating Maroons.

The individual scoring lists did not change greatly. Ebbie Goodfellow of Detroit, has scored 25 points and is still leading the American section, while Howie Morenz of Canadiens leads the Canadian group with 21. Both have scored 15 goals, the balance of the points being made up in assists.

Assist artists, so far, are Primeau of Toronto and Boucher of the Rangers. Primeau has helped out 10 times, as compared with Boucher's 12.

Gardner, of Chicago, added another shutout to his total and is now leading the entire league. He has blanked the opposition eight times. Next in line is the Toronto Maple Leafs, who have registered seven, using two goalies to achieve the feat.

Alex Smith of Ottawa, with a total of 59 minutes, has been penalized more than any other player in the Canadian loop, while far ahead in the opposition group is Harvey Rockburn, Detroit, who has been in durance vile for a total of 76 minutes to date.

Canadian Section

Team: Canadiens, played 20, won 11, lost 6, tied 3, 25 points.

Most goals—Morenz, 15.

Most assists—Primeau, Toronto, 10.

Most shutouts—Toronto, 7.

Most penalties—Alex Smith, Ottawa, 59 minutes.

American Section

Team—Boston, played 22, won 15, lost 5, tied 2, 32 points.

Most goals—W. Cook, Rangers, 17.

Most assists—Boucher, Rangers, 12.

Most shutouts—Gardner, Chicago, 8.

Most penalties—Rochburn, Detroit, 76 minutes.

RIVER TUNNEL WILL BE REALITY

Work on Sarnia-Port Huron Project Starts Soon as Bill Passes.

OPTIONS SECURED.

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 12. — Word was received in this city over the week-end from W. F. Martin of Windsor that final arangements for the construction of a commercial tunnel under the St. Claire river connecting Sarnia and Port Huron, had been definitely completely.

Mr Martin told the local men who were working with him that he had obtained the necessary financial support at New York. Application was made for the reparation of bill to be submitted to Parliament at Otawa during the coming session, and work will be commenced as soon as the bill is passed.

It is announced that options have been secured on all the property required in Sarnia.

GROUP SYSTEM TO MANAGE FINANCE

NORHAM, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—The monthly meeting of the Norham Women's Missionary Society was held at the parsonage on Tuesday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Clare, leading the business part of the meeting.

It was decided to extend the group system of the Society to the finance as well as the programs. Mrs. Stanley Brenton read the treasurer's report. The treasurer, the secretary of systematic giving, the three group leaders will form the Finance Committee and the groups this year will manage finance as well as programs.

Mrs. W. Campbell was appointed literature secretary. Mrs. D. Evans read the scriptural lesson and Mrs. W. Newman read the devotional leaflet, "Forgive Us Our Trespasses." The program was in charge of Mrs. Stanley Brenton, first vice-president. A very interesting letter was read from Miss Marion Coon, of China, by Mrs. Lorne Evans. This letter described in detail, Miss Coon's work since returning to China from furlough.

Mrs. Clare read another letter from Rev. Wesley Morgan, of China. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan sailed from Vancouver in September and visited Honolulu and Japan enroute to China. The letter gave a description of their trip by the Yang-tse river when they were fired upon by rebel bands, but they sustained no injury.

A splendid display of Chinese curios were shown. Miss Edna Evans gave an instrumental selection which was much enjoyed. A vote of thanks was given the retiring officers and a social hour spent, afternoon tea being served at the close of the meeting.

The groups for this year are:

Group I—Leader, Mrs. S. Brenton, Mrs. L. Evans, Mrs. Diamond, Mrs. R. Knight, Mrs. N. Gummer, Mrs. D. Knight and Mrs. D. Evans.

Group II—Leader, Mrs. G. Palmateer, Mrs. Windover, Mrs. C. H. Curtis, Mrs. Clare, Mrs. T. Wilton and Mrs. B. Nelson.

Group III—Leader, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. W. Campbell, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. O. Laver, Mrs. D. Turney, Mrs. Denike and Mrs. B. West.

S.S. Class Social

On Wednesday evening, the Young People's Class, of Norham Sunday School, held their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, Gordon Mitchell, president, taking charge of the business session, when it was decided to give $10 to the Maintenance and Missionary Fund.

Miss Dora Palmateer had charge of the program which was as follows: duet, Misses Dora and Lucille Palmateer; solo, Clarence Wilton; duet, Misses Lucille Lean and Edna Evans; instrumental duet, Misses Dora and Lucille Palmateer. Frank Muggridge was in charge of the social hour and had planned three interesting contests which were much enjoyed. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the meeting and a vote of thanks extended to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

FARMERS DRAFT LIBERTY CHARTER

Outline Made Public Saturday —Copies Sent Bennett and MacDonald.

ASK IMMEDIATE RELIEF.

WILKIE, Sask., January 12 (C. P.). — A "charter of liberty" formulated by farmers of North-Western Saskatchewan districts stands outlined as a demand for secession of the West from the rest of Canada if agrarian demands are not granted. Requests named as able to bring immediate relief in the Wests economic crisis include abolition of speculation in farm product marketing, international co-operation to stabilize grain prices, socialization of currency and credit, and introduction of crop insurance.

The "charter" was made public at a meeting held on Saturday at which farm leaders from the Kerrobert and Wilkie area and from points as widely separated as Major and Biggar, met to delineate their stand with regard to the secession resolution passed at Wilkie some weeks ago. Their declared position is a virtual parallel to the stand taken last week at a meeting of farmers and business men at Lloydminster, on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border in the heart of the settlement of Barr colonists.

Prime Minster Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain will be mailed a copy of the "Charter of Liberty," a five hundred word document addressed to Prime Minister Hon. R. B. Bennett.

WILLINGDONS BID MANY FAREWELL

Attend Impressive Last Sermon in St. Bartholomew's Church.

BUSY DAYS.

OTTAWA, Jan. 12.—The Governor-General and Viscountess Willingdon are having exceedingly busy days. In addition to the preparation for the departure from Government House next Wednesday for England, Their Excellencies are taking time to bid farewell to their friends in Ottawa and those arriving here from other parts of Canada.

An incident impressive in its simplicity took place in St. Bartholomew's, Sunday. This modest little church with so much charm about it, looks out on the grounds of Government House. In it each succeeding Governor-General, with his family, has worshipped. Lord and Lady Willingdon have followed in the footsteps of their predecessors in this regard.

At the morning service Their Excellencies were present. The rector, Rev. J. M. Dixon, at the conclusion of his sermon, said: "In the name of the congregation of St. Bartholomew's I would bid Godspeed to Their Excellencies. Our hope is that St. Bartholomew's has been to them during these years a true spiritual home where the Father of us all has been able to provide strength and refreshment in life's journey.

Kelly's Rink Wins From Wellman 12-10

HASTINGS, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—Kelley's rink carried off the honors in the first knockout schedule of the Curling Club played this week, when they won from Wellman 12 to 10.

The games all drew large galleries for the opening of the season and were very keenly contested. Wednesday night, Bailey got a close game from Coughlan, 10 to 9, while Wellman won from Doughty 17 to 5.

DRAFTING ROOM WALLOPS TOOL MAKERS 4 TO 1

MOTORS LOSE OUT 4-0.

Punch Press Makes Debut For Year By Defeating Armature Winders 2-0.

Clever hockey, bristling with action was the order of the day on Saturday afternoon at the Brock Street Rink Arena, when eight teams tangled in the scheduled games of the C.G.E. Inter-department Hockey League, to register three shut-outs and one 4—1 decision.

The Drafting Room walloped the senior Toolmakers 4—1 in a slam-bang battle on poor ice, to jump into a first place tie in Group 1 with the Office No. 1 team, who collected two points in their game with the Engineers which, although played, was actually a default, the Engineers not having a full team. The Punch Press team made their debut in the third game on the program, icing a heavy, close-checking team, who took a 2—0 decision from the Armature Winders. Teamwork and clever goal-minding gave the Brass Department Bruins their second consecutive win of the season on Saturday also, when they trounced the Fractional Motors 4—0 in a fast game which completed the day's program.

Feature Tangle

The Drafting-Tool Room fracas was the feature on the four-game bill and gave the fans an hour of exciting hockey. Both teams piled into the game at the start with a will and the first period fairly sparkled with vigorous playing. The Draftsmen took the lead almost from the face-off, when Meagher took a loose puck and drilled a sizzling shot at Jones in the Tool Room net, which bulged the twine for the first counter. Both forward lines back-checked with speed and effectiveness while Howe and Shields, on defence for the winners, bodied the Tool Room forwards rather heavily.

Nice Combination

Epps, Mickey Williams and Milliken, on the Tool Room first string forward line, broke fast and often three abreast and combined nicely although the ice conditions were not conducive to snappy or accurate passing. Epps, particularly menaced Kearns, in the Drafting Room citadel, with well directed shots. It remained, however, for the Draftsmen to get the next goal, which was scored from outside the Tool Room defence, which dribbled past Jones just two minutes before the period ended.

The open style of the Draftsmen was more effective on the soft ice, while the usual clockwork combination work of the Mechanics was greatly impeded, but both teams continued the breackneck speed during the last two periods with Hatton for the Toolmakers and Howe for the winners handing out some stiff body checks. The Draftsmen had a decided edge in speed and scoring punch in the second period. Palmer registered the Draftsmen's third goal when he swooped in fast and batted in Masterson's rebound. Jones made some brilliant saves in this session and was kept busy most of the time. Masterson, Rooke and Meagher were the best of the Drafting Room attackers, while Palmer was outstanding as a backchecker. Price made it four nothing for the Drawing Makers in the middle of the period, when he sunk the puck behind Jones after taking a pass from Rooke. The Toolmakers secured their only tally of the game near the end of the session from a face-off in front of the Drafting net; Epps making the shot. Connors, Craig and Dugan all played nice hockey for the Toolmakers and McLeish, subbing on the winners' defence, looked good on solo rushes.

Tool Room No. 1.—Goal, Jones; defence, Connors and Hatton; centre, Epps; wings, A. Williams and Milliken; alternates, Dugan, Craig and G. Williams.

Penalties.—None.

Referee—O. Kenneally.

Brass Holds Edge

The Brass Department-Fractional game was a fast, clever affair with the former having the edge most of the time, winning four goals to nothing. The winners looked snappy in their new outfits of orange, white and black, and their victory was due chiefly to their unselfish passing plays and clever net-minding by Jack Hope.

Whatley, Maudsley, Cadd and Heal were the best for the Brass, although every man played real hockey. Bill Bennett, playing goal for the Motor Makers, performed like a veteran, and blocked a host of shots.

The teams:—

Fractional Motors.—Goal, Bennett; defence, O'Brien and Hefferman; centre, Wilson; wings, Kearney and Hollingsworth. Sub., Stewart.

Brass Department.—Goal, Hope; defence, Cordery and Whatley; centre, Maudsley; wings, Cadd and Heal; alternates, Higgins, Routley and Paggett.

Summary

First Period:—
Brass, Whatley 3.00
Brass, Paggett (Maudsley) 6.00
Second Period:—
No score.
Third Period:—
Brass, Heal (Maudsley) 7.30
Brass, Whatley 11.00
Penalties—O'Brien 2, Hefferman.
Referee.—O. Kenneally.

Roughest Tilt

The Punch Press won a 2-0 victory from the Armature Winders in the roughest game of the day. Both teams boasted rather heavy line-ups and from the initial face-off exchanged bumps and body checks very liberally, with the result that neither team exhibited any attempts at organized hockey during the entire game.

The first period was scoreless but the Press Men bagged one goal in each of the following periods, both being scored from close in on individual efforts. Reader in goal for the Winders played a bang-up game and had no chance on the two shots that beat him.

Fee, Grierson and Murphy were the most effective for the winners, while Black in the nets, although he had not so much to do as Reader, handled every shot carefully. Hambly at centre for the Winders was easily the pick of the team. C. M. Gillen and Newson also showed to advantage.

The Teams:

Armature Winders—Goal Reader; defence, Newson and Calladine; centre, Hambly; wings, Perry and Millard; alternates, C. McGillen, L. McGillen, Menzies and Broadley.

Punch Press—Goal, Black; defence Ashmore and Darling; centre, Fee; wings, Grierson and Murphy; alternates, Howarth, Trotter, Pilling and Rogers.

Sports Promoters Believe All Obstacles Cleared Away For Next Heavyweight "Go"

NEW YORK, Jan. 12. (CP)—If astic observers have interpreted the signs correctly, all obstacles in the path of a heavyweight title match between Max Schmeling and "Young" Stribling have been cleared away their managers are ready to sign on the dotted line.

Some of the more optimistim of the experts voiced the opinion that the bout would be "made" within twenty four hours but the more conservative were inclined to believe that several minor odds and ends would have to be disposed of first.

Certainly there were definite indications that "Pa" Stribling, father-manager of the Macon, Ga., heavyweight, and promoters for the Hearst milk fund were close to an agreement and might iron out all difficulties when they resume their conferences to-day. Schmeling already is under contract to the Milk fund and no trouble is anticipated from that quarter.

According to best available advices, the bout, if all goes well, will be held next June in Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia or Jersey City.

BOWMANVILLE TEAM HERE THIS EVENING

Two Clubs Fighting For Second Place in O.H.A. Lakeshore Group.

Fresh from a victory over the Port Hope Ontarios, the Peterborough Intermediate will clash with Bowmanville this evening at the Brock Street Arena. The battle should furnish fast hockey entertainment for the customers, since the two clubs are fighting for second place in the Lakeshore group and the right to meet Oshawa in the championship play-off.

Ice-maker Fred Thirnbeck states that he has a fast sheet of ice for the athletes to perform upon, since there was no skating Saturday night.

Bowmanville have their team intact from last season, and will be a tough morsel for the Petes to chew. The blue and white will be at full strength for the engagement.

Elwood Coombes will handle the bell and the teams will face-off at 8.30.

Close Running In Membership Drive

The Y.W.C.A. gymnasium campaign for new members continues with enthusiasm. This week the following classes appointed their captains and mates and now all are organized ready for the month's campaign.

Senior Advanced—May Holmes and Lily Slaughter.

Ladies' Class—Mrs. F. Williams and Esie Taylor.

Senior School Girls—Doris Rogers and Jean Harvey.

Intermediate Dancing—Isabel Duffus and Athene Doukas.

Each class is aiming to bring in sixteen new members. Special prizes will be awarded the junior and senior member who brings in the most new members.

Townsend Training For Horner Battle

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12. (CP)—Billy Townsend, Canadian lightweight champion of Vancouver, commenced training here to-day for his 10-round bout on Jan. 19 with Jackie Horner, St. Louis.

Horner, a hard hitting welterweight, who recently gained a judge's decision over Jackie Phillips, Toronto, Canadian welterweight titleholder, is expected to furnish the blonde Vancouver boy with more than ordinary opposition. Townsend has proved one of the greatest attractions brought here in months. He has beaten Jack Purvis, Indianapolis and Joe Glick Brooklyn, in local rings and the fans are anxious to see him in action against the clever Horner, who is also a favorite here.

LADIES LEAGUE OPENS FRIDAY

Smart Basketball Triple Header Billed For Opening Night at Y.W.C.A.

SEVEN ENTRIES.

The opening games of the Ladies' City Basketball League will be played next Friday evening on the Y.W.C.A. floor, commencing at 8 p.m. A smart triple-header has been arranged for the evening and fans are assured of three fast and exciting games.

"Y" Elementary and Westclox will stage the opener at 8 p.m.

The second struggle will see the "Y" Seniors, last year's Senior winners, engage the Wohelo team starting at 8.15, and at 9 p.m., St. Paul's are stacked against the Senior School Girls, last year's Junior champions.

The seventh entry, the Blue Petes, receive a bye, and will not see action till the following week.

Ladies' basketball has come to the front with leaps and bounds in the past few seasons and from a shaky start some years ago, it is now considered a major sport and creates much interest for the lovers of the cage game throughout the city.

At a recent meeting, a most energetic executive was elected and these enthusiasts will control the league for the ensuing year.

Seven teams make up the league this year and every indication points to the most successful campaign ladies' basketball has ever had.

The following teams, with their captains and coaches respectively, will swing into action next Friday in the opening games of the season.

"Y" Seniors—Captained by Isobel Davidson and coached by "Bim" Sturgeon.

St. Paul's.—Arleigh Comstock and Charlie McLeish.

Westclox.—Leona Kingdon and Hec. McLeod.

"Y" Elementary—Sybil Ecobichon and Mr. Stoskopf.

Senior School Girls—Helen Cole and "Howie" Macdonald.

Blue Petes—Dorothy Kelly and Carlos Routley.

Wohelo—Jean Black.

Allow Ten Players

Each team will be allowed ten players instead of eight which was the ruling in force in previous years.

Certificates for players have been issued to the various teams and together with the entry fee of $3.00, must be in the hands of the secretary by Friday night, Jan. 16.

The failure of a team to appear on time for any scheduled game will mean a forfeit of the game to the opposition team. This rule will tend to have the teams on the floor promptly at starting time and should eliminate unnecessary delays.

The first three teams to finish in the league standing will play off for the Senior Trophy, emblematic of the Senior city championship, and the runner-up team will also receive a trophy. The Junior Trophy will be competed for by the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh place teams and the winners will be recognized as junior champions of the city.

GOLF TOURNEY.

Good scores and keen rivalry among the many teams entered, marked the first week of the Indoor Golf Tournament being held at the Putt-a-While Club. It is an 18-hole course and some of them are far from simple.

The lowes team average went to Canadian Packing Company with 56-7 for four games, while Jack Edgar with a 44 took the lowest individual score and the weekly prize.

Tournament standing for the week ending January 10:

Canadian Packing Company, 903 for 4 games.

A. Brown and Son, 917 for 4 games.

Lucky Four, 930 for 4 games.

E. & B. Beverages 942 for 4 games

B. Paris, 979 for 4 games.

Sugar Bowl, 444 for 2 games.

Neighborhood Shoes, 469 for 2 games.

Jack Primeau, 504 for 2 games.

Riley and Hickey, 516 for 2 games.

John's Tea, 534 for 2 games.

CURLING

The weather man has handed the local curlers another "tough break", the ideal climatic conditions of the past week or so having given way to milder weather over the week-end. Judging by the appearance of the ice at the time of going to press there will be no curling to-night.

DAIRYMEN WIN FROM WESTCLOX BY 40-29 COUNT

Levine and Sturgeon Are Major Scorers For De Laval Squad.

FINE COMBINATION.

St. Paul's Girls Take Hard Basketball Decision From Clockmakers.

In a fast and in some ways spectacular game at the Y.M.C.A. Saturday evening De Laval nosed out a victory in basketball over Westclox, with the score 40-29. The Dairymen were in good shape, and did some fine passing, checking and scoring on long shots. The red and black team were only inferior in practice.

The game started in a listless manner, Levine scoring for DeLaval and Kingston for Westclox. The latter made a long shot but failed. In a faulty pass winners got the ball and ran it up the floor for Levine to score another two points. The players started to warm up, and Kingston fouled. The red and blue passed up and down the floor until Graves made a lucky basket. Westclox made a fine long shot, which however missed by one inch. A long shot to the other end and a pass to Sturgeon gave De Laval another two points. Sturgeon fouled and Kingston raised the Westclox tally another point. A fine display of passing resulted in Kingston making another basket, succeeded by another by Smith. Sturgeon scored again, but Westclox again scored by a long shot from the side. Levine then made two baskets in succession. McLeod fouled when he checked an opponent's shot. McLeod was given a technical foul for talking back to the referee, and Levine again benefitted.

Levine and Kingston made a point each on fouls. De Laval then made two long shots, but Graves got the ball and shot it in for his team. Levine followed up with another two points. Wostenholme then made a neat basket from centre floor. Kitchen fouled and Cooper raised the De Laval tally another point. The whistle blew for half time. De Laval 25, Westclox 12.

During the second half Westclox warmed up considerably. They commenced with wonderful passing, and Kingston scored a basket. At a bad shot the ball bounced into Kingston's hands for another basket. Sturgeon caught the sphere on a bounce and scored for his team. He again raised the tally twice by long shots from near the Westclox basket. The red and black again rallied and Kingston scored. Some beautiful passing brought the ball to Levine who was ready and another basket resulted. Kingston then bounced the ball down the length of the floor for another basket, followed by one by Wostenholme. Westclox made three fine shots but failed to score. Smith fouled and Stanger gave De Laval another point.

Palmer, Sturgeon and Levine each scored a basket, while McLeod raised the Westclox aggregate two points. Levine made a basket by shooting over his back, and Palmer followed up with another. Wostenholme then made a long shot into the basket, and passed another to Kingston for an additional basket. The latter scored another basket, and then a point on a foul from Cooper. The game ended, De Laval 40, Westclox 29.

Levine was the major scorer for the Dairymen, making 17 points. He was followed by Sturgeon who made 13. Kingston led the red and black with 18 points. The line-up was as follows:

De Laval		Westclox
Sturgeon	F	Kingston
Graves	F	Wostenholme
Levine	C	Kitchen
Stanger	G	Smith
Cooper	Sub	McLeod
Palmer	Sub	Curry

Wins by Lone Point

St. Paul's girls' basketball team won a hard earned victory from the Westclox girls with a score 6-5.

After some energetic playing, Misses Mortimer and Thirnbeck fouled for the Westclox blue jerseys. Miss Patterson made a foul for the St. Paul's white middies and Miss Kingdom turned it into a point for Westclox. Through a series of checks and passes, Miss Cowan was able to to score a basket for St. Paul's. Misses G. Comstock and Patterson again fouled, but the blue jerseys failed to score. The whistle blew for half time, with St. Paul's leading 2-1.

In the second half Miss Patterson made a fine long pass to Miss Cowan who raised the tally two points. Miss Mortimer fouled in her enthusiasm for the game, but there was no score until Miss Fever scored a basket for Westclox. Miss Webb made two fouls, the second of which Miss A. Comstock converted into a point for the white middies. Miss Mortimer decided that her side must again score and so she received the ball after a long tussle and made a basket. The score now rested at 5-5 and so the game came to its climax in order to decide the winning five. In the scrimmage that ensued, Miss Bradley made a foul, and Miss Cowan scored a point, thus giving St. Paul's the lead. Five seconds later time sounded, with the score 6-5 for the white middies.

The line-up was as follows:

St. Paul's	Position	Westclox
F. Patterson	forwards	L. Kingdom
M. Cowan		S. Keown
A. Comstock	centre	M. Mortimer
G. Comstock	guards	F. Fever
J. Allen		D. Webb
S. Jackson	subs	S. Thirnbeck
		E. Bradley
		H. Joyes
		C. Mason

THEATRES

"THE CAT CREEPS."

A storm sweeping around a dark house that has been closed for twenty years.—Midnight, and a ghoulish West Indian woman opening the door for weary travellers.—A hound dog howling in the bleak outdoors.—A solicitor reading the will of a man dead for two decades.—Jealousy and greed and fear waiting around the table reflected in the faces of a group of relatives who hate each other.—A clawlike hand reaching from a secret closet to snatch away the man who is about to divulge a secret—A madman loose in the rain-swept grounds.—

In other words—shivers and lovely thrills up and down the spinal column and ghostly, midnight prowlings. —A mystery story with all the ingredients necessary for a real, honest to goodness thriller of the preferred type.

"The Cat Creeps" is a worthy successor of that notable series that has included picturizations of the famous "Bat," "The Cat and the Canary" and "The Greene Murder Case." It goes in for all the spectral appliances necessary for a mystery brew and keeps the audience watching every move. Even though we have seen it all done before, we like to get a vicarious thrill of this type. To sit in secure, careful ease in a warm theatre and yet be able to enjoy all the thrills of a murder and mystery picture is enough for one evening's entertainment.

—Jeanette.

AT THE GRAND

"MARIGOLD"

"After having seen it we understood why it has enjoyed a run of more than 700 performances in London." These words are from the pen of Mr. S. Morgan-Powell, the well-known critic in the Montreal Daily Star. He goes on to say that "it is not easy to convey in a phrase or two the wealth of comedy—or the character of that comedy—this play holds. But surely not in twenty years upon our local stage has the spirit of comedy been more charmingly exemplified, or portrayed with more subtle skill, more delicacy and refinement.

"Marigold", which will be seen at the Grand, January 20-21, is preeminently a play of charm. It is set in the period of 1842, a period of crinolines and curtseys, of old world graces and old world manners, and yet not so remote that we must look upon it as a world other to that in which we live.

The Company to appear is that which was playing in London so recently as of August 30th, and the entire mise-en-scene will be identical with that used at the Kingsway Theatre. To quote Mr. Morgan-Powell again, "the settings were delightful alike in their quiet realism and their unobstrusiveness blending perfectly with the action and costumes. The costumes merit a word of special praise. They were of the period, both military uniforms and dresses, and they lent a richness of color to the whole that was a delight to study. Altogether 'Marigold' is as refreshing and as stimulating as a walk under a clear sky after rain at dawn."

The British air force will add between 225 and 250 new airplanes.

Lieut.-Col. Hall Hands Over Armoury Position

Lieut.-Col. W. Gordon Hall, V.D., who has been officer in charge of the local Armouries for the past four years, is handing over this duty. Colonel Hall has been actively associated with military affairs since he joined the 57th Regiment in 1904. He is still on the strength of the Peterborough Rangers, and is in command of the 1st Reserve Battalion Peterborough Rangers."

When interviewed to-day, Colonel Hall intimated that Lieut.-Col. Lawrie, the senior active officer of the local garrison, would be assigned to this duty. Colonel Lawrie will take over this new duty at an early date.

Hockey Notes.

The Canuck Bantams were out practising Saturday at the Sacred Heart rink under the direction of Coach, J. Creighton. Although this team is the youngest and smallest one in the league, older teams will find them hard to beat. The boys will be in good shape for their game at six o'clock to-morrow night against the Ravens. The team for this game will be picked from the following players: Coursey, Collins, Gardino Masters, Vinette, Thompson, Scully, Grady, Panario and McGrath.

Four Church Loop Games For To-Night

Four Church Hockey League games are billed for to-night at All Saints' rink beginning with the midget teams All Saints' and Trinity at six o'clock, and followed by a juvenile game between George Street and Trinity at seven; and two junior games, with George Street and Park taking the ice at eight, and St. Andrew's opposing All Saints' at nine.

These games consist of one twenty and two fifteen-minute periods with five minutes' rest between. In their opening game last week, the boys played some classy hockey, and this week should find them even better. No admission is charged for any of these games.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Flurried upturns in prices of old crop wheat resulted Saturday from foreigners suddenly changing market position and thus avoiding fulfilment of May delivery contracts. On a quick bulge, May wheat representing the 1930 crop jumped above any quotations reached since last October, but the old crop dealings lacked volume, and July wheat, which stands for the 1931 crop, a downward trend. Rains were predicted over domestic drought districts, and there were reports that Argentina and Australia have an exportable wheat surplus equal to 1,000,000 bushels a day for the next twelve months.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅝ cent lower to ⅜ higher; corn ⅞ to 1⅛ down; oats, ¼ to ¼ off; and provisions unchanged to 22 cents setback.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—Butter advanced steadily last week on the produce and dairy market here; eggs declined, colored cheese was in demand and potatoes were firm.

Prices of eggs to retailers will be one to three cents a dozen lower, prices to be effective to-day. Fresh specials and extras will be 3 cents lower at 46c to 43c a dozen. Fresh firsts, pullet extras and seconds will decline 2 cents at 38c, 33c and 30c a dozen respectively. Storage extras remain unchanged at 33c to 34c and storage firsts will be down 2 cents at 31c, while storage seconds will be 1 cent lower at 26c to 27c a dozen. Ontario fresh eggs, in cartons, were unchanged, extras being quoted at 36c to 37c, firsts at 30c and seconds at 27c. British Columbia eggs were also unchanged, extras selling at 37c to 38c, firsts at 31c to 32c and pullets at 28c to 29c a dozen. Receipts last week were 9,067 cases.

Eastern Township No. 1 pasteurized butter was quoted at 31½c to 32c a pound, and to retailers solids were 33c and prints 34c a pound. Last week's receipts were 4,863 boxes.

White cheese was quoted at 11c a pound, with colored cheese a cent higher. Receipts for last week were 592 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were 85c per 90 pounds, bulk, and to retailers were 95c per 89-lb bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 12. — Winnipeg wheat prices declined ¼ cent to ¾ cent on a dull and featureless market on Saturday. Half a million bushels of wheat, reported exported overnight, failed to instill any bullishness into the trade.

May wheat futures closed the day at 56¾ cents bid and July 57¾ cents to 57½ cents. October finished at 58¾ cents asked. Unchanged quotations prevailed in cash wheat and coarse grains at the final bell.

STIRLING INSTITUTE PLANS COOKING SALE

Society to Hold "At Home" in February in the Community Hall.

STIRLING, January 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — A most interesting meeting of the local branch of the W.I. was held on Thursday evening at 8.15, with the president, Mrs. A. Shaw, in charge. A home-cooking sale and afternoon tea will be held some Saturday in the near future, with Mrs. West, Mrs. Rogers, and Mrs. W. Wright in charge. Mrs. R. Meiklejohn and Mrs. N. Wescott are to have charge of the "At Home" in February. This party will be given in the Community Hall to the members and families. A talk was given by George Luery on "Education." This was dealt with more under the heading of education as gained in the school of experience, rather than that of a High School or University. "If we attain to the spirit of our Institute Ode, this will be an education in itself. The Institute circles around the word Home, the dearest word in our vocabulary. If we would have a country of which to be proud, we must have a good community. In order to possess that we must have good homes. The Women's Institute should use its influence to have divorce court proceedings banned from the public press; should try to prevent circulation of impure magazines; our boys and girls should be taught to work for home and country regardless of party. We would do well to emulate some other countries along certain lines. United States is doing her best to banish the liquor traffic, Britain to prevent further war, and Russia to help the evils of unemployment."

The speaker went on to compare our village to-day with the village of thirty years ago. "Then we had more people, but fewer homes." He spoke of the significance of some names of our county and townships. Rawdon was named from Lord Rawdon, Moira from the Earl of Moira, Hastings from the Marquis of Hastings, Faraday and Herchel were named from two scientists. McClure from an Arctic explorer of that name, Tyendinaga is an Indian name. "In our county we are 84 per cent. British, 6 per cent. French, 6 per cent. Dutch, the rest of Indian descent. In religion our county is Presbyterian and United 56 per cent., Anglican 21 per cent., and Roman Catholic 18 per cent. Dairying is a most important industry in our county. Our fruits are valuable, also our minerals. In all, our community stands for all that is best and progressive, and to that call we should respond."

After a humorous recitation by Mrs. Ernest Munroe, "Mrs. O'Toole and the Street Car Conductor," Mrs. A. Conigal gave a paper on "Canadian Industries." "To study our industries is to study the history of our country. Do we stop to realize the connection between the prosperity of our industries and our individual welfare? This country produces 90 per cent. of the world's nickel supply. We have 1-6 of the world's coal supply. Canada, with its unlimited water power, Hydro development, agriculture, and airports, is a wonderful part of the globe. Its automobile industry is also splendid. Ontario is draining low-lying lands and turning them into celery gardens. Unbreakable glass is made at Oshawa. Our textile industry is worthy of great praise. Canadian fruits are in ever increasing demand. Sixty per cent. of our buying is done by the women, so let us demand Canadian-made products, fruits, literature, and thus protect our home markets from inroads of foreign competitors and giving employment to our own people."

A cake contest was put on by Mrs. Nora Wescott, and a social hour followed. Mrs. J. Butler, Mrs. P. Bronson, and Mrs. J. Moore composed the Lunch Committee.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Mr. E. Windrim was a visitor in Omemee on Monday.

Mr. Fred. Lowe was in the village on Tuesday and called on his father, Mr. Joseph Lowe.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Watt of Port Hope were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lowe on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tully, Miss Ferne and Master David of Fowler's Corners were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gardiner.

Eczema On Hands

Couldn't Put Them In Water

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Mrs. Soloman Rehkopf, R.R. No. 1, Neustadt, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with eczema for four years, and it was so bad I could not put my hands in water. I found Burdock Blood Bitters the only medicine that would give me any relief, and after taking four bottles the eczema had all left me. I can now do my own washing, and wish to give thanks to B.B.B. for what it has done for me."

OFFICERS ELECTED K.E. ASSOCIATION

Reports of Last Year's Work Read By Officials at Annual Meeting.

On Friday evening a pleasant social occasion was combined with the election of officers for the Home and School Association of King Edward School.

Mrs. J. J. Pollock, the president, occupied the chair for the business session, which opened the meeting. A short devotional service was followed by a number of interesting reports, including that of the secretary and treasurer, and that of relief work was given by Mrs. Roberts.

It was arranged that letters of thanks for relief gifts, and of sympathy to bereaved members be sent, as well as flowers to the sick.

Further arrangements for carrying out relief work were completed. Thanks are due Mrs. Forbes for her gift of a beautiful quilt to the association, to be sold for this purpose.

The time of meeting was changed, upon motion, to the third Thursday evening of each month.

Mr. R. J. Bolton, Principal of the school, presided during the election, which resulted in the following capable executive for the coming year:—

Hon. President, Mrs. R. J. Bolton; Past President, Mrs. J. J. Pollock; President, Mrs. G. Groombridge; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. A. Mackness; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Menzies; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. J. O. Fife; Secretary, Mrs. Stan. Gillespie; Treasurer, Mrs. L. Gerard; Program Convenor, Mrs. Henry Turner; Relief Convenor, Mrs. Roberts; Visiting Convenor, Mrs. Pollock; Press Secretary, Mrs. E. W. Wagar; Telephone Convenor, Mrs. Rahmel; Candy Convenor, Mrs. E. Hubel; Social Convenor, Mrs. J. J. Cooke; Representatives to Home and School Council; Mesdames Grose and Mackness; Representatives to the Local Council of Women: Mesdames Stanley and Crowe.

Mr. Bolton welcomed the new president and secretary to their chairs and these two officers briefly addressed the assembly.

A delightful social hour was enjoyed, and refreshments served by the committee in charge.

The singing of the National Anthem brought this very successful meeting to a conclusion.

What To Do For That

LAME BACK

Get your lame, aching back a good rubbing with JOINT-EASE to-night and in the morning go to work thankful and happy—works like magic. Always have Joint-Ease handy—rub it in for aches and pains—for rheumatic agony and painful joints.

Keep in mind also that there is nothing better for Sciatica, neuritis, lumbago, stiff neck, swollen knuckles and sore, aching muscles.

It's a speedy wonder worker is Joint-Ease and one 60 cent tube will prove it—rub it in good—it gets right down to where the trouble starts—and ends pain and distress—made in Canada—all druggists—60 cents a generous tube.

CHRIST'S CHURCH WOMEN'S GUILD HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Miss E. Robinson Elected President of Society For Coming Year.

Y.P.S. MEETING.

OMEMEE, Jan. 12. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The meeting of the Women's Guild of Christ Church, was held Thursday afternoon, January 8, at the Rectory, with a splendid attendance, this being the annual meeting and the election of officers.

The president, Mrs. Newman, took charge of the meeting which was opened by prayer. Miss C. Cornwall, secretary, gave her report for the year. The Treasurer, Miss A. Stephenson, reported a very satisfactory and successful year, giving a detailed statement.

Rev. A. T. Weir, at this point was asked to take charge of the election of officers which were elected as follows:

Honorary President, Mrs. A. I. Weir; President, Miss E. Robinson; 1st vice president, Miss Irene Clemett; 2nd vice president, Mrs. V. Jones; Secretary, Miss C. Cornwall; Treasurer, Miss A. Stephenson; Convenor of buying committee, Miss S. Clarke; Pianist, Mrs. W. G. Stephenson.

It was decided for the ensuing year to commence work at an early date for the Annual Bazaar.

An invitation was extended to the ladies of the Guild to meet at the home of Mrs. Jamieson for the February meeting and was accepted.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. A. T. Weir and Miss Irene Clemett.

Y.P.S. Meets.

The Young People's meeting of Trinity United Church was held on Monday evening, January 5, with a splendid attendance.

The president, Miss Mary Faulkner, was in the chair. The usual opening exercise and business were conducted, after which Rev. J.T.E. Blanchard took charge for the election of officers for the year 1931, resulting as follows: Honorary president, Rev. Mr. Blanchard; President, Dr. McPhee; 1st Vic President, Miss Christina Connell, who will have charge of the consecration department; 2nd Vice President, Miss Lillie Race; missionary department; 3rd Vice President, Fred Weir; citizenship department; 4th Vice President, Roy Faulkner, Literary and Social department; Rec. Secretary, Russell Williamson, Cor. Secretary, Will Weir; Treasurer, Errol Wilson; Pianist, Miss L. Race.

An invitation from the A.V.P.A. of Christ's Church was read, inviting them for a social evening, and was unanimously accepted. Eighty dollars was voted for missions and five dollars to the Trustee Board of the Church.

W.M.S. Meets.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Trinity Church was held on Thursday afternoon, January 8, at the home of Mrs. M. D. Earle.

The new president for 1931, Mrs. Vaughan, was in charge.

Miss Race, corresponding secretary, read correspondence. The treasurer, Mrs. J. Shields, gave her report. It was decided for 1931, systematic giving would be the plan used to meet the required allocation.

Devotional leaflet on "The Lords Prayer", was read by Miss Parsons.

The first part of Study Book on "Industrial and Rural Problems of Japan", were taken by Mrs. Vaughan. Then short prayers on the conditions of Japan were given by the following ladies, Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. C. R. Cornell, Mrs. Moncrief. The offering was taken and a vote of thanks extended to the hostess, Mrs. Earle, who had so kindly opened her home for the January meeting. At this juncture an invitation was given by Mrs. W. Earle to meet at her home for the February meeting and this was unanimously accepted. The benediction was pronounced by the president which brought the meeting to a close, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. W. Earle, Mrs. M. D. Earl and Miss Parsons.

CITY CHURCHES

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

"The Narcotic Addict"—the menace to the manhood and womanhood of our Dominion; the sinister, cruel, cunning, awful inroads of dope on the human physical and mental standards of to-day—was the subject of the message brought to the people of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church at the morning diet of worship yesterday.

The speaker was Dr. A. J. Vining, of Toronto, whose work in connection with the Social Service Council of Canada needs no introduction in Peterborough. His name is almost a household word, and his duties, when told as it was yesterday morning to the large body of listeners, places the stamp of public service of the highest merit upon his intensely earnest endeavor to enlighten all who hear his story. At the outset he remarked that Peterborough is one of the cleanest cities in Canada in regard to this traffic at least.

Smuggled from Europe.

After enumerating the various branches of the work of the Council, including the censorship of moving pictures, banning of 73 immoral or suggestive magazines from His Majesty's mail last year, etc., the subject of dope smuggling from Europe (where most of the narcotics is manufactured) was dealt with — the detection of the packages of dope in cargoes of Russian furs, Persian rugs, and every other conceivable means of hiding-place, coming into this country, but more so into the United States; the task of the narcotic drug squad in examination of the cargoes; the vigilance of the police squad, to curb the smuggling of heroin, morphine, and snow across the boundary—one method of transport for the dope being by homing pigeons. These were but a few of the curves of the traffic, now carried on on a huge scale, touched upon with great force by the speaker.

Work of Dope Fiends.

Dr. Vining gave proof positive of the inroads of the dope fiend into the youthful masses to-day. Doctors, too, are often the cause of the increase of dope traffic. He instanced the young addict (most of them are under thirty years of age), paying visits to schools in many cases, inquiring about the pupils' studies; to which query the answer usually is that they are difficult—and then the fiend gets in his nefarious work by giving the heroin tablet, which infuses new life for the time being. The same proceeding is carried out the following week, and on several successive occasions. This is the last straw—another addict has been added to the already appalling list of these poor creatures, who, unless treated immediately in the beginning for cure, are doomed to an early, awful grave, with, for the girls, usually, a career of shame in the underworld. Women attend the dances — find a girl sitting out a dance, tired and weary—a tablet is offered with the promise of a restful feeling. The weariness disappears likewise after a short period the bright condition—and a few days later another dose is taken, followed by, perhaps a box of the tablets—and she is on the downward path.

The doctor recorded instances of young men and women passing on to the Great Beyond, whose bodies on examination were found to be covered with dark purple blotches the result of making incisions with penknife, sharp stone, or other object, and inserting the dope. These cases are pitiable sights, he said with much fervency. A young girl in Montreal left home to call on a friend. Her mother called by telephone shortly afterwards to get some information. To her consternation the daughter had not appeared at the friends home—and vanished from sight to this day—the victim of narcotic and white slavery. A business man in Vancouver, with an income of $6.000 a year, in two years was reduced to the gutter by the dope road.

Startling Conditions.

Dr. Vining gave startling statistics —facts which made everyone recoil with horror of the dope inroads here in Canada and in the United States. In the North American Continent last year, he said, 75,000 girls—most of the dope fiends "careers" commence in the 'teen age, 12 to 18—were known narcotic addicts. The number of new cases in Ontario last year was 96. Young people are more easily led to try these "remedies" than are those of more mature years. Hence the traffic starts among boys and girls of tender years.

These lamentable details, with others as horrible, telling of the dangers confronting our young people, served to show the good work being accomplished by the Social Service Council of Canada in educating the parents against this awful curse to our fair Dominion. The Council publishes literature to be broadcast throughout the land, warning citizens to teach their children to beware of the narcotic menace. And Dr. Vining, who has travelled far in the interests of this body, is untiring in his exposition of the subject, which is very near his heart.

Memory. Repentance. Work.

"A Second Chance" formed the subject of Dr. Vining's evening discourse, divided under three headings, Memory, Repentance, and Work. The story of the prodigal Son was taken as the background for the sermon, and the doctor's definition and interpretation was learned and appealing, listened to with wrapt attention by a splendid audience. His bright, crisp quotations from the poets was also helpful.

Dr. Goforth Ill.

Closing his message, Dr. Vining made feeling reference to his dear friend, Jonathan Goforth, who, on reaching Vancouver en route to his mission field in Manchuria, was suddenly stricken with illness, and was rushed back to Toronto, where to-day (Monday) he will undergo a critical operation upon his eyes. Prayers were offered for his complete recovery.

Music by the choir was appropriate, including three anthems and solo, with organ recital prior to the evening service by Martin B. Counhall, A.R.C.O., organist and choirmaster.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 43 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

At length they reached the spot where Rokoff had pitched his camp. Here they found all in turmoil. While he was absent many of his men had deserted, taking away the bulk of his food and ammunition. When he had done venting his rage on those who remained, he returned to where Jane stood, guarded by two white sailors. She struggled and fought to free herself as the men laughed at her efforts.

Rokoff grasped her roughly and started to drag her toward his tent. Then he struck her and carried her, half conscious, within. His boy had lighted the Russian's lamp and at a word from his master he disappeared. Jane had sunk to the floor in the middle of the enclosure. But slowly her numbed senses were returning to her and she was commencing to think very fast indeed.

Now Rokoff was lifting her to her feet and attempting to drag her with him. At his belt hung a heavy revolver. Jane's eyes riveted themselves upon it. She made believe she had fainted, but through her half closed lids she waited her opportunity. It came first as Rokoff was raising her. A noise at the tent door caused him to turn his head an instant.

That instant was his undoing. The butt of the gun was not an inch from Jane's hand. With a single, lightning-like move she snatched the weapon from its holster. At the same time Rokoff realized his peril. But it was too late. Jane held the gun firmly in her hand, its muzzle pointed at the Russian's heart, her finger upon the trigger. Yet even in her peril, she dared not fire the shot!

Mackinaw Gladdens Heart Of Youngster

He was a small boy of fourteen years, with a thin coat over a ragged shirt. He wanted an overcoat and he certainly needed one. He tried on every one of the half dozen or so we had at The Examiner office. Most of them were for men, large garments that hung down to his heels and folded over bulkily in front. Another was too small. Nothing could be done about it, evidently. Bue he was a cheerful lad and he whistled as he put the old thin coat back over his rags. He went out.

Then, just as it looked pretty bleak for him, a nice parcel was handed in and lo and behold, it contained a brand new mackinaw that was just the thing. When he came back, everyone in the office had a good time watching the pride with which he buttoned it up and carefully fastened the belt. Those young shoulders that had drooped a good deal under the old coat had a straighter look as he went out again. Youth also has its self-respect.

RELIEF FROM CHURCHES.

From St. John's Church comes a gesture that shows the manner in which the churches can co-operate in this present crisis of need and unemployment. At the evening service last night, envelopes were handed around, with the request that the better-off ones of the parish do their bit in making cash donations to the General Relief Fund. These are labelled for four months ahead: January, February, March and April.

OBITUARY

MARION GERALDINE LITTLE.

The very sad death of Marion Geraldine Little infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Little of 431 Bethune Street, occurred Saturday afternoon. Miss Marion was 14 months old and died after a short illness. She leaves her bereaved parents to mourn her loss.

The funeral took place to-day at 1.45 p.m. from her late residence. The service was conducted by Rev. J. E. J. Millyard of George Street United Church, and burial was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

JAMES GRAY.

James Gray, aged resident of 688 George Street, ended his life at his home this morning. He was a retired farmer and had suffered ill-health for several years.

Surviving are his wife, several children and grandchildren. Funeral arrangements later.

PRESBYTERIAL MEETING

Tomorrow (Tuesday) the Peterborough Presbyterial W. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will hold its annual meeting in St. Paul's Church, with morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

FIRE IN EXAMINER

The services of the Fire Department were required at 6.50 a.m. to-day for a fire in the basement of The Examiner building. The fire was evidently caused by cards of "papier mache" being piled on or near some hot type metal. The automatic sprinkler cap discharged and stopped the blaze to a great extent. The firemen finished extinguishing the fire.

MILITARY PROMOTION

In orders recently issued by the District Officer Commanding Military District No. 3, Ralph Clayton Honey of this city is gazetted as 2nd Lieutenant in the 4th Battalion Canadian Machine Gun Corps, dating from July 24, 1930.

High-Chairs Needed For Small Babies

Every day, in this office we have requests for many things to supplement the needs of those who lack some of the necessaries of life. They range all the way from requests for high-chairs for a baby, to food and fuel and clothing. Clothing for babies, for children, for adults, bedclothing—we could use them all. So many of the homes seem to be right down to bedrock. They have only enough to keep the spark of life alight. There are children running around the streets with rags under their little coats and with feet showing through old shoes and rubbers—if they possess rubbers.

Anything is welcome here — food, cash or clothing of any type. The newly-formed Relief Association has not yet begun to function, but it is hoped to get it started very shortly. In the meantime, let us have anything available and we will be glad to call for it.

In Police Court

That the course of wedded life is often rough was to be gathered in today's police court grist, when two family squabbles were aired. "It's the same old tale," Chief Newhall said of one young man, who was charged with non-support of his wife and two children. The man had faced the charge first several months ago and had been given time to prove his promise that he would supply the necessities for his family. He told a harrowing story of being ill in a Toronto hospital to explain why he had only given his wife $7 since November. He was remanded until Wednesday for trial, Magistrate Langley commenting that, "Then we will finish this case once and for all."

The magistrate told the other young couple that they had best go home and mend their troubles. The wife charged the husband with having beaten her on New Year's morning. The husband pleaded not guilty. Outside interference by members of the pair's respective families was stated by the husband's counsel, A. L. Elliott, to be the cause of the trouble. The husband was released on $2,000 bail but before he left the magistrate called both parties before him and told them upon what treacherous ground they were treading.

HOUSE OF REFUGE COMMITTEE MEETS

Inmates of Institution Bid Farewell to Reeve John Clarke.

The Board of Management of the House of Refuge at its final meeting called in Reeve F. D. McIntyre, of Otonabee, as the representative of the municipality with the largest assessment, to join them in a visit to the institution mainly for the purpose of an informal inspection. The members present were Reeve Coons, chairman, Warden Hawthorne and Reeve John Clarke.

Mr. McIntyre expressed himself as highly pleased with all the evidences of efficient and thoughtful management of the House of Refuge. Many of the inmates said farewell to Mr. Clarke, who has retired from the Reeveship of Galway, and told him how much they regretted his departure from the County Council, and especially from the Committee of Management. They also thanked Mr. Clarke for his kindly interests in their welfare.

Lindsay Man Has Shoulder Wrenched

William Slavelle of Lindsay sustained painful injuries from a badly wrenched shoulder as a result of a car accident on the Lindsay road on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Slavelle were headed towards Peterborough, and, when about a mile west of Omemee, their car skidded into a ditch and lost its balance. The automobile finally landed on its top with the four wheels up. The hood was badly broken and the windshield shattered.

F. G. Sandy, a resident near the scene of the accident, took the couple to Lindsay, where it was found that Mr. Slavelle had a dislocated shoulder, and that Mrs. Slavelle had apparently escaped injury.

Gun Duel in Racing Cars Rouses Colborne

POLICE POSSES COMB HIGHWAYS WITH NO SUCCESS

HEADED WESTWARD.

COBOURG, Jan. 13.— Two big black automobiles, streaking through the dark along the provincial highway near Colborne, spitting bullets in a fierce gun fight between their unknown occupants, vanished into the night near that village early this morning and left the countryside in an uproar.

Called from their beds by excited farmers who had been aroused by volley after volley of shots, and the roar of the speeding motors, Provincial Constables Carey and Kidd set out in pursuit from Cobourg, and aided by a posse of other police and citizens scoured the entire district, patrolled sideroads and stopped all vehicles on the roads in an endeavour to capture the armed parties.

Reported Westbound

Who the men were and what was at stake in the desperate running gun fight, the police cannot guess. Inspector Lougheed at Belleville knew nothing at 1 a.m., except that all his men were out in the hunt. The suggestion that bootleggers were involved was advanced, but it was only a theory. No previous similar [illegible] upon surface in the county [illegible] countryside hereabouts is on record.

The two autos were westbound, farmers asserted, and flashed by at such a rate that only vague descriptions of the vehicles could be obtained.

Provincial Constable Ivan Spencer who saw the shots fired, came within an ace of catching the cars shortly after the first report of the shooting. In a car commandeered from Gerald Fox, of Colborne, he took up the chase and actually sighted the tail-lamps of the speeding machines ahead. Before he could narrow down the distance, however, the cars rounded a curve, and when Constable Spencer reached the spot they had disappeared—apparently up a side-road or farmer's lane.

Escape Both Parties

Had the fleeing cars not cut off the highway at this point they would almost certainly have come to grips with the police, for Constable Kidd and Carey were at that instant speeding toward them from the west, while Constable Spencer was a few rods behind them. When the two parties of police met, their quarry had escaped from the net.

Reports of the shooting reached all points in the district and as far west as Toronto where the city headquarters was notified to be on the watch.

The possibility that backfires from two automobiles might have been mistaken for shots was pointed out by Chief Constable Farrell, of Colborne, who said that a number of the farmers who had heard the detonations had noted their resemblance to discharges from the exhausts of a motor. It was added, however that motorists would hardly maintain a high rate of speed and engage in a high-way chase with back-firing engines.

FALL FROM CHAIR FATAL TO WOMAN

Child in Play Bumps Stool Throwing Mother to Floor at Wiarton.

PUTTING STOVE PIPES UP.

OWEN SOUND, Ont. Jan. 13. — Mrs. George McDougall, 30, of Wiarton, is dead at her home as a result of a fall from a chair Monday while putting up pipes on the kitching stove. One of her small children, while playing, ran against the chair on which she was standing, and in falling, Mrs. McDougall was so seriously injured she was unable to move. She died from loss of blood an hour later.

She was alone in the house with her three small children at the time and when her husband returned he found her helpless on the floor.

Mrs. McDougall came to Wiarton from West Croyden, England., as a bride in 1919. She leaves a husband and five small children, also her parents and three sisters in England.

WINDOVER GUILTY IS FINDING MADE BY JUDGE HUYCKE

Verdict of Magistrate Langley is Quashed in County Division Court.

ACCUSED NOT PRESENT.

Appeal Was Made By Inland Revenue Officers in Liquor Case.

Giving judgment in an appeal made by the Department of Inland Revenue against the decision handed down by Police Magistrate O. A. Langley in December last, in which Clarion Windover, 34, a resident of Rockford, Harvey township, was acquitted on a charge under the Inland Revenue Act of having possession of spirits unlawfully manufactured or imported, His Honor Judge E. C. G. Huycke quashed the Magistrate's decision and found the accused man guilty, and directed that Windover be brought before him for sentence.

[illegible] County Division Court on January 5th, when W. F. Huycke conducted the case for the Department of Inland Revenue. The defendant Windover, who had been served notice of appeal, was not present, and J. A. O'Brien who had acted in a legal capacity for Windover at the previous hearings, did not think it proper for the case to proceed.

Eight Broken Bottles

His Honor deciding to the contrary, heard the evidence of Provincial Police Sergeant H. Thompson, who stated that in July last, while he was a constable stationed in this city, he was called out to Curve Lake Indian Reserve by Constable Taylor. He went to Constable Taylor's home, after having met him with the accused man, Windover. In the kitchen witness saw a bag, which the constable declared he had taken from Windover. It was saturated with "moonshine." There were eight broken bottles inside the bag, and one unbroken bottle.

The unbroken bottle was produced

GRANT OR $1,150 MADE BY COUNCIL TO AID WATERWAY

Peterborough Council Believes in Advertising City to American Tourists.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Grocers Protest to Council About Operation of Pedlars in the City.

With only one dissenting voice—that of Alderman Fred Tuggey—the City Council at last night's meeting voted in favor of a grant of $1,150 to the Trent Waterway Association, the opinion generally being that dollar for dollar value in Peterborough and district publicity has been received in the past, as is amply demonstrated by the largely increased amount of American currency which was circulated locally by tourists in the past summer.

Work Accomplished.

Following the hearing of a, deputation from the Association, consisting of J. Wells Fraser, Fred L. Roy, and Frank G. Stinson, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and secretary to the Association, who all spoke at length on the work accomplished in the past and the plans for the forthcoming exhibition at the New York Motor Boat Show, the question of the grant was fully discussed.

Alderman Fitzpatrick explained that he and Alderman Stocker had [illegible] the meetings of the Trent Waterway Association, and had obtained some figures on the tourist revenue left in Peterborough last summer which were astounding. Referring to the amount of American currency shipped back to the United States from individual banks in this city from June 1 to September 15, he mentioned the sums of $22,500, $61,000, $34,300, $52,-367. He thought it was worthwhile to take into consideration the amount of money left in the district, and was of the belief that the Motor Boat Show in New York is helping greatly to bring that traffic here.

Alderman Stocker — There is an item of $85,000 in American currency shipped back to the United States from a certain Peterborough bank which Alderman Fitzpatrick overlooked. He suggested that the city cannot sit back and expect the tourist traffic to come unbidden. He was entirely in support of the grant.

Alderman Phelan suggested giving

WESTERN AGRICULTURISTS SHOULD CONSIDER DIVERSIFIED FARMING

Only Way Grain Farmer Can Again Place Himself on Solid Ground.

SAYS SIR JOHN AIRD.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13. (CP)—Recovery of Canadian industry is certain, but the time required to bring it about will be determined largely by the resourcefulness and ingenuity of her people, declared Sir JoJhn Aird, in his presidential address at the annual meeting of the Canadian Bank of Commerce to-day.

Appealing to Canadians to throw off their fears and turn their minds resolutely to clearing the way to prosperity "in a country that is one of the most fertile in opportunity for progress" Sir John said: "It is necessary that we work harder, reduce production costs so as to establish an intimate relationship between producers' and consumers' prices.

Regain Solid Ground

Sir John urged western agriculturists to immediately consider the question of diversified farming as a step toward placing the prairie farmer on solid ground, and expressed the wisdom of limiting the acreage in wheat in Canada and other exporting countries. Maladjusted production was as much to blame as overproduction and mistakes in marketing policies for the present trouble. He indicated Canada was least at fault in respect to maladjustment for considering her many natural advantages over her competitors she had one of the smallest increases in acreage, about 4 million acres, since 1925. On the other hand, the United States, a most favorably situated corn-growing country, had curtailed its corn acreage by 3 million acres and increased its wheat acreage by the same figure. Australia had added about 9 million acres since 1925 and Argentina about 2 million acres. The years between 1927 and 1929 had seen some unusual developments, the 1927 world crop being a better than average one, the 1928 crop a bumper one and the 1929 crop in Europe the highest since the war.

Sir John referred to an adjustment of wheat acreage now under way in the United States and the operation in the future of the inflexible law of supply and demand in Australia and Argentina, but emphasised two other important factors, namely, that Russia will within a year or two again be supplying Europe with large quantities of grains and that Manchuria and Northern China are potentially the major sources of supply of foodstuffs for Japan and other countries of the Orient. He therefore was of the conviction that Western Canada would find the Oriental market for its products would be largely curtailed and that Western agriculturalists should consider immediately the question of diversified farming.

Continuing on the subject of wheat, Sir John said when the Prairie farmer had, through all the diversification possible, again placed himself on solid ground, it was to be hoped he would continue permanently on that basis, keeping always in view the necessity for cultural methods that maintain, even improve, the yield per acre and the quality of his crops, from which system followed adequate financial returns per acre.

Bennett to Pay Toronto a Visit

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13. — (C.P.)—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, will make his first speech in Toronto since his elevation to the Premiership on January 19, when he will be guest of honor at a meeting of the Toronto Conservative Business Men's Club. Not only will it be Mr. Bennett's first speech in Toronto since his elevation to the Premiership, but it will also mark his first address since his return from the Imperial Conference.

CRESWELL TIGHE GETS TWO YEARS

Reformatory Term is Given Warsaw Man For Burglary of General Store.

PLEADED GUILTY.

Two years in the Ontario Reformatory was the sentence passed this morning upon Creswell Tighe, Warsaw youth, who early last Wednesday morning burglarized Payne and Darling's general store in that village. In giving sentence MagistrateLangley declared that there was all too many robberies.

Tighe had smashed the glass in the store's main door, and was ransacking the safe and shelves when disturbed by citizens, who having observed his actions gave the alarm. He was pursued to his home and arrested by Provincial Constable D. Sylvester. No money was found on Tighe, although the merchants claim that more than $400 was missing from the safe. Tighe first pleaded not guilty to the charge of burglary, but after a day in jail confessed and directed police to an outbuilding at his home where he had hurriedly thrown all the money he had obtained from the safe, $70.

FIND FIRST BODY OF TRIO MISSING FROM KINGSTON

Remains of Anthony Kane Washed Ashore Near Cape Vincent.

Papers Give Identification.

No Trace of Capt. Sheridan or Cecil Philips Found in Vicinity.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 13. (CP)—Late this afternoon identification was made of the body found ashore at Wilson's point near Cape Vincent, as being that of Anthony Kane of Oswego.

Shortly after two thirty this afternoon a telephone call to C. W. Cole, at Cape Vincent, established that the body had been identified by the driver's license and other papers found in the dead man's pockets. Kane was one of the three men who lost their lives while on their way from the Main Duck Islands to Bath, Ont. No traces of the two other men—Capt. William Sheridan and Cecil Philips—have yet been found.

These three men were aboard the Firefly, officials have been informed, Anthony Kane of Syracuse, Captain William Sheridan of Rochester and Cecil Phillips of Bath, Ont. Parts of the wrecked craft have been found at different points as far as three miles from where the body was discovered to-day.

Prohibition Unionists Take Plea To Henry

TORONTO, Ont., January 13 (C. P.). — A deputation from the Ontario Prohibition Union, including Rev. A. J. Irwin, . A. Magee, Rev. John Coburn, and William Newman, M.L.A., North Victoria, today urged upon Premier George S. Henry and members of the Ontario Cabinet that the local option clause in the Liquor Control Act should be made applicable only to country areas. They claimed it is unjust to adjoining townships that are dry to have liquor sold nearby making it accessible by means of automobile whereas the clause was taken over without readjustment from the old license days when the horse was the only means of transportation.

Novel exercises, including marching while balancing plates on the head and juggling three balls, have been introduced into a girls' college at Cheltenham, England.

Seek Guarantee Minority Rights Be Safeguarded

Prime Minister Macdonald Who is Preparing Report Giving Last Word on Dispute, Has Informed Both Factions That Adequate Protection Will Be Insistnd Upon.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT OF QUESTION IN BRITAIN ALMOST GIVEN UP—WILL PROBABLY COME IN INDIA

Liberals Stand Firm in Demands on Provisional Nature of Their Agreement—Lord Peel For Conservatnves Feels Financial Reservations Not Adequate to Maintain Stability of Credit.

LONDON, January 13 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — The Indian Conference was caught unexpectedly to-day by a dramatic Moslem declaration. It amounted virtually to an ultimatum that the claims of the Moslem minority must be recognized in the constitution of a self-governing India before the Moslems will accept the constitution.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald is preparing his report, which will probably say the last word on the Hindu-Moslem dispute. He has already informed both Moslems and Hindus that the British Parliament will insist on adequate protection for the minorities in any new constitution that is adopted.

Nevertheless, it was revealed to-day there was practically no hope of settlement of the Hindu-Moslem controversy before the conference ends next week. That a settlement will eventually be reached, both sides are confident. But it will be reached in India, not in Great Britain. India will be provided with a large measure of self-government, it is declared, and while this is being worked out, the Hindus and Moslems must settle their differences themselves.

In the absence of H. H. the Aga Khan, Moslem, leader who is ill, Sir Muhammed Shafi laid down the Moslem objections before the sub-committee in discussion of the report.

Sir Muhammed declared he had hoped the Hindu-Moslem differences would have been settled before the final stages of the conference were reached.

Hope Not realized.

Unfortunately this hope had not been realized, and therefore it had become absolutely necessary for him to make a declaration in the words of the resolution adopted by the All-India Moslem conference at Delhi in 1927, Sir Muhammed said.

This resolution said forth that "no constitution, by whomsoever devised, shall be accepted by the Indian Moslems, unless their interests are adequately safeguared in the constitution."

The Moslems, Sir Muhammed said, were not prepared to accept the proposals in the Sankey report for transfer of responsible government to Indians, without adequate safeguards being provided in the constitution for Moslem interests.

Objections Seconded.

M. A. Jinnah, influential Moslem leader and a prominent Bombay barrister, seconded the objections raised by Sir Muhammed Shafi. He added some of his own. He maintained that Hindu-Moslem settlement was indispensable before a constitution could be completed for the

HOSE RUNS WILD FIREMAN INJURED

AT RESTAURANT BLAZE.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Four officers of the Rochester fire department were injured by a high pressure hose line which got out of control at a restaurant fire early today.

After the fire was sufficiently under control to permit firemen to enter the building, the hose line was turned off and drawn away. The nozzle hit a projection and accidentally turned on, the full force of the powerful stream hitting Captain George Fichtner in the face, stunning him and injuring one eye.

The wild stream knocked Lieut. Philip Koepplin ten feet to the ground from a ladder and through a glass door. He was cut and stunned. He was taken to a hospital.

Lieut. Edward Legler and Batallion Chief Slattery came into the path of the stream and were knocked unconscious to the ground and bruised.

TASCHEREAU SPEECH DELAYED

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 13 (C.P.)—Although to-day was the date tentatively set by Premier L. A. Taschereau in his capacity as Provincial Treasurer, to deliver his budget address, it is expected that the speech will not be made before next week. The public accounts have already been submitted to the House, showing a substantial surplus for last year.

PREMIER SCULLIN RULES OWN WAY

States He Will Take No Dictation From Extremists in His Party.

REJECTS DEMANDS.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 13.—(C. P. Cable via Reuters). — Prime Minister James Scullin made it plain to-day that he would not take any dictation from the extremists in his Labor Party when the fiscal policy of the Commonwealth was concerned.

Speaking at a luncheon here he said that he had been appointed Prime Minister by the will of the people. While he held that position he would not be dictated to by any party or section of the community, or the press.

"We are the Government and we intend to do the governing" Premier Scullin said. "While I am Prime Minister I intend to be the Prime Minister."

He was referring to the demand of the New South Wales section of the Labor Party, that he advocate inflation and nationalization of the Commonwealth Bank. If he wished to take the platform in the by-election in Parkes, New South Wales. He has repeatedly rejected the demands of the Laborite left-wingers.

SCULLIN INDICATES WILLINGNESS TO GIVE BRITAIN MORE PREFERENCE

Must Be Able to Supply Needs Without Detriment to Australian Industries.

OUTLINES PROGRAM.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 13 (C.P. Cable via Reuters).—"If the British manufacturers can fully supply Australia's needs without detriment to Australian industries, then the Government is prepared to go further than at present in penalizing the foreigner," Prime Minister James Henry Scullin to-day declared in a forceful speech on the Australian tariff and Empire trade.

Addressing the Australian Association of British manufacturers at a luncheon tendered in his honor, the Prime Minister declared the economic side was the most important aspect of the recent Imperial Conference. He had favored closer Empire economic unity, but he had not favored any weakening of Australia's tariff wall, which must remain where it is, he said.

First Step

Premier Scullin said Australia's first step in paying her way must be to pay for imports with exports. The imports must be goods that Australia needs. He recognized there were some flaws in the present tariff, he said; but no man could prophesy the effects of the tariff. They could only be learned by experience. The Government would earnestly examine each item.

The first consideration of his ministry was Australian industry, Premier Scullin declared. But there was room for the expansion of British trade in Australia without interfering with Australian industries. Instead of warring, the British and Australian manufacturers should get closer together and thrash out their problem. This would greatly assist the Government in working out tariffs.

"British manufacturers must remember Australia's population is six, not fifty millions," Premier Scullin said. "But they should make every effort to get the trade which is at present held by foreigners." He instanced the Government's assistance to the British motor car industry.

The spirity of preference for Australian and other Empire goods was rapidly growing in Great Britain, Premier Scullin went on. The Imperial Conference had done much to assist its growth.

The Prime Minister also remarked that "Many people in Australia and abroad have lost confidence in Australia."

"There is no real reason for that," he concluded.

Flock Of Blackbirds Are Seen At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence) — Havelock residents saw an unusual sight for this time of the year on Sunday when a flock of twenty-four blackbirds were seen in a tree in front of the residence of William Vanderwoort on Alexander street.

HOOVER SEEKS $10,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Hoover to-day called on the people to contribute a minimum of $10,000,000 for the relief of drought sufferers.

TRADEWIND SAID TO HAVE FALLEN IN SEA OFF ST. MICHAEL'S ISLAND

DOWN 20 MILES FROM LAND.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Mackay Radio Company announced receipt of a message to-day from the liner President Garfield saying the San Miguel radio station in the Azores had broadcast the following:

"Understand the airplane Tradewind fell in sea about 20 miles off Mosteiros Point, St. Michael's Island. All ships advised to keep lookout and report this station if anything seen."

The Island of St. Michael (Sao Miguel) is nearer to the other large islands forming the Asores group. It is about 800 miles from Portugal and about 150 east of the Island of Fayal, the expected destination of the Tradewind.

If the airplane came down in the sea near St. Michael's, it would indicate its pilots overshot their mark.

LITHUANIANS SENTENCED.

VILNAN LITHUANIA, Jan. 13. — Four former members of the Lithuanian Diet to-day were sentenced to eight years' imprisonment after they had been convicted of Communist activities. Six others were sentenced to from two to four years.

Stewart's Majority Cut by 35 Votes

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13. — With one of eight Toronto wards Mayoralty election ballots recounted, Mayor William J. Stewart's majority in the recent municipal election has been reduced by 35 votes.

Yesterday's recount returns reduced Mayor Stewart's majority of 313 by 20 votes. The remaining sub-divisions in Ward 5 were counted this morning and with complete returns his majority was reduced by 35 votes to 278.

Polish Gov't. Denies Charges By Germany

WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 13.—The Polish Goverfiment has sent to the League of Nations Secretariat a note refuting charges contained in several German communications to the League regarding treatment of the German minority in Upper Silesia.

The Polish note describes the German communications as of political character and denies the charge that the German minority was not permitted to exercise its full electoral right in the recent Polish election.

FEDERAL GOV'T RESPONSIBILITY SUBJECT TO CERTAIN PROVISIONS WILL IN FUTURE REST UPON PEOPLE

Draft Report Laid Before Parley Sub-committee By Lord Sankey.

ONLY BASIC PRINCIPLES.

Last Plenary Session Opens Friday With "Au Revoir" Monday.

By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—"Subject to certain provisions the responsiblity for the Federal Government of India will in future, rest upon the people of India themselves." With this momentuous declaration Lord Sankey, Britain's Lord Chancellor, laid before the Federal structure subcommittee of the Round Table Conference a draft report on the proposed federal constitution of India.

The document embodies mainly basic principles. It indicates not only those points in which the subcommittee has been able to agree but also those over which there has been disagreement. It is not intended, however, to carry discussion of the various points to the extent of endeavoring to secure complete unanimity on every article. Opportunities, rather, will be afforded for the making of reservations where any delegate is not in entire agreement with the recommendations. In this way it is hoped to speed up the conference.

It is now expected the last plenary session will open Friday with the final "au revoir" of the conference coming before lunch on Monday.

FOREIGN WHEAT SITUATION FIRM

Federal Farm Board Controls About 130,000,000 Bushels of Crop.

LOOKING FOR MARKET.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (C.P.). — The stabilization corporation of the Federal Farm Board now controls about 130,000,000 bushels of wheat, and by the first of July may control nearly the whole carry-over in the United States. Chairman Alexander Legge of the board, returning from a Western trip, was dubious about what would eventually be done with this golden store.

"How about selling some of it to China?" the Canadian Press asked.

"We will sell it wherever we can find a market."

Discussing the foreign wheat situation, Mr. Legge said it seemed to have "firmed up." Russian selling had fallen off, but whether by reason of the northern shipping situation or lack of stocks was anybody's guess. He estimated Russia had sold about 70,000,000 bushels.

The question of what to do with the wheat acquired at higher than the ruling price by the stabilization corporation with Government funds weighs on Washington. The suggestion that its volume may be largely increased during the coming months makes the problem more difficult.

SINCLAIR OUT OF GAME.

TORONTO, Ont., January 13. — University of Toronto's intercollegiate football squad will be without the services of their star kicking half when the season rolls around next fall. It has been learned on good authority that Sinclair will play no more football owing to parental objection.

Varsity therefore will have to round out an entirely new backfield, as Billy Bell, running mate to Sinclair, graduates this year, and will likely line up with Argonauts of the Big Four.

NEW FOOTBALL SERIES.

MONTREAL, January 13. — Negotiations are now under way for an East-West inter-collegiate football series to take place next fall, the winners to be declared champions of Canada, the Montreal Gazette says to-day. Both Eastern and Western Unions look favorably on the proposition, it is said, and the matter will likely be brought up at the next meeting of the Canadian Rugby Football Union.

One Small Hope Held for Fliers

HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, Jan. 13.—Azores officials held one small hope to-day for Mrs. Beryl Hart, and Lieut. William S. MacLaren, who are missing after taking off from Bermuda Saturday for Horta in their monoplane, the Tradewind.

This was that the plane, hampered in keeping to its course by bad visibility, and buffeted by a northeast gale, had come down at one of the other nine isolated islands which form the Azores archipelago.

Aside from this one possibility hope for the fliers has faded almost entirely.

WIRELESS UNION IS BEING URGED

British Magnate Asks C. N. and C.P. to Enter Proposed Partnership.

CABINET TO DECIDE.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—Merging of Canadian wireless and cable systems into a single company to work in association with Imperial and International Communications, Limited, of Great Britain, was the subject of discussion here yesterday between Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister and Member of the Cabinet, and Sir Basil Blackett, chairman of the Great British merger.

The proposal made by Sir Basil is that the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National become partners with the Imperial and International Communications, Ltd., in forming a Canadian overseas communication company which will include the Canadian Marconi system.

Conferences have already taken place between Sir Basil and E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific and Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National.

Following his discussions with the Prime Minister and Members of the Government to-day, Sir Basil said: "I have no reason to be dissatisfied with the result of my meeting."

Sir Basil explained that Imperial and International Communications Limited, was formed following the Imperial Conference of 1928 for the purpose of bringing together under one control the cable and wireless systems of the Empire.

CANADIAN POST HARD TO FILL

Several Peers Believed Available Not Able to Accept Position.

Suggest Viscount Hampden.

TORONTO, Ont., January 13 (C. P.). — A special despatch from Ottawa to The Globe to-days says:

"Several of the peers who were considered possible successors to Viscount Willingdon as Governor-of Canada are not available for the position, it was learned from a reliable source. The Duke of Abercorn, who has been Governor-General of Northern Ireland, the Earl of Athlone, and the Duke of Atholl were among the prospects, but none of them is available for Rideau Hall, and it is stated the King does not wish to spare his Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Cromer. Two names now said to be under consideration are those of Viscount Hampden and the Earl of Plymouth, Brig.-General Thomas Walter Brand.

CHINA WANTS EXPERT ADVICE.

GENEVA, Jan. 13.— The Chinese Government requested the League of Nations to-day to send Sir Arthur Salter, director of the Secretariat's economic and financial section, and Robert Haas, director of its transit section to Nankin to give the Nationalist Government their advice on the reconstruction of China. The question will come before the comi session of the Council on Jan. 19, but its acceptance is indicated by the soundings which preceded the formal invitation.

POLICE RAID REDS—GET RIFLES.

SUDBURY, Jan. 13.—Following up rumors that Communists had firearms concealed in their headquarters, police raided the hall and confiscated four rifles, found hidden beneath the stage. About fifty persons present for a meeting were searched. No arms were found on them. Besides the rifles, which were of an old make, the police found model automatic revolvers which could fire only blank cartridges. The explination was that the arms were used in amateur theatricals.

RUMOR BRITAIN SEEKING $500,000,000 LOAN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.— The New York Evening Post says that reports of negotiations for a $500,000,000 loan to the British government, part to be taken in the United States and part in France, were being heard here.

Recently there were rumors of a private banking credit of $500,000,000 to Great Britain, but the story in its new form, the newspapers said mentioned an issue of dollar bonds.

Another Trans-Atlantic Disaster

The storm-swept Atlantic was believed to have claimed the lives of two more transoceanic fliers, as hope for the safety of Mrs. Beryl Hart, 27-year-old red-headed widow, and Lieut. William S. Maclaren, who left Bermuda on Saturday noon, January 10, for Horta, in the Azores, in their monoplane Tradewind, waned with the passing hours. — Photograph shows the Tradewind.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL HOLDS INAUGURAL MEETING FOR 1931

Rev. E. J. Phelan Conducts Opening Exercises and Addresses Members.

COMMITTEES STRUCK

CAMPBELLFORD, January 13 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—The initial meeting of the 1931 Campbellford Council was held yesterday, when at the morning session the new body for 1931 was sworn into office by the Clerk, J. F. McGregor. Mayor J. M. Bygott occupied the chair; the members present being Reeve J. N. Stone, Deputy Reeve N. A. McColl, and Councillors A. D. Bennett, H. N. Carr, E. C. McKeel, J. R. Battisby, F. F. Long and Neil Thompson.

The devotional exercises commencing the session were conducted by the Rev. C. J. Phelan. In a splendid address to the council he pointed out that they had taken the oath of office to deal with matters pertaining to civic government without fear or favor, congratulating them on the assurance he felt that they knew their duties and would fulfill them faithfully. He spoke of the problems, large and small, that would confront them, and advised them not to be of the type who make promises.

Rev. Father Phelan thought that a good motto for the council for the year would be: "What you have you hold; what you have not, you go after," pointing out that he hoped that in a very short time the industries of the town would be running at full capacity, and that many more new concerns would be located in Campbellford.

The speaker also made a plea for co-operation on the part of each member of the council, pointing out that that was the one thing that spelled success. In conclusion, Father Phelan stated that Campbellford was a fine town with fine possibilities and he looked forward to a better, bigger, brighter and more prosperous Campbellford in 1931. After the address, the speaker led in prayer.

Mayor Bygott, in his opening address to the council, welcomed members, old and new, to the 1931 body. Of the policy for the year of the council, he pointed out that it would be a year of retrenchment. The tax rate, which was extremely high, must be reduced, he declared, with the result that only necessary work would be undertaken. He appealed to the members for co-operation and to the heads of committees for judicious expenditures.

Bringing forward the question of the appointment of committee chairmen, it was decided, on motion of Deputy Reeve MacColl, seconded by Councillor Battisby, that the Mayor make the appointments. The result was that the following committees with their personnel were appointed: Finance—Deputy Reeve N. A. MacColl, chairman, Councillors A. D. Bennett, H. N. Carr. Roads and

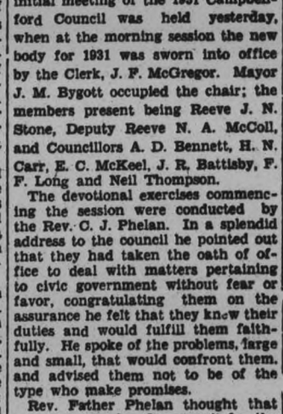
Undergoes Operation



REV. DR. GOFORTH,

Veteran missionary in China, under the auspices of the General Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who yesterday underwent an operation for eye trouble in the Toronto General Hospital. The doctors who operated expressed the opinion that the operation was as successful as could be expected, but it would be necessary to await results. Mrs Goforth is at the Missionary Rest Home, Lake Shore. The Toronto General Hospital reported Dr. Goforth last evening as resting nicely. Dr. Goforth who, with Mrs. Goforth, was on his way back to China, returned from Winnipeg to Toronto for medical care.

Chilean Doctors Die in Suicide Pact

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 12.—(CP)—The tragic deaths of Dr. Cora Mayer, Chile's leading woman physician, and Dr. Alfredo De Maria, government hygiene chief, puzzled the authorities today. Dr. Maria shot Dr. Mayer and himself.

Attendants at the Public Nurses' school where the shooting took place declared that the two had been in love and advanced the theory that, separated by Dr. Maria's marriage to another woman, they had determined to die together. The woman was 35 and unmarried.

FAULTY BUILDING IS JURY'S REPORT IN HOTEL INQUIRY

Inquest Is Held Into Death of Victims in Cochrane Hotel Fire.

LAW VERY LAX.

View With Disfaver Extension of Time on Fire Marshal's Order.

COCHRANE, Jan. 13 (C.P.). — Responsibility for the Queen's Hotel disaster was placed, to a large extent, on lax enforcement of municipal building regulations by the finding of the coroner's jury empanelled yesterday to consider the evidence at the inquest into the death of Baptiste Zardo, one of the victims of the fire which razed the hotel December 29. The inquest was held on the body of Baptiste Zardo, as representative of all 10 persons who lost their lives. The jury deliberated for an hour and a half before arriving at a verdict.

The verdict as submitted to the Coroner, E. R. Tucker, follows:

"We the jury find that Baptiste Zardo came to his death by burning on December 29, 1930, when the Queen's Hotel, Cochrane, was totally destroyed by fire from unknown causes.

"From the evidence adduced we find that the Ontario Fire Marshal issued an order to have certain requirements completed by November 2, 1930, which order was not carried out. On November 26, 1930, the Ontario Fire Marshal granted an extension of time until January 15, 1931, which, under the circumstances, we consider should not have been granted.

"We also find that the municipal authorities appear to have been negligent in their method of issuing building permits to the Queen's Hotel, the plan of which was not suitable for a building of such dimensions for hotel purposes.

"We strongly recommend that the municipal authorities pay more strict attention to the enforcement of building by-laws, especially where there is danger to life."

LIGNITE TESTING IS SATISFACTORY

Hopes in Blacksmith Rapids Field High Despite No Sign of Oil or Gas.

RIVER UNFROZEN.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—Returning from a three-weeks' sojourn in the Onakwana lignite fields, Thomas F. Sutherland, Deputy Minister of Mines, reports excellent progress is being made with drilling in the field.

For the purpose of obtaining geological information, diamond drilling was undertaken to a depth of 1,000 feet until granite was reached. There were no traces of gas or oil, but this test does not mean there is no gas or oil, Mr. Sutherland intimated, and there will be further tests made in this regard.

Mild weather, the mildest in the memory of residents of Moose Basin, is now being experienced, Mr. Sutherland stated, around Blacksmith Rapids and through the district generally. Proving operation in connection with the iron deposits along the Mattagami have been held up because the river is still open.

LINDSAY COUNCIL GETS UNDER WAY FOR NEW YEAR

Mayor Alcorn in Inaugural Address Stresses Need for Economy.

TOWN DEBT $1,089,000

Decision Made to Recognize Constable Hodgson's Work in Recent Arrests.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LINDSAY, Jan. 13. — The town council for 1931 held its inaugural session yesterday morning when the heads of the different committees were selected. The council decided to recognize in a tangible manner the splendid work recently performed by Constable Hodgson in his arrest of two burglars with $600.00 worth of loot and also the arrest of five men on Thursday morning last.

Mayor Alcorn, in his inaugural address, stressed the need of rigid economy and retrenchment as well as a policy which would induce industrial concerns to locate in the town. The debt of the town it was pointed out, now stood at the high figure of $1,089,000, $1,002,000 of which was debenture debt. The 1930 tax roll is $233,961 and the rate 43.75 mills. Almost 50 per cent of this is spent on education.

Mayor Alcorn went on record as being opposed to the voting of grants of money by the council for which the people have no right to be taxed.

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Orlex will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Dud Shell Saves Life of Constable

MONTREAL, Jan. 13—A faulty cartridge in the chamber of a gunman's revolver saved the life of Constable Lacombe of the Montreal police and enabled him to overcome two armed men, both of whom were in a critical condition last night. Lorenzo Ouellette, 25, received a bullet through the stomach and another in his leg, while his companion, Paul Tremblay, also 25, was suffering from blows about the head from the constable's clubbed revolver. During the scuffle Tremblay placed his gun against Lacombe's breast and snapped the hammer. The shell was examined afterward and found to be dented, but it failed to explode.

The affray followed a series of auto thefts and a chase through the city.

American investments abroad now total more than $7,000,000,000.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS OF CONSTANT RESEARCH

Presenting

THE GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT SO FAR ATTAINED IN ELECTRIC RANGE BUILDING

Moffats

THE QUICKEST Cook-Quik DURABLE ELEMENT

Element

The "A.B.C." of the Cook-Quik Element

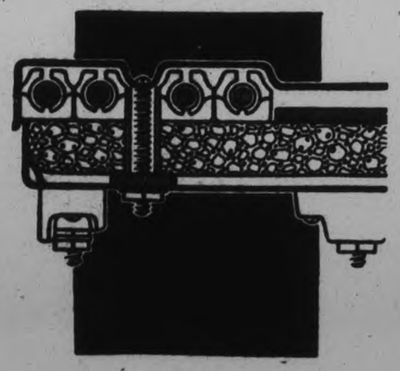
A. The new element will boil water faster than any element previously made by Moffats, and compares with any other on the market for speed.

B. Speed is the result of light weight, therefore requiring fewer heat units for initial heating. New top plate and patented beads also facilitate speedy cooling.

C. Long life is assured by use of patented alloy for top plate, which will not corrode or disintegrate with constant use. The high grade 1700-watt coils also operate efficiently at very low temperatures.

D. Service will rarely be needed on the new Cook-Quik Element, but if a necessity does arise, the element may be serviced without destroying any parts of the element. Cleanliness is also a big factor with the new element.

E. Safe operation at the lowest possible cost is further guaranteed by the air and porcelain insulation features of the new element which prevent leakage of power whether the element is red hot or cold. This is a vast improvement over the cement or powder insulated element.



LEADERSHIP is only maintained by great achievements in Industry. Moffats secured leadership in the electric range world by pioneering the way, and have maintained that leadership by the many great and far-reaching accomplishments that have brought the pleasures of electric cooking and baking into homes in all parts of the world.

Moffats Ranges are the most sincerely imitated ranges in the world today, but their quality has never been equalled. Others in the industry know that Moffats will not introduce a new feature until it has been thoroughly tested in their laboratory and then has borne the brunt of very severe testing under ordinary domestic conditions. This assures absolute satisfaction on the part of a vast army of Moffat users and maintains the enviable prestige and leadership enjoyed by Moffats.

Thus you can rest assured that this new element—Moffats Cook-Quik Element—is in reality the quickest durable element on the market today.

One of these new elements is being installed on each range now leaving the factory at Weston. This is yet another reason why you should make yours a Moffat Gold Medal Electric Range.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL HOLDS INAUGURAL MEETING FOR 1931

Bridges, Councillor N. Thompson, chairman, Reeve J. N. Stone, Councillors A. D. Bennett, J. R. Battisby; Charity—Councillor J. R. Battisby, chairman, Councillors F. F. Long, N. Thompson; Industrial and Inquiry—Councillor H. N. Carr, chairman, Councillors E. C. McKeel J. R. Battisby. Police—Reeve J. N. Stone, chairman, Councillors A. D. Bennett, H. N. Carr; Band or Musical—Councillor A. D. Bennett, chairman, Deputy Reeve MacColl, Councillor McKeel; Parks—Councillor F. F. Long, chairman; Reeve J. N. Stone, Councillor J. R. Battisby. Fire—Councillor E. C. McKeel, chairman, Councillors A. D. Bennett, N. Thompson.

After the reading of the minutes of the last meetings, on motion, the meeting adjourned until the evening.

Appointments Made

The adjourned meeting of the town council was continued last evening, with the mayor, J. M. Bygott, in the chair. This session was featured by the passing of by-laws covering the different appointments for the year.

The following are the by-laws passed: Presented by Councillor H. N. Carr, a by-law appointing G. A. Kingston as High School trustee on the Board of Education for the years 1931-2. Presented by Deputy Reeve N. A. MacColl, a by-law authorizing the town to borrow from the Canadian Bank of Commerce the sum of $50,000 at the rate of 6% of $50,00 per annum interest, for current expenses. Presented by Councillor A. D. Bennet, a by-law appointing Robert Lowry as assessor for the town of Campbellford for 1931 at a salary of $350.00 a year. A by-law presented by Reeve J. N. Stone appointing auditors for the town of Campbellford for the year 1931. The following three applications were read, Hilton Coxwell, J. D. McEachern, G. H. Free. On motion of Reeve Stone seconded by Councillor Battisby, Messrs. McEachern and Free were named, this being followed by an amendment moved by Councillor Carr, seconded by Councillor N. Thompson, naming Messrs. Coxwell and McEachern. Put to the vote, the amendment carried, and the names of Hilton Coxwell and J. D. McEachern were placed on the by-law. A by-law, presented by Councillor F. F. Long, appointing H. Townsend to the Library Board for the years 1931-2-3. A by-law presented by Councillor J. R. Battisby appointing John Gay as member of the local Board of Health. A by-law presented by Deputy Reeve MacColl authorizing the opening of an individual account in the Canadian Bank of Commerce for money used for relief work.

1,650 Given Library Board

The Rev. H. Clark Wallace approached the council as delegate from the Library board, asking that the council give their annual grant of $1,650 to the library. In presenting this request, he stated that there were 65,000 volumes in the Campbellford library, 31,782 having been taken out last year. In 1930 462 new books had been added to the library shelves, and in the past two years there had been an increase of nearly 400 in circulation. On motion of Deputy Reeve MacColl, seconded by Councillor E. C. McKeel, the sum asked was granted, with the stipulation that it be not paid in a lump sum but as required by the board.

Robert Lowry addressed the council in regard to the possibilities of the town power being supplied to the quorry work, to enable operations to commence there under the construction company. It was understood that about forty men were idle owing to the inability of the company to obtain power from the Hydro, and it was felt that as the Hydro obtained power from the town plant, and the town plant had a reserve of power, that the quarry could be supplied. After discussion this matter was left, on motion, to the Industrial Committee to investigate.

Would Employ 200

Corresponence read by the clerk included a letter from the Campbellford Cloth Company in regard to their fixed assessment. The company thought that the assessment should be for $50,000, and were agreeable that the matter be presented to the citizens in the form of a by-law, to be voted on. They guaranteed the employment of 200 hands for at least eleven months of the year.

On motion of Reeve Stone seconded by Councillor Thompson, this matter was referred to the Industrial Committee for further investigation with the request that they report back to the council.

A letter from J. G. Kerry of the Quinte and Trent Valley Power Company was also read asking for another meeting with the new council in regard to the buying by the town of the power plant. The clerk was authorized to write Mr. Kerry stating the council's willingness to meet him.

Reeve Stone brought up the matter of the Campbellford police wearing their uniforms, a thing that apparently was not always done, and the council after discussion thought that the police should be approached on the matter, with a view to requesting them to conform to the wishes of the council. The name of Councillor J. R. Battisby was also added to the Police Committee.

The general pay sheet amounting to $256.31, and the relief pay sheet amounting to $1,831.21 were presented by Deputy Reeve MacColl and passed by the council.

In 1930 Germany shipped many agricultural implements to Argentina and South Africa.

TWEED DEFEATS CAMPBELLFORD

Millers Go Down to 3-0 Defeat at Hands of the Home Team.

NICE COMBINATION.

In a fast game last night in Tweed before some 600 fans, Tweed handed Campbellofrd a 3-0 licking. Despite the heavy going most of the way, there was some nice stick-handling and combination shown by both teams, two of the winners' goals being scored on assists. The play was clean throughout, and penalties few. McGee, in goal for Tweed, gave a fine exhibition of netminding, and only the fact that he was "on" saved his teammates from a closer score.

In the first period, Campbell opened the scoring on a neat piece of combination with Cripps. Both goalies had some hard saves before the gong. The second frame opened fast with the play moving rapidly from one end to the other. Midway through, Campbell again bulged the hemp for Tweed, this time on a pass from Geraldi. The final stanza found the ice pretty slow, but the boys kept up the fast pace, with the teams looking very evenly matched. But toward the end, Cripps broke away on an individual rush, fooled the entire team, and slipped in the last counter of the game. The losers tried desperately to score, but could not beat McGee.

The teams:

Tweed — Goal, McGee; right defence, Marchen; left defence, M. Geraldi; centre, A. Campbell; right wing, Cripps; left wing, A. Geraldi; alternates, F. Geraldi, Boyd, and G. Geraldi.

Referee—Max Board.

MEMBER TELLS TRIP TO COAST

Mrs. Fred Crane Gives Delightful Address at Warsaw Institute Meeting.

BEAUTY AMONG ROCKIES.

WARSAW, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—The first meeting of the Women's Institute in its new home was held on Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crowe gave a most interesting report of their trip to the coast.

Mrs. George Weller presided for the meeting and after welcoming the guests, thanked the councillors for the gift of $33.

Mr. Petrie sang two numbers "The Dying Solder's Charges," and "Four and Twenty Skippers" and Henry Batten sang, "When It's Springtime in the Rockies."

Mrs. Crowe in speaking of the trip to Vancouver described very clearly the scenery in some of the principal places, the buffalo tracks which still are seen, the Saskatchewan mud, the cowboys, the wonderful views of mountains, Banff Park, herds of buffalo, Lake Louise which reflects shadows of mountains at all hours, and other beautiful small lakes; and of making snow balls on the mountain on July 12. She described Kicking Horse Pass, the view of the Columbia River, the irrigated lands, the avenues of maple trees on the highway to Vancouver which was beautiful with lovely roses and flowers.

Mr. Crowe took the audience to Victoria whither they had gone by boat from Vancouver and back. Victoria charmed them with its beauty and climate. It has the finest harbor in the world, the second largest dry dock in America and the lowest infant mortality in the world.

They returned by a more Southern route, through Crowe's Nest Pass, spending some days at Yellowstone Park. He noticed the different agriculture as they came through the different states.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

At the February meeting the report of the convention will be given.

APRON PRESENTED GEORGE L. BURNHAM

Actively Connected With Millbrook Branch of Masonry For Over Thirty Years.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—A feature of peculiar interest in connection with the regular meeting of J. B. Hall Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 145, on Thursday evening, was the presentation of a Grand Lodge apron to Past Master Brother George E. Burnham, who has been actively connected with the local branch of Masonry for over thirty years.

Last July during the Grand Lodge sessions at Toronto, Mr. Burnham was honored by being chosen for the position of Grand Steward, as a recognition of merit, and the apron, handsomely decorated on a ground of royal blue silk, presented on Thursday evening, is the one worn as the insignia of this office.

Right Worshipful Brothers Dr. A. Jemison, and Charles Thorndyke, made the presentation, on behalf of J. B. Hall Lodge, the former, in his address, stressing the fact the gift was only in appreciation of the honor accorded a brother member by the Grand Lodge, at its annual gathering, in elevating Mr. Burnham to the office of Grand Steward, but also in grateful recognition of faithful and constructive service rendered, through a lengthy period of years, to the local Masonic organization.

Mention was made of the fact that it is at least twenty-four years since Mr. Burnham filled the chair of Worshipful Master in J. B. Hall Lodge, and during the intervening time his interest in the welfare of Masonry has not flagged, nor has his knowledge of the ritual been allowed to fall into disuse

The event came as a complete surprise to the recipient of the gift, and his reply, indicative of keen apreciation and of deep feeling, was voiced in a few brief, but well-chosen, sentences.

SOCIETIES HOLD JOINT MEETING

Cavan Women's Association and Missionary Society Meet in Church.

REPORTS READ.

CAVAN, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Cavan Women's Association and W.M.S. held a joint meeting in the church on Thursday afternoon with the W.M.S. conducting the first session.

Mrs. Snider had charge of the devotional period and read an interesting thought-stimulating article on "The Old Year and the New." Mrs. Staples led in prayer after which the president of the W.M.S., Mrs. R. Matchett, took charge. The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture containing the word 'happy,' while next month the scriptural topic for the roll call will be 'praise.'

In the treasurer's report the announcement was made that the allocation of $80 for 1930 had been reached.

Mrs. J. C. Swain read a leaflet on 'membership in the W.M.S. of the United Church and what it means,' and Mrs. Ray Syer gave a synopsis of the industrial development of Japan and Mrs. J. H. Snider on the educational and political development of Japan from the study book. Mrs. R. S. Staples read 'A Brother of man,' and Mrs. Perrin 'the Temperance Herald' and a clipping on the liquor traffic.

The president requested the following Heralds to contribute next month: Mrs. R. S. Staples, 'Peace'; Mrs. Snider, 'Christian Stewardship'; Mrs. Hunter, China and Mrs. Ray Syer and Mrs. M. G. Matchett, India.

Association Meeting

During the Women's Association meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. D. J. Hunter, Mrs. R. S. Staples gave a paper containing several helpful suggestions for the coming year. A few of the suggestions were, variety in the meetings; not to leave all responsibility to the president and officers; when asked to take part say cheerfully, 'Why I'll be glad to try'; cultivate the grace of sociability. Another suggestion was that at one monthly meeting the tea hour should be given to friendly conversation. Discussion followed this paper.

For the February meeting the lunch will take the form of a pot luck supper and a silver collection will be taken.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to a number of the church who had donated a quilt to the Society and which had been sold at the Thanksgiving dinner.

Mesdames Whitham, Snider and Swain will be hostesses to decide on dates for pot luck dinners to be held.

10 UNHURT IN WILD PLUNGE.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 13.—Alleged to have been knocked from the road by a passenger automobile, a large motor truck carrying 10 employees of the Provincial Hydro Electric Commission plunged through a guard rail and fell 40 feet down an embankment on the new Sarum hill, east of here yesterday. None of the men were injured although the truck concluded its plunge by turning completely over.

ROY FRY IS CHOSEN HEAD

Officers Elected at Annual Meeting of Zion League Last Week.

CONVENORS ELECTED.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—At the annual meeting of Zion League held on Wednesday, Roy Fry was elected president for 1931 with George Brunton, vice-president; Gladys Simpson, secretary, assistant, Fred Petherick; treasurer, Fred Fry and pianist Evelyn Barnum and Gladys Petherick.

The convenors of the different committees are: devotional, Thomas Fry; Missionary, Lindsay Anderson; citizenship, Mrs. Lorne Barnum; social, Laura Watson and Elsie Forde; junior, Coral Watson.

The reports of the work in 1930 were very encouraging as reported by the secretary, Freda Petherick, and the treasurer, E. L. Anderson. Forty-six meetings were held during the year with an average attendance of forty. In the contest just closed, the Chinese group with George Brunton as leader came first, the Negroes second, the Japanese third and the Canadians fourth.

The treasurer's report showed receipts of $127.03 of which $23 was contributed to the M. and M. fund; and $50 was paid on the church piano. Twenty-five dollars was left in the treasury after expenses incidental to the social activities were paid.

The Rev. F. G. McTavish and Miss Mary Peake read the report of the nominating committee.

In the contest for 1931 there will be only two groups and echoes of radio announcers are revealed in the choice of titles. Lorne Barnum as Amos leads one group and Fred Barnum in the role of Andy for his group leadership.

A short league program at 7:30 on Wednesday evening will precede the congregational annual meeting.

QUEBEC'S LARGE SURPLUS.

The fact that Quebec is able to show a surplus of $4,210,230.53 for the last fiscal year as against a deficit of $628,000 in Ontario, is a situation that is not escaping comment, and editorial writers have been endeavoring to explain the difference in the showing made by the two Provinces.

These papers favorable to the Ontario Government are quick to point out that Quebec has remained out of the old age pensions system and therefore escapes a heavy expenditure that Ontario has accepted, and that Quebec has not gone nearly so far in the matter of social service generally as has our own Province.

The Border Cities Star raises another interesting point when it infers that the piling up of a large surplus is not always a proof of careful financing.

The Star says: "As a matter of fact, it is a little difficult to see just why Quebec should have such an enormous surplus. Either it indicates budgeting which was so cautious as to be rather foolish or, if it were known beforehand that there was to be such a surplus over expenditure, one would think taxes should have been reduced."

It may be true that to budget for more than you need is as faulty financing as to budget for too little, but then most people would prefer to learn of a surplus than of a deficit, and in that respect the Quebec Government has a big advantage over its Ontario contemporaries.

SHOULD LET THEM IN.

In deciding to bar the press from Council committee meetings the Woodstock City Council is not only unfair to the newspapers but to the citizens who pay the bills and have the right to know how their money is being spent and how the city's business is being handled.

Everybody knows that the greater part of a municipal Council's business is done in committee; it is at committee sessions that matters are thoroughly discussed and members of the Council take their stand on important questions, the adoption of committee reports in regular meetings of the Council being as a rule simply a matter of routine, so that if the reporters are banished from committee meetings the public will have to judge the work of the individual members of Council practically by guess-work.

There is, in The Examiner's opinion, no reason why there should not be co-operation between the Council and the press that will ensure a fair, complete, timely and accurate report of all committee meetings—as is the case here where for many years the meetings of committees have been open to newspaper men.

When, as happens on occasion, there are matters under discussion, the premature publication of which might harm the interests of the municipality, the reporters detailed to cover Council activities are always ready to play the game by omitting such information from their reports.

It is undoubtedly true, as the St. Thomas Times-Journal puts it, that closed meetings too often result in "a misinformed press and a suspicious public."

IMPORTANT RECOMMENDATIONS.

It is the contention of Sir Herbert S. Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada that the future prosperity of this country "depends upon increased prosperity and a balanced economy which can only be developed by fostering home industries."

Sir Herbert's address and that of C. E. Neill, vice-president and managing director of the Royal Bank, delivered at the annual meeting, were noteworthy studies of the present economic situation, with important recommendations as to how Canadian conditions can be improved, opinions that coming from such outstanding financiers and business men deserves every consideration.

As to the world situation, the president declares that "abnormal credit conditions are primarily responsible for the general depression, and until there is such a redistribution of gold—sixty per cent. of the world's supply is now being concentrated in the United States and France—as to leave other countries in a less helpless condition, the world can never attain that stability which business has every right to express."

Practical suggestions for Canadian adoption made by Sir Herbert include the recommendations that the Provincial Governments should refuse to permit any more installations of paper industries until the demand catches up with the supply, that wasteful competitions between the railways be eliminated, that future expansion of hydro-electric plants be authorized only as the demand warrants, and that the farmers of the West should place less reliance on the production of grain and launch into mixed farming, assisted by an agricultural credit corporation to finance the purchase of cattle, sheep and hogs.

Equally interesting and important were the remarks of C. E. Neill, managing director of the Royal Bank, who in an illumining discussion of world financial conditions suggested a conference of the leading financial powers to formulate a plan by which countries in time of financial assistance could tap the surplus supplies of New York and Paris, or failing that, the formation by British interests of a syndicate with substantial capital which would borrow money in the United States and in France for re-loaning to countries in need of financial assistance.

THE COUNCIL CHAIRMEN.

The City Council in its choice of committee chairmen for this year has been fortunate to the extent that the various municipal portfolios have been alloted in the main to men of experience in the duties of their positions.

It may be argued that these positions should be passed around so that all the aldermen might become in that way conversant with the various services and duties, but sound business practice is usually to keep men in posts where they have given good service, and there is no reason why sound business practices should be departed from in carrying out the city's affairs.

Two aldermen with considerable experience in other years have been honored with chairmanships, Ald. James Hamilton taking the works portfolio, which he has held before, while Ald. E. M. Turner will preside over the activities of the reception committee.

The chairmanship of the manufacturers committee, left vacant by the departure of Malcolm McIntyre, will be filled by Ald. George A. Macdonald, while Ald. J. D. Fitzpatrick, in his second year in the Council, has been promoted to head the legal committee.

There are no changes in the other departments, Ald. Nagle Phelan being assigned to his eleventh year as chairman of the finance committee, Ald. Cotton remaining as head of the fire, water and light committee, Ald. Walter Stocker again having the parks under his supervision, and Ald. Holland being re-elected chairman of the property committee.

All these posts were satisfactorily filled last year, and the retention of these chairmen will no doubt be approved by the majority of electors.

ELECTRIC POWER IN CANADA.

The development of hydro-electric power continues apace in Canada. Nearly 400,000 horse-power of electrical energy was brought into operation during 1930, which, according to Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, brought the total installation for the whole Dominion to more than 6,000,000 horsepower. In the next two or three years it is estimated that new undertakings will add some 1,500,000 horsepower to the total now recorded, and involve an expenditure of about $300,000,000 in plants and equipment. There is wide distribution in these undertakings, and practically every part of the country is affected.

In Ontario, hydro-electric power is so familiar to the cimmunity at large that announcements of new expansions and installations cause no surprise. On the other hand, an official statement that a halt had been called upon these would be reason for astonishment. No one anticipates such a contingency in the near future. On the contrary, tremendous hydro development, both public and private in enterprise, is foreseen for this Province, with less and less dependence upon imported fuels for industry, and the creation of new industries by reason of the utilization of the water powers which Ontario possesses.

To a remarkable degree water powers with hydro-electric possibilities are found at or near known natural resources awaiting development in Canada. Many mineral and forest areas would to-day be merely prospective contributors to the nation's wealth and industry, but for the convenient location of water power which has been harnessed to exploit these resources. Others, not yet worked, would have had to lie dormant much longer than they now will but for mans ability to transmit power from hydro plants over what would once have been considered prohibitive distances. The water powers of this country are in the very front rank of its greatest assets.—Brantford Expositor.

HOLDING BACK BAD NEWS.

When the Italian Government announced that ten of its great seaplanes, in military squadron formation, by crossing the South Atlantic had done what no group had done before, the people of Italy held joyful fiesta. From Fiume to Sicily's southern coast there were happy demonstrations of national pride. Far away from the homeland, in New York, in San Francisco, in Northern Africa and in the Argentine, people of Italian blood celebrated the triumph of Italy in the air.

In its announcement the Government at Rome had made it known that only ten of twelve planes had reached Brazil. Two other flying ships were down short of South America, but safely anchored at the island of Fernando do Noronha. What the Government did not reveal until next day was that these two ships were replacement craft which had not been expected to go further than the take-off point at Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, in Africa. Nor did it explain that the reason these ships had attempted the Natal flight was because two others had crashed at the start from Bolama and five fliers were dead. This, according to the dispatches, was withheld "so that their rejoicing might not be marred that night." Next morning the Government promptly gave the sad and detailed facts about the accident and the deaths.

There will be two viewpoints as to the wisdom and propriety of the course of the Italian Government in withholding the bad news and publishing only the good. General Balbo, who led the squadron over the ocean, clearly did not share the official attitude. While Italian communities were jubilating, General Balbo was cabling the New York Times as follows: "I have not yet received accurate details of the few mishaps, but I believe that this undertaking also will have been paid for in human life." It was the first intimation that death, and disaster other than the landing of two planes near Fernando do Noronha, had been the price of Italy's triumph.

Those who sustain the Government's keeping back a part of the news will contend that the success of the ten planes was the important aspect of the flight; and that to have cast a damper on joy that night would have been inconsiderate and was unnecessary. They will argue also that the Government may have been seeking detailed confirmation of the crashes and casualties, and decided to wait a few hours until the worst could surely be known. In Europe the official adage is that "it is never too late for bad news." On occasion waiting has been found wise. The course of the British Government is remembered when it gave out its first bulletins of the Battle of Jutland, which suggested that the British fleet had met heavy defeat and sent the people into the deepest gloom. When later dispatches showed that the naval action had been no worse than a stalemate, the public for a long time feared that the second reports were not true. That was a case when the Government might well have waited for details.

On the other side, many will think that the Italian Government, knowing there had been death and disaster, was not fair to the people.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Apparently Premier Henry thinks that the new Liberal leader in Ontario should not take his seat until he gets one.

It is presumed that album the press photographers gave Mr. Ferguson included a picture or two of his nailing some hides on the fence.

It is characteristic of Viscount Willingdon that in his farewell speeches he should think of the welfare of Canada's returned soldiers.

If the "No Smoking" rule is enforced the meetings of Port Arthur's Council are likely to establish a new record in brevity.

Energetic plans for an adequate Canadian exhibit at the British Empire Exhibition in Buenos Aires looks like excellent business for this country.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

"Do you?" Then I'll let you wash the dishes."

"I will not, that's Rickey's job."

"Rickey's a Southern gentleman. They never wash dishes."

Tony was immensely amused, "But you'd let me do it?"

"That's different. Your Dutch traditions aren't against it."

"I wish Jane could hear you say that."

She flashed a glance at him, "I wonder what she'd say if she could see you here?"

"She could say what she pleased. I've never been in better company."

Rickey looked from one to the other, "Who's Jane?"

"Tony's mother, darling. And she's a very charming person."

"You'll find that out for yourself, Rickey," Anthony told him, "when you and your sister come to Derekdale."

"Derekdale?"

"That's our place on the Hudson. Both of you are invited to the Christmas dance. Your sister doesn't know she is going. But she is."

Rickey was eager. "Look here, if I go, shall I meet Miss Van Duyne?"

"Marty? Yes, she's always there. Why?"

"Oh, I want to put her in a book. I've never seen anything to match her—she's like something supernatural—a nymph in a pool, an oread on the mountains."

"Rickey," Virginia warned, "do come to earth."

He flushed, "I can't help it if I'm a poet."

Anthony laughed. "Go on, Oliphant, and write verses to her eyebrows. She'll adore it, even if she doesn't understand it."

"Why shouldn't she understand?" Rickey demanded hotly.

Anthony shrugged, "Oh, see for yourself. She hasn't time to think a lot. She's too busy living."

All through the day Virgina played the game with Anthony, and it was while they were in his boat, sweeping out from the river into the Bay that he said to her, "Think of all the years we've lost in not knowing each other."

Leaning back against the cushions she said, doubtfully, "I'm not sure that you're good for me."

"Why not?"

"Well, there's a glamour—"

"In what?" eagerly.

"Oh, in gold braid and brass buttons."

He was disappointed: "Wait until you see me without them."

She surveyed him with level gaze. "Are you as nice without them as with them?"

"Much nicer."

"Could you be—nicer?"

He met her eyes squarely, "How much are you in earnest when you say things like that?"

"I don't know. But I meant it when I said I was not sure you are good for me. You're too disgracefully rich, and I'm too disgracefully poor. I always have the feeling that you're extravagant when you shower so much on me—all those lovely flowers yesterday from Baltimore, and the books this morning, and the sweets."

"Did you like them?"

"Loved them. But you shouldn't."

"I should and I shall. You belong among lovely things—Virginia."

It was the first time he had used her name. She flushed, "Please don't."

"Why not? Aren't we friends?"

"Oh, yes, but I'm old-fashioned. And I've known you such a short while."

"If I feel as if I had known you for a thousand years—"

She sat up and spoke with decision, "Well, you haven't. And isn't it time we were getting back—"

He laughed, "Suppose I should make up my mind not to take you back. To sail and sail and sail with you to the end of the world?"

"Don't be silly."

He laughed again, "Silly or not, there are things you don't know, little lady."

"What things?"

"Oh," his blue eyes were lighted, "things I shall teach you."

The boat reached the pier. He jumped out and held a hand to help her. When she stood beside him, he did not let her go. "I'm going to give you your first lesson now," he lifted her hand and kissed it, "some day it will be your lips!"

She told herself, when at last she got away, that she had deserved it. She wanted nothing of Anthony Bleecker. She had known that, yet she had led him on, letting him think her light-minded. And she had done it because she wanted to get away from the thought of Michael McMillan.

The next day Tony wrote an apology: "I shouldn't have said what I did on the pier. But you are such a charming scholar, and it was great temptation. But when the color went out of your cheeks, and you looked up at me with your little girl's eyes, I knew I had—transgressed. You're such a darling innocent, Virginia. Do you mind my calling you that—on paper? If you do, I'll ask you again to forgive me."

What could she do but forgive him? And when he asked her, on the night before her departure, to dine with him, and included Rickey, she accepted.

Rickey was thrilled by the invitation. "Bleecker's an awfully good sort," he said, "and he has loads of money."

"I wish he hadn't," Virginia said.

"Why?"

"Oh, things would be much simpler."

"I don't know what you mean."

"We can't afford to have rich friends, Rickey."

"I don't see it that way, Jinny."

Smiling up into his frowning face, she said, "Perhaps you are right." She told herself that Anthony Bleecker was surely better company for Rickey than Lute Carney and his crowd. So why worry?

She had shopped a bit in Baltimore, and had bought a brown tweed suit to travel in. It was simple and inexpensive, but there was fur on the collar, and the color was becoming. She had bought a little hat, too, which fitted her head like a helmet and showed her hair at the sides. As she surveyed herself anxiously in her scrap of a mirror she decided that in the right clothes she really was not so bad.

"What do you think of me Rickey?" she asked her brother.

"You're better-looking than I ever believed you could be," was his brotherly response. "I like that white silk shirt and the brown shoes—and you carry yourself well, I'll say that, Jinny."

"Oh, Rickey—if only some day I could have lovely things—I want a rose colored taffeta with gold lace, and rose satin slippers, and a little gold fan—"

"Where'd you wear them if you had them—?"

"I want a place to wear them, Rickey.'

He stood leaning back against an old chest of drawers, his hands in his pockets. "Did you ever think Jinny," he said, "that Tony Bleecker might . . . give you a place to wear them?"

They stood staring at each other, then Virginia said slowly, "I shouldn't want to think it."

"Why not?"

"Oh, I couldn't ever—love him—"

"If I were a girl, I'd think myself lucky—"

She held up her hand, "Oh, don't please, Rickey."

He was sulky, "I don't see why you're acting this way about it. Most girls would know on which side their bread was buttered—"

"I don't want butter on my bread," she said, with some spirit, "if I have to take it at Tony Bleecker's hands."

"But what have you against him, Jinny?"

"Nothing. And you're making a mountain out of a molehill," and for a time that was the end of it.

Anthony took them to a place near Marlborough, kept by two delightful ladies of the old school who were aliveto modern methods. They had preserved the atmosphere of the house, and had reproduced as far as possible the background of the leisure and luxury which had once prevailed. Dinner was served in the great dining-room, with mahogany and Sheffield and with ancient paintings on the walls. A fire crackled on the hearth, there were tall white candles, and the food was delicious.

Virginia's manner to Anthony through out the meal was one of serene detachment. "You haven't forgiven me," he said whenRickey left them for a moment.

"There' really nothing to forgive," she said, slowly. "It was my fault. I hadn't known you long enough to let you say such things to me—"

He found her naivete charming, "How long must I know you to say them?"

Before she could answer, Rickey came back, and the three of them went out to-gether into the crisp darkness. There was a hunter's moon—a gold disc in a purple sky. The wind sang in their ears as the car sped along. "To-morrow night," Tony reminded Virginia as they crossed a bridge and came into Annapolis, "to-morrow night you'll be in New York and this old town will be empty."

She did not answer. She was not thinking of the old town and its emptiness. She was thinking of Michael. He would be there in the big city—even though she did not see him, he would be there.

Hours later, after Rickey had gone to bed, Virginia went alone into the garden. The friendly box trees seemed to enfold her as she sat on the stone bench, where she had sat with Michael. How near he had seemed to her in mind and spirit! The change in him was incredible. Were men like that, she asked the moon, were they?

The next morning she went over to see old Mrs. Montgomery, taking with her the box of sweets that Tony had brought. The old lady sat in a room furnished with her own ancient belongings. There were things which would have turned Jane Bleecker green with envy. But Mrs. Montgomery would not have looked at Jane. She cared not at all for women who dressed like Jane and acted like her, and who did not wear their years with dignity.

"When trains went out," said this last remnant of a prideful race, "manners went with them. No woman can look the grande dame in an abbreviated skirt and smoking a cigarette. And after fifty a woman should cultivate the grand manner. It's the only thing left in which youth can't surpass her."

Mrs. Montgomery was fifty plus forty, and she still had the grand manner, except, as has been said, in the moments when her old body and her old mind went back on her, and made her like any other old woman with primeval instincts.

She welcomed Virginia with affection, tinged with melancholy, "I hate to think it's your last visit."

"It isn't my last," Virginia said, he lips close to Mrs. Montbomery's ear." "I shall be coming back from time to time."

The old lady sat very straight in her high-backed chair. "'From time to time' means nothing when one comes to my years," she said, in the hollow tone of the very deaf, "I may not be here to-morrow. Young people don't think of such things. They think only of living. As if that were the end of it. Let them think of dying. I'm ninety, and every day is a throw of the dice—"

Virginia stared at her in astonishment. Never before had Mrs. Montgomery said things like this. Had they been locked up always in that old breast? "Doesit make you—unhappy?"

RELIEF FOR FARMERS

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Just at present there is so much talk on the wheat situation that I would like to say a few words concerning this problem.

I am not a farmer myself, but it seems they are the ones who are last to pass their opinions on the subject. It just seems that when they have a corner in the cellar with a few potatoes in it and a hunk of frozen meat in the summer kitchen, they just sit still and let the world pass by. When the fine days come in the spring they will get up and plant more wheat and in the meantime the mortgage is increasing.

Now I think if these people would wake up—those who are handing out the relief money and hand some of it to these farmers and tell them to keep on sitting for a few years that the wheat problem, the unemployment, the price of machinery and other prices would come to normal.

No doubt one-quarter of a million would have been sufficient for this cause and it would be the only remedy for unemployment, as each farmer would have to hire a chauffeur and a man to look after his cow and hens. That would include the two classes of working people—the one with a white collar and the one without.

Hoping to hear from other writers, I remain,

Your truly,
A CITIZEN.

What To-day Means To You

By "CAPRICORN".

If January 13th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to noon, from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 3-45 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and from 8:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

According to the planetary aspects of January 13th, there will be experienced a rather depressing feeling during the forenoon, but thereafter, there will prevail an atmosphere of energizing force, during which the task on which you have centred your hopes should be assiduously prosecuted.

Children born on this January 13th will captivate by their winsomeness and willingness. They will be full of affection and free from mannerisms. They will develop their good characteristics at school, and will always "play the game." A very satisfactory career is augured for them.

If you were born on a January 13th, you are always waiting, Micawber-like, for something to turn up. You expect things to come your way, and do not go out looking for opportunities. You suffer from an inferiority complex, as well as from lack of effort, and are continually repining your bad luck. It is difficult to diagnose your character. It is full of contradictions and anomalies. Endowed with high ideals, gifted with intelligence, blessed with personality, you seem to want to live at a low level; you rarely show to outsiders the erudition that is yours, and you, so far as personal charm is concerned, hide your light under a bushel.

There are many walks of life for which you possess aptitudes; by some inexplicable contrariety you always seem to occupy the position that is least suited to one of your attainments. Why not analyze the situation, and take the bull by the horns, and master Fate? You can, if you will.

If you could only be as natural and charming in your outside contacts, as you are in the family circle, you could very soon change the outlook and become what you ought to be. It is said that "familiarity breeds contempt," but in your case, it breeds affection, as at heart, you are unselfish, sympathetic, and broad-minded. When you expand, you are everything that is desirable. When you contract, you are anything but desirable. In the home you expand, while outside of the home you contract. Probe Is Started Into Cochrane Fire

COCHRANE, Ont., Jan. 13.— Investigation into the deaths of the victims of the Queens Hotel fire on Dec. 29 opened here to-day before Coroner E. R. Tucker. The inquest was held on the body of Baptiste Zarde.

The only evidence taken this morning was the formal evidence of Dr. W. S. Paul to the effect that death was by burnin of Frank Moore, embalmer, as to identification; of Frank Graff, wiring inspector, who testified that the wiring of the building was in good condition, and Town Clerk D. J. Acvittie, who submitted the town building by-laws.

Inspector Ritchie, of the Provincial Fire Marshalls Department, was present at the request of the coroner as an observer.

Shields' Situation Draws Near Climax

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—It is expected the situation caused by the differences between Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, pastor of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, and some of his congregation, will reach a crisis to-night when the time expires for the signing of the "declaration of loyalty" by the teachers and staff of the Jarvis Street Bible and Sunday School. About 140 teachers and officers of the school have been asked to sign this obligation of loyalty to the pastor and the school superintendents. Many of them have declined to sign the declaration on the score it is an "ultimatum" or a "declration of infallibility" which they cannot conscientiously make. The present trouble in the church arose, over Dr. Shields' action in connection with the Women's Missionary Society activities.

To minimise the risk of bombardment in time of war, Stockholm has asked the Swedish government to move its naval base from the center of the city to a place some distance away.

NEW YORK LIST CONTINUES SOFT

Utilities, Steels, Oils and Rails Were Notably Heavy Stocks To-day.

CREDIT RATES DOWN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (C.P.).—The Stock Market drifted lower in a pathetic trading to-day, in continuation of the trend at the start of the week.

Utilities, steel, oils and rails were notably heavy. American Telephone, Eastmans, Vanadium, Byers, Coca Cola, Republic Steel Preferred, which has recently had a vigorous upturn, slipped off 3. Lackawanna dropped 8. Shares selling off a point or so included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, North American, American Waterworks, and some of the oils, including Standards of New York and New Jersey, and Texas Corporation.

With the publication of another annual report by the head of a leading Wall Street bank — Charles E. Mitchell of the National City—it was notable that the first three such reports were in substantial agreement that the business depression had reached its approximate bottom. It was also notable that Mr. Mitchell, along with Albert H. Wiggin of the Chase National and Paul M. Warburg of the Manhattan Co., names no date at which business recovery may be expected, and indicates that the process will be slow.

Credit rates still were on the downgrade with bankers' acceptance rates for short terms quoted as low as 1⅝-1⅝ per cent., off 1-8, and another new low for this market. Call money held at 1½ per cent. at the loan desk, which is the lowest renewal rate since 1915.

ONTARIO SELLS NEW BOND ISSUE

Syndicate Purchases $30,000,000 Forty Year 4½ Per Cent. Installment Bonds.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSES.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.).—The Province of Ontario to-day awarded an issue of $30,000,000 forty years 4½ per cent. instalment bonds to a syndicate consisting of Wood, Gundy and Co., Ltd., Dominion Securities Corporation and Ames and Company, Toronto; Dillon Read and Co., and Guaranty Company of New York. The issue was sold at 98.6699, which represents a cost basis of 4.596 per cent.

Two other syndicates tendered and the bond houses included in all the syndicates amounted to over forty-three, composed of Canadian and American houses.

The province has not been in the long term market since May, 1908, when a $30,000,000 forty-year instalment issue was sold on a cost basis of 4.91 per cent.

The proceeds of the issue sold to-day are to be used for the funding of treasury bills issued for capital expenditures of the province.

"Having in view the present state of the bond market," said Hon. E. A. Dunlop, Provincial Treasurer, "the result of this loan is highly satisfactory, and I believe it indicates the continued confidence of financial houses in the present administration, and in their efforts to provide for the retirement of the Provincial debt over a period of forty years."

RUSSIAN TROOPS HEAD FOR CHINA

Trouble Expected Over Chinese Eastern Railway Management.

MANCHURIANS READY.

TOKYO, Jan. 13.—Reports of the movement of Russian troops toward the Western Frontier of Manchuria reached official circles here to-day.

The military movement was described as being due to Moscow's belief China may not abide by the Khabarovsk agreement of 1929, giving Russia virtual control of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which connects Vladivostok with the trans-Siberian Railway by crossing Manchuria.

Manchurian troops also were reported concentrating near the Russian frontier. Neither of the reports could be confirmed.

SNOW IN OTTAWA AIDS JOBLESS

OTTAWA, Ont., January 13. — Old Man Winter is working overtime in this district taking the "un" out of unemployment. Yesterday the storm loosed a four-inch fall of snow and 500 pair of idle hands were set to work clearing drifts from traffic arteries. Additional employment was promised to-day as snow continued to fall sporadically.

Despite the storm, city traffic is moving freely, but some delay is being experienced over rural highways.

ONLY THE LARGE PRODUCERS WILL SURVIVE COPPER SLUMP

Huge Low Cost Producers of Africa and America to Dominate Situation.

HIGHER PRICES UNLIKELY.

The copper industry is coming down to bedrock and an epoch is low-cost production, low-price marketing, and small profits is in prospect.

None but the largest of low-cost, mass producers of the red metal can hope to figure in a new line-up of copper mining, milling and marketing interests which will hereafter dominate the situation.

There is, therefore, every reason to look for an indefinitely long continuance of the present low prices—or possibly even lower figures—for this metal in the markets of the world. But this bane of the producing trade is not an altogether unmitigated evil, as the low prices will help to amplify consumption by encouraging the development of new uses for copper.

Still, the new line-up required by the outlook for gigantic cheap production and marketing of the red metal will sound the knell for many of the smaller and relatively high-cost producers. Only the most prolific and low-cost producers can hope to survive. The "weak sisters" of the industry will have to be absorbed by the strong brothers—or temporarily side-tracked or abandoned.

Rhodesian Fields Threaten Huge Low-Cost Output.

The present state of over-production and flagging consumption, resulting from the speeding up of operations to an unwarranted extent while prices soared above 18c and up to 24c a pound, have not been the only causes for the impending upheaval and new alignment of the copper industry. An even more impelling motive has come to light, or late, in the discovery of even greater production potentialities than were ever dreamed of hitherto.

These new production prospects have loomed most vividly in the mammoth and practically inexhaustible deposits of rich copper ore, that can be readily extracted and refined, in the North Rhodesian fields of South Africa.

These rich copper deposits in North Rhodesia, which are expected to be in an advanced stage of development, within two years, together with the prospect for additional low-cost copper from Canada and more metal from some of the low-cost mines now in operation in South America and the United States, constitute the principal cause of the new line-up of low-cost mass producers of the red metal.

The operation of the Rhodesian Congo Border Concessions will be in the hands of engineers of the Newmont Mining Co, but it is not expected that production from these properties will be under way on a large scale until early in 1932. But when these properties are in full operation, it is figured that the metal can be delivered in Great Britain at less than 8c a pound and, if only the high grade ore is run, the cost can be still further reduced, with the probability that the metal can be delivered in London at as low as 6c a pound.

While only 20% of the total production of copper for 1929 was obtained at a cost below 7.7c a pound and only 23.1¾ at a cost between 7.7c and 8.8c, more than 43% of the copper produced in 1929 averaged slightly less than 8c a pound. Hence, in view of the fact that costs in 1929 were higher than usual, it is believed that, under normal conditions, with operations at or near capacity, the average cost of production for the low-cost group will be lowered still further. Hence, there is no likelihood of a "runaway" market for 1931, especially as there is every probability that production will be enormously increased within the next two years.

Though the production for 1930 did not much exceed 1,700,000 tons even this output is considerably greater than consumption. But it is now figured that the output for 1929, amounting to 2,104,000 tons, will be far exceeded when operations begin on a large scale in Northern Rhodesia and Canada.

LIGHT TRADING IN FEW STOCKS

Prices Drift Fractionally Lower For Most Part on Toronto Exchange To-day.

B. A. OIL ADVANCES.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13. (CP)—Prices for the most part drifted fractionally lower on the Toronto Stock Exchange during the course of the forenoon session to-day. Volume of trading was on a much reduced scale with the bulk of the meagre turnover centering on a few individual issues.

British American was the only oilto show an advance, taking on 3-8 to 15 while International Pete and Imperial along with Supertest ordinary drop small fractions.

International Nickel eased a quarter point from its initial sale to 15, off 3-8 from the close of last night. Noranda followed suit and at noon was down ½ to $14.50.

Brazilian, C.P.R., and Walkers were all slightly easier while Canadian Dredge and both Goodyear Tire issues showed gains. Ford, Page Hersey, Bell Telephone, Distillers Seagrams, Service Stations and De Forest Crosley were all unchanged from their finals of last night.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13, (CP)—Prime mercantile paper 2¾-3 per cent.

Foreign exchange steady: demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents), Great Britain 4.85¾; France 3.92 1-8; Italy, 5.23 1-8; Germany, 23.76.

Canadian dollars at 3-16 of one per cent.

Winnipeg Review

Special Service to The Examiner through the courtesy of E. J. Bawlf Company, Grain and Stock Brokers, of Toronto

While the market was not particularly active there was a small, steady trade passing with a fair demand for May wheat at 57 cents or lower. The market again held within a narrow range but was above Saturday's close throughout the day displaying a firm undertone. There was moderate buying by expert houses and for foreign account and export sales overnight and again yesterday morning were estimated at around one million bushels, France taking 400,000 bushels, the Orient a cargo, while the balance was scattered. Chicago May wheat opened one cent higher, but did not hold this bulge, and July which was mostly unchanged during the first part of the day, advanced one cent later. Corn was also about one cent higher. The Canadian visible supply decreased 2,450,000 bushels, while the United States visible increased 1,774,000 bushels. The on passage supplies of wheat and flour now stands at 25,168,000 bushels, which is almost a record low figure, and would seem to indicate that Europe will be forced to come into this market for increased amounts for immediate requirements, as little Argentine wheat will arrive overseas until March first. Liverpool market was reported dull but sustained by decreasing stocks. Country wheat marketings Saturday in the west were 350,000 bushels as against 215,000 a year ago.

Coarse Grains—These markets were firm in sympathy with the firmness in wheat but there was only a very smal trade passing, but no pressure was in evidence. The strength in corn was also a factor. The cash markets were also dull with very little business over the week end and only the odd carr was trading this morning.

Liverpool cables due 1-8 to ¼ higher based on Winnipeg.

LOWER-PRICED STOCKS FIRMER

Standard Exchange List Follows Softer Trend of Larger Boards.

International Issues Down.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP)—Under the influence of softness on larger boards, prices on the mining market turned somewhat easier in the forenoon to-day, interlisted issues displaying recessions at mid-day. Majority of lower-priced issues heald relatively firm in spite of reduced turnover.

Lake Shore eased a quarter to $24.50 Dome 15 to $9.40, Hollinger 5 to $7.20, Kirkland Lake 2 to 67 and Big Missouri Howey, Wright Hargreaves and Northern Canada a cent each.

Copper statistics, showing a reduction of about 25,000 tons in surplus stocks of refined metal, were published, but were not reflected in action of the base metal group. Noranda dropped a half from last night and Nickel ¼. Sudbury Basin was off 10 to 60, Sherritt Gordon 6 to 94 and Ventures 5 to 45.

Ajax Oil softened another 6 to $1.50, Chemical Research was down 15 to $2.75, while Nordon and Acme Gas showed point losses.

FERGUSON SAILS JAN. 23

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 13.—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, will sail from Saint John, N.B., on January 23, aboard the steamer Montcalm, to take over his official duties. Announcement of the date of sailing was made by the former Ontario Premier on his arrival from Toronto this morning to confer with Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister.

Tomorrow night, Kemptville will honor the High Commissioner and Mrs. Ferguson by a farewell testimonial. The function will be non-political and the attendance will probably number one thousand.

NEW $2,500,000,000 GOLD FIND LOCATED IN FORMOSA DISTRICT

Mining Engineers Representing Tokio Imperial University Exploiting New Property.

NORDON RECEIVES OFFER.

TORONTO, Ont., 13. (Special to Examiner.)—Interlisted issues displayed softness in the forenoon session of the mining market, lack of buoyancy being attributed to weakness on larger boards. The majority of stock held relatively firm in spite of reduced turnover, however and appeared to be experiencing a breathing spell rather than a definite reaction.

Increased interest in some of the more or less undeveloped properties adjacent to the main zone in Kirkland Lake is reported this morning. Companies, represented for the past year or so by penny stocks on the curb section of the mining market, saw considerable activity early, but quietened down when general interest turned to base metals. With regard to their location many of them, including Grozelle, Kirkland, United Kirkland, Macassa and others are believed to hold promise and may secure new attention in the comparatively near future.

Stock of White Lake mines saw some activity late yesterday, following reports of developments at the Mississagi forest reserve property and of the acquisition of a group of claims in the Matachewan district. At the former property the eastern tunnell has been continued and is now in a distance of about 1700 feet. According to the engineer in charge high grade copper over 44 inches has been encountered a considerable distance past the point to which the vein was traced on surface.

The Matachewan deal involves a group of claims situated east of the Ashley Garvey property they are about ready for patenting.

It is reported that Nordon corporation has received an offer for a portion of its gas flow in the Button Willow field which already is substantial enough to make a commercial proposition of the well. Shell Union drilling to the north of Nordon location has passed through 2,000 feet of the oil sands and has not completed its well yet. Superior Oil, in the same vicinity, is down over 4,000 feet with cores checking closely with the geology found in the Nordon hole.

From Tokio comes word that a gold field, declared to be of unprecedented extent has been discovered in Formosa by mining engineers representing the Tokio Imperial University. Dr. Jisaburo Yokobori, head of the expedition, estimates the amount of gold available to aggregate $2,500,000,000. The deposit, he said, extends for approximately 150 miles and is alluvial in nature. "I actually picked up gold dust in river beds, in the mountains, on the plains and even on the streets of small villages," Dr. Yokibori states.

DEATH OF DIVER PROVES MYSTERY

Fall River Man Summoned From Home Presumably to Go to Shipyard.

FOUND ON BEACH.

FALL RIVER, Mass., January 13 (C.P.). — The death of George Landry, 38, Quebec native, whose body was found on Sunday night in a diving suit on the beach at Little Compton, R.I., has provided a weird mystery which the local and Rhode Island State troopers have as yet failed to solve.

His wife told police that on Sunday afternoon a man named Marcesque came to her home. He said Landry was wanted at the Crowninshield Shipbuilding Company, Somerset, where he had been employed as a diver. They left, and Mrs. Landry never saw her husband alive again.

Late that night William Denadai, Fall River, said he found Landry's body, encased in a diving suit, on the beach at Sakonnet Point, Little Compton. He rushed the body to the hospital, where doctors said death was due to suffocation, not drowning.

UNITED STATES FINANCIERS NOT IN FAVOR OF SILVER PROPOSALS

Sufficient Supply of Gold to Look After Increased Volume of Business.

DISORGANIZING FACTOR.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 13.—(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—While the search for markets has turned commercial eyes in Washington toward China and the suggestion of the valorization or monetization of silver causes a flurry in economic circles. There is a body of financial opinion in this capital which, withholding judgment on the possibility of a credit to China, looks askance at the silver proposals.

The Canadian Press is able to give on good authority the following sketch of the conservative position.

It is the contention there is a sufficient supply of gold to look after the increase in the volume of business and that if a shortage should develop correction might be made by an agreement to permit smaller reserves against paper.

The monetization of silver would be a disorganizing factor in the financial structure in the first place. In the second there would be introduced into the system two production variables. That is ungertainty would follow the knowledge of gold alone but upon those factors operating in the case of both metals.

It is the contention that monetization of silver would not be of much service to India inasmuch as the rupee is now pegged to the pound sterling and India is virtually on a gold basis.

On the other hand it was agreed by the authority from whom the Canadian Press obtained the above information, that China might be expected to have some immediate benefit from the stabilization of silver. It was pointed out, however that China was not a silver-producing country.

The press in this country has been paying some attention to the gold and silver situation. While cables from China announc silver has fallen to a new low, despatches from Europe recount the difficulties encountered in negotiations between Great Britain and France looking toward a more equitable distribution of gold.

Commenting upon the latter situation the same authority said the French people, unlike the Anglo-Saxons who considered gold as an instrument of business liked to have gold on hand in case of war or to go to conferences with, or simply because they liked it.

He did not agree that the concentration of gold in the United States and France was a factor of very considerable importance in present depression.

The Polish government is trying to relieve the credit stringency among farmers.

NEW YORK MORE BUOYANT SINCE BEGINNING OF YEAR

Since the inception of the new year the New York stock market has been generally strong and while the full daily upturns have not been held, the market has displayed a decidedly more buoyant tone, and the whole list of active securities are several points higher than on the last day of 1930. On the first business day of 1931 stocks advanced rather briskly, and with the exception of abbreviated periods of realizing the market has trended generally in an upward direction. The leaders in the rally include a number of prime issues in the industrial group, such as Steel Common, General Electric and American Can. Some of the rails were particularly buoyant, reflecting the rapid progress made in plans for the estbalishment of four trunk line systems in the east. The manner in which the executives of the various roads involved are working on the details seems to justify the belief that final details will be worked out shortly. Other railroads outside the proposed merger also made substantial upturns. Most of the oil shares which have been experiencing a period of dullness have recently exhibited a firmer tone. Certain developments have taken place to lend encouragement to those interested in the petroleum issues. The weekly report of the American Petroleum Institute, for instance, showed daily average crude oil production for the country at large at lowest level since July 1926, which gave proof that curtailment of output has finally set in on a broad scale in California and Texas. California's daily production which in mid-December was about 600,000 barrels daily, fell to 537,500 barrels daily for the week ending January 3rd. In the same week a year ago California operators were productin at a rate of more than 700,000 barrels of crude oil. In the state of Texas curtailment has been steady in recent weeks, although less spectacular.

During the past week a revival of activity was noted in the utility shares and moderate price recoveries took place in this group. Important merger developments involving some of the leading utilities companies are expected to materialize this year. Combinations are expected to centre in the eastern territory, where the major program inaugurated by some of the leading banking interests in New York has yet to be brought to completion. Attention in the immediate future is likely to be centred largely on developments in the steel and motor car industries, which, in conjunction with building operations, continued to be regarded as the mainsprings to industrial revival. In this connection it is reported that steel operations have increased approximately ten per cent since the first of the present year, and the expansion in activities larger than had been expected. Activities in the automobile industry have also picked up in striking fashion, all of the leading automobile manufacturers having augmented their forces to the extent of many thousand employees.

Following this steady upturn of the past week the market is now at a stage where it is confounding the experts. Except in a few cases Wall Street's market prognosticators take the stand that while the market is steady, prices should not be followed up at the present time. It can be frankly stated that the floor trading contingent is fighting shy of the long side, but it is not disposed to take short side. General opinion takes the stand that stocks should be bought only on the weak spots. The patient trader will have plenty of opportunity to look over the situation and pick out the issues which should be bought and held for several months.—E. J. Bawlf Limited.

NO MORE HORSE-LAUGHS

REMEMBER what our school books taught us about the lives of inventors who lived many years ago? How often we used to read, "He went on with his experiments in spite of the laughter of his friends, and the ridicule of his neighbors."

How different is the modern state of mind! This age is remarkable for its keen awareness of progress . . . the eager willingness of most of us to accept new things, and better ways. The skeptical person is the exception—expectancy is the rule. If we read about an invention that will wash the middle of our backs, we say, "Fair enough; to-morrow there will be an automatic way to keep our noses powdered."

New things and better ways are announced regularly in this paper . . . in the advertisements. Every day you may be expecting something that will make your life easier, pleasanter, more healthful. Possibly a new electrical contrivance, or a car that's easier to drive, or a new idea in breakfast foods. Follow the advertising columns . . . and sooner or later you'll get the good news. People who make it a point to know what's going on read the advertisements every day.

GRANT OR $1,150 MADE BY COUNCIL TO AID WATERWAY

the Association enough money to cover the expenses of the New York Motor Boat Show, and to grant the balance at a later date.

Grant Lump Sum.

Alderman McNabb, speaking in support of the grant, was in favor of passing the grant in a lump sum, adding that it is a matter which would eventually have to be decided, which might as well be dealt with at that meeting. He moved that the grant of $1,150 be made to the Trent Waterway Association. The motion was seconded by Alderman Fitzpatrick.

"In view of present day conditions," said Alderman Tuggey, in strenuously opposing the grant of such a large sum, "do you not think the Association would be satisfied to take less? I don't think the delegation came here to-night expecting such a sum as that, and think that if we made the grant $1,000 they would be satisfied with that sum."

Following further discussion Mayor Denne had the motion re-read, following which Alderman Tuggey jumped to his feet with the exclamation: "This is the first grant we are making this year, and if we give them the full amount every organization will come along and expect the same treatment. I move that we give them $1,000."

Alderman Macdonald — I agree with Alderman Tuggey to a certain extent, but this year we have to make a determined drive to bring more manufacturers into Peterborough. Mentioning the film of the Kawartha Lakes and Peterborough district which the City Council sponsored, he said "we paid for that film strictly to advertise Peterborough, and I think that under the circumstances we should do everything in our power to make a drive —a drive that will bring results. If we intend to boost conditions we must be prepared to make an intensive campaign. This is one thing that should be pushed and pushed well."

On presenting the motion, it was carried, Alderman Tuggey being the only Alderman who did not vote in its favor.

In presenting the case for the Waterways Association, the delegation came with a well prepared and conclusive agrument backed with the display of artistic transparencies which are to be placed on exhibit in New York, and depicting many of the natural beauty spots which abound in this district. A large oil painting over a photographic base, depicting a harvest scene on Hancock's farm on the Second Line of Smith, was also displayed. The picture was made entirely in this city, and was conceived as the result of a suggestion made by W. A. Richardson, president of the Peterborough Canoe Company.

Mr. Pickering, Eastern Canada organizer for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in presenting a petition for a grant of $50 towards the work of that organizations, dealt at some length with the work which is being done among those afflicted with blindness. We have thirty-three blind persons listed in Peterborough, he stated, and in looking after these people last year we expended the sum of $327.15. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee, Mayor Denne informing Mr. Pickering that it would have their sympathetic consideration.

Unlicensed Dealers

Dissatisfied over the fact that a great deal of alleged peddling is being done in the city, by unlicensed dealers who are working in unfair competition to the grocers, a deputation representing this class of tradesmen and headed by Robert Goheen waited upon the Council.

Mr. Goheen pointed out that the grocers as taxpayers felt they were entitled to some protection from that class of people. Another question he said, is that concerning the distribution of charity orders, which have he alleged, been given to just a few grocers and dealers in town, whereas in other years such orders have been more evenly distributed. "I have not seen a charity order in months" he said.

Mayor Denne (interjecting—That is on account of living in a good district.

Yes! replied Mr. Goheen I guess they are all rich but me.

His Worship explained that charity orders do not go through the Council.

Referring to the question of pedlars, Alderman Tuggey asked, "which do you have the biggest objection to, the man who comes from outside or the man that lives here and is trying to make his living by peddling."

Mr. Goheen—We feel that every man who makes a living by that means in this town should be on an equal basis with the merchants who have to pay rents and taxes. If equalised we do not care who does business in opposition to us.

James Geraghty, stated that farmers have a right to come into the city and sell without paying any sort of toll, providing the goods they have for sale are home produced. They are protected by a Provincial Act.

Alderman Fitzpatrick was of the opinion that the Act should be amended, and the matter was shelved for the Legal Committee to take up.

Speaking on the Charity orders question Alderman Fitzpatrick thought the merchants did have a grievance in so much as most of these orders are being given to chain store organizations. He explained the reason for this, was that as most people in reduced circumstances owe money to their regular grocer or provision merchant he they will state, when asked with whom they regularly deal, that it is with the chain store—an organization where no credit is given!

It was moved by Alderman McNabb seconded by Alderman Fitzpatrick that the Mayor be asked to take the matter up with Messrs. Braund and Metheral of the Central Charity Board.

Alderman Tuggey on behalf of the radio fans of this city, moved, "that he was strongly opposed to any interference with the present system of radio broadcasting in this country by the present government, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to E. A. Peck, Federal member for West Peterborough." The motion was seconded by Ald. Stocker.

Alderman Turner moved an amendment that the City Council through their solicitor and E. A. Peck, M.P., and the Legal Committee find out what the Government intends to do in respect to radio broadcasting before proceeding further in the matter. He added that, "no one here wishes to see any hardships imposed on radio users."

Old Age Pensions

From December 1, 1929 until November 30, 1930, Peterborough contributed to old age pensions according to the report submitted by the board the sum of $11,781.21 and this amount was increased to $12,271.21 when secretarial help were paid. The council placed in the estimates $12,650 which will probably leave a small surplus when the December report is sent in. At the end of November 303 persons in the city were receiving the pension.

When the report of the Committee of the Whole was presented, which gave a list of the standing committees for the year struck at the inaugural meeting, Alderman McNabb moved that his name be left off the Legal committee but the members of the council thought that his services would be valuable on this committee as he was last year's chairman of the Claims committee.

In moving that "the council as a whole wait upon the Hon. R. B. Bennett, as a deputation, in an effirt to secure information on the proposed new Government buildings in Peterborough," Alderman McNabb's motion was seconded by Alderman Turner His Worship Mayor Denne pointed out that the matter was in the hands of Mr Peck and an interview between the Prime Minister and certain members of the Council and Mr Peck had already been arranged.

Alderman Macdonald in following out the suggestion put forward by Alderman McNabb worded the motion in a different form and moved "that the Council place itself on record as being wholeheartedly in favor of this work being carried forward, and that the Council be ready to take action at any time when called upon by the member for this constituency."

His Worship also mentioned the fact that J. F. Strickland, M.L.A., is trying to secure a sanitarium for Peterborough, it having been decided to build three such institutions in the Province of Ontario.

By-laws Passed.

By-law 2930 sponsored by Aldermen Phelan and Cotton rescinded By-law 2609 establishing the standing committees of the council and added to number the Reception committee which was separated from the Legal committee at the inagural meeting of the council.

Ex-Alderman Joseph Crowe was re-appointed to the Public Library Board for a term of three years and the necessary by-law passed affirming his appointment.

Dr. J. M. O'Brien, J. J. Turner and Alderman Walter Stocker were appointed members of the Board of Health on motion of Alderman Phelan and Mayor Denne. Alderman Holland who was one of last year's members asked to be not nominated, as the meeting of the Board was at a very inopportune time in the day. Dr. O'Brien who has given several years' service on the Board, was named to take his place. By-law 2941 confirmed the appointments.

The five retiring members of the Old Age Pensions committee, Frank Adams, Frank Fairen, Arthur Metheral, Alderman Stocker and James Abraham were re-appointed to the board and the necessary by-law passed.

By-law 2943 re-appointed Alderman Phelan for a two year term as one of the administrators of the Foley estate.

The necessary cheques were ordered issued to purchase licenses for the trucks of the fire department and the Board of Works.

On motion of Alderman Phelan and Cotton $26,000 was granted as an interim payment to the Board of Education, $2,000 a month for January and February to the Separate School Board and $11,150 to the Public Library Board. The Library Board grant was the usual amount and will be paid in monthly instalments.

Foster Brothers were granted licenses to operate four billiard tables and an eating house license was granted to W. J. Rome of 294 Charlotte street.

On motion of Aldermen Hamilton and Fitzpatrick the Chief of Police will be asked to check up on the pedlars who are operating in the city without license and also those who are selling fresh meats without butcers' licenses.

Those present were: Mayor Denne, Aldermen Phelan, Cotton, Stocker, Holland, Hamilton, Fitzpatrick, Macdonald, McNabb, Turner and Tuggey.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Egg prices again declined on the produce and dairy market here yesterday while butter, cheese and potatoes were unchanged.

Ontario fresh eggs, in carlots, were lower, extras being down two cents at 36 cents a dozen, and firsts and seconds being unchanged at 30 and 27 cents a dozen respectively. British Columbia fresh extras and firsts were one cent a dozen lower at 36 and 38 cents, and 30 to 31 cents, and pullets were unchanged at 26 to 29 cents. Quotations to retailers were also down, fresh specials losing one cent at 45 to 47 cents and fresh extras gaining one cent at 43 to 44 cents. Fresh first were unchanged at 38 cents and fresh pullet extras lost one cent at 32 to 33 cents, while fresh seconds gained two cents at 30 to 32 cents. Storage extras were unchanged and storage firsts and seconds, declined one cent at 30 to 31 cents, and 25 to 26 cents a dozen. Receipts were 2,420 cases.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter was quoted at 31½c to 32 cents a pound, and to retailers, solids were 33 cents. Receipts were 66 boxes.

The cheese market was very dull, receipts being only 47 boxes, with white cheese quoted at 11 cents a pound, and colored cheese one cent higher.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were 85 cents per 90 pounds, bulk and to retailers, 95 cents per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Higher prices for grains went hand in hand yesterday with a shifting on corn traders to the big pit heretofore used for wheat business. Wheat dealings, dwindling in volume and dominated of late by Government-sponsored agencies, were retired to a smaller pit previously devoted to corn. The unexpected decrease in the corn's visible supply was a factor in hoisting of prices, and so, too, was announcement that supplies of wheat on ocean passage were almost the smallest ever known.

Corn closed firm, 7-8 to 1 1-8 cents higher, wheat 1-8 to 1 cent up, oats 3-8 to 5-8 cent advanced, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents off.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—Trading on the local butter market yesterday did not show any noticeable improvement over conditions prevailing during the latter part of last week, which meant very little stock moving. Prices were steady to a shade easier at 31c to 31½c for No 1, and 30c to 30½c for No. 2, the top quotations being obtainable for high scoring lots only. All sorts of prices were being asked for the product of various creameries, but they were "asking" prices only.

Cream

Cream prices were steady at the usual range of 29c to 30c for special, 28c to 29c for No. 1, and 25c to 26c for No. 2, f.o.b., country points.

Cheese

The cheese market showed greater strength at 14c for new, large, 14¼c for twins, and 14½c for triplets. The increase was due to "lighter makes," which meant that milk producers were turning their attention to creameries instead of cheese factories, which at this season are not very active. Also, cream prices have been better in some sections and there are signs of them going higher.

Eggs

The demand for eggs was no greater than reported last week, and prices for graded supplies, in free cases, were lower at 34c for extras, 30c for firsts, and 25c for pullet, extras. Brokers were also offering candled, out of storage eggs at 25c for extras, and 23c for firsts. They reported that the "extra" grade was the only one moving, and business in this top quality was not very good.

Egg Prices

Receipts of fresh eggs were heavy, and consumption continued poor, as retailers had not lowered their prices, but country shippers were quoted prices steady with the recent decline at 30c for, extras, 26c for firsts, 20c for seconds, and 22c for pullet extras delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Retailers were offered extras, in cartons, at 38c; extras, loose, 36c; firsts, loose, 31c; pullet, extras, loose, 27c, and seconds, loose, 25c

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 13. — Persistent buying by Eastern seaboard interests lifted wheat values fractionally on the Winnipeg Grain Market yesterday, the close showing gains of ½ to ¾ cents, as compared with Saturday. Strength at Liverpool and Chicago also helped.

Trade volume was small, but reports of numerous resting orders for export had the effect of steadying the market any time it inclined to break.

Export trade during the morning and week-end was estimated at close to 500,000 bushels.

Demand for cash wheat was limited to odd lots of the higher grades at fractionally better spreads. Coarse grains trade was slow and featureless.

MRS. W. R. MORRIS HAS HELD MANY HONORARY POSITIONS

Board of Education Chairman Prominent in Educational Circles of City.

FORMER TEACHER.

Mrs. W. R. Morris who heads the Board of Education this year, has long been prominent in educational circles, and in all community endeavours for the advancement and promotion of social welfare. Before coming to this city, she was a public school teacher, and has since been prominently identified with the Playgrounds Association of which she was a charter member. She has also held the presidents and honorary presidents offices on the Ontario Command Ladies' Auxiliary to the G. W. V. A., now the Ladies' Auxiliary Canadian Legion; president Y.W.C.A. 1912-13; treasurer of the Progressive Club 1915-19; Eastern representative, of the Women's Auxiliary to Organization of Resources Commission, 1916-19; Vice-president, secretary and convener of two committees of the Local Council of Women and member of the Civic Memorials Committee.

Mrs. Morris was also convenor of the Ladies' Committee on the Belgium Relief Fund, and active in the campaign for that purpose, and has for many years been an active and valued member of the local Red Cross organization in this city and organizer of the local paper collection campaigns by which the funds of the local organizations were strengthened for War contribution purposes.

As executive on the Supervised Playground Committee since it was first organized in 1916, until it was taken over by the Board of Education, Mrs. Morris with other members of the organization was largely responsible for the establishment of swimming places for the youth of the city.

Elected in 1920

She first sought election to the Board of Education in the year 1919, but was defeated on that occasion. Returning to the fight in the following year, Mrs. Morris earned the distinction of being the first woman in the city to serve in a civic capacity. Her term on the Board has only been broken by an interval of two years, and during that break she was on the executive of the Ontario Trustees' Association and the Urban Trustees' Association. She has held the office of president for one year on the former body.

Her new appointment as chairman of the Board of Education is unique, in so much as she is the first and only woman to have held that position in this city.

The organizations with which Mrs. Morris has been closely and actively identified are legion. In 1919 she was elected to the executive of the Women's Canadian Club, and again in the year 1921 and she still retains her membership in that club. She was also executive member of the Home and School Association for the past three years. In 1926 she was elected honorary-president of the Female Voice Choir.

Is Church Worker

Since first coming to Peterborough Mrs. Morris has been ardently engaged in church work at St. John's and had charge of the Junior Auxiliary Missionary Society at that church from 1905-08, she also formed the Girls' Auxiliary and was honorary-president of that organization for a number of years. Her work in connection with the Y.W.C.A. is also very extensive and some years ago Mrs. Morris was honorary-president of the Business Girls' Club.

"The title 'general utility citizen' has been applied to Mrs. Morris very aptly by Dr. J. J. Craig, who has just completed a two year term as chairman of the Board. Commenting on Mrs. Morris' work on the Board and in other public capacities, he said, "She is always cheerfully willing to do work that made for public betterment. A woman of rare good sense and essentially capable in executive ability. Gifted with the faculty to grasp essential points of a subject under discussion and to place them before an audience with convincing clearness."

"It is quite true to say, that no call made on her time, patience and services has ever gone unanswered. Her familiarity with life in the city, home conditions in households, her strong womanly sympathy, tempered with discriminating judgment, has made her the most valuable person in all social service work in the city. Mrs. Morris has commanded the confidence of the women of the city and won recognition from the men. Her election to the chairmanship of the Board of Education is but a tribute to her personality and purpose."

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town, and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

Interesting Program At Fenella W. M. S.

FENELLA, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. C. W. Macklin was hostess to the members of the Fenella W.M.S. for the regular meeting held at her home on Wednesday afternoon. The scriptural lesson, "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last," was read by the president, Mrs. A. Nill, who gave a brief talk on the passage of scripture at this season of the year.

The secretary was instructed to order one dozen baby band certificates. Several members paid their fees and a number of Missionary Monthly subscriptions were handed to the secretary treasurer, Miss Florence Macklin.

The following program was given: a series of leaflets dealing with the industrial and rural problems in Japan were read by the following, Mrs. James Curtis, Mrs. Clark Jewell, Mrs. W. H. Sandercock, Mrs. C. W. Macklin and Miss Florence Macklin; a reading, "First things first" by Mrs. A. Nill and the devotional leaflet "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us" was read by Mrs. Howard Macklin and a short poem, "The beautiful gift," by Mrs. G. Montgomery.

Lunch was served by the lunch committee. Mrs. Frank Down will be in charge of the program for the February meeting.

They Dare Not Call Him Skinny Any More

No, never again—he found a way to add 15 pounds of solid, stay-there flesh to his bones, and his sturdy, manly figure causes taunting young men to know their place—he can handle any of them now.

Skinny men and frail youngsters need and should have the weight building, vitalizing substance in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets to develop bones, body, and mind — they put energy and ambition into weak people—they make you vigorous.

Get 60 sugar coated tablets (McCoy's) at McDermid & Jury, McDermid's, Bond's, Lynch, and Payne's or any drug store anywhere—take them as directed for 28 days—then if you don't gain at least 5 pounds get your money back.—Just ask for McCoy's.

HAMILTON MUST SERVE SENTENCE

Appeal by Listowel Lawyer Thrown Out in Supreme Court.

WAS GIVEN 2 YEARS

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.— The appeal of Cecil Hamilton, lawyer of Listowel, Ont., from a conviction and sentence of two years' imprisonment in connection with real estate transactions, was dismissed by the Appellate Division of the Ontario Supreme Court to-day. Three Judges favored the dismissal of the appeal with two against.

Hamilton was recently found guilty of procuring a sum of money by false pretences with intent to defraud and was sentenced to two years less one day imprisonment, by Judge Clement. The trial was held at Stratford Ont., and following his conviction and sentence, an appeal was fyled.

Planes To Manoeuvre In Central Africa

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 13.—(C.P.)—Three British aerial troop transports started from here yesterday for Capetown to carry out manoeuvres in the heart of Central Africa for the first time.

Various halts will be made enroute in the midst of the African wilds, during which the troops will drill in the fields. The transport planes accommodate 23 armed infantrymen each besides the crews.

American tractors were a feature of an agricultural show held recently in South Australia.

Miss Hazel V. Akney Honored By Friends

RUSH POINT, Jan. 13.—A New Year's Eve party in honor of Miss Hazel V. Akney, of Uxbridge was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Petherick of Rush Point, Havelock.

Miss Akney taught in Rush Point School last year and her work was most successful and her services greatly appreciated. Her pupils were delighted to see her again and both young and old expressed sincere regret that she had not remained in charge of the school.

Music, games and dancing helped to pass the happy hours.

Miss Akney passed the remainder of the week at Rush Point, afterward motoring to Uxbridge to resume her school duties there.

Mr. Ray Medd, of Port Perry, was also a guest at this social function.

JUDGE HUYCKE HONORS G. A. HAY

Pays Tribute of Respect to Late Clerk of District Court at Campbellford.

"KNEW AND DID DUTY"

CAMPBELLFORD, January 13 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Presiding at the Division Court at Campbellford yesterday afternoon, His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke of Peterborough, paid tribute to the memory of the late Clerk of Division Court, Dr. G. A. Hay.

Before opening the session, His Honor pointed out that since his last official visit to Campbellford, a very sad event had taken place in the removal by death of George A. Hay, for many years Clerk of the Court. Careful, and always obliging to the public, the judge declared that the late Dr. Hay was the most efficient man he knew.

His passing, he declared, was a great shock and loss to the community, a loss that would be felt, for the late Dr. Hay was a man who was highly respected throughout the district.

"He will be a loss to the Court," the judge stated, "for he knew and always did his duty." His Honor extended to his widow his deepest sympathy in her loss.

Judge Huycke also paid tribute to the late Dr. Free and another old Campbellford boy, Rev. A. Govan, declaring that the passing of these men was sad, and that the world would be the poorer for their going.

His Honor also stated that until the Clerk of Peace had made a permanent appointment in regard to the Clerk of the Division Court, Lewis J. J. Hay, son of the late Dr. G. A. Hay, would act as clerk.

BRIDGENORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Nichols, are guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. W. McConkey, of Peterborough.

CARS COLLIDE

Occupants of Pearson and Wiyate Autos Get Shaking Up Near Buckhorn.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HALL'S BRIDGE, Jan. 13. — What might have been a serious accident occurred Saturday night near the 16th line when the automobiles of Edward Pearson and William Weyate collided head on.

Mr. Pearson with Mrs. Pearson and his two children were on their way to Lakefield while Mr. Weyate and a friend were coming to Buckhorn.

The occupants fortunately sustained only slights cuts and shock. The two cars were seriously damaged and had to be towed from the place of collision.

YOUNG'S POINT

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Wednesday afternoon the monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. James Reed, speaker during the summer series of the meetings and to ask for the meeting to be held in the evening.

An application will be sent in for a course in Home Nursing the classes to be held the first or middle of April.

The treasurer's report showed a balance in the bank of $24.39 and cash on hand of 95 cents.

Mrs. Wilson, in the absence of Mrs. F. Young gave the relief committee report and told of Christmas cheer given to three ladies who were ill and to two other families in the village. Mrs. Wilson spoke of the happiness derived from these visits, both to the members of the committee and the persons visited.

The roll call was answered by resolutions for the betterment of the Institute and the February roll call will be answered with "Friendship Quotations" each member to bring a friend to the meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. William Brooks.

A committee was appointed to wait on the trustees of the local school to discuss building a skating rink for the children The program for the year 1931 which the directors had formerly drawn up was submitted and approved of. This will appear in the Institute Notes of The Examiner on Saturday.

It was resolved that each month one member according to the alphabet be responsible for the program, that member to select two others to help choose suitable papers; these three members to be called the Program Committee.

Mrs. Wilson finished her talk on the Toronto convention, giving an interesting sketch of Mrs. Laura Rose Stephen's trip through the British Isles, France and Germany.

Mrs. Reed was given a hearty vote of thanks for her hospitality and the meeting was brought to a close.

Norway Pine Syrup

Bad Cold On Her Chest Had To Stay In Bed

Mrs. J. C. Winters, Janow, Man., writes:—"I have every reason to praise Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup as it has done me a world of good. I had a very bad cold on my chest, and had to stay in bed two weeks, and could hardly speak on account of coughing so much. I tried every medicine and liniment I could think of, but I got no relief. My husband read about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup so I decided to try it. I took only one bottle and I am ready to recommend it to anyone with a cold."

HUNGARIAN WOMAN IS EXECUTED FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND AND SON

Prisoner Implicated in Wholesale Poisoning Cases Last Spring.

SWEETHEART ATTENDS.

SZOLNOK, Hungary, Jan. 13.—(C. P.)— Crying "God help me," Frau Marie Kardos was hanged to-day in the prison courtyard in atonement to the State for murder of her husband and 22 year old son last year. She was the first woman to be hanged by court sentence in Hungary for many generations.

Frau Kardos, who was one of 40 women who appeared in the group poisoning trials of last spring and summer and one of three to receive the death sentence, lost the jaded ennui which marked her early demeanor in the few days preceding her death. As execution became imminent she was stricken with terror at the prospect of the gallows.

Hangman Calculates.

She ate heartily in her prison cell last night, a bowl of goulash being allowed her for her last dinner. There followed a period of prayer with friends and a Protestant clergyman, interrupted once when the hangman came to weigh her so as to calculate the measure of her fall from the scaffold. She sprang back screaming but was reassured when her friends told her the executioner was a doctor.

This morning she arose and dressed unassisted and sipped a cup of coffee before being led weeping into the prison courtward where seventy persons were assembled to witness her death. She prayed there again for a moment and then was led to the gallows where the president of the court read the sentence of death to her, concluding with these words addressed to the executioner, "Hangman do your duty."

The executioner's two assistants seized her gently, bound her arms and legs, tightened the noose about her neck. As the stool on which she stood was kicked from under her she cried; "God help me" and then sighing, repeated the single word, "God——."

An attending physician pronounced her unconscious within a few seconds and dead in eight minutes. Her body was left on the gallows for half an hour and then cut down and placed in a coffin in the prison morgue.

Strange Custom

The hanging followed the peculiar Hungarian method. The two assistants drew her feet toward them as the stool was knocked from beneath her. The hangman, holding her face with a handkerchief, turned it from sire to side until she was pronounced dead then he lifted his hat and informed the President of the Court that the sentence had been carried out.

One of the condemned woman's last callers was the man known hereabout as her sweetheart, Stefan Todor, who arrived in a sleigh this morning and was admitted to the prison to see her. She received him coldly.

Todor obtained permission to witness the execution, and shouted frantically, threatening everybody around him when the woman was pinioned at the gallows. He had to be removed.

Faces $250,000 Suit

Wm. Perkins Bull, K.C., of Toronto, against whom a $250,000 damage suit is filed in Chicago by Dr. J. S. Sidley of Racine, Wis., in connection with alleged "shadowings" in a three-year pending divorce case.

GOV'T IS ACTING IN TEXTILE CASE

Compromise Sought to Avert General Lockout of 250,000 Weavers.

CONFERENCES CALLED.

MANCHESTER, England, January 13 (C.P.). — Government intervention in the textile industry in which 26,000 men have been locked out by the mill owners began to-day with the arrival of F. W. Leggett, Assistant Secretary to the Minister of Labor, who called a conference of the Weavers' Union immediately.

He was accompanied by I. H. Mitchell, the Ministry's chief conciliation officer, and J. K. Liddell, the chief conciliation officer for the north-western area. All three talked with the union officers in a private conference.

Meantime executives representing the mill owners were meeting in another part of the town, and it was hoped that some sort of compromise might be arranged to avert a general lockout threatened for next Saturday in which 250,000 weavers and an equal number of spinners would be affected.

The dispute hinges on the refusal of the weavers to accept the owners' demand that each employee now operating four looms take over eight. The employers offer a substantial increase in pay, but the weavers contend that the system would throw many men out of work.

483 PEOPLE FED BY RELIEF SCHEME

Meal Tickets Will Be Issued By Elite For Next Three Months.

Since the inauguration of the scheme at the Elite Restaurant and Tea Rooms whereby, citizens provided meals for needy persons, particularly around Christmas time and in the New Year, the management report that 483 people were fed.

Realizing the need still exists, the management of this establishment proposes to issue 2,000 meal tickets, which may be purchased by the citizens on behalf of the needy and destitute, from His Worship the Mayor, or from Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Store and other points of vantage throughout the city. This scheme will be commenced on January 15th and will extend to April 1st. A nominal charge of 25 cents will be made for each ticket, or three for one dollar. It is suggested that this will provide a practical and efficient means of offering help, in the present depression, and that the employees of the Restaurant have signified their willingness to co-operate fully with the management in undertaking the extra work involved.

CHINESE REDS ROUTED

CONSTIPATION BRINGS MANY ILLS

Do you know that constipation often brings despondency? Poisons spread through the system. You lack pep. Headaches become frequent. No wonder you have the "blues."

Yet constipation can be overcome by having sufficient roughage in your diet. A pleasant way to obtain this roughage is through eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

You will enjoy this delicious cereal. And how much better for you than taking habit-forming laxatives.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN, eaten daily, will relieve and prevent both temporary and recurring constipation.

ALL-BRAN also contains needed iron to build up the blood. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Police Get Woman After Long Chase

LAUNCESTON, Cornwall, Eng., Jan. 13.—Two months ago Scotland Yard began looking for Mrs. Annie Hearn for questioning in connection with the murder of Mrs. Alice Thomas, a farmer's wife. The hunt started in the bleak moors of Cornwall and led them to almost every part of the kingdom. They got her last night at Torquay, Devonshire, and today she was remanded for eight days.

Mrs. Thomas, a coroner's jury found, died of arsenical poisoning but there was no evidence to show who had administered the fatal dose. Mrs. Hearn disappeared before the inquest, leaving a letter indicating that she had committed suicide, but Scotland Yard did not believe it.

DOMINION NEEDS MEN OF ACTION

Duranleau Issues Call to Canadians For Development of Public Spirit.

Outlines Accomplishments.

TORONTO, Ont., January 13 (C. P.). — "What a country needs is men of action, in politics as well as in business," declared Hon. Alfred Duranleau, K.C., Minister of Marine, in an address before the Canadian Club here.

"They alone can put a stop to the trade depression which this country and all other countries have suffered in the last couple of years. They alone can bring us back to the sound conception of life, to the practical methods which have led to the foundation of Canada," he said.

Mr. Duranleau called upon Canadians to develop "that public spirit which will bring every Canadian to a realization of his duty to take an interest in public affairs, and to contribute his share, no matter how small, of the national development and progress."

The speaker then proceeded to outline what his department has done to safeguard navigation and of the development of radio as an aid in that respect, on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and over the Great Lakes.

50 Stations Already.

"We hope," he continued, "that in a very short time we will be able to take a boat, inbound or outbound, for a distance of 400 miles in or out of our ports with the utmost safety. We have to-day in the neighborhood of 50 "stations" on our coasts, on the St. Lawrence and the Lakes, and even on Hudson's Bay."

Mr. Duranleau detailed the essential services being rendered by the Hydrographic Department at Ottawa. "We are drafting plans on both oceans," he said, "for many miles from either coast showing the islands, the reefs or obstructions, and the sea depths up to approximately 200 feet."

Referring to the signal and alarm systems Mr. Duranleau told his hearers "one of the Canadian alarms can be heard at least 45 miles away; and I am told that the Father Point alarm is one of the most powerful in the world."

SOYBEANS IN CANADA.

One ton of soybeans yields approximately 240 pounds of oil. In addition the resulting cake or meal has a high value for feeding cattle. This plant is chiefly cultivated in southwestern Ontario but it is grown in all provinces and its production is increasing.

Every man ought to have an interest outside of his business and the biggest and the best interest he can have is the improvement of the city in which his business is located. This is the view of the Chamber of Commerce.

INSTITUTE TO HOLD HARD TIMES SOCIAL

Mrs. J. L. Byam Hostess at January Meeting of Millbrook Society.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13. (Examiner Correspondence.)—Mrs. J. L. Byam was hostess for the January meeting of the Women's Institute, the initial gathering of the year being well attended, and held at Mrs. Byam's home, Bank street, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the president, Mrs. T. G. Harkness, occupying the chair.

The roll-call was expected to be answered with a humorous story, and a few of those present responded to the request, the fact being evident that the meetings would be helped to a richer interest if all the members made an effort to comply with the suggestion on the program each month under the heading of "roll call." The officers, also, would appreciate the added interest and stimulus to the day's proceedings.

The Institute is now following the practice of depositing one dollar in the bank for each new baby whose mother is a member of the society, and the secretary, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, reported two new babies recently so remembered.

On motion, decision was arrived at to hold a "Hard Times Social," probably on the last Friday in January, the committee in charge being Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, Mrs. Suttle Pritchard, Mrs. Archie Lunn, and Miss E. Grandy. The committee on refreshments includes: Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. C. C. Garside, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, and Miss Margaret Whyte.

The president mentioned the sale of the two quilts finished at Mrs. Armstrong's home last summer for seven dollars, and also that with the help of Mrs. J. McBride work on the quilt now under way will be continued in the immediate future.

Report was made by the treasurer, Mrs. T. H. Aiken, of outstanding accounts paid, and by the secretary of sixteen baskets of cheer sent to sick and shut-in folk at Christmas time. Letters of appreciation from recipients of this courtesy were read by the secretary, and discussion arose regarding broadening the field covered by this service another season.

The committee appointed in charge of the February meeting included Mrs. H. A. Earle, who kindly extended an invitation to hold the gathering at her home. Mrs. J. McKnight and Miss M. Whyte. Mrs. Earle's invitation will be accepted providing weather permits, otherwise Mrs. Robert Brown will be hostess for the meeting.

Prizes will be given for the best costumes at the Hard Times Social, and those not in costume will probably be sentenced to pay a fine. Not shabbiness, but something presentable made from cheap material, will be the standard governing the judges in their decision, according to announcement by the president.

An appeal from the Navy League, and one from the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, for financial aid, were met by the decision to remit to each five dollars, and the treasurer was so instructed.

Community singing opened the social part of the program, with readings by Mrs. G. Freelove, "Another Year"; by Mrs. F. H. Smith, "Forget-Remember," and "Be Kind to the Milkman;" and by Mrs. R. J. McKnight, whose selection was, "Our Faults and others."

Candy was served by the committee in charge during the social hour, these including: Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mrs. R. J. McKnight and Mrs. G. Freelove. The hostess was heartily thanked for her hospitality before dismissal with the National Anthem.

Regular Meeting Queensboro Y.P.S.

QUEENSBORO, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Young People's Union of the United Church held its meeting on Friday evening with Miss Marion Carey presiding.

In matters of business discussed it was decided to give from the proceeds of the play given some time ago the sum of fifteen dollars to the M. and M. Fund and the sum of twenty-five dollars to the church treasurer.

Miss Marion Love had charge of the topic and called on Mrs. John O'Rorke for a paper on the Japanese way of living and conducting home life. This was much appreciated. Miss Margaret Delyea gave a paper on missionary work showing that money spent in an effort to extend the Kingdom of God was money well invested. Mr. Bruce Leslie sang, "I come to the garden alone," and Miss Emma Lynn gave a paper on, "Pleasures that are worthwhile," pointing out the real meaning of pleasure and noting the activities that brought this result.

CANADA'S CENTRAL ELECTRIC INDUSTRY

In eight years the output of the Canadian central electric station industry has grown from 5,894,867,000 kilowatt hours in 1920 to 16,337,804,000 kilowatt hours in 1920 to 16,337,804,000 killowat hours in 1928.

In Saskatchewan, Canadian coal dominates the market, the output from Saskatchewan mines in 1929 setting up a new record for the province with 580,189 tons, an increase of 23 per cent over the previous year.

Theatre Gospel Services Attract Great Crowds

The full Gospel revival services conducted by Evangelist Geo. A. Chambers of Kitchener Ont., at the Regent Theatre here, each Sunday night are attracting great numbers of people of the city and surrounding district and great interest is being manifest with apparent good results according to the evangelist. Sunday night the crowd packed the main floor of the theatre to enjoy the spirited service until only here and there a spare seat could be seen.

Sunday night Evangelist Morse Ward of Toronto, a youth of about twenty one addressed the large congregation and for about forty-five minutes held with earnest attention hearers while he spoke from the subject, "SAFETY FIRST", using as a text Gen. 7:1. "Come thou and all thy house with thee into the ark".

The young evangelist spoke in great appreciation of his Godly parents and home training and attributed his being a Christian and a preacher to the earnest prayers of his mother, and bore with emphasis on the great responsibility of parents to their children showing that it was first to see that they had accepted Christ, thus entering the ark of safety.

At the close of the address an appeal was made for those who would begin to pray and who wished to solicit the co-operation of the evangelists in prayer. A host of hands were seen lifted in response to the appeal as an expression of their desire.

IS MOST AGED ADMINISTRATION IN MODERN TIMES SAYS ORGANIZER

Does Not Represent the Spirit of Eager and Radiant Youth.

ENGLISH BY-ELECTION.

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 13. (By Thos. T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent). — Speaking in the East Bristol by-election campaign last night Sir Herbert Samuel, chief Liberal organizer, derided the Labor Cabinet because "while it is supposed to represent the spirit of eager and radiant youth, it is the most aged administration in modern times" he said.

"When I first entered the Cabinet I was 38" Sir Herbert continued. "Walter Runciman and Winston Churchill had entered a few months earlier. One was the same age as myself and the other four years younger. Lloyd George and Reginald McKenna, who had already been on the ice four years, were only 45."

Sir Herbert referred to the Asquith Ministry of 1908, in which he was Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster with a seat in the Cabinet. Incidentally Premier Ramsay MacDonad is 64 years of age; Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden and Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson 67; Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes 61, Lord Sankey 64, Lord Parmoor 78 and Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas 56.

The Labor party has no apprehension that Sir Richard Stafford Cripps, who had been Solicitor-General for some weeks, will fail to gain in the present by-election his seat in Parliament. Edward Baker, Liberal candidate, has done a lot of campaigning but the Liberal chances in Bristol may be inferred from the fact that a Liberal speaker has solemnly suggested the electors refrain from voting. J. P. Champman-Walker, Conservative, is counting on 5,000 votes.

The by-election is caused by the death of W. J. Baker, Labor member for the constituency since 1923. In the last general elections he defeated a Liberal opponent by a majority of 11,621.

Brockville Has Lost Life-Long Resident

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 13.—This town lost one of its oldest residents in the death Friday after a long illness of Frederick William Fulford, who was born in the Township of Elizabethtown, February 25, 1840. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Levious Fulford, United Empire Loyalists, and was twice married. His first wife was Miss Jemima Altimas, and by that union two daughters survive, Mrs. Almina Holmeshaw, Toronto, and Mrs. D. P. Chase, Utica, N.Y. His second wife, whose maiden name was Katherine Gillard, of Morrisburg, survives with two children, Kenneth Clinton Fulford and Beulah Ilean Fulford, at home. He was prominent in fraternal affairs and was one of the oldest ex-officers of L.O.L. No. 1.

CHAIN STORES GAIN HEADWAY

Shoe Retailers Told They Must Co-operate Voluntarily or be Absorbed.

AT TORONTO MEET.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—"There are but two alternatives facing the individual retailer: voluntary co-operation or involuntary absorption," was the warning sounded by George S. Hougham, Secretary of the National Shoe Retailers' Association of Canada, in presenting his annual report at the Shoe Retailers' convention here.

The fact is unquestionable, that retail distribution is being concentrated into fewer and still fewer hands, the speaker continued. The rapid growth of the chain store was a sign of the times and, while some maintained chain store methods could not be successfully applied to the retail shoe business these stores were gradually gaining a foothold as operation of 199 stores by 28 chains indicated.

Epidemic Of Colds Strikes Opera Stars

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (CP)—An epidemic of colds has muffled the voice of the Metropolitan Opera House.

Last evening a party from the Caledonian Club visited the House of Providence and entertained the old people to a musical program. The guests were cordially welcomed by the Mother Superior and Sisters, who along with their charges thoroughly enjoyed the program. Evidence of this was shown in the rapt attention and delight which each number received. Mr. A. Clark and Mr. R. Hendry both voiced their appreciation of the cordial welcome given them by the Mother Superior and her staff. Mr. W. Petrie also spoke of the privilege accorded the Caledonian Club on being able to spend such a pleasant evening with these shut-ins. The Mother gracefully replied and hoped to see the Caledonians back again in the near future. After the program the guests were entertained by the Sisters to a delicious luncheon. The following program, in charge of Mr. R. Hendry, was rendered: Vocal solos, "The Rowan Tree" and "Annie Laurie," by Mrs. A. Anderson; readings, "A Stray Child" and "The Courtship of Larrie O'Dee," by Miss Margaret Wyllie; vocal solo, "Robin Adair," by Mrs. Sugden; melodeon selections by Mr. Robert Gilmour; vocal solo, "Come to the Fair," by Mr. A. Clark; piano solo, Miss P. Smith; vocal solo, "Mother Machree," by Mr. J. Smith; vocal solo "Love's Old Sweet Song," and "I like my own home town," by Mr. R. Hendry; Highland Fling and Sword Dance, by Mr. A. Burgess, accompanied by Mr. A. Milne on the bagpipes; banjo solo, "My Ain Wee Hoose," by Mr. T. Kieran. Miss P. Smith made an efficient pianist. A pleasant evening ended with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

The Toronto press carries this morning some interesting notices of the work of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park as one of the soloists in the performance of Handel's "Messiah" last night in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Toronto. A group of about four hundred voices was included in the production, from the Toronto Conservatory Choir and the choirs of St. Paul's Anglican, St. Andrew's United, Bloor Street United and Timothy Eaton Memorial church. The orchestra numbered about forty pieces. The soloists were Dorothy Allan Park, Eileen Lew Marshall, Harry Cole and Frank Oldfield, "all of whom," remarks Lawrence Mason in The Globe, "covered themselves with glory." Mr. Mason also says: "Outstanding merits last night were the beauty, purity and finish of Mrs. Park's soprano solos." Writing in The Mail and Empire,

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

In these days of resorting to delicatessen shops and of using canned foods, there comes a return of appreciation of home cooking.

• • • • • • •

Of course we know the delicatessen shops are a great convenience, especially to women who have outside business as well as housework to see to, and usually they are most grateful to the supplies that come ready prepared for them to select from when too weary to prepare dishes.

• • • • • • •

Canned foods too are just the things for similar occasions and are a positive necessity for emergency shelves.

• • • • • • •

Then too, there are many home made dishes that can be compounded from foods that are partially prepared for their use in these canned goods. They fill an important place in the culinary part of housekeeping.

• • • • • • •

It is the old time-home cooking of which we are thinking today and which is coming to the fore of attention because of its scarcity.

• • • • • • •

And as always when anything is scarce it becomes doubly desirable.

• • • • • • •

It commands high prices and is valued. Such is the experience in the business world, and it does not change when it enters the realm of housekeeping.

• • • • • • •

The hostess who would set before her guests dishes that are decidedly different can succeed by resorting to home cooking. In these dishes variety of ingredients is not so much stressed as variety in preparation, although if you consult old cook books you will discover that variety was not lacking in ingredients.

• • • • • • •

The quest for novelty in this generation has shown itself in the mixing of what were, therefore, considered incompatible things.

• • • • • • •

The work must be simple, although the combination be complex. In olden times endless trouble was taken regardless of work to produce dishes of excellence.

• • • • • • •

Many of these old recipes can be simplified, but home preparation is essential It is this element that makes the present day home cooking prized.

• • • • • • •

I read a little article recently which contained the sentence, "The women of to-day who can cook dishes 'like mother used to make' is fortunate."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

EXERCISE DOES NOT WEAR OUT THE MUSCLES.

One of the questions you may ask yourself is why exercise removes fat from the body, and yet exercise actually builds up more muscle so that the more exercise that is taken, the larger he muscle becomes.

Now the reason exercise uses up the fat is because heat is created, and heat demands fuel. The fuel that is used is starchy foods, and when they are used up or nearly so, fats are used to supply the heat.

Thus, if overweight individuals would eat less starchy food, and take vigorous exercise, the fat in the system would be used up to supply the heat.

But when you exercise, muscle is used, the starch or sugar in the muscle is likewise burned up and produces heat.

Why then doesn't muscle disappear or grow less when you use it by exercise?

Muscle work or exercise uses up the muscle tissue—the protein—all right, and it gets broken down and thrown out as waste by the kidneys and also to some extent by the skin. However it has been shown by research men that while the exercising of a muscle breaks down its cells, the very activity of a muscle stimulates the building up process at the same time, and the building up process goes on faster than the breaking down process.

This means then that if you are a normal healthy individual the more you exercise the more the muscles will grow in size and power.

It would seem that Neture in her wisdom, gave this reward for work or exercise. And the wonderful part about it is that after you get a fair development by working or exercising regularly, one or two hours a day, for a number of months, you can gradually reduce the time and amount of exercise taken and yet continue to retain the size and strength of your muscles by exercising just ten or fifteen minutes daily.

For instance Sandow the strong man, who could lift tremendous weights, and do a back somersault with a 56 pound weight in each hand, retained his strength and ability by just fifteen minutes exercise daily; just the length of time it took him to give his daily vaudeville performance.

So don't be afraid you'll wear your muscles out by exercise. A few minutes regular exercise daily-bending, twisting, and stationary running (jogging in one spot) will pay you large dividends in health for the time expended.

Fenella Institute Will Prepare Quilt

FENELLA, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. S. Leach and Mrs. N. C. Leach were joint hostesses to the members of the Fenella Women's Institute on Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Harrison George presided for the meeting and it was decided to make an autograph quilt, the 'antler horn' pattern. Mrs. J. H. Mouncey was appointed to purchase material for the quilt and Mrs. George, Mrs. N. C. Leach and Miss E. Bowen were appointed to prepare the blocks.

It was decided also to have an open meeting in February at the home of Mrs. W. Waldies.

A letter was read from G. A. Putnam, regarding summer series of meetings and it was decided to have a summer meeting and the Roseneath Branch be invited to join.

The following program was given: piano solo, "Silvery Waves," Miss Muriel Macklin; reading, "New Year's Resolutions," Mrs. J. H. Mouncey and a piano solo, "Angels Voices," by Miss Ruby Herrington.

Lunch was served and a social time enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

MISSION CIRCLE HAS SUCCESFUL YEAR

Officers Elected at Annual Meeting of St. James' Church Society.

About thirty girls gathered at the home of Miss Greta Welbourn, Reid street, for the New Year's meeting of the X.L. Mission Circle of St. James' United Church, with Miss Jessie Martin presiding.

The opening hymn, "For God So Loved the World," was followed with prayer offered by Mrs. Rose.

The Lord's Prayer was the theme of the scripture lesson read by Mrs. H. Davidson.

A brief business session, which included the secretary's and treasurer's reports, revealed a most successful year's activities by the society.

Delegates to the Presbyterial meeting were appointed as follows: Misses Zetta Wood and Elsie Althouse.

The year's program was planned, the girls willingly offering their homes for meetings.

Auditors were also elected, Miss Nina Andrews and Mrs. Wagar being chosen for this duty. Miss Zetta Wood, secretary of mite boxes, distributed a large number to gather in the pennies during the coming year.

A pleasant change in the program was the vocal solo contributed by Miss Edith Smith.

The first chapter of the study for 1931, "The Fruits of Christian Missions in Japan," was presented by Miss Connie Wager, and dealt with the subject, "Japan To-day." This study was made interesting by the use of views of Japan and a map showing its relative size.

Misses Aileen and Jean Rose sang a very pleasing duet with a missionary theme.

The program was closed with the prayer-hymn, "Breathe On Me Breath of God," and the Mispah Benediction.

The social hour which followed was thoroughly enjoyed by the girls, and dainty refreshments were served by the joint hostesses, the Misses Greta Welbourn, Dorothy Seabrooke, Gladys Langton and Zoe McDonald.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Foster, with Misses Nina Andrews and Effie Goodrich.

SHAW'S TALKIE A "FAILURE"

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Bernard Shaw's first talkie, "How he lied to her husband," was presented in London yesterday for the first time but fell flat. The critics with hardly an exception condemned it with such adjectives as melancholy, dull, stagey, disappointing, tedious, and lifeless.

ST. JAMES' M.B. ELECTS OFFICERS

Encouraging Reports For Year's Work Read at Wesley Hall Meeting.

The election of officers for the coming year in the St. James' Mission Band, was held in Wesley Hall on Saturday afternoon with a good attendance of boys and girls.

The leader, Miss C. Wagar, presided, opening the meeting with prayer.

Last year's report was most encouraging, showing that the Band had met their allocation and increased their membership and interest.

Plans were made for an open meeting to be held in the near future when prizes and certificates will be awarded for the selling of calendars and Christmas cards. A life membership certificate will also be presented on this occasion.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President, Hazel Reesor; Vice-President, Irene McAdams; Secretary, Kenneth Gillespie; Treasurer, Bessie Reesor; Secretary of "World Friends" Lorne Casey; Mite Box Convenor, Marion McAdams; Telephone Committee, Vera Dunk, Winnie Cunningham, Jean Whitney, Norma May and Alma Carter; Pianist, Dora Lowes; Assistant Pianist, Hazel Palmer.

Miss Amy Johnson has announced that the flying days of "Jason," the plane which took her solo from London to Australia, are over, and the craft hereafter will rest in Stag Line aerodrome, Middlesex, England.

C. W. Varcoe Elected As School Trustee

ROSENEATH, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—The annual school meeting was held in the school room on Wednesday afternoon and was well attended. Harry Mouncey was appointed chairman and Archie Campbell secretary for the meeting.

The report of R. B. Nichol, secretary trustee was audited and proved satisfactorily.

Andrew Brown was given the contract of three cords of cedar wood at $4 per cord same to be cut three lengths to a cord, split and piled in woodshed at the school.

Percy Parker was given contract of 8 cords of 2-foot wood, beech and maple at $7.75 a cord, same to be delivered at school and piled outside for inspection of trustees and piled in woodshed by June 1, 1931.

On motion of T. Carew and A. J. Campbell, it was decided that $500 more insurance be put on school building.

C. W. Varcoe, retiring trustee, was reappointed as trustee for three years.

On motion it was decided that section continue in school fair; also that the secretary forward a resolution to the Northumberland and ratepayers and trustee association asking that the maintenance of the hot lunch at school be levied by a rate per-pupil instead of a flat rate per school at the present system.

Rupert Nichol and William Mouncey are the two other trustees along with C. W. Varcoe.

Hours of railway men in France have been increased from 44 to 48 hours a week.

ROYAL BANK EXECUTIVES MAKE STRONG RECOMMENDATIONS TO END SEVERE DEPRESSION

Sir Herbert S. Holt, President, Makes Constructive Recommendations—Expresses Confidence in Present nad Future Situation of Canada.

Mr. C. C. Neill, Vice-President and Managing Director, Discusses World Depression and the Fall in Commodity Prices in Relation to Gold and Central Bank Policies.

Mr. M. W. Wilson, General Manager, Emphasizes Importance to Canada of Present Sound Banking Situation.

Outstanding addresses on many of the important developments in the financial world featured the annual meeting of the Royal Bank of Canada, held in Montreal.

Of special importance were the recommendations made by Sir Herbert Holt, president, and C. E. Neill, vice-president and managing director, that should contribute to an improvement in general trade, and help in remedying some of the situations that have arisen.

The annual meeting marked the close of a very satisfactory year notwithstanding the general trade depression, and brought together a very large number of shareholders.

Sir Herbert Holt, after referring to the world-wide depression and citing credit conditions as the chief contributing factor, reviewed, as usual developments in and prospects for the basic industries of the Dominion. His remarks along these lines were, in part, as follows:

"There can be no doubt that the abnormal credit conditions during 1927 and 1929 must be held primarily responsible for initiating the present world-wide depression. High money rates had their inevitable effect of depressing business and paralyzing development and in many countries economic and political structures have been weakened to such a degree that it is necessary for them to receive assistance in the shape of foreign loans before their purchasing power can be restored. The concentration of sixty per cent. of the world's gold supply in the United States and France has placed the potential control of the world's price level in the hands of these two countries. Neither country has perfected its central banking machinery to the point where such control can be made promptly effective, and I fear that neither country has fully realized its duty in this respect to its own citizens and to the rest of the world. Until this responsibility is fully understood, or until there has been such a redistribution of gold as to leave other countries in a less helpless condition, the world can never attain that stability which business has every right to expect."

His comments on the Imperial Conference were as follows: "The results of the Imperial Conference are naturally disappointing to the overseas Dominions. It was too much to expect that a ready-made proposal would be acceptable to Great Britain. Her trade with the outside world is relatively much more important to her than is the case with the Dominions, but proposals put forward by the Canadian delegates involved a principle rather than a plan and, in spite of whatever difficulties must be overcome in order to arrive at a common basis of agreement, this principle is one which should command serious consideration. The component parts of the Empire can surely expect from each other an understanding and co-operation in trade affairs which is conspicuously absent in international relations. It is hoped that preliminary discussions before the proposed conference at Ottawa will lead to a common basis of agreement at that time.

Sir Herbert dealt with the principal industries of Canada, making a number of constructive suggestions. In connection with the newsprint industry, he pointed out that its present situation is the result of unwise over ex-pansion and advocated the prohibition by Provincial Governments of any further installations until the demand catches up with the present supply; also that the Governments should insist on all Canadian companies operating at the same percentage of capacity, thereby doing away with futile competition and useless price cutting.

In connection with the railways he advocated co-operation and elimination of wasteful competition and pointed out that it is vital that they should not be hampered by any reduction in rates or increase in taxes which would interfere with financing and the maintenance of high operating efficiency.

He intimated that over-expansion of hydro-electric plants is threatened and stated that it is of vital importance that future developments be authorized only as demand warrants.

He dealt at considerable length with agriculture and strongly advocated that the west should be less dependent on the production of grain, substituting mixed farming. He approved of the suggested formation of an agricultural credit corporation to assist the farmers to purchase cattle, sheep and hogs.

He advocated the increased use of fertilizer as a means of ensuring more stable results, pointing out that experiments have demonstrated that fertilizers properly used will increase the yield of wheat by eight to ten bushels per acre. The development of the Canadian livestock industry has not kept pace with general increase in production and we are actually importing considerable amounts of butter, mutton, beef and pork. In the meantime our exports of animal products have steadily decreased. Thus the consumption of bacon in Great Britain in 1920 amounted to 500,000,000 pounds, of which we supplied 200,000,000 pounds. Their consumption in the fiscal year of 1930 amounted to 1,000,000,000 pounds, of which we supplied less than 18,000,000. Meat products exported in 1920 amounted to $96,000,000 and had fallen in 1929 to less than $20,000,000. Dairy products fell in that period from a value of $56,000,000 to $35,000,000. In his opinion these statistics clearly point to an opportunity for greater profit by diversification.

Sir Herbert pointed out that our future prosperity depends upon increased population and a balanced economy, which can only be developed by fostering home industries.

In connection with Government finance he pointed out that as a result of the present depression the Government is confronted with grave difficulties due to falling revenues. He concluded this statement as follows: "While I am in favour of many of the appropriations which are being made for public works, such as roads and bridges which are important to the development of the country, there is special need for wise economy in governmental expenditure at this time."

He concluded his address with the following statement: "The present interruption in the normal trade relationships of the world is not going to persist. Corrective forces are at work which will re-establish the flow of international credit and restore the volume of world trade. Business and industry have maintained a surprisingly satisfactory volume of activity in Canada as compared with other countries. The stability of our great industries and the strength of our financial institutions during the past year constitute a record which we may view with pride. It is this stability which is the basis for my optimism concerning the future. There are sufficient number of favourable factors in the Canadian situation so that a resumption of expansion and development in Canada cannot be long delayed."

Mr. C. E. Neill, Vice-President and Managing Director of the bank, confined his remarks to a discussion of the world depression and the relation of the price level to gold supplies and central bank policy. He pointed out that only the return of normal international financial relations would end the present depression and advocated a conference of the leading financial powers to formulate a plan whereby countries in need of financial assistance could tap the surplus supplies of New York and Paris Failing this, he suggested that British interests should undertake this on their own account by the formation of a syndicate with substantial capital, which would borrow money in France and the United States and re-lend it to countries which are urgently in need of new loans in order to restore them to financial health.

He further pointed out that the apparent shortage of gold, which economists regard as the main cause of the depression, could be offset by a different policy on the part of central banks, and he suggested that a conference of the world's outstanding economists might be called to report on the charters, policies and operating technique of such central banks, with the idea of creating enlightened public opinion, leading to the necessary corrective measures.

The General Manager, Mr. M. W. Wilson, discussed the Annual Balance sheet and Profit and Loss Account in detail. He cleared up any misapprehension which may exist in regard to the position of the banks in relation to the wheat pool in the following statement:

"At home there has been much discussion regarding credits extended by the banks to the wheat pools. You should be informed that while such loans run into substantial figures they are unquestionably safe basis, being secured not only by grain, but by Government guarantees that effectually preclude the possibility of loss to the lending banks."

He referred to the satisfactory manner in which the Canadian chartered banks have been able to take care of financial requirements in Canada during a difficult year, stating that the stability of our banking institutions has been clearly demonstrated and fresh evidence has been given that the Canadian banking system is adequate to the needs of the country in times of stress as well as under normal conditions.

New Gun Evidence In Buckley Killing

WINDSOR, Jan. 13. (CP)—What is believed to be new and important evidence in connection with the murder of Jerry Buckley, Detroit radio announcer, and the attempt on the life of Inspector Henry J. Garvin of the Detroit police has been uncovered in Amherstburg. Guns which are in the possession of Country Constable S. H. Kelly might have been used in both cases, police believe, and ballistic experts are now making tests to decide definitely on this point. The arrest of a man in Amherstburg, who is under sentence of three years in Portsmouth penitentiary on a charge of carrying offensive weapons, and the disappearance of another man are linked with the finding of the guns.

Bowmanville Swamps Petes For 5-1 Victory

Losers drop to third place

Petes Are Outplayed and Outlucked by Wiry Visitors From Lakeshore.

LACK OF COMBINATION.

Defence Badly Weakened When Lackey Forced to Retire Through Injury.

Proving that they are anything but "mud horses," the Peterborough Intermediates in a heart-breaking and muscle-testing engagement with Bowmanville Olympics, at the Brock Street Arena last night went down to a 5 to 1 defeat. The loss was a sad blow to the Petes' aspirations of a place in the group championship play-offs with Oshawa, since it drops them into third place.

On the soft ice the Petes were outmaneuvred and out-lucked by the wiry Bowmanville athletes, and that off-repeated piece about the score failing to sum up the tide of battle was all too true of last night's shinny entertainment. The Petes very aggressiveness and goal-seeking efforts cost them three goals in the final canter.

Play Off Position

Contributing factors that cost the Blue Shirts the game were the roaming activities of several of their forwards, the staunch Bowmanville wings often catching them out of position and steering a drive through on Gillespie's domain. Too, their defence was badly weakened when Lackey was forced to quit the ice early in the first period because of an injury. The Petes' defence stalwart received a bad gash over his left eye, which required three stitches, in a melee behind his own nets, and he never returned to the combat. This left the Petes with but two relief men in a contest in which ice conditions made the extra man most necessary.

Both teams gave all they had and it was a leg-weary bunch of puck chasers who dragged themselves off the ice at the conclusion of the set-to. The condition of the ice rendered stick-handling and combination a matter of guesswork and luck. Toward the end as the Petes threw everything into the offensive and raided the Bowmanville citadel the game developed into what truly can be termed "shinny." The players bunched, walloped and pushed the old boot heel with their hickories, while the puck bounced and slithered about crazily.

After a slow start the Petes came to life mid-way through the first period; and, after many dangerous rushes on Goalie James, "Sailor" Maudsley gave Creighton a pass out. The red-head slipped the rubber in behind the net guardian for the only score of the period.

With the second period half over, Candler sunk his own rebound into the twine to even the count. Less than a minute later, I. Piper lifted the puck over the Petes' nets and, carroming off the boards, it hit Gillespie's stick and bounced back into the cage.

Petes Take Offensive

In the final period the Petes swung everything into the offensive and swirled about the Bowmanville goal, leaving but one man back to defend their own area. Nothing came as a result of the Petes' zealous onslaught, but Bowmanville increased their score by three goals when they slipped the Petes' storming brigade and sailed in upon Gillespie.

The work of both goalies was the choice part of the battle. Stan James with his rugby headgear turned in a great effort in keeping out the hail of Peterborough shots, while Gillespie was just as effective at the other end.

Hatton, Maudsley and Utronki were perhaps the most effective for the Petes, although every man gave all he had. Hooper, Candler and Cameron was best for Bowmanville, but the whole outfit displayed a teamwork even on the soft ice that had the edge on the losers.

Before the start of the second period the players were called to the centre of the ice, and players and spectators observed a minute's silence in tribute to the bereavement of Gordon Charlton and Fred Jackman, two regulars of the Bowmanville team. Charlton's mother died yesterday and on the same day Jackman's father passed away.

The teams:—

Bowmanville.—Goal, S. James; defence, Cameron and Hooper; centre, Candler; wings, Jamieson and I. Piper; alternates, G. Piper, Grant and Rundle.

Peterboro—Goal, Gillespie; defence, Lackey and LeBarr; centre, Maudsley; wings, Hatton and Creighton; alternates, Calladine, Jarvis and Utronki.

MADOC BEATS STIRLING 2-0

Rupert and Ross Score Two Goals For Winners in First Period.

ICE IS STICKY.

MADOC, Jan. 13. (Examiner Correspondence).—An exhibition game played between Madoc High School boys and Stirling Junior team, in Madoc skating rink on Monday evening resulted in a score of 2-0 in favor of the home team. The ice was poor and sticky, therefore the game was slower than it would have been otherwise, but a good game was played by visitors and home team alike.

The best plays were made in the first period, and goals were scored first, by a pass from Whytock to Rupert, and soon after by a pass from Rupert to Ross, with no penalties for Madoc and one for Stirling.

In the second period the play was much rougher with several penalties awarded to each team. Stirling got five penalties in this period, and Madoc boys three. No score was made by either team.

No score was the result of the third and last period, though several long shots were tried by Stirling lads, and many fast rushes attempted by both teams. Penalties were awarded to Stirling to the number of three, while Madoc earned a like number.

For the visitors, Hulin marred his playing by too many trips to the "cooler." Lohnes, Stirling goalie, improved as the game progressed. The two goals which beat him were pretty combination efforts and it would have been highway robbery if he had got either.

As a whole, Stirling team was made up of good players and the best feeling existed between the teams. The soft ice had much to do with many of the penalties awarded.

Good Combination

For Madoc, it would not be fair to single out any individual player. Their team was the main object, both goals being the result of unselfish passing. Nickle, in goal, as the score indicates, was unbeatable; Ashley, as usual, a real "stone wall" of defense, while West did some nice rushing. Old reliable Alec was good, as usual, while Whytock and Akey completed a fast forward line. Ross, sub forward, is a nice stick handler, and Nickle, with a few practises, will fit in well at defence.

Line-up:

Stirling—Goal, Lohnes; defense, Culicut and Fraser; centre, Hulin; wings, A. Fraser and Huit; subs., Scott, Goblin and McGee.

Madoc—Goal, C. Nickle; defense, Ashley and West; centre, A. Rupert; wings, Whytock and Akey; subs., H. Nickle, A. Ross, and O. Armstrong.

Referee—J. A. Watson, Madoc.

St. John's Win 2-1 Decision from Lakefield

TOWNSEND FAVORED TO WIN

Boxing interests seem to be out to make a financial success of affairs again after several recent fiascos at the box office. According to the latest dope, Billy Townsend, the blonde cougar of Vancouver, is going to attempt to lift the welterweight crown from the brow of Jackie Phillips for the Canadian championship. It is generally conceded among members of the sporting fraternity that the bout would be apple pie for the Vancouver lad, if he is in as good shape as when he licked Jack Purvis at the Arena Gardens, Toronto, and gave Joe Glick a lot to think about. Jackie Phillips fought Jack Gillespie, the awkward Detroit welter and gained the decision but failed to impress the "wise guys" as well as he did a year ago. It is conceded that unless Phillips puts up a better showing than of late, Townsend will be in there for a victory and the title can be packed up and addressed to Vancouver.

STEWART STARS IN THE NET FOR NORTHERN SQUAD

Both Teams Fail to Score in Initial Period—Saints Leading Play in Second.

CLEAN HOCKEY TANGLE.

Howe, Gardner, Calladine and Miller Are Stars For Winners.

St. John's grabbed a 2-1 victory from Bill Hamblin's Lakefield O.H.A. juniors up in the village last night, and Harding Stewart made them earn it.

Stewart is a rangey youngster who usually works up on the front line, but with the regular goaler away, or something like that, they moved him back to the nets where he used to play two years ago, and the score sheet is eloquent testimony of what a real job he made of it. Possibly he just had a big night on, or it may be his regular form, but, however he felt about it, he turned back the St. John's attacks all through the first session and for nineteen minutes in the second before they poked one past him. And that one, by the way, was a quick rebound which Calladine slammed against the netting after Stewart had stopped Gardner's close shot from right wing.

Saints Lead Play

St. John's had more scoring chances, and a bigger share of the play, especially during the second period, than the actual count indicates, but with Stewart in the role of Horatius they couldn't get anywhere. The Lakefield youth was cool about it, too, and certainly earned the honors of last night's game.

The rest of the Cementville team wasn't idle either; in fact they were all over the place so much and checked back so consistently that they pestered St. John's all through the battle, and had a chance to tie up the score practically to the last bell.

Ira Lennox gave the teams a better sheet of ice than the weather conditions warranted, but the surface was inclined to shale, and in the last period, especially, it began to soften. If the going slowed up St. John's, it didn't materially help the lighter forward line of the Lakefield team. Their substitute front row composed of Wannamaker, Kennedy and Jack Emslie were much smaller than the visitors, and when George Merritt of St. John's was playing centre against Emslie he appeared to be about twice the size of the Lakefield youngster.

The game was clean and packed with action. Orville Kennaley handed out a few penalties but they were only for minor fauns. One incident briefly interrupted the game. The referee took a poke at some fan who shouted some insulting remark at him, and three or four others jumped over the boards in the excitement. However, no damage was done, and cool heads checked the flare up.

For Lakefield, Bill Wingett on the defense played a useful game in front of Stewart. White and Jewell worked hard on the regular line, but Northey was inclined to roam too much from the left boards.

The three lighter substitutes, Wannamaker, Emslie and Kennedy tickled the fans by their aggressiveness and staying power against obvious odds in weight.

Howe, Gardner and Calladine were St. Johns best, and Miller in goal was steady and stopped half a dozen shots that looked dangerous. Both the left wing men, Wilshaw and Milliken were good.

Line-ups and Summary.

St. John's—Goal, Tom Miller; defence, Jim Ellis and Eric Howe; centre, N. Calladine; right wing, Gardner; left wing, Wilshaw; subs., George Merritt, Milliken and S. Burke.

Referee—Orville Kennaley.

First Period.

No score.

Second Period.

Peterborough—Calladine, 19 mins.
Lakefield—Emslie, 1 min.

Third Period.

Peterborough—Calladine, 2 mins.
Penalties—Merritt, Gardner, Stenner, Kennedy, Wannamaker.

First Period.

Although the opening period shows a blank on the score sheet both teams missed oopportunities around the nets. Howe featured the first few minutes with a sparkling rush that carried him within close range. Don White returned for Lakefield and Jewell repeated without serious threat. Howe and Wilshaw went down over Lakefield's blue line together, but Wingett swept the play into a corner. Gardner and Calladine flashed a neat combination but their final pass was gummed up.

Kennedy, Stenner and Wannamaker broke through, and the action shuttled back and forth at top speed, but the checking left few soft openings at either end. Ellis whizzed a shot through the defense and followed it in, but Stewart cleared smoothly. Merritt missed the Lakefield net, and Howe and Gardner went right back, giving Stewart two hard ones. Northey aroused the crowd with a smart rush, got inside St. ohn"s defence and slammed the puck against Miller's pads.

Second Period.

St. John's stepped up the pace in the second session and maintained it all the way, but the Lakefield line backchecked continually. Wingett broke up a Howe to Wilshaw combination, and returned the play with White. Calladine and Wilshaw both gave Stewart a lively moment. Stenner stopped on the next. Kennedy and Wannamaker relieved the tension around the Cement citadel, but Wannamaker missed the final pass.

Milliken and Burke had two scoring chances right in on Stewart, but the Lakefield boy turned both shots around the net. Ten minutes in this period produced the fastest session of the game, with St. John's forcing the action. Calladine and Wilshaw and a moment later Wilshaw and Gardenr had only Stewart to beat on splendid dashes, but Stewart looked unbeatable.

Howe mussed up a Wingate to Emslie combination, and Miller stopped one from Northey's stick. Jewell missed a pass close in from White that might have got something, and Howe halted Stenner with a stiff bodycheck.

Finally, after the interruption that brought some of the spectators over the boards Gardner rifled a fast one from the side. Stewart stopped it, but Calladine was camped in front for the rebound and batted it in.

Emslie tied up the score, taking quick advantage of a shot that seemed to bounce off Howe.

Third Period.

Northey found a great opening right at the start of the last period. He fooled the defense and skated close in but Miller picked off the shot with his left hand. Jewell and White returned to the attack but Ellis carried Jewell past the goal line.

Calladine sent St. John's ahead on a fast, cool play. He emerged from a Lakefield hive at their blue line and held his shot until Stewart moved to meet him. He tossed in the rubber just as a bodycheck sent him sprawling. It was a well earned goal. A few minutes later Gardner hit the Lakefield gaspipe. It looked like a goal to Kennaley who was on top of the play and rang his bell, but the umpire told him the puck had simply hit the post. Stewart made another great stop on a shot from Ellis; Burke repeated with an easier one, and at the other end Emslie lifted the puck over the goal from close inside after a fine piece of combination with Wannamaker.

Win For Philadelphia Will Tie Montreal Teams For First Place.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13. (CP)—Three teams of the Canadian division swing into action to-night in National Hockey League matches which may result in several changes in the status of the teams concerned.

Montreal Canadiens, leaders of the senior section, invade Philadelphia where they tackle the lowly Quakers for the second time this season. The Habitants' intra-city rivals, the hard hitting Maroons entertain Detroit Falcons in the third encounter between the squads, while New York Americans clash with the Blackhawks at Chicago for the second time. In the other scheduled fixture New York Rangers and Boston Bruins tangle in an all-American tilt.

In the first game between the Flying Frenchmen and the Quakers Howie Morenz, dazzling centre and Canadian group scoring ace, unleashed a terrific spurt to notch the tally which clinched the game and gave the Habitants victory, 2 to 0. The lowly Quakers were pressing furiously for the equalising marker when Morenz sallied forth to save the game.

The Quakers have won only two games this season, but in view of their surprising but well earned triumph over Maroons last Saturday, it is a certainty the Canadian group leaders will not take them lightly and will be trying their hardest to increase their hold on first place.

Maroons and Falcons have shown they are fairly evenly matched if the scores of their previous encounters are any criterion. The Montrealers won at home, 3 to 2, and split the points in Detroit by holding the Motor Magnates to a 2-all tie.

Maroons in Good Form

Following their humiliating defeat at Pittsburgh the Maroons are bound to be on their mettle before their rabid supporters, and the Falcons seem destined to absorb their second straight defeat. In addition to seeking revenge Dunc Munro's hockeyists need victory to keep with their fellow townsmen. A win will place the Maroons in second place, one point ahead of Toronto and two points behind Canadiens, providing the latter triumph. Should the Quakers continue their one-game winning streak the Montreal teams will be tied for first place.

The Blackhawks have already beaten the Americans decisively. The score in their previous meeting being 4 to 2. They have been resting up since last Thursday, however, and as the Hawks have played four hard games in the last 10 days, winning two and losing two, the "A's" may surprise by downing the Chicagoans in their own terrain.

A win for the Amazing Amerks coupled with a defeat for the Maroons will enable the Gothamites to climb within a point of third place holders, while on the other hand, victory for the Hawks will enable them to retain their hold on second place.

Rangers will try mightily to shake the Bruin "jinx" at Boston. It is the fourth game between these old rivals during the current schedule, but all the New York Blue Coats have to show for their efforts is one point in the winning column, earned when they held the Bruins to a 2-all tie. In the other games Art Ross' great team scored 4 to 2 and 4 to 3 victories.

HARD FAST ICE IS ASSURED TO-NIGHT

Twin Bill is Scheduled in the East Peterborough Hockey League at Brock St.

Hard fast ice is assured for tonight's twin hockey bill at Brock Street rink when the East Peterborough League makes its bow to hockey fans with a pair of hockey battles that promises much. Lakefield and Cogs with a win apiece open the entertainment at 7:30 o'clock when Mr E. A. Peck, donor of the championship trophy will face the puck. Just to show the hockey fans that they are in there to stay, Cogs announced last night that "Sailor" Maudsley and Ted LeBarr would be amongst those present on the lineup in opposition to the Cement town squad who held C. G. E. Toolroom to a tie score and defeated Norwood by 4 to 2. The Northereners may also have a surprise for the Cogs along with their usual repertoire of tricks which create a certain liveliness when the northerners are in action.

Norwood had a good team on the ice when defeated by Lakefield and Manager Alex Kempt promises a much stronger team against the toolroom gang in the second contest. And the toolmakers having learned their lesson in Lakefield, have added strength on the front line and back division of their starting team. There is no doubt at all but that both games will be packed full of excitement and thrills and that a big crowd will be on hand.

ALL SAINTS' TAKE 6-3 COUNT FROM ST. ANDREW'S IN JUNIOR

Winners Score Goals, Two to a Period on Individual Rushes.

TRINITY TIES 1-1.

With ice that was only so-so, and snow falling intermittently, four Church Hockey League games were run off last night at All Saints' rink before a small crowd of spectators. Under the circumstances, the boys played good hockey, the first and last games going to a tie. The most remarkable thing, however, was the few penalties drawn, only the second game finding more than one player sent off for roughing it.

Trinity and All Saints started it off for the midgets. They iced two well-matched teams, and the play was fast and clean. Trinity counted the first one, but their opponents soon tied it up, and that ended the scoring for the game. Nice combination was shown in the final period, while Platt of All Saints looked good. The teams:

Referee—C. Sproat.

Trinity Beats George Street

The Juvenile fixture between George Street and Trinity saw a few spills as the boys checked hard and often, but the referee kept the play in hand throughout. Trinity had a big first period, when they ran in three goals. Marks, in the nets for the losers, had an off-night and missed some easy ones. Both teams scored one in the second, but in the third Trinity played a defensive game to such good effect as to keep the game George Street team from counting. The game ended with Trinity holding the big end of a 4—1 count.

Referee—C. Sproat.

ALL SAINTS WIN 6-3.

In the first junior game All Saints slapped a 6-3 defeat on St. Andrew's. This game witnessed some fine shooting, and even finer saving on the part of both goal-minders. The ice was getting real heavy and combination was difficult. All Saints' scored their goals two to a period on individual rushes, while St. Andrew's got one in the first and two in the second. The winners looked the better team, though both showed aggressiveness. Frost for All Saints' was in on every play of the game.

St. Andrew's—Goal, Barnes; right defence, Waddell; left defence, Armstrong; centre, Richardson; right wing, Weir; left wing, Cathcart; alternates, Dearborn, Waddell, and Gillespie.

Referee—C. Sproat.

BATTLE TO 2-ALL TIE.

The final battle of the evening saw the junior teams Mark Street and George Street end in a 2 all tie. Credit for the low score goes to Ferguson and Seabrooke, the opposing goalies. The teams played a good game for the condition of the ice, and there was little to choose between them. Puck-carrying was hard as the snow kept falling and teamwork was impossible. In the first period, Mark Street scored twice to George Street's one. The second one was slow with no countering, but in the final frame, George Street sent five men down the ice continuously, and finally knotted the count. Lipsett for Mark Street kept the other team worried all the time.

Referee—C. Sproat.

FOUR SOUTH-END BATTLES TO-NIGHT

Canucks and Ravens With Athletics and Fosters Meet in Bantam Section.

Bantam and juvenile teams hold the spotlight tonight at the Sacred Heart rink, when four South End City League games will be played. In the bantam section, Canucks and Ravens meet a six o'clock, and are followed by the Athletics and Fosters. The first juvenile game features Tigers and Raybestos at eight, and at nine St. Peter's and Canucks wind up the evening's hockey. Just a week ago tonight these same bantam and juvenile teams played four great games, three being shutouts, and if the hockey tonight is on a par with that, fans should be well satisfied.

STRIBLING ASKED TO SIGN PAPERS FOR 3 "HEAVY" BOUTS

Current Heavyweight Situation Becomes More Complicated as Sports Promoters Disagree.

WAIT CARNERA FIGHT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (C.P.)—The current heavyweight situation, as complex an affair as ever added silver threads to a boxing writer's head of hair, has reached the point where the fighters are being asked to sign not for one bout but for three.

The sad plight of "Young" Bill Stribling, Macon, Ga., contender, might be taken as an example. Young Bill's father-manager, "Pa" Stribling, was all set to sign Bill to a title match with Max Schmeling in June. Now they're asking him to agree to two more battles in the event that Stribling relieves Schmeling of the championship. They want Bill first to meet Primo Carnera in September. "They" being the Hearst Milk Fund officially and Bill Carey, President of Madison Square Garden, unofficially. Then they would have Stribling agree to fight again in 1932 against the best available opponent for the Milk Fund alone. Under the terms of this three-edged proposal, Stribling would post $25,000 of his 12½ per cent. cut in the Schmeling-Stribling "gate" as a forfeit for the match with Carnera.

"Pa" Stribling took this offering under advisement although it was plain he was not particularly pleased with it.

Yesterday's conferences were between Milk Fund promoters, representatives of Stribling and Schemling, and Bill Duffy, United States manager of Carnera. Bill Carey was not there for a New York Commission order forbids, under pain of suspension, any promoter to negotiate with a suspended fighter.

Carnera has been under suspension here since his unsatisfactory bout with Leon Chevalier in California last year, and Schmeling and his manager, Joe Jacobs, were placed under the ban.

Ken Doraty Overhauls Robinson For International Scoring Honors

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 13.—By the Canadian Press.)—Ken Doraty, speedy little wingman of the Cleveland Indians, has overhauled Earl Robinson, centre ice star of the Windsor Bulldogs, in the race for International Hockey League scoring honors.

Three weeks ago Robinson was well in front, but now that Doraty has struck his stride, indications point to a great battle for leadership. Each has garnered 24 points, Robinson by means of 17 goals and seven assists and Doraty through the medium of 14 goals and 10 assists.

Alex Grey, brainy centre of the Indians, is the leading goal scorer, having beaten opposing goal guardians on 18 occasions. His expert marksmanship coupled with three assists rank him third.

"Baldy" Northcott, Windsor forward, who has been recalled by Montreal Maroons, stood fourth at the time of his departure from the King loop. Another Windsorite, "Bat" Phillips, holds the distinction of being the greatest playmaker in the circuit, according to the records issued by President Charles S. King, which includes games of last Friday. Phillips has received credit for 12 assists and, having scored five goals himself, he stands fourth in the list since the departure of his team mate to the Major League.

Gamey Lederman, hard hitting Buffalo defence man, has spent more time with the penalty officials than any other player. His offences have earned him 54 minutes in the cooler.

TECUMSEHS COP BISON VICTORY

Leo Somerville Scores Two Counts For London, Beating Herd 2-0.

PLAYERS MIX IT.

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (C.P.) — A sparkling 2 to 0 victory over the league leading Buffalo Bisons at London last night indicates Coach Loughlin has at last found a winning combination amongst the 14 players wearing Tecumsehs' uniforms. It was the second straight victory for the Londoners since Loughlin took over the reins and as a result the Tecumsehs now find themselves tied for fourth place with Detroit Olympics, in the International Hockey League standing.

Leo Quennville, clever left winger, practically beat the Bisons single-handed. In the first frame he stick-handled from end to end to score on a lifting shot from close-in. Late in the final session he took Hal Hicks' pass to clinch the contest with a neat tally and assure the Tecumsehs of their first triumph over the Bisons this season.

London fans voted the game the best seen in the Forest City this season. After two periods of fast and clever hockey, they were treated to some diversified entertainment when ill-feeling crept into the match. Carl Voss, of the Bisons, and Reinikka, of the home club, drew major penalties at this stage for an exhibition of fisticuffs.

Canada's other entry, Windsor Bulldogs, entertain Detroit Olympics in one of to-night's scheduled games. The Bisons left London after last night's losing encounter and tackle the Indians in Cleveland.

The Bulldogs and Indians are fighting for second place honors. The teams are tied now with 25 points apiece, six behind the Buffalonians. After their disastrous week-end trip, during which they dropped points to Buffalo and Syracuse, the Olympics are not expected to be in any friendly frame of mind when they meet their "cross river" rivals. The Windsorites have had a good rest and are confident of turning back the Motor City team's threat.

Mickey Roach's "Thundering Herd" face a difficult task if they wish to increase their margin at the top of the parade. The Indians are seldom beaten at home and in addition have been climbing steadily in recent games, indicating they have returned to their splendid form of last season, when they won the championship.

MENIE IS BACK IN HOCKEY LOOP

Softball League Re-organizes Into Six Team Hockey Circuit.

PLAY AT STIRLING.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—Menie is back in organised hockey again due to the effort of the captain Jack Rennie who has entered a team in a loop of six teams operating under the management of the softball leaders.

The games are to be played in Stirling Arena, two games each evening.

Menie and Hoards, the two local entries meet in their first game at seven o'clock on Tuesday. The other teams are Glen Ross, River Valley, Bethel and Springbrook.

The Menie boys had a workout on Davidson's rink on Friday afternoon. Among the candidates for the team were E. Eagleson, goal; L. Shillinglaw, R. Hay, S. Little and F. Little, defence; J. Rennie, E. Whitton, W. Whitton, L. Little and D. Milne, forwards.

Hoard's team is not definitely lined up yet but some good material is available, particularly Oddie brothers goal and forward, A. Jones forward and Hewett, of Stirling and Marmora, a fast line player who has been loaned to the squad.

South-End League To Change Schedule

A few minor changes in the schedules and the question of finances was discussed at a meeting of the executive and the managers of the South End City League last night in the Raybestos. The responsibility of keeping the penalty box clear of everybody except the managers and the players of the teams on the ice, was given the managers. If sufficient money is raised before next Monday night, the schedules will be extended to provide the players with more hockey.

The president, Bill Kay, gave a short talk asking the managers to keep rowdyism out of games. Good sportsmanship, he told them, should be the motto of "one of the finest leagues in the city."

WALKER KNOCKS OUT ADGIE IN 1ST ROUND

Former Middleweight Boxing Champion Wins Easy Victory at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13. (CP)—Mickey Walker, former middleweight boxing champion, dethroned by accumulated weight, to-day stood victor in his last night's encounter with Matt Adgie, local light heavyweight, whom he knocked out in the first round.

Walker gave away ten pounds, scaling 163½ to Adgie's 173½. Adgie, unskilled as a boxer but tough in a rough and tumble fight, rushed in to mix it at the opening gong. He landed half a dozen wild blows and then took a wicked left on his jaw. His head went back and his knees started to buckle. A hook to the same spot made matters worse.

Adgie took another left and hit the floor with a thud. At the count of nine he grabbed the ropes and dragged himself feebly to his feet. He was woosy and as Walker stepped up to smack him again, the referee stopped the bout. It had only taken three blows.

Oshawa Juniors Victors Over Whitby Sextet 6-1

OSHAWA, Jan. 13. — Combining well and boring in hard after every shot, Oshawa juniors succeeded in giving Whitby a 6-1 drubbing in a hectic game played here last night.

Until the last period, the locals were leading by only two goals, but in the final fifteen minutes they scored a quartet of counters which left the visitors hopeless. Whitby fought back gamely and their only goal came in the dying minutes of play when Mayne secured a loose puck in a scramble and scooped it into the net.

Both teams were inclined to rough up matters slightly and Referee Ernie Parkes handed out eighteen penalties, evenly divided. Grabosk, subbing for the locals, turned in a fine game and counted the first two goals. Brinkle, Smith and Lortie also figured in the scoring, while Peterson at left wing worked hard and assisted with several nice passes.

Robinson May Contest In Federal By-election

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 13.—M. M. "Bobby" Robinson, manager of the last Canadian Olympic team and sponsor of the British Empire Games and a former old Peterborough boy, is a rumored aspirant to the Conservative nomination in the East Hamilton Federal by-election to fill the seat made vacant by the death of Col. G. S. Rennie.

Col. Harry Hatch, George Armstrong, school trustee, and Col. Harry Robinson are also reported willing to allow their names to go before a convention. West Hamilton Conservatives meet in convention Thursday night. Ald. Argue Martin, Controller Don. MacPariane and ex-Controller W. Tope, probably will be candidates for the nomination.

Softball Notes.

The schedule of the Garrison Softball League was drawn up by the executive at a meeting held in the Armouries. It was decided to hold two games a night, with the first starting at eight o'clock sharp. All units are requested to remember dates and opponents.

The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 13—"A" Company vs. Cavalry; "B" Company vs. M. G.'s.

Jan. 20—"C" Company vs. H. Q. W.; "D" Company vs. Artillery.

Jan. 27—M. G.'s vs. "C" Company; Cavalry vs. "D" Company.

Feb. 3—"B" Company vs. H. Q. W.; Artillery vs. "A" Company.

Feb. 10—"D" Company vs. "C" Company; H. Q. W. vs. M. G.'s.

Feb. 17.—Artillery vs. Cavalry; "A" Company vs. "B" Company.

Feb. 24.—H. Q. W. vs. "D" Company; "C" Company vs. Artillery.

March 3—Cavalry vs. "B" Company; M. G.'s vs. "A" Company.

March 10—"A" Company vs. "D" Company; "C" Company vs. "B" Company.

March 17.—H. Q. W. vs. Cavalry; M. G.'s vs. Artillery.

COGS WILL HAVE STRONG LINE-UP

Game at Brock Street Will be Three Periods of Twenty Minutes Each.

NO TIRESOME DELAYS

Cogs announce a strong team for their game with Lakefield tonight with the following players available: Payne, Lebarr, Calladine, Cripps, Maudsley, Wilson, Rooke, Jones, Williams, Dallin, Jarvis, White, Rothwell and Wesely.

The games will be three periods of twenty minutes each with no time taken out. This change is made with a view to speeding up the contests. Tiresome delays will be eliminated.

Abbie Rose will referee the Lakefield-Cogs battle and O. Kennaley will handle the Norwood-C.O.E. Toolroom clash.

Freddy Meagher who did some fine work for Hockey Club against St. Johns will be on the firing line for the Toolmakers.

Cogs will likely get a game in Lakefield next Friday night, and C.O.E. may go to Norwood.

TIGERS-RAYBESTOS TANGLE TO-NIGHT

Four South-end League Games Slated For Sacred Heart Rink.

The Sacred Heart Rink will be the scene of four South End City League games to-night, with the Tigers and Raybestos Juvenile starting at six o'clock. Fosters and Athletics of the Bantam section will come on at seven, followed at eight by Ravens and Canucks. The final Juvenile game begins at nine, when St. Peter's take the ice against Canucks.

These teams provided plenty of action last week, and if the ice stands up, fans are assured of some good hockey.

CAMBOURNE SQUAD BEATS BAILIEBORO

Hamilton Township Sextet Winners 1 to 0 in Exhibition Tilt.

BAILIEBORO, Jan. 13. (Examiner Correspondence).—The local hockey team played an exhibition game against the Cambourne hockey squad on the Cambourne rink on Friday evening.

At the end of the third period the score stood 1 to 0 in favour of the boys from Hamilton township.

The local lads put up a fast game and after the first few minutes of the first period held the play around the Cambourne nets. Dolly for Cambourne scored from the face-off directly after the game commenced.

Woods, who kept goal for the locals, kept the nets clear of the puck after that and Earnshaw tended goal for the last period.

K. Barnard, who acted as referee, was forced to hand out many penalties for tripping, slashing, etc.

The boys will motor to Cambourne on Friday evening next when they will again battle with the Hamilton township boys.

AT THE GRAND

"MARIGOLD TO VISIT PETERBOROUGH

Delightful Play, Which Has Drawn in Montreal and Toronto Here Tuesday, and Wednesday, January 20-21

Some shows that reach Peterborough with an all-star cast direct from London, England, may be stretching the point, but "Marigold", which will play at the Grand Opera House, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 20-21, can truthfully claim to be a London company.

"Marigold" is a delightful play by L. Allen Harker and F. R. Yrvas, of the Queen Victoria period. The queen's visit to the Scottish capital, Edinburgh, starts a romance that is the basis of the play. It will be a welcomed addition to the theatrical season of Peterborough, and should obtain excellent support because real live actors will tread the boards of the stage and give flesh and blood performances.

The splendid cast will include Sophie Stewart, Ellis Irving, Lionel Gadsden, Edmond Beresford, Royston Taylor, Marguerite Collier Winifred Ord, Yvette Pienne, Walter Roy Gordon Petrie, William C. Aldous, John Laurliston, Marie Shields and Jean Clyde, daughter of the famous Scottish star, John Clyde.

Yvette Pienne is the only member of the cast who was not in the London company when the play was produced there. She stepped into a French part when the original girl could not cross the Atlantic owing to illness.

"Marigold" which has had wonderful receptions in Montreal and Toronto, should delight local audiences when it opens on Tuesday, January 20, for a two days' run.

STEAMSHIP OWNERS ALLOWED APPEAL

LONDON, Jan. 13.—(C. P. Cable)—The judicial Committee of the Privy council today allowed the appeal of the owners of the steamship Eurana from a decision of the Exchequer court of Canada in favor of the Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company, Vancouver.

The steamship owners sought damages in connection with a collision between the Eurana and a bridge erected by the company at Burrard Inlet.

Bowling
Alley Gossip
By Pin Boy

Nip and tuck battles were the order of the program last week when the City League Trundlers crowded the alleys in their regular weekly roll, to calk up some of the closest decisions of the season. No shut-outs were registered even the weakest crews in the league being able to cop at least one game.

The Big Five maintained their grip on the top rung of the ladder when they took six out of the eight points from the lowly Cognawagas who, although they collected over 3,000 pins, were only able to take one game. Jack Naples, lead-off man for the winners, led his team with a triple of 713 while Art Thomas and Tom Curvin ran a close race for second place with 655 and 650 respectively. Cripps set a fast pace for the South-Enders with a classy display of heavy-hitting, knocking off a 328 single to start with and finished up with 754.

Canadians were given the stiffest opposition of the season when they met the Bowlrites who, although forced to score a dummy, collected 3291 pins to lose pinnage by 99 pins, the Canadians taking six points.

Bowlrites:
W. Sweetman	257	268	194	719
F. Wood	178	286	269	733
R. Galbraith	240	267	192	704
V. Anthony	235	245	205	685
Dummy	150	150	150	450
	1060	1216	1015	3291
Canadians:
N. Routley	217	265	249	731
H. Freeman	228	222	172	622
H. Delahaye	286	238	255	779
A. Delahaye	242	252	271	765
R. Lewis	...	189	188	377
S. Elliott	115	...	...	115

The heavy hitting of Fred Hickey carried the Lucky Strikes to a three-point win over the consistent Rangers, who bowled their usual steady game to spill 3030 pins to the winners 3283. Hickey smacked the pins for the highest triple of the night making 294-306-233 for 892, which is the league record to date. The standing of these two teams remained as they were except that the winners are three points ahead of the Rangers instead of one. Harry Ranger's total of 644 was the highest for the Rangers.

The Brintons pulled out of the cellar position when they took a three-one verdict from the Western Clock Co. This win puts the Carpet-Makers in a tie with The Examiner while the Clock Builders are only one point ahead of the Belmonts. Anderson, Farr and Curtis topped the 600 mark for the winners to give them the decision and Benny Moore was the best for the Westclox with 635.

Handicapped by a dummy score The Examiner dropped three points to the Belmont Club, who set a fast pace to take every game except the last one. Fred Scates hammered the pins with a vengeance to spill 784 pins for the Printers while Doc Green and Tommy Holyman ran a close race on the winning team securing 687 and 651 respectively. The Clubmen have added A. Almas to their roster and should be able to register some upsets in their remaining games.

Mercantile Bowling League

The Postal Clerks uncorked a sterling brand of pin toppling to blank the hard working Mail Carriers 3-0 last week in this league, which puts the winners in a tie with the Bachelors for third place. G. Moore and H. Ballard were the sharpshooters for the Clerks and by constant razzing kept the carriers below their usual form. Anderson and McMurray were the highest for the latter.

Johnsons league-leading crew had to step to draw away from the aggressive Legions who piled up a good margin in the first game to win it and only lost out on pinnage by 21 points, although the Johnson outfit collected six points. Vince Crowley, O. Johnson and Pallant swung the decision in favor of the league leaders while Blodgett and Roberts with totals of 647 and 577 were the outstanding hitters for the Legions.

Campbell Is Leaving Wednesday For Daytona

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. — Captain Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, apparently is fully convinced that the financial controversy between authorities of Daytona Beach and representatives of the American Automobile Association, will not prevent his proposed attempt to set a new world's automobile speed record on the Florida sands next months.

Campbel announced in London yesterday that he would sail for the United States on Wednesday. With him he will bring his new 1400 horsepower Bluebird racer with which he hopes to shatter the present record of 231 miles an hour set by the late Sir Henry Seagrave in 1929.

"The row has nothing to do with me," Campbell said. "I have had no word from the A.A.A. to stay away, which I should have had if the trials had been definitely abandoned."

The controversy revolved about the adequacy of the sum of $4,000 Daytona Beach has offered to cover the actual costs of staging the trials.

DR. LONGMORE REPORTS

CAMPBELLFORD, January 13 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—The weekly meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club was held at the St. Lawrence Hotel, when the luncheon speaker was the Rev. N. Clark Wallace. The president, H. N. Carr occupied the chair.

Mr. Wallace delivered a very interesting and illuminating address on the subject of "Enthusiasm." Approaching the subject from the present season of Epiphany, he spoke of the gifts of the three Wise Men to the Child in the crib at Bethlehem, and the significance of them. Gold for kingships, myrh for sorrow as foretelling Christ's death and frankincense as being the symbol of devotion, love and enthusiasm.

Enthusiasm, said Mr. Wallace is possessed by all men to some extent, and can be used rightly or wrongly.

The French and the Ruasian revolutions were the outcome of misdirected enthusiasm he pointed out. The reason for this disdirection is because it is not taken first to the crib at Bethlehem. "Consecrated enthusiasm is what the world is badly in need of to-day," the speaker declared, and went on to give examples of some of the most outstanding men of the times both in journalistic and political circles who are applying their enthusiasm to the right end, namely, in applying it to the service of God in furthering the work of the churches and especially the Sunday Schools.

Mr. Wallace also deplored the fact that so much enthusiasm was confined to narrow limits, and self centred. The greatest value of enthusiasm is not self centred he declared, but is gained in enlarging and speeding up human relationships.

The need of the day, the speaker concluded was the need for great enthusiasm properly directed and given to the right sources. We should all think in terms of consecrated enthusiasm for all things.

Following the address a vote of thanks was moved to the speaker by N. A. MacColl and seconded by A. D. Bennet.

Dr. H. B. Longmore gave a brief report of the work of the crippled children's committee, explaining the method used for the rectification of the physical defects of the children under the club's care.

Visitors for the luncheon included C. J. Windrim, J. F. McGregor and F. G. Noles.

BENSFORT CHURCH DEBT IS REDUCED

Annual Congregational Meeting Held Last Week is Outstanding Success.

Bensfort United Church annual congregational meeting was held on Wednesday evening in the basement of the church when supper was served in cafeteria style by the ladies and a social time enjoyed

Following a brief period of devotion, reports were received from the different organizations. The treasurer, John Emberson, reported a substantial balance in the treasury for this year. The church debt has been reduced by about four hundred dollars.

A good report was received from the Sunday School which was under the superintendence of Edmund Dawson, and this showed the Sunday School to be in a prosperous condition.

Representatives of the Ladies' Aid, Women's Missionary Society and Mission Band presented splendid reports of the year's work. There is a general feeling of satisfaction and thankfulness at the condition of the work and the pastor and people are looking forward hopefully to the work of this year.

"It Helped All My Troubles"

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had heard so much about it. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all and had to stop work and rest every once in a while. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help before. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letters and I will tell every one how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is."—Mrs. Ina Arnold, Box 93, Rocklake, North Dakota.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY MAILS A LETTER.

"Wiggy, my dear, will you please mail this letter for me when you go out adventuring to-day?" asked the rabbit gentleman's wife one morning. He was sitting in his hollow stump, bungalow reading the paper and waiting until Nurse Jane had given all the little bunny girls and boys their breakfast.

"What's that?" asked Mr. Longears, hardly taking his eyes from the paper he was reading. "Did you ask me to bring in a load of hay?"

"Hay! My goodness! You are getting so absent-minded and forgetful!" sighed the rabbit lady. "I didn't say anything about hay. I asked you, when you went out to-day, to mail this letter."

"Oh, yes, I'm feeling better," Uncle Wiggily answered, still reading the paper.

"Oh, dear me! I didn't say anything about better. I said will you mail this letter?" and Mrs. Longears held it under her husband's pink nose so he could not help seeing it. But instead of taking the letter, Mr. Longears began to sniff and smell, saying:

"Very sweet perfume, indeed! What do you call it?"

"I don't call it anything!" exclaimed the rabbit lady, quite excited by this time. "It isn't perfume at all. I don't want you to smell it. This is a letter for you to mail!"

"Oh, you want me to drop that letter in a box so the postman will take it up; is that it?" asked Uncle Wiggily, finally, laying aside the paper.

"Yes, that's it, if you please," his wife said. "Oh, but you are so forgetful!

Uncle Wiggily mailed the envelope.

I hope you don't forget to mail my letter.

"No, I won't!" promised Mr. Longears as he put it in his pocket. Then he twinkled his pink nose before getting ready to go adventuring.

Now while Uncle Wiggily was twinkling his nose and wondering where he might go to have an adventure Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit child, was thinking to herself:

"I'm sure Uncle Wig will forget to mail that letter. He put it in his pocket and to-night, when his wife asks him if he mailed it, he'll remember and put his paw in his pocket and there will be the letter and Mrs. Longears will feel terrible. So will Unkie Wig.

"I know what I'll do so Unkie Wig won't forget to mail the letter," went on Baby Bunty. "I'll take it out of his pocket and put it in his hat. Then, when he meets Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady, or any other ladies, and takes off his hat to bow, the letter will fall out and he will remember to mail it. That will be a good trick."

So, while Uncle Wiggily was getting ready to go out, Bunty tiptoed up back of him, took the better from his side coat pocket and slipped the envelop, all stamped, in the bunny gentleman's tall, silk hat in the front hall. Bunty pushed the letter in corner ways so it stuck.

But then, as she looked at it she happened to think that if the letter stuck in his hat, when he took it off to bow, Mr. Longears would not see it drop and so remember to mail it.

"I know what I'll do," said Bunty. "I'll tie a string to the letter and on the end of the string I'll tie a bottle. And when Unkie Wig takes off his hat to bow, the bottle will drop out and pull the letter after it nad then he won't forget to mail it."

So this was done, and, being forgetful and absent-minded Uncle Wiggily, put on his hat without ever noticing that it held a letter tied by a string to an empty, glass bottle. Then the rabbit uncle started to look for an adventure.

Over the fields and through the woods he hopped until, all of a sudden, out from behind a big stone popped the bad Fox and with him was Mrs. Fox. For Mrs. Fox had become weary of Mr. Fox always coming home and saying he couldn't catch a rabbit.

"Take me with you and I'll catch Uncle Wiggily!" snapped Mrs. Fox. And now, when Uncle Wiggily suddenly saw in front of him Mr. Fox and also Mrs. Fox, the first thing the rabbit gentleman thought of was being polite. For Mrs. Fox, though a Bad Chap, was a lady.

No sooner, however, did Uncle Wiggily take off his hat than out fell the bottle, pulling with it the letter. The bottle fell against the stone and broke with a pop, a clatter and crash.

"Oh, my goodness! Come on! Run! Uncle Wiggily fired a torpedo at us!" cried Mr. Fox and away he ran dragging his wife after him. "That rabbit certainly is clever!" thought Mrs. Fox. Then Uncle Wiggily picked up the letter, took off the string, brushed aside the broken glass bottle and mailed the envelop.

"That was a clever way my wife had of making me remember to mail her note!" chuckled Mr. Longears as he hopped home And then Baby Bunty told him all about it and the bunny laughed harder than before.

Mount Pleasant Society To Send Relief Bale

MOUNT PLEASANT, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence)—The January meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Hannah Rutherford on Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Garnet Shield in the chair.

Mrs. Rutherford called the roll of members, who responded with a "humorous story." A bale of clothing and a quilt which had been previously packed to send to the destitute in the North country, since which time it had been learned from the Department that the supply of this material has been so great that the demand has been met with and it was decided to use the bale for relief locally.

The 1931 programs were given to the members, these constituting the subjects to be dealt with at the twelve meetings and also the home where the members will be entertained, the committee responsible for the program and also the committee in charge of refreshments.

Mrs. A. Tully, the secretary, read the correspondence and among this was a letter from the Department regarding the summer series meetings to be held during May, JJune an July. It was decided to have an afternoon meeting.

A letter was received from the Department, asking for the co-operation of the Women's Institute with the local School Board in the selection of a library for schools. A list of suitable book titles, with authors was enclosed.

A letter was received from the Department announcing the short courses being held in Omemee during the month of January and the Women's Institute was asked to cooperate in getting the young people to attend these courses.

A discussion was held regarding the renting of the Women's Institute Hall to the Independent Order of Good Templars and this matter was left in the hands of the Hall Committee.

Mrs. Rutherford reported that enough blocks had been cut for a quilt and there was plenty of material for several quilts. A special meeting will be called at which the rest of the material will be cut and the blocks sewn, ready for quilting.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. A. Tully, Mrs. M. Jones and Mrs. G. Shield assisted the hostess in the service of refreshments.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HELPING THE HEART

When you read from time to time how adrenalin has been injected through a needle directly into the heart muscle thus stimulating a heart into action, that has stopped beating, you may wonder why the heart is not damaged by being punctured by the needle.

And now we are learning that some Spanish physicians have been able to insert a fine tube--a catheter—from a vein in the arm right into the upper chamber of the right side of the heart itself.

Pictures are taken which show the little tube right in the article or upper chamber of the heart into which is received the impure blood of the body.

The little tube does not bother the patient or interfere with the heart action, as the pulse rate does not change in the least.

The physicians believe that putting the tube directly into the heart is an easy, harmless, and useless method of making injections into the heart in cases of shock or collapse, and also for removing blood directly from the heart.

Where there is delay in heart action, where too much impure blood is in the heart, and where the heart is having difficulty in pushing blood forward, the use of this little tube should be of great help to patient and physician.

Sometimes the actual condition of the blood in the heart itself should be known by the physician and he is able to draw this blood directly from the heart and then examine it.

Sometimes also it is necessary to learn just the power and length of the closing or contraction of the auricles or receiving chamber of the heart, and by means of a measuring machine attached to the tube this also can be learned.

My thought of course in talking about the above experiments is to show how this wonderful organ the heart, can carry on its work in spite of the insertion of this tube; how help can be given it when it is in difficulty; and how so much can be learned about its walls and the blood within it.

Thus although we must always respect the heart for the work it does for us—keeping us alive—nevertheless it is reassuring to know that helpful material may be injected directly into its chamber, and harmful material removed.

BELMONT RECOUNT STARTS ON FRIDAY

W. E. Griffiths is Asking For Recount Before Judge Huycke.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13 (Special to The Examiner).—The recount of the ballot taken in the recent close election in the Townships of Belmont and Methuen and for which ex-Reeve Griffith has made formal application, will take place in the Chambers at Peterborough of County Judge E. C. S. Huycke, K.C., at ten o'clock in the forenoon of Friday, January 16.

It will be recalled that Frank Breckenbridge, ex-Warden of the County of Peterborough, was elected as Reeve of Belmont and Methuen, with a majority of but one vote over Reeve W. E. Griffiths.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 44 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Jane knew that even if she were compelled to kill Rokoff, she would be no better off. The shot would bring his men and her fate would be even worse. The memory of the two brutes who stood and laughed as Rokoff struck her was still vivid. Suddenly the Russian lunged toward her, but she was quicker. Swinging the heavy revolver high above his evil face, she dealt him a terrific blow between the eyes.

Without a sound he sank, limp and unconscious to the floor. A moment later the girl stood beside him—for that moment at least—free from the menace of his attack. She extinguished the smudgy lamp, and in the darkness paused to collect her wits and plan the next step in her venture for freedom. Outside she heard again the noise that had distracted Rokoff's attention.

With stealthy step and every sense alert Jane groped her way to the back of the tent, determined upon the first stage of her adventure. Bending over the form of the unconscious Russian, her fingers came upon the hilt of his long hunting knife. With this she cut an opening in the tent wall. Silently she stepped without, straining her ears to listen. The camp was apparently asleep.

The midnight jungle was alive with countless, nameless noises. She hesitated, trembling. The jungle terrors appalled her. But behind her lay a fate worse than death, at the hands of human beings. Before her lay an almost certain fate—but it was only death—sudden, merciful, and honorable death. Without a tremor and without regret she darted from the camp, and the mysterious jungle closed about her.

AN EXPLANATION

William Driver, Manager of the Regent Taxi, regrets the fact that one of his drivers was responsible for driving the young men guilty of robbery on the Chemong Road last week to Port Hope. He was unaware that one of his cars was used on this occasion until he read the news item in The Examiner, and desires to assure his customers of careful and reliable drivers at all times, under his direct supervision.

Government of the India of the future.

Mr. Jinnah expressed doubts whether an All-India Federation was materializing. He did not agree with the financial safeguards contained in the Sankey report, and the special powers proposed for the Viceroy.

From the Hindu side, the Rt. Hon. Srinavasa Sastri, whose word carries great weight in all sections, received the Moslem declaration "with grief and pain." He regretted that the Moslems should out a block in the way of further stages of the conference's work. But while expressing deep regret at the Moslem objections, Mr. Sastri himself expressed objections to the reservations and safeguards in the Sankey report.

Liberals Heard From

From the British Liberals came insistence on the provisional nature of their agreement to the Sankey report. Lord Reading said it must be open to the delegates to modify or change any provisional assent they may have given.

"We of the Liberal parliamentary delegation," said Lord Reading, a former Viceroy of India, "see no reason to depart from any of the views or conditions I expressed in my first speech (when he approved the essentials of the Sapru scheme of responsible Government).

"Our assent was based on two assumptions:

"(1) That the Hindu-Moslem question should be settled.

"(2) That the Federal constitution should be established and brought into effective operation."

Lord Peel, the Conservative spokesman, former Secretary of State for India, observed that during the discussions. The divergence of opinion was greater than he thought. It seemed to be less of an agreement than he had hoped for.

Tories Not Satisfied

The Conservatives themselves were not satisfied with the safeguards proposed in the Sankey report for securing imperial obligation, Lord Peel added. While he approved the principle of federation, he questioned the value of the proposed financial reservations. He feared they were not adequate to maintain the stability of Indian credit. The Conservatives however were still ready to co-operate, with sympathetic and unprejudiced minds, in further study of the problem and they noted with pleasure the progress that had been made.

After a morning of tense debate the committee adjourned until the afternoon and the discussion will also continue tomorrow.

WINDOVER GUILTY

in court by Excise Officer W. Buller, and was identified by witness. He had brought the bottle and its contents into this city, and had handed it over to Mr. Buller the following day. Witness stated, "Windover said he had not made the liquor, but would take the fault for it."

Constable Taylor of the Curve Lake Reserve, gave corroborative evidence, and vividly described the incidents leading up to Windover's arrest. Windover gave his name as McIlmoyle, said Constable Taylor, and when I caught him he showed fight. He told of how the accused man, had made a bold bid for liberty, and the struggle which ensued in which witness despite a somewhat severe facial injury held on to his prisoner, and turned a deaf ear on his pleas for leniency. Evidence was also given by Prov. Const. David Sylvester and by Excise Officer Buller.

Started Last July

The decision of His Honor Judge Huycke, adds the closing chapter to an unusual sequence of events. On July 25, 1930, Windover was convicted by Magistrate Langley of an offence of the L. C. A. of Ontario, charging posession of liquor not purchased from a Government vendor or a physician, and it being a second offence, he was sentenced to a term of three months imprisonment. Following his period of incarceration, he was called upon to answer a similar charge, relating to the same liquor, under the Inland Revenue Act. This charge was dismissed by the Magistrate on the grounds that, "It was shown before me that the prosecution in both cases is for unlawful possession of the same liquor at the same time. I have come to the conclusion", said the Magistrate in making his decision, "that the prosecution in both cases being with respect to the same act or omission, made an offence under two different statutes, and the accused having been prosecuted and punished once he is not liable to be punished a second time, and the case is dismissed, without costs"

Then followed another thunderbolt for Windover—the Department of Inland Revenue appealed against the Magistrate's decision with the result as already stated.

SOCIETY HONORS RETIRING HEAD

Presentation of Colored Picture is Made Mrs. G. W. Wesley By St. John's W. A.

AT ANNUAL MEETING.

Mrs. G. W. Wesley retiring president was honored at a largely attended annual meeting at the Evening Branch, of St. John's W. A., held at the home of Mrs. J. Patte, Water street last night when she was presented with a finely colored photograph of St. John's church.

The presentation was made by Mrs. W. E. Conway while the following address was read by Mrs. Fred D. Craig:

Dear Mr Wesley:

The members of the Evening branch of St. John's W. A. feel that we cannot allow the occasion of your retirement from the office of president to pass without expressing in a tangible way our deep appreciation of your services during the years you have been the executive head of our organization and our esteem and regard for you personally. As a slight token of these feelings we ask you to accept this picture, trusting that when you look upon it from time to time your thoughts will go back to the days when you were president of St. John's Evening Branch and that your remembrance of those with whom you were associated in that work will be as pleasant as ours will always be of you. It is a pleasure to us all to know that although you are leaving the president's chair, your actual participation in our activities will continue.

The following officers were installed:

Hon. President, Mrs. W. E. Conway, Mrs. G. A. Wesley, Miss F. Corcoran; President, Mrs. F. D. Craig; Vice Pres., Mrs. W. E. Franks; Secy., Mrs. J. Collis; Treas., Mrs. W. H. Freel; Dorcas, Miss E. McKee; Asst. Dorcas, Mrs. W. Wheeler; In charge of Quilts, Mrs. W. E. Conway; Extra Cent a Day Secy., Mrs. W. M. Lang; United Thankoffering Secy., Miss E. Clementi; Literature Secy., Miss A. Stout; Living Message Secy.; Miss F. Corcoran; Telephone Comm., Mrs. W. E. Franks, Mrs. W. E. Conway, Mrs. H. Sparg; Refreshment Convenor, Mrs. Wheeler.

Favourable reports from the various officers were read and adopted and after the business of the meeting was finished refreshments were served and a social hour spent. Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave and Rev. Mr. James were in attendance at the meeting.

OBITUARY

MRS. BENJAMIN BROOKS

IN MEMORIAM

HAWTHORNE.—In affectionate remembrance of our son and brother, Jimmie, who passed away January 13, 1922.

There, in earth's arms, they laid him to sleep
Amid the Winter's snow.
But soon again the flowers will spread
A pall of petals o'er his head.
—Sadly missed by Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hawthorne; brother Harry, and Sister Lucy.

IN MEMORIAM

WESTLAKE.—In memory of my dear Father, Mr. John Westlake, who departed this life, Jan. 13, 1930.

When the morn of glory breaking
Shall light the tomb,
Beautiful will be thy waking
In fadeless bloom.
Where no wintry winds are blowing,
No burial train,
Crowned with gems celestrial, glowing,
We'll meet again!

IN MEMORIAM

ALLEN.—In loving memory of George W. Allen, who died suddenly Jan. 13, 1930.

Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain;
There are two links death cannot sever—
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Wife and family.

In Police Court

Don't allow boarders about the house of you want to continue in wedded bliss. That constitutes the advice one local Italian husband might give out.

For an hour the sad-faced Latin waited this morning to pour into the ear of Chief Newhall his experience with a boarder. It was a tale of marital woe, punctuated with many sighs and throttled curses. The boarder had scuttled away in the night, taking with him his host's wife. Worse blow of all, the pair had stolen fifty dollars from the husband to speed their flight.

He had word that they had taken shelter from his wrath in distant Montreal. He swore out an information before Magistrate Langley charging the wife with the theft of the fifty dollars. Police will try to bring the pair to justice and thus some of the grief may be wiped from the husband's face.

G. A. Stimson Company Makes Assignment

BROKERAGE COMPANY WITH BRANCH IN PETERBORO CLOSES ITS DOORS, CLARKSON APPOINTED LIQUIDATOR

Liabilities of the Four Firms Stated to Be $1,500,000.

HANDLED REAL ESTATE.

Bond Market Has Entirely Dried Up in Past Two Years Official Says.

TORONTO, Ont., January 14 (C.P.). — Four constituent companies of the G. A. Stimson & Company, Limited, bond brokerage firm, entered voluntary assignments at Osgoode Hall to-day. The companies were the National Debenture Corporation, Limited, the Toronto Bond Exchange, the Stimson Building and Investment Corporation, Limited, and the Stimson Canadian Development Company, Limited.

G. T. Clarkson was appointed liquidator.

Liabilities $1,463,153

A statement filed at Osgoode Hall the Stimson Canadian Development Company shows liabilities amounting to $1,463,153 and assets of less than $700. The principal unsecured creditor is G. A. Stimson and Company, Limited, whose claim is $81,453. Liabilities on debentures is $1,394,700 and unpaid interest is $87,500.

Liabilities of the National Debenture Corporation Limited total about $976,000 of which $600,000 is represented by 6 per cent debentures. Assets total $836,239 which include book debts of $200,000, said to be collectable; cash, $6,000; notes, $320,585; stocks and bonds, $3,676,171; insurance with a cash surrender value of $3,136 and mortgages $17,565.

The statement of the Toronto Bond Exchange Company, Limited, shows liabilities of about $200,000 with assets of around $166,000. G. A. Stimson and Company Limited list a claim against the Bond Company for $85,088, and other claims are: Stock and Bond Traders, Limited, $22,545; Fred Graham, Limited, $12,868. The liability to debenture holders is $347,876.

The above companies are subsidiaries of G. A. Stimson and Company, Limited, which was established in 1883.

Branch in Peterborough

The company handled chiefly their own real estate development bonds which were marketed through their own offices distributed throughout Canada. Until quite recently the concern had fourteen branches, but several were closed in recent weeks, leaving offices at present in the following cities: Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, Moncton, N.B., Ottawa, Kingston, Peterborough and Strathroy.

Two of the most important developments carried out by the Stimson companies were the erection of the Commerce and Transportion Building in Toronto and the Marine Building in Vancouver, the latter structure being worth $3,000,000.

Speaking to the Canadian Press today, a member of the firm said the concern's difficulties were due to the poor market for securities. Two years ago they had hundreds of bond salesmen employed in selling to the public, securities the proceeds from which financed the real estate developments but this market had almost entirely dried up. He said the company had ABERDEEN, S.D., Jan. 14.—Quadruplets were born to Mrs. F. A. Scheuse, farmers' wife of Aberdeen, in a hospital last night. There were two boys and two girls.

BRIDE-ELECT IS GIVEN 3 MONTHS

Wedding Bells Were Postponed in Police Court This Morning By Magistrate.

GUILTY OF THEFT.

Wedding bells will be postponed for one local bride-elect for at least three months. During the past several weeks she has been favored with showers and other happy preparations for marriage, but this morning in Police Court, Magistrate Langley sentenced her to three months in Mercer Reformatory and an indefinite sentence thereafter not to exceed one year. She pleaded guilty to theft. Police say that she stole many articles and money from the ladies' rest room of a local bowling alley.

Edward Des Autel, 30, gave a local taxi driver a cheque for $3.50 on a bank in Warsaw, and before the Magistrate pleaded guilty to false pretences. There was no balance to Des Autel's credit in the bank. He was given suspended sentence and a warning.

COCHRANE MAYOR SCORES CORONER OVER HOTEL FIRE

Says Authority Overstepped—Had No Right to Stop Burning of Rubbish on Site.

PROBE CRITICIZED.

Chief Magistrate Claims Council Will Hold Investigation if They Desire.

COCHRANE, Ont., Jan. 14. —(CP) —An investigation by municipal authorities into the fire that destroyed the Queen's Hotel here with the loss of ten lives is advocated by Mayor R. R. Mitchell.

Speaking to the Council last night the Mayor expressed dissatisfaction with the findings of the coroner's jury, which criticized the municipal authorities for lax enforcement of the building by-laws. "I don't believe the jury knows what municipal authorities mean", the Mayor declared. The entire procedure of the coroner's investigations came in for criticism.

Authority Over-Stepped

The Mayor also criticized the Coroner for "over-stepping his authority". The mayor said he believed the Coroner had no right to prevent the burning of rubbish on the site.

"There is no reason to believe that all the bodies were not recovered, Mayor Mitchell said. "If any person has any reason for relieving there are still bodies in the ruins he should come forward and say so.

NORTH MONAGHAN'S REEVE WILL BE SENIOR MEMBER OF COUNTY COUNCIL

Few Changes Will Be Noted in 1931 Council Members.

ONLY ONE NEW MEMBER.

With the passing of John Clark from the county council its patriarchal period has evidently come to an end. For there are no Bob Shaws or John Clarks left in years of service. The retiring member for Galway moves off the municipal stage with fourteen years to his credit in the county records, but the late Mr. Shaw is said to have been a member for thirty years.

In that generation of the former reeve of Harvey township they took their municipal politics seriously. Perhaps many of them are just as serious about it today, but it seems otherwise.

Too many distractions have cropped up in the common interests of the farmers. They are traveling farther and faster than did their fathers, and as a result of the new diversions they do not concentrate so much on the municipal ins-and-outs as did the men of Bob Shaw's day

The county civics were to Mr. Shaw not merely a continuous game, but almost an art, heightened by the variable personal factor of the public's will and favor. And any man who holds that confidence for thirty years, or for fourteen years as in Mr. Clarks record, must have been capable and clever and shrewd, but, more than that, they must have been manifestly honest and "four square."

Honesty and ability are recurrent attributes. They are continuous qualities in the council, but in our day are there any potential Bob Shaws in point of service? Possibly there are, but on the other hand the modern pace is more strenuous and consuming, and perhaps also the modern ratepayers are not so disposed to leave one man at the local helm for anything like thirty years. It is difficult to guage the temper of our own time because we are living in the midst of it and our view lacks the longer perspective with which we can scan the preceding period in our own country when Bob Shaw was an outstanding personality.

Only One Neophyte.

The new county council meets this month with only one stranger entering the field, Austin Jackson, the incoming reeve of Galway, Mr. Clark's township. This fact suggests that Peterborough farmers are comparatively satisfied with the recent direction and management of their affairs.

Those who might be listed as old timers are John McIntosh, Harry Parker of Harvey, Frank Breckenridge of Belmont, William Montgomery of Norwood, and Warden Hawthorne of Dummer.

Mr. McIntosh was reeve of Monaghar back in 1897 and 1898 when the county council was composed of elected commissioners. He entered the county's service in 1915, returned in 1916, but was defeated by Harold Rye in 1917. Mr. McIntosh then followed with four unbroken years from 1918 until 1921 inclusive, retired for eight years and came back again last year. His present tenure is of recent occurrence and chronicle.

Warden Hawthorne of Dummer township succeeded John Darling as reeve in 1924 and is now entering upon his eighth successive year in that position.

Mr. Darling was another of the old guard of the Robert Shaw years and like the retiring Warden is typical of the solid citizenship of his township.

Harry Parker, Harvey township's candidate for the wardenship, was first elected reeve in 1923 and again in 1925 and continuously since then. He has had seven years' experience in the county council.

Bushel of Wheat Good for One Show

LETHBRIDGE, Jan. 14. (CP) Charles Hanson, manager of a theatre here, will do his bit to alleviate the wheat surplus problem to the farmers overburdened with cereal. Hanson has promised admission to his theatre if they leave one bushel of wheat per person at the box office. Properly sacked, one bushel of wheat is worth 55 cents, and so is a ticket for admission to Hanson's show.

CANADIAN CLUB HEARS DR. LOCKE IN FINE ADDRESS

Women's Canadian Club Hold Monthly Luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

ONCE TAUGHT IN CITY.

The New Triumvirate is the Subject of Most Interesting Address.

"It is the question of beliefs that we have to face; not the question of exports. The world is always looking for someone to lead it somewhere."

So Dr. George W. Locke closed his sparkling address today, when he spoke to the members of the Women's Canadian Club and their friends at a noonday luncheon at the Empress Hotel. It was a jolly and offhand manner that marked the speaker's utterances. He is a man of evident carefree and blithe disposition, who is able to extract fun from any situation and at the same time to preserve the dignity of his calling. Although it was in the manner of the "Innocents Abroad" that he spoke of the tiresome trip up a simmering hot Roman hill with his Scotch companion, who likened the group to the famous geese whose cackling saved the Eternal City, many centuries ago, still it was with the mind of the literateur and the savant that he grasped that "Robert Louis Stevenson" touch, as he called it, when the Pope closed his three and one-half hour conference with the visiting delegates, by invoking the memory of that spiritual company that lives in every one's mentality. The Supreme Pontiff wished for his guests the blessing of God and of the Holy Church and not only upon them, but upon anyone who might be in their thoughts at that time.

It was a recountal of his experiences when he went with eleven others to a World Conference in Rome, designed for the development of research libraries, so that the countries of the world might not go on duplicating such work in the scientific field, that Dr Locke gave his one hundred and five hearers at the luncheon today. The invitation to men to attend, offered by the Women's Canadian Club, brought a fair sprinkling of the stronger sex, and luncheon, served in the usual efficient and satisfying style of the Empress, with narcissus and marigolds on the tables, was followed by his very entertaining and humorous talk.

The subject discussed was "The New Triumvirate which governs Rome; His Majesty the King, His

C.N.R. EMPLOYEE STRUCK BY TRAIN

Campbellford Man Sustains Severe Head Injuries and Shock.

TRUCK DEMOLISHED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Hit by the west-bound freight at Centre street crossing here this afternoon, George Ousterhout driver of the C.N.R. Express delivery truck, received serious head inquiries when the 'manifest' struck the truck which he was driving. The force of the impact threw the injured man a distance of about 100 feet, from the cab onto a lawn.

The accident occurred at about 2.30 when Mr. Ousterhout was delivering freight from the noon express. Backing out of the driveway near the crossing, where he had been delivering freight he attempted to cross the tracks, failing to observe the approach of the train.

The latest reports from the medical men in attendance state that Mr. Ousterhout is suffering from severe shock and head injuries, and not as was at first thought from a fractured skull. The front part of the truck was completely demolished. It is stated the train pulled up in a very short distance.

LAD OF TWO DIES FROM POISON

WELLAND, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.) — The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Smith living east of Sherkston died on Monday afternoon as the result of poisoning after climbing the stairs and drinking the contents of a bottle containing creolin. Dr. W. R. Stackhouse was called, but could not save the child's life. Death occurred about two hours after the poison had been taken.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN APPEAL OF CITY IN ACKERMAN LAWSUIT

D. L. McCarthy Claims Railroad Bridge is Also to Blame For Flooding.

NEVER TROUBLE IN PAST.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14 (Special to The Examiner).—First Divisional Court reserved judgment in the case of B. F. Ackerman, Son and Co., Limited, leather goods manufacturers of Peterborough, against the City of Peterborough, when argument was concluded at Osgoode Hall to-day.

Through D. L. McCarthy, K.C., Peterborough appealed a judgment of Mr. Justice McEvoy on July 30, 1930, giving the company damages to be fixed by a referee, as a result of floods, allegedly caused by the erection of a bridge across a stream adjacent to the company's buildings.

For two days the argument has continued before the Court of Appeal. R. S. Robertson, K.C., senior counsel for the company, concluded his case to-day.

Mr. McCarthy pressed in reply that a second bridge, 250 yards below the city's structure, and belonging to a railroad company, was just as much responsible for flooding as was any other impediment in the stream.

"On the night in question, the water was flowing over both bridges," Mr. McCarthy said. "Therefore, there was just as much reason to blame the railway bridge for damage as to blame the city's for obstructing the flow of the stream."

Before the new Peterborough bridge was built, Mr. Robertson argued, there had never been trouble from flooding. It was only after the old bridge was torn out early in this century and the new one erected that any trouble had occurred.

"But this flood occurred under exceptional circumstances, Mr. McCarthy said. It had followed a severe storm on March 26, 1928, when the rainfall had been the heaviest in over thirty years.

WINE BY GLASS IS BEING URGED

Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Outlines Legislative Program.

SEEK 8-HOUR DAY.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—Sale of wine and beer by the glass in licensed places in all districts which are in favor of it, is again asked of the Ontario Government by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada in its Legislative program made public today.

Other requests included: the eight-hour day; further protection for women and children in industry and agriculture, and the bringing of all persons, irrespective of age and sex within the Minimum Wage Act.

Unemployment is largely dealt with in this year's report and unemployment insurance is sought.

Red Headquarters' Meat Bill Unpaid; Butcher Gets Lien

NEW YORK, January 14 (C.P.). — Communist headquarters at Union Square is under lien because it didn't pay a $25,000 butcher bill.

Joseph Katz, the butcher, alleges in his suit that the Communist leaders have secretly sold the building to themselves by transferring ownership from the Union Square Corporation to the Sentinel Press. They were attempting to evade the indebtedness, he claims.

Katz obtained a mortgage on the building to secure his bill, and then loaned money to re-establish it on a capitalist basis, but the new system ran afoul of Communist theories.

ECONOMIST DIES IN OTTAWA HOME

Dr. Adam Shortt, Former Chairman of Civil Service Commission.

ILL FOR SIX MONTHS.

OTTAWA, Ont., January 14 (C.P.). — Dr. Adam Shortt, well-known economist and former chairman of the Civil Service Commission, died at his home here to-day, aged 71 years.

The death of Prof. Shortt came as a great surprise to his friends here. He had been in ill-health for some six months, but his condition was not considered serious.

At the time of his death, Prof. Shortt was chairman of the Dominion Board of Historical Publications, and was engaged by the Dominion Government in the important task of co-ordinating the historical facts of the Dominion of Canada. An author of several works one of the latest honors conferred upon Prof. Shortt by the Royal Society of Canada was the J. B. Tyrell gold medal for meritorious work in Canadian history in 1930.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by one son, Dr George Shortt, of Montreal, and two daughters, Mrs. Roger Clarke of Vineland, Ont., and Miss Lorraine Shortt, of Ottawa. Rev. James Shortt, of Barrie, Ont., is a brother.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (C.P.)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, is suffering from a heavy cold and probably will not be able to go through with his bout with Johnny Farr of Cleveland, set for Friday at New Orleans. Tony has applied for a postponement of the match.

Immense Throng Lines Platform As Train Leaves

"Goodbye and God Bless You" Are Farewell Words of His Excellency as He and Viscountess Willingdon Wave to Their Friends For the Last Time.

ADMIRERS DRAPE RAILING OF TRAIN PLATFORM WITH HUGE WREATH OF BEAUTIFUL PINK ROSES

Scene on Bright Canadian Winter Day Made Gay With Brilliant Uniforms as Military and Naval Men Mingle With Notables From All Walks of Official and Social Life.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 14.—(CP)—From the rear platform of their special train, while the notes of the National Anthem, played by the band of the Governor General's Foot Guards, crashed out in the frosty air, their Excellencies Viscount and Viscountess Willingdon waved farewell to the people of the Dominion Capital at noon today.

His Excellency stood with his hat off, an erect, whitehaired figure with a kindly smile on his face. By his side Viscountess Willingdon, her hands full of violets, smiled and waved to those people who had succeeded in making their way through the crowd to the side of the train. To the railing which surrounded the train platform hung a huge wreath of beautiful pink roses, with a streamer bearing the words, "Good Luck" attached to it.

The train as if reluctant to depart, pulled away very slowly from the red-carpeted flight of steps up which their Excellencies had walked a few minutes before to take their stand on the platform.

Brilliant Scene

Blue skies, brilliant sunshine, the snap of a sharp Canadian winter day, bright uniforms both military and naval, a gathering which included the Prime Minister, members of the Government, members of diplomatic corps, prominent members of the clergy and those high in the social and official life of Canada, combined to add color to the leave taking. Through it all walked the friendly, genial Governor General and his wife, who are leaving Canada after four years here, to take up new and very important duties on the other side of the world.

"Good-bye and God bless you" His Excellency said as he shook hands just before the train pulled out. He spoke for a few minutes with Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister, before mounting to the platform. There he stood with his hat off.

There was a note of comedy at the end. A slight delay took place in pulling away, and Lady Willingdon looked with some concern at her bare-headed husband who was, ap-

TIMMINS BLOCK OF SEVEN SHOPS IS RAZED BY FIRE

Firemen Face Many Difficulties Fighting the Blaze in Sub-Zero Weather.

$150,000 DAMAGE.

One Family Forced to Flee in Night Attire—None Injured.

TIMMINS, Ont., Jan. 14 (C.P.).—Fire breaking out early this morning in the entire business block comprised of seven shops, caused damage estimated at $150,000.

Firemen were forced to fight the blaze in sub-zero weather, and experienced difficulty owing to the water freezing.

Several apartments were occupied over the stores, and one family was forced to rush out in night attire.

The two families living above the business places, however, suffered no injuries. They were Mr. and Mrs. Watt and one son, and W. Raundell and two sons.

The stocks of the stores were well covered by insurance, and police and insurance adjusters commenced an investigation of the blaze.

The block was occupied by the Brino barber shop, the Singer Sewing Machine Company, Pioneer Stores, Shragg's ladies' wear, a pool room and John Watt's bakery. The whole block was of frame construction, and was only one storey in height, with the exception of the pioneer stores and bakery.

Seven lines of hose were laid by the firemen, but owing to the construction of the buildings and the difficulties of fire fighting in zero weather there was little chance of checking the blaze.

It is believed the fire started in the Shragg store.

POVERTY IS CHIEF CAUSE OF CRIME

Clarence Darrow Gives His Ideas Upon Prevention of Evil Doing.

PUNISHMENT NO HELP.

NEW YORK, January 14 (C.P.) —Clarence Darrow unburdened himself of some of his ideas on crime its causes and prevention, last night at a meeting of the Society of Medical Jurisprudence.

"The State," he said," should educate the individual and fit him for some honest livelihood. Only in this way, with equality from birth, can crime ever be stopped."

Poverty, to Mr. Darrow, was the great overshadowing cause of crime He said that nine-tenths of the inmates of every prison are there because of it.

"When a person commits a crime he went on, "he does not expect to get caught. That is why punishment never has and never will deter lawbreaking."

He characterized as false the idea that native knowledge laws, and religion give individuals their beliefs of right and wrong. A baby is born with knowledge of nothing, he said.

ANTIQUE YIELDS DENTIST FORTUNE

Secret Drawer Drops Out Revealing $36,000 Worth of Jewelry and Bonds.

FORMER OWNER'S HEIRS ACT

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 14.—(CP)—A fortune of $36,000 literally dropped into the lap of Dr. Robert A. Baldwin, Springfield dentist, it was revealed last night.

A secret drawer in an antique, purchased by the dentist three years ago in the settlement of the estate of Miss Cornelia A. Dean of this city, dropped out while the piece of furniture was being moved. The contents consisted of negotiable bonds, diamond jewelry and silverware.

At the time of Miss Dean's death, 11 heirs reported that there was a considerable sum that could not be accounted for, but a thorough search failed to reveal the hidden values.

Dr. Baldwin has placed the articles in the hands of his lawyer to await final disposition, and it is understood that the 11 Dean heirs, all cousins, also have retained counsel.

The Weather

The temperature last night and this morning was 4 degrees below the zero mark. Sufficient snow has fallen during the last few days to make good sleighing in this section, and the merry jingle of the sleigh bells is now heard sometimes. I say "sometimes." As a farmer who was speaking to me last evening said, he preferred his car to come to town, as it was speedier, more comfortable and warmer than his cutter. There is little comparison, however, between the discordant and harsh honk of the car and the musical note of sleigh bells in the clear, frosty air of a genuine Canadian winter day.—W.P.

Starving Welsh Miners Plead For Food

POLICE DISPERSE 1,000 ON PARADE FROM MAESTEG

Only Counsel of Older Men Prevented Development of Riot.

MONEY RESERVES GONE.

Strikers Unable to Obtain Credit Any Place in District —Pathetic Scenes.

MAESTEG, Wales Jan. 14.—Nearly 1,000 striking miners carrying banners with inflammatory slogans last night attempted to march to Caeru to demand food at the Bridge End workhouse.

Marching to the light of lanterns they interspersed their songs with shouts: "If you want bread join us." The police who had been notified of their approach, sent out an escort and intercepted them at Nantsffylon, just outside the town, and ordered them to disperse.

At one time it looked as if a riot might develop but the counsel of older men prevailed and the men finally went home quietly.

Single Men Get Nothing

One of the marching miners said: "Our wives and children can obtain relief but we cannot take food from their mouths and single men get nothing. If the owners think they can best us by starvation they are mistaken. We shall not give up because we have to tighten our belts."

Pathetic stories of near starvation were heard from among the miners whose money reserves have been depleted by the two weeks away from work. No credit is obtainable anywhere in the district for them.

Henry Denies Getting Magrath's Resignation

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—Reports intimating the Ontario Government had accepted the resignation of Charles Magrath from the chairmanship of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission has been denied by Premier George S. Henry.

"The situation has developed no further than that Mr. Magrath has intimated to me his desire to resign," said Premier Henry. "Hon. J. R. Cooke who is vice-chairman of the Commission has been and will continue to act as chairman in the absence of Mr. Magrath."

Agnes Says Courage Needed In Commons

BRANTFORD, Jan. 14 (C.P.). — "You can take your conscience into the House of Commons, but to keep it there oh boy!" commented Agnes MacPhail, M.P., in an address to the Kiwanians at luncheon here yesterday, after reviewing the attitude of the members toward a woman colleague.

Miss MacPhail declared that there was great need to-day in Parliament for members to follow their own consciences and courage to stand for what was right, irrespective of party or the big interests. The House, she said, "badly needed Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. Charles Dunning, two men of courage.

ALASKAN VESSEL CRASHES ON REEF

Northland With 31 Passengers Aboard Grounded on Beach By Captain.

HELP ON WAY.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 14.—With a hole in her starboard bow when she crashed on a reef off Helmcken Island, the motorship Northland, carrying 31 passengers to Ketchikian, Alaska, to-day grounded on the beach off Salmon River. The steamer Salvage King left Victoria to go to her assistance and will arrive alongside at noon.

The Northland was en route from Seattle. She carried a crew of 30.

In proceeding up Johnstone Straits she ran close to Helmcken Island and hit a sunken reef.

Captain Leonard Williams, as soon as his vessel had shaken clear of the reef turned and raced for the sloping beach off the mouth of Salmon River, two miles distant, on the Vancouver Island side of the channel, and drove her aground.

The motorship is owned and operated by the Northland Navigation Company of Seattle.

Reports of the accident said there was no panic on board. It was not determined whether passengers were in any immediate danger.

YOUTH STRUCK BY PICK

SAULT, STE. MARIE, Ont. Jan 14 (CP)—While working on Wilding's Creek yesterday, George Wilding, 16, slipped and fell directly under a descending pick wielded by his cousin. He was taken to hospital with a fractured skull, the pick penetrating about two inches. Physicians consider his chance of recovery slight.

WIDE VARIETY N.H.L. RESULTS LAST EVENING

One Overtime Tie, a Shutout, Narrow Victory and One Convincing Win on Program.

RANGERS-BRUINS TIE.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—(By the Canadian Press.)—One overtime tie, a shut-out, one narrow victory, and one convincing win resulted in the four National Hockey League engagements last night. The overtime tie was registered by Rangers and Boston, who finished at two-all. Chicago scored their eighth shutout, blanking Americans 1-0; Canadiens just managed to down the lowly Philadelphians 2-1, and Maroons ran wild against Detroit, beating the latter 6-1.

As a result, the standing today shows Canadiens still leading the Canadian section, Maroons in second place, one game behind and Maple Leafs another point still further back. Americans are in fourth position, and Ottawa last. In the American group, Boston is still maintaining its runaway pace and are two and a half games ahead of Chicago. Rangers are third, one and a half games behind Chicago, and Detroit is two full games below that. Philadelphia is in last place, having won but two games this year, and tied another.

The leading individual scorers in both sections added to their leads last night. Ebbie Goodfellow, of Detroit, scored one goal and has a total of 16 goals and 10 assists to keep him in front if his American loop rivals. Howie Morenz, Canadiens, managed to wangle a goal and one assist to bring his count up to 16 and 7 respectively for a total of 23. Morenz leads the Canadian section and has done practically all season.

There was no change in the assisting leadership. Boucher of Rangers, has helped his team-mates to score 14 times in the American loop, while Primeau, Toronto, has shared points 11 times.

The shutout ranking changed so far as the American group is concerned. Chicago have now blanked their opposition eight times and are leading the entire league. Toronto is ahead of the Canadian group with seven.

CRUISERS ROCKET TAKEN FOR PLANE

Light Seen Off Mosteiros Point Starts False Search For Tradewind.

HOPES ARE DASHED.

HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, Jan. 14.—A British cruiser engaged in gunnery practice off Sao Miguel Island, Azores, Sunday night, unwittingly gave rise to a false hope of a clue to disappearance of the airplane Tradewind on its flight from Hamilton, Bermuda, Saturday.

The cruiser sent up several rockets. One of these which disappeared into the ocean apparently about 20 miles off Mosteiros Point, Sao Miguel, was mistaken by some for the Tradewind falling into the sea, and a radio station there is said to have broadcast an appeal to ships to keep a lookout in the vicinity.

Portuguese Admiralty officials ordered the destroyer Ibo to the scene when told of the broadcast, but withdrew the order after learning the facts.

Lakefield

The annual meeting of the Lakefield Agricultural Society is being held on Tuesday, January 20, in the Council Chamber at two o'clock. This meeting which is the annual stock taking of the Society is very important and should be attended by everyone interested in the community.

Desire Govt To Handle Entire Crop Of Wheat

EDMONTON, January 14 (C.P.) —The taking over of Canada's entire wheat crop by the Dominion Government, with legal tender issued in payment that would be redeemable only in the Dominion, is the proposal to be placed before the United Farmers of Alberta convention in Calgary, January 20 to 23.

The suggestion is embodied in a resolution passed by a mass meeting of 150 farmers in the interurban district.

LAST MESSAGE BY WILLINGDON FULL OF PRAISE

Governor-General Convinced Dominion's Basic Condition is Sound.

DEPRESSION SOON OVER.

Expresses Gratitude For Kindness Shown By Both High and Low.

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—On the eve of his departure from the Dominion Capital, His Excellency the Governor-General issued a message of gratitude on behalf of Viscountess Willingdon and himself, for "the constant kindness, courtesy and friendship which has always been shown us by all with whom we have been privileged to come in contact, from the highest to the lowest in the land.

"I leave you with the profound conviction that the basic condition of Canada is absolutely sound," declares His Excellency, after making brief reference to the present depressed conditions, and he expressed the certainty that difficulties confronting the Canadian people will soon be overcome, and that the Dominion will move forward to a still greater development.

Motto: "Co-operation"

To the Canadian people His Excellency leaves a message of co-operation. He said that he adopted the word "co-operation" as his motto when he first came to the Dominion. He has endeavored to keep that word before him during his tenure of office. Now he expresses the hope that co-operation between the two great races of Canada and co-operation between the Provinces of the Dominion may be the main impulse in the lives of the Canadian people.

"It is always sorrowful to say 'good-bye'," His Excellency says, but he adds that distance does not impair the sincerity of friendships, and he knows his friends in Canada will sometimes turn their thoughts to Lady Willingdon and himself in India. Both his wife and himself will always keep an abiding interest in the welfare of Canada.

Westover Is Released On Suspended Sentence

LINDSAY, January 14 (Special to The Examiner). — Richard Westover, of Somerville Township, the war veteran in whose interests Lt.-Col. R. I. Moore is attempting to interest the Pensions Board and Christie Hospital, was released this morning by Police Magistrate Jordan on one year's suspended sentence. He had been arrested for breaking up the "horse-power" in Somerville Township some time ago. Westover, according to two letters received from officers of the old 52nd Battalion, with which he spent his four years' service, was a man of sterling character. He won two medals for meritorious service on the Western Front.

BRITAIN IS PAYING DOUBLE DEBT HOLT SAYS IN REPARATION VIEW

Burden Accentuated By Drastic Fall in Price Levels.

WOULD ELIMINATE POLITICS.

MONTREAL, January 14 (C.P.). —Interviewed yesterday regarding the statement of A. H. Wiggin, the chairman of the Chase National Bank, New York, in connection with the annual report of that bank Sir Herbert Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, made the following comment: "I consider Mr. Wiggin's statement worthy of the high position which he occupies in banking on this side of the water. In my speech at the annual meeting of the Royal Bank of Canada, I refrained from referring to reparations and war debts, as a discussion of this subject is liable to result in recriminations and bad feeling.

"The drastic fall in the price levels has greatly increased the burden of international debts, and has accentuated a condition which was already acute, namely, the position of reparations and war debts. Thus the Young Plan, signed within the year, imposes a greater burden of debt on Germany than did the Dawes Plan, providing that total payments should be reduced to the extent of an improvement in the purchasing power of gold.

Reduction in Principal.

"It is customary to state that in the settlement of the British war debt there was a reduction in principal. These calculations are usually made on the basis of a 4½ per cent. interest rate. Since the average yield on consols for 150 years has been scarcely 3½ per cent., it is evident that if this rate were used the principal debt is actually greater than the amount borrowed.

"Actually what was borrowed was commodities, and looked at from this common-sense basis, Great Britain has at current price levels undertaken to pay back with full interest more than double the amount she borrowed. The sooner this whole question is taken out of the realm of politics and international recrimination and discussed on its merits the better it will be for the world."

OBITUARY

MRS. HOWARD GALLOWAY.

BETHANY, Jan. 14. — (Examiner Correspondence.) — There passed away at Alameda, Sask., on January 4, Vera Mae, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McCartney, and wife of Dr. Howard Galloway and one very well known and dearly loved by her former associates of Bethany village.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother, her husband, one daughter, Betty and two sons, Howard and Gerald. Two brothers, Victor of Cornwall and Aubrey of North Bay also survive. Another brother, Dr. Gerald McCartney, passed away four years ago.

The body was brought to Manvers for interment at St. Mary's cemetery, Lifford, and the funeral, which took place on Saturday, January 10, was largely attended.

A private service was held at the home of her parents, followed by a service in St. Paul's church with the Rev. Mr. Fierheller conducting.

MRS. PETER McAULIFFE

EAST EMILY, Jan. 14 (Examiner Correspondence) — On January the eighth there passed away at the home of her son Martin, in Emily township, a very highly respected citizen, in the person of Mrs. Peter McAuliffe.

Mrs. McAuliffe (nee Ellen Brick) was born in Enniskmore Township in the year 1840 and had lived in Emily since her marriage to Peter McAuliffe in 1867. Of this union seven children were born, three of whom predeceased her some years ago and four still living.

Her husband died in June, 1917. For the past year Mrs. McAuliffe had been confined to her bed and bore her sufferings with great patience. Left to mourn her loss are, two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Neil Murray of Downeyville, Mrs. James Guiry of Peterborough, Patrick and Martin of East Emily, and one sister, Mrs. Simon Perdue of Peterborough, also eighteen grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren.

The funeral was largely attended, showing the high esteem in which she was held. It left the residence of her son Martin on Saturday morning, January the 10th at 9 o'clock.

Interment took place in St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore.

HERBERT SHORE

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 14 (Examiner Correspondence)—The death occurred on Sunday morning, January 11, at Campbellford of Herbert Shore after a lengthy illness at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Douglas Greenly.

GOLD COMPANY ORDERED PROBED

Gov't Acts in Fight For Control of Canadian Company First Time in 30 Years.

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 (CP)—For the first time in nearly 30 years, the Dominion Government has intervened in a fight for the control of a Canadian company, and has ordered a complete investigation. Hon. Charles H. Cahan, Secretary-of-State yesterday appointed Geoffrey Clarkson of Toronto to investigate the affairs of the Yukon Consolidated Gold Corporation, Limited, a $6,000,000 company with vast mining operations in the Klondiks.

Upon the application of a large group of English shareholders, represented by John Thomas Patton of London, Eng., the Secretary of State invoked, for the first time, power given to him by a statute passed in 1902, and appointed the investigator. The application to the Minister claimed too much stock had been issued and that a state of general mismanagement has existed.

$5,000 DAMAGE TO GRIST MILL

Wilfred Hooper of Little Britain Suffers Heavy Property Loss.

DAMAGES RESIDENCES.

LINDSAY, Jan. 14 (Examiner Correspondent).—In a fire which broke out at a grist and fanning mill owned by Wilfred Hooper at Little Britain, shortly after nine o'clock last night, damage assessed at $5,000 was caused. The loss is only partly covered by insurance. The mill served a large territory, and was a familiar structure of frame and lumber.

Damage was also caused to the residences of Samuel Hooper, father of W. Hooper and Mrs. T. Bullivant, which are situated near the mill. They took fire several times, but were saved as a result of the combined efforts of the Lindsay, Oakwood and Little Britain Fire Departments.

Up to a late hour last night the combined efforts of the firemen were still being centred on the smouldering runs of the mill, while the outbreak of the fire still remains shrouded in complete mystery.

LUNDY ISLAND RULER IS FINED

English Court Holds It Is Illegal For Owner to Issue Own Coins.

PAYS $25.

LONDON, Jan. 14 (C.P.).—"A vest-pocket size self-governing Dominion" was the description applied to Lundy Island, in the mouth of the Bristol Channel, by Martin Coise Harman, owner of the island, when he appealed to the Court of King's Bench, unsuccessfully, against a former decision that it was illegal for him to issue his own coinage for the island.

Harman had asserted he posesses virtually sovereign rights over the forty-six inhabitants of the island, and he had issued coins bearing the likeness of a bird, the puffin, which might be called Lundy's "national bird." A Devonshire magistrate, however, fined him $25 for a breach of the Coinage Act.

40 TEACHERS REFUSE TO SIGN.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—Forty Sunday school and Bible Class teachers of Jarvis Street Baptist Church have refused to sign the "Declaration of Loyalty" to the pastor, Rev. T. T. Shields, it was disclosed after a meeting in the church rooms Monday night. Their places in the work of the church will be filled by others.

LIBERAL CAUCUS CALLED

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature have been called together for their annual pre-session caucus here tomorrow by W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., House Leader.

In the evening the members are scheduled to attend a banquet for Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Provincial Leader, at St. Thomas, indicating Western Ontario members will cover considerable territory if they attend both functions.

When the apparent conflict in dates was called to the attention of Mr. Sinclair, he replied: "Oh well, Mr. Hepburn's banquet is non-political anyway."

Stop wishing you could make your children take cod-liver oil without fuss or trouble. You can—if it's Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil. And here's living proof!

Gwendolyn and Bernard, pictured above, and Gwendolyn's twin brother Desmond, were playing in their yard when the Scott's Emulsion reporter recently called on their charming mother, Mrs. A. C. Smith, at Lake Shore Road, Long Branch, Ontario. We asked Mrs. Smith if she'd let her three youngsters try Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil. As she knows how children hate plain cod-liver oil, she consented gladly.

Each child took a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion. "We like it!" all three smilingly agreed.

Pleasanter to take— but that isn't all!

Pale, thin, run-down children need cod-liver oil. Give it to them the pleasantest way—give them Scott's Emulsion.

Scott's Emulsion hasn't that strong "fishy" taste. It doesn't upset even delicate stomachs. It brings you purest, Norwegian cod-liver oil in its pleasantest form—a perfect emulsion. Easier to take—easier to digest. You get more good out of Scott's Emulsion and you feel the benefits quicker.

Scott's Emulsion contains no alcohol. It is rich in vitamin A, the growth-promoting vitamin that helps guard against disease. It is rich in vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin that prevents rickets. It also contains vital minerals that aid in forming sound bones and teeth. This gives Scott's Emulsion a special advantage for growing children, infants, nursing and expectant mothers.

"In our work we make constant use of the A. B. C. and consider it one of the important factors in determining the value of a publication. The A. B. C. is as important to the buyer of space as is the scale to the buyer of merchandise. We see in it constant improvement from year to year, and naturally, it is more and more useful to us."

Business holds such men as these responsible for the success of advertising plans . . .

Executives of advertising agencies . . . they must know, be certain always, of the value of the space that advertising dollars buy.

About circulations and circulation methods of all publications they require the uncolored, unbiased facts. And for this exact and detailed information they go to a single source—the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

In the judgment of agency men, the A. B. C. constitutes an indispensable safeguard to the success of advertising campaigns.

• • •

The Audit Bureau of Circulations has but one purpose—to provide a yardstick for measuring the value of advertising space.

How, in practice, does the A. B. C. function?

Twice a year almost every important publication in America submits to the Bureau a sworn statement concerning its circulation. This statement answers every question that in the group judgment of advertisers, has a bearing on circulation value.

Trained auditors from the Bureau, once in each twelve-month period, audit the circulation records at the publication offices—verify or correct every item covered by the publishers' statements.

The resulting Audit Reports provide the recognized and accepted measuring units for the value of circulations.

As a recognition of an indispensable service, not only agencies and publishers, but a distinguished group of advertisers, hold membership today in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

"The use and value of information obtained from the A. B. C. statistics are so obvious to anyone buying space, I do not see how a space buyer could do full justice to his position without A. B. C. information. We make use of the A. B. C. daily in our estimating work. It is our authority on circulation and in no way else can we obtain as definite and authentic information on this important part of an advertising campaign."

Presbyterian Presbyterial W. M. S. on Sound Basis

PRESBYTERIAL LOOKS FORWARD TO A BANNER YEAR IN 1931 DESPITE UNFAVORABLE REPORTS

Home Helpers Department Fails to Reach Membership and Financial Status Sought.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Mrs. W. Learmouth Shows Mission Band Has Successful Year Financially.

Although the reports of the various department secretaries of the Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada were not as encouraging as those of the previous year, yet they showed that the society was on a sound basis and looked forward to a banner year in 1913. This was the unanimous decision given at the Presbyterial meetings in St. Paul's Church on Tuesday.

The morning session was opened with intercessions conducted by members of the Millbrook Presbyterial. Mrs. C. C. Armstrong of Warkworth took the presidential chair, and the business was commenced at once. Minutes of the last meeting, held in Bowmanville, were read by Miss G. Harvey of Cobourg, and were adopted.

Mrs. J. Eakins of Millbrook was called upon to give a report on the year's work of the Home Helpers' Department. The secretary stated that they had not attained the membership and financial status asked for, but were confident that the coming year has something better in store for them. The following is a list of membership numbers and the amount of money taken in by each:

Cobourg — 31 members, 65 Home Helpers, 30 Glad Tidings subscribers, 2 new members, and $34.90 thankofferings. Colborne—28 members, 4 Home Helpers, 20 Glad Tidings subscribers, 1 new member, $4 thankofferings. Hastings— 21 members, 28 Home Helpers, 2 Glad Tidings subscribers, $10.75 thankofferings and $32.10 contributions. Keene — 26 members, 7 Home Helpers, and $11.00 thankofferings. Lakeport—12 members, 9 Home Helpers, 2 Glad Tidings subscribers, 1 new member, $1.55 thankofferings and $9.05 contributions. Millbrook — 29 members, 3 Home Helpers, 2 Glad Tidings subscribers, $2.00 thankofferings, and $5.00 contributions Norwood — 21 members, 16 Home Helpers, 2 new members, and $5.05 thankofferings. Peterborough — 42 members, 7 Home Helpers, 1 Glad Tidings subscriber, and $9.27 thankofferings. Vernonville — 6 members, 3Home Helpers, 1 Glad Tidings subscriber, $20.00 thankofferings. These make a total in the Presbyterial of 218 members, 142 Home Helpers, 58 Glad Tidings subscribers, 6 new members, $85.25 thankofferings, and $120.37 contributions. Bowmanville, Brighton, Lakefield, Port Hope reported no Home Helpers.

Glad Tidings.

The report of the Glad Tidings section of the W.M.S. was given by the secretary, Miss Nina Davidson of this city. She pointed out that some of the local secretaries were sending their money to the Toronto treasurer instead of to her thus minimizing the figures shown by this Presbyterial. The membership of the various communities in the Glad Tidings was: Bowmanville, 25; Brighton, 10; Baltimore, 5; Campbellford, 38; Centreville, 27; Cobourg, 30; Colborne, 19; Grafton, 7; Havelock, 9; Hastings, 11; Keene, 21; Lakefield, 7; Lakeport, 13; Lakevale, 15; Millbrook, 25; Newtonville, 6; Norwood, 28; Omemee, 8; Peterborough, 53; Port Hope, 42; Warkworth, 25; Warsaw, 5; Westwood 7; and Vernonville, 6. The total number of members was 466 and the amount subscribed was $156.70.

Mrs. W. Learmouth of Hastings reported on the Exchange and Life Membership Departments. Though Peterborough has fallen down in this section, yet the report as a whole was looked upon as being satisfactory and indicative of a better year in 1913. There were 21 life memberships given, of which 3 were from Peterborough, 1 (in memoriam) from Brighton, Campbellford 1, Colborne 4, Keene 1, Lakeport 1, Millbrook 2, Norwood 2, Port Hope 3, Vernonville 1, and Warkworth 2 Twenty-nine junior memberships were given Of these Peterborough obtained 15 Cobourg, 2, Port Hope 4 and Warkworth 3. The sum of $550 was received from life membership certificates

The Press Department activities were outlined by a member acting for Mrs. E. E. Cox of this city. Mrs. Cox attended the Provincial Presbyterial meeting in Calvin Church, Toronto, on April 29-30, 1930, the Band Mission, the Lakefield meeting, and the annual meeting in Bowmanville on May 29-30, 1930. All of these meetings were reported to the press; 30 letters containing news were sent out.

Mission Band.

Mrs. W. Learmonth, secretary of the Mission Band, reported her department as having had a successful year financially. Campbellford Cobourg, Havelock, Hastings, Hall's Bridge, Lakefield, Lakehurst, Peterborough with 85 members and an average of 40 at meetings, Warkworth, and Port Hope all gave encouraging showings. Norwood and Bowmanville were not heard from. The Peterborough branch was granted 15 certificates and 9 seals, Cobourg 2 certificates, Port Hope 4, and Warkworth 3.

Two reports were not given until the afternoon session, but may be included here. Mrs. D. Bland stated that $584.63 had been collected and disbursed by the Supply Department.

The Literature and Library section reported sales of pamphlets and books amounting to $26.58. The report said that the money spent in this department was well spent, and more people should take advantage of this service.

Mrs. Mitchell, an officer of the Provincial Presbyterial, was called upon to give a few remarks. She brought greetings from the head Presbyterial to Peterborough, which was the banner Presbyterial of the Province for 1929. Mrs. Mitchell, however, noted the absence of girls as delegates to the Provincial Presbyterial, and pointed out the values to be derived from their attendance there. The speaker said that Provincial officers had never attended district Presbytery meetings before but that this was a new departure which should prove beneficial both to the district meeting and to the Provincial assembly. Mrs. Mitchell stated that she was not in Peterborough as a critic, but as a helper if possible.

The president opened the meeting for discussion, and solicited questions or opinions from any member. Miss Harvey brought up the matter of reports not being submitted in time for the annual meetings, but Mrs Ewart of Cobourg replied that money came in up to the last minute, thereby making it impossible to make an accurate report till later. Miss N. Davidson sponsored a more rigorous selling of Glad Tidings literature, and was backed by Mrs. C. C. Armstrong, who asked also for more usage of the missionary library and the free literature service. Mrs. Learmonth showed disappointment at the disbanding of a few of the Mission Bands. She pointed out that it meant a loss of money to the Presbytery. Mrs. Mitchell stressed the importance of young people's bands, as these provided the women members of the future.

A hymn was sung, and prayer by members of the Keene Auxiliary brought the morning session to a close.

The meeting was resumed at 2.00 p.m. A hymn, and devotional exercises by the Warsaw Auxiliary preceded the session Mrs. W. R. Turner gave a message of welcome to the out-of-town members, and referred to the work across the sea in which they all joined together. This was replied to by Mrs. Henry of Bowmanville, who stated that this meeting would prove of great value to the forwarding of the W.M.S.

Presidential Address.

Mrs. C. C. Armstrong delivered the presidential address. She said that the Christmas spirit was still prevalent; it was still a time of meetings. At that time gifts are given in memory of Him who gave to us, and likewise the members of the Presbyterial should offer themselves to the service of the church. "The road to Bethlehem goes right through the homes of folks like ourselves," declared the speaker. "And people should realise that they are members of one family. The joy of giving is always returned to the giver."

The president stated that the work of last year was finished, but must be used as a stepping-stone to the great goal before the W.M.S. "My presence will go with you and give you rest," says Moses in the Book of Exodus. "Lo I am with you always even unto the end of the world," promises God in St. Matthew's Gospell. To those to whom disappointments, discouragements, and failures came, God says: "I am the way, the truth, and the life." So it is through Him that members of the Presbytery shall attain success; they must go to God in prayer and intercession for guidance.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. H. W. Morgan of Peterborough, proved interesting to all of the members of the Presbyterial. The following amounts were collected by the various district branches:

Bowmanville	$176.00
Brighton	100.40
Campbellford	205.00
Centreville	108.00
Cobourg	231.55
Colborne	167.94
Hastings	159.09
Havelock	62.25
Keene	266.51
Lakefield	30.00
Lakehurst	30.00
Lakeport	95.32
Lakevale	43.48
Millbrook	130.00
Newtonville	75.25
Norwood	161.60
Omemee	57.00
Peterborough, St. Paul's	1135.00
Fraser	525.00
Port Hope	283.00
Vernonville	109.42
Warkworth	186.00
Warsaw	55.85
Westwood	126.50
Total	$4,519.56

In addition to these the Y. W. A. of Campbellford and Norwood each gave $75.00; the mission bands raised $426.21; and the girls' clubs gave $20.00, thus making the grand total of $5,115.77.

The receipts to cover expenses amounted to $160.55. The expenses themselves totalled $147.32, thus leaving a balance of $13.23.

The Finance Secretary's report was delivered by Mrs. Ewart of Cobourg. These figures, too, are interesting and in many cases the amount forwarded to the Presbyterial was in excess of the allocation.

	Allocation	Contributed
Bowmanville	$112.25	$183.00
Brighton	100.00	100.40
Campbellford	240.00	241.00

Peterborough St. Paul's	1300.00	1130.00
Fraser	525.00	525.00
Port Hope	320.00	320.00
Vernonville	55.00	109.42
Warkworth	200.00	135.25
Warsaw	——	55.85
Westwood	125.00	126.50

Special mention was made of Vernonville which contributed twice as much as it was asked for; of Bowmanville and Keene, also of Warsaw, whose W.M.S. was started only 18 months ago, and who was not given an allocation, but nevertheless gave a large amount. The secretary was disappointed with the receipts, as last year they were able to hand over $5175.00, but this year the amount will be $160.00 less. It is conjectured that the allocation will be larger next year, but the W.M.S. is looking forward to a better year in 1931. The duplex envelope system was advised for the Ladies' Aid and for Missions. This plan would prove more satisfactory both from the point of regularity and amount.

Miss Gertrude Harvey gave the Presbyterial report. There were 573 members in the 25 senior auxiliaries; 269 meetings were held during the year; and the average attendance at these was 324 or 56 percent. Below is detailed account of membership and the number of meetings:

	Meetings.	Average Attendance	Members.
Bowmanville	10	15	22
Brighton	11	—	22
Campbellford	10	20	30
Centreville	10	10	32

Warkworth	—	14	22
Warsaw	12	—	16
Westwood	10	8.5	11

(The dashes denote that figures have not been submitted).

It is interesting to compare these figures with those of the allocations and contributions.

Miss E. MacVennel of this city was called upon to give her report of the Young Women's and Girls' Organizations. The Y.W.A. of Havelock held 15 meetings, have a membership of 15, with an average attendance at meetings of 11, and collected $172.00; Norwood Y.W.A., 15 meetings, 22 members, 12 average attendance, and $75.00 collected; Port Hope C.G.I.T., 5 meetings, 22 members, and $12.00 collected; Norwood C.G.I.T., 9 meetings, 15 members, and $6.00 collected; and Peterborough Girls' Club with a membership of 48.

Following the adoption of these reports, discussion arose as to the place and time of the next Presbyterial meeting. A Colborne delegate extended an official invitation to her town. No other invitations were given so it was decided to hold the meeting in Colborne, with the setting of the date to be left with the executive.

Mrs. J. Eakins, Millbrook, was elected delegate to the Provincial meeting to be held in Windsor on April 21, 22 and 23.

Thus, although the year 1930 was not a great success financially and numerically, yet activities in every branch of the Presbyterial were at their highest, and the enthusiasm and determination of each and every one of the members promise much for the coming year.

Palpitation Of The Heart Nerves Were All Gone

Price 50c a box

Miss Rose Griffin, Ashern, Man., writes:—"About five years ago I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, caused by a shock, and my nerves were all gone, and I could not sleep. I read about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and decided to try them. After I had taken three boxes I was feeling fine again. I think they are a wonderful remedy, and wish all others who suffered as I did would give them a trial."

R. W. SCOTT PRESENTS REPORT TO CAMPBELLFORD COMMISSION

Owing to the Fact That There Has Been Much Contention Concerning the Work Accomplished This Statement Covers a Period of Ten Years.

MEMBERS APPROVE OF TWO RESOLUTIONS AT INAUGURAL MEETING OF COMMISSION

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—The inaugural meeting of the Water and Light Board of the Town of Campbellford was held on Monday in the clerk's office with Mayor J. M. Bygott Commissioner A. L. Riendeeu, and newly elected Commissioner James Blue, who having taken the declaration of office, took his place on the Board present.

On motion of the meeting, it was decided that Com. Riendeau act as chairman of the board for the present year.

Two resolutions were presented to the meeting. One coming from Mayor Bygott, read to the effect that the minutes of the meetings be published monthly, and that a full financial report be given every three months.

A resolution coming from Com. Blue read to the effect that the treasurer be authorized to loan any surplus money to the town of Campbellford at the current rate of interest they would incur from the bank for the same.

The engineer, R. W. Scott, then presented his report. Owing to the fact that there has been much contention about the work acccomplished by the commission board in the past few years, this report covered a period of ten years. It, on motion, was agreed to be published, and is as follows:

Dear Mr. Riendeau:

With reference to the general report you have requested, I am pleased to give you a summary of the operations of the Water & Light Commission for the last ten years. Owing to time limitations I am not able at the present, to give as exhaustive a report as I should wish to. The figures submitted are based on the Treasurer's yearly reports during this period and also on a system of cost accounting suggested by my predecessor and put into practice about six years ago. My duties as manager and engineer for the Water and Light Commission commenced in September 1921.

For the Electric Light and Power Department the following table shows Gross Revenue, Maintenance & Operation, Debentures Paid and yearly Net Revenue for this period.

Electric Light and Power.

Year	Gross Revenue	Maintenance and Opera'n	Debentures Paid		Net Revenue
1921	$32,273.00	$21,297.00	$11,263.98	Debit	$ 287.98
1922	36,702.00	20,305.00	11,263.98	Credit	5,133.02
1923	40,366.00	21,170.00	11,263.98	"	7,902.02
1924	45,299.00	20,442.00	11,263.98	"	13,593.02
1925	43,341.89	19,924.38	11,263.98	"	12,153.53
1926	44,753.10	18,400.00	11,263.98	"	15,089.12
1927	41,498.76	18,239.85	11,263.98	"	12,004.63
1928	46,596.61	20,660.21	4,130.79	"	21,793.61
1929	42,549.94	18,544.93	4,130.79	"	20,075.22

In the column headed "Maintenance & Operation" is included major replacements and maintenance at the Crow Bay Power House, such as the replacing of the Runners for No. 2 Unit, redecking of the wheel pits, complete rewinding of No. 1 Generator by our own staff under my personal supervision, partial replacement of inadequate ice racks and rebracing same, replacing defective concrete in the fore bay and in wheel pits, replacing stop-logs for wheel pits, reflooring and painting power house etc., and also the extensive rennovation and remodelling of the town distribution system.

In addition to what has been done under the heading of "Maintenance & Operation" there has been money expended in extending the system. These extensions include (1) a new line on the east side of the river (2) the Street Lighting System (3) the distribution system (4) the purchase of transformers and meters. The extensions noted here aggregate in round figures $25,000.00. During the last six years grants to the Municipal Council amount to a total of $93,000.00. The balance in the bank which should be held as a reserve fund amounts to about $20,000.00. (The reserve fund carried over from 1921 was $11,260.00.)

With reference to the revenue situation—From the above table it will be noted there was a gradual increase in revenue due to increase in Domestic and Commercial Power consumption. I may add that in spite of the number of vacant houses in town and the lowering of rates, our revenue from this class of consumer has been increased by over $10,000.00 since 1921.

It is a matter of regret that we have lost a number of good power consumers such as the Canadian Paper Board Co. and the Peterborough Cereal Co. due to these plants closing down, but our position with the H.E.P.C. is very gratifying, although there is yet a slight surplus of power at Crow Bay to be disposed of. Prior to my connection with the Water & Light Commission, a very unsatisfactory five year contract had been made with the H.E.P.C. This has been admitted so I am merely stating a fact. In any case, we naturally could not do better than make the best of it until the expiration of the term. Unfortunately this contract led to disputes during the first year or two of the five year term, but by amicable discussion with the Hyrdro officials and submitting our difficulties to careful analysis the differences were eliminated. Our later arrangement for disposal of surplus energyto H.E.P.C. has proven to be very satisfactory and most certainly our relations with that corporation could not be of a more friendly nature.

Referring again to the table of Net Revenues—the year 1928 shows up well on account of the Paper-mill requirements and our selling to them during that summer $6,700.00 worth of power The year 1929 was also good because the demands on the H.E.P.C. were high and they called on us for an additional $2,153.50 worth of power. The demands on maintenance and expense for 1929 were also low. The year 1930 shows revenue lower and maintenance higher for the following reasons—Rennovations to the Crow Bay plant cost about $3,000.00 and during two weeks of the period we were not able to supply the H.E.P.C., being also obligated to purchase power from them for the town. Our bill for periodical inspection of meters by Government officials has been larger than usual this year.

Before proceeding to the Water Works section, may I also add the improvements made for the employees. Personally, I am strongly convinced that it pays big dividends to any corporation to have a satisfied staff of employees. Apart from certain salary increases and improvements to operators' houses, each employee is entitled to two weeks vacation every year. I accept the responsibility for these recommendations. In 1922 it was discovered that there was no protection for the Commission's employees in case of accidents fatal or otherwise. On my recommendation we applied to the Workmen's Compensation Board to come under their jurisdiction, by which the employer is obliged to pay a percentage of wages paid Fortunately we have so far had no fatal accidents, but there have been several mishaps of a minor nature, for which our employees have received free medical and surgical care and compensation.

Water Works Department.

The following figures show the progress of the Water Works Department during the past ten years:

Water Works.

Year	Gross Revenue	Maintenance and Operation	Net Revenue
1921	$2,921.06	$2,284.56	$ 636.50
1922	3,107.84	2,612.75	495.09
1923	3,351.91	2,686.50	665.41
1924	4,588.43	2,466.40	2,122.03
1925	5,170.03	3,031.33	2,138.70
1926	5,441.02	2,913.97	2,527.05
1927	5,296.46	2,930.84	2,365.62
1928	5,458.21	2,722.53	2,736.68
1929	5,670.33	3,311.44	2,358.89
1930	5,786.09	4,780.00	1,006.09

During this period there has been invested, apart from operation and maintenance shown above, approximately $6,800.00 in extending the system $6,700.00 for a new 1 000 G.P.M. pump unit and in renovating the basement of the fire hall, $1,350.00 for a chlorinator for making the tap water reasonably safe for drinking purposes. These three items total $14,750.00 and we have a reserve on hand of $5,000.00.

A glance at the columns will show a gradual increase in gross revenue but in the net revenue a steady increase excepting for the last two years. This may be explained as due to the chlorinator which was installed in February, 1929, which involves expense for operation and maintenance. It has been necessary to have an assistant for the water works superintendent. Such an arrangement should have been made several years ago. I wish to pay here a tribute to Mr. Plummer in his conscientious and able work as superintendent of this department until his illness in December, 1929. Mr. Plummer actually saved this department several thousand dollars by insisting on operating alone. Under the circumstances we considered it better policy to allow him to do so, since the final responsibility rested on my shoulders.

I have mentioned that the water works department has approximately $5,000.00 in reserve, which sum should be carefully treasured. A time is coming, before very long, when the town will require a purer water system. It is true our water is chlorinated and fairly safe but it is not clean. There are two alternatives: (1) a filtration system; (2) deep well system. I am inclined to favor the latter at the present time as I feel convinced that more than sufficient water for the town system can be obtained in the southeast section of the town and at a comparatively low cost.

Before concluding this report, the whole objective of my efforts is, and has been, the efficient and effective safeguarding of the interests of the citizens of Campbellford in these two departments, ingofar as my personal authority extends.

From year to year I have been subjected to malicious attacks, incited by those who profess to be actuated by a genuine concern for the welfare of the community. In view of this fact, I should welcome a thorough investigation by independent government auditors, into the business of the Water and Light Commission from the time of my appointment in September, 1921, as manager and engineer — such an investigation to also cover a period of five or ten years prior to my appointment.

A procedure of this nature should serve as an explanation to the public in general of why Campbellford's Water and Light Commission, in the most prosperous years of the town, failed to show satisfactory balances; and yet, in later years of shrinking population and closing industries, has given returns which are a matter of legitimate congratulation to both commissioners and staff.

NORTH MONAGHAN'S REEVE WILL BE

Reeve Breckenridge of Belmont is coming back to the council with eight years already contributed to the county's administration. He was first elected in 1922. Last year Belmont was represented by W. E. Griffith, who opposed Mr. Breckenridge in the recent elections, was defeated by one vote, and has asked for a recount.

Montgomery's Ninth Year.

W. H. Montgomery resumes the reeveship of Norwood after an absence of two years during which he was replaced by Robert Tedford. Mr. Montgomery succeeded Bert Squire as Norwood's representative in the county council in 1921 and held the position for eight years.

Three members are now entering on their fifth successive year in the county council. They are Tom Cavanagh of Ennismore, John Leahy of Douro and Chas. S. Tanner of Lakefield. They all came to the council as reeves in 1927.

Mr. Tanner is an aspirant for the wardenship. He succeeded J. C. Strickland as reeve of Lakefield, and is one of the prominent members of the council. Reeve Leahy has been well schooled in municipal affairs, and last year had an exceptionally successful year in his own municipality.

Reeve Fred D. McIntyre of Otonabee is beginning his fifth year in the county council. His first three years were spent as deputy and desk mate of Morley Smithson. Alex Houston, the present deputy-reeve, is now in his second year. As Otonabee's members of the council they are capably carrying on the responsibility of representing the old township whose assessment tops the county list.

Henry Coons, reeve of Smith, served two years as deputy with Herb Middleton and two years as reeve and has won the respect of the council. Gordon Fitzgerald is now in his third year as deputy-reeve of Smith.

W. G. Waterman's experience is lengthening out. In 1928 he succeeded Robt Dobbin as deputy-reeve of North Monaghan and is now commencing his fifth term in the county council.

Reeve Richard Sanderson of Havelock followed the late Tom Curtis to the county's administrative assembly in 1929 and is now in his third year, while Vernal Windsor Reeve of Burleigh, one of the younger members of the council is qualifying for the class of old-timers with three years' experience since his first appearance in 1928. He is now starting upon his fourth.

Humphries' Record.

Adam Humphries, reeve of Asphodel, occupies the seat vaacted by John Scott at the end of 1928. This is Mr. Humphries third year in the county council and his eighteenth year in Asphodel's council, thirteen of those years being without a break. He received fourteen acclamations and won three elections.

Russell Hales, reeve of Chandos is beginning his second year in the county council.

This Year's Council.

The 1931 council is composed as follows:

Otonabee—Fred D. McItnyre and Alex Houston (deputy).
Smith—Henry Coons and Gordon Fitzgerald (deputy).
Monaghan—John McIntosh and W. G. Waterman (deputy).
Ennismore—Thos. Cavanagh.
Dummer—James Hawthorne.
Douro—John Leahy.
Harvey—Harry Parker.
Asphodel—Adam Humphries
Lakefield—C. S. Tanner.
Norwood—Wm. Montgomery.
Galway and Cavendish—A. Jackson.
Burleigh and Anstruther—Vernal Windsor.
Belmont and Methuen — Frank Breckenridge.
Havelock—Richard Sanderson.
Chandos—Russell Hales.

The 1921 Council.

And by the way of retrospect the council of 1921 was as follows:

Otonabee—Fred Eason and D. Lawrie (deputy)
Smith—Geo. B. Nicholls and Albert Middleton (deputy).
Monaghan—John McIntosh and Fred Wilson (deputy).
Ennismore—Daniel Holland.
Dummer—John Darling.
Douro—Martin Coughlin.
Harvey—Robt. Shaw.
Asphodel—John Scott.
Lakefield—J. C. Strickland.
Norwood—Wm. Montgomery.
Galway and Cavendish — John Clark.
Burleigh and Anstruther—Duncan Brown.
Belmont and Methuen — William Griffith.
Havelock—W. T. Curtis.
Chandos—Robert Scott.

The new members in 1921 were Messrs. Scott, Curtis and Montgomery.

For Coughs From Colds Where One is Willing To Pay To Be Sure

Creomulsion is made to do the utmost for a cough from colds. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is for quick relief, for safety, when the cough seems deep.

Mild coughs may yield to a lesser help—to some single factor, maybe. But no one can tell which factor will do most for any certain cough. And all coughs should be stopped at once. So careful people, more and more, give Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is $1.25—a little more than some helps. But it means a seven-way help—the best men know. And it costs you nothing if it fails to bring the quick relief you seek. Your druggist guarantees it.

The FACULTY Dr. Pierce's Clinic

DR. R. V. PIERCE met with such unusual success in his private practice that he gathered around him a number of eminent specialists and surgeons and established a Clinic and Hospital. To-day this Clinic is of the same high calibre as ever. The physicians still find Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a most dependable tonic for patients who are run-down and need their digestion improved and their blood enriched.

A strong, healthy body depends upon the right number of rich, red blood cells. Thousands of people have a low blood count. To this may be attributed skin troubles, run-down systems, and even more serious ailments. Rich, red blood is the body's protector against infection and disease. It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

If you tire easily, lack pep, if your skin is not clear, if your appetite is gone, you owe it to yourself to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When you take this vegetable tonic your appetite picks up, your whole body feels invigorated. You regain your vim, vigor and vitality.

It can be had at any drug store.

OBITUARY

MRS. PETER WHITE

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 14.—The death occurred at Round Lake settlement on Friday morning last of Ethel Easton, beloved wife of Peter White and only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Easton, formerly of Havelock.

The deceased who was in her forty-second year was born in Havelock and received her education in the local public and continuation schools. Mrs. White had been ill about six years, two of which were spent at the Hamilton sanitarium. Although well aware of the hopelessness of her condition she remained bright and cheerful until the last. She was a member of St. John's Anglican church and was deeply religious and her illness was characterized throughout by the greatest fortitude and Christian resignation.

Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her loss five children, four boys and one girl, also two brothers Archie and Fred Easton, both of Niagara Falls. Another brother Clifford was killed overseas.

The funeral which was very largely attended was conducted by the Rev. P. C. Howard of St. John's Anglican church on Saturday afternoon.

The pallbearers were six old friends of the family, Thomas Wright, William Anderson, John Anderson, Frank Watson, Charles Parcells and Norris Whitney. Interment took place in the family plot at the Maple Grove cemetery.

Women's Institute Meets At Trent River

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 14.—Mrs. F. Pollock was hostess to the members of the Women's Institute for the meeting on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. George Brooks, president, presiding.

It being the birthday of one of the members the roll call was answered by the birthplace and date. Responding to the roll call the three British Isles were represented as three of the members were born there.

Reports from committees were given which included some relief work and flowers sent. Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. H. Mann thanked the ladies for gifts given by the Institute at Christmas.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Pollock, McLaughlin, Garneau and Mann.

The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Fred Scott which will be a quilting.

More than 350,000 minks were killed for furs in Japan last year.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1931

THIS IS NOT THE TIME.

In regard to the radio situation, some Canadian newspapers are advocating that private broadcasting should still be permitted, but that the Federal Government should at the same time establish a chain of Government-owned stations throughout the country.

That proposal would probably meet with more popular approval than the first suggestion that private broadcasting be entirely banished in favor of publicly-owned units, but at the same time the feeling of the majority of radio enthusiasts, if the volume of protesting letters and the rapidly lengthening list of signatures on petitions can be accepted as a criterion, do not believe that the Federal Government should enter the field of radio broadcasting.

With a heavy deficit assured, with the Government committed to other important obligations that will mean a further strain upon the resources of the treasury, and with many serious problems to be grappled with and settled, it is the opinion of most people that the question of public ownership of broadcasting facilities should be indefinitely shelved.

It might be that under more prosperous conditions expenditure upon a number of Government-owned and operated stations could be justified, but at present the Federal Government has quite enough business on its hands without rushing into a new and troublesome field.

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION.

A new organization, the Ontario Temperance Association, which describes itself as a non-sectarian and non-political service organization created for the purpose of co-operating with the various forces interested in the promotion of an educational temperance program based on scientific knowledge regarding the use of beverage alcohol, has made its appearance.

While there is reason to question the practicability of the temperance problem being entirely separated from partisan politics so long as the sale of liquor in Ontario is a Government business, no one will dispute the benefit of an intelligently planned and consistently carried out educational program.

There is too much money being spent on liquor in this Province, and the only effective way of remedying that condition is not to be found in restrictive measures, but in a sound policy of education that will drive home to the people the sheer folly of spending millions of dollars every year on a harmful luxury.

The Examiner's views on this subject have been frequently stated, and because of those views this paper has no hesitation in saying that there seems to be a very real opportunity for service in the new organization, which proposes to use the newspapers and the radio in an intensive publicity campaign against the evils of intemperance.

MERELY A GOOD INVESTMENT.

While there was some force in Ald. Tuggey's suggestion that to grant the full amount asked for by the first deputation of the year was to set up a precedent that others seeking assistance might expect to have repeated for their benefit, there is not likely to be much objection among the ratepayers to the $1,150 grant made to the Trent Waterway Development Association.

Most people look upon it as an investment that will bring ample returns.

There is nothing experimental about the publicity work of the association; the record shows a steadily increasing influx of tourists into this section and a corresponding growth in the amount of tourist money put into circulation.

The tourist industry is like any other business; the section that uses advertising intelligently to put its claims before potential customers is the section that can count confidently upon getting a worth-while share of the tourist traffic.

Thus the Trent Waterway Association by its exhibit at the New York Motor Boat Show reaches a class of people that have the time, the money and the inclination to try out the merits of new cruising grounds, and the ever-larger number of palatial pleasure craft passing up and down through Peterborough each summer is concrete proof of the effectiveness of the association's campaign.

There is nothing extravagant about the grant made to the Trent Waterway Association.

THE SALMON PACKING INDUSTRY.

A most important Canadian industry that is suffering from economic disabilities at the present time is the British Columbia salmon industry; the reason for this condition apparently that the packers are affected by conditions that have been made acute by legislative restrictions.

It is the contention of fishermen that during the last five years they have not received a fair return for their labor, while Government statistics and the published balance sheets of fishing corporations show that earnings for capital have averaged less than 2¼ per cent. on either the money employed in operations or invested.

The supplies of fish for canning purposes on the Pacific Coast are limited in two ways—by nature and by the Dominion Government to perpetuate the salmon runs.

There has been unrestricted development, resulting in the building of too many canneries and the licensing of too many fishermen, with the result that costs have risen and the wages of fishermen have fallen.

There is a very real danger that the world markets, representing an export trade of $15,000,000, may be jeopardized by these increasing costs of production, for it must be remembered that to compete for this world trade Canadian salmon has to meet the product packed in Asiatic waters by the Japanese and Soviet Russian canners and the exports of the United States.

In the face of this situation the Pacific fishing industry is asking that the Dominion Government limit the number of fishing licenses and thus lift the cost of the extra gear now being used, and in no way reduce the supply of salmon.

At the same time it will bring production in line with the limitation of supply, a principle to which our Canadian Government has been committed for years.

LO, THE PEDESTRIAN.

Chief Justice Greenshields, of Montreal, has handed down judgment that in a dispute between the pedestrian and the motor car as to right of way, the use of the road belongs to the pedestrian. Which reminds us of an inscription found in an old cemetery:

"Here lies the body of Jonathan Grey,
He died defending his right of way,
May his soul have peace as it wafts along,
But he's just as dead as if he'd been wrong."
—Manitoba Free Press.

This about describes the situation. A great many people who drive cars seem to be imbued with the idea that a toot of a horn should chase the people who are trudging along on foot off the road to make way for his majesty the chauffeur. It is true that not a few pedestrians stick to the road and thereby take a chance, but the great majority rush off the beaten path, and sometimes into the ditch, to protect themselves from what might be a serious result. Let it be known that the man or woman on foot is just as much entitled to the road as is the most gaily painted truck that travels. This is not meant to be an encouragement to pedestrians to be careless, and occasionally one is worse than careless. On King street, Brockville, people have been known to leave the sidewalk and step out in the middle of the street, refusing to go one way or the other, just to show the auto driver that they have rights. This is very dangerous, and fortunately few people are such fools as to practice this tom-foolery.

There is another mentality which a great many chauffeurs seem to possess. They know the rules of the road, and sometimes they act as if they would prefer letting the other chap bump into their car sooner than be humiliated by allowing him anything to which he isn't entitled in the way of road space.

Accidents at intersections of streets or roads are often caused by one driver neglecting to obey the rules of the road and the other one declining to violate these rules even if as a consequence a fool driver hits him; both ought to be locked up to cool off.

The chauffeur is supposed to prevent accidents if possible, and he ought to remember that the rules of the road are meant generally for the protection of traffic, and if in a pinch he finds that traffic can be protected more readily by a violation of these rules because some fool is driving another car, he ought not hesitate to violate them.

The road hog is always a menace, and yet as the couplet says a man is just as dead even if he is right if he is struck with great force by an automobile as if he were absolutely wrong. Some drivers, rather than let the road hog have his way, seem to gloat over taking a chance of being hit, which is just as morally criminal as if he were the road hog.

The duty of the driver is to escape accidents, if possible, and a good driver always is considering what the other chap is going to do. Sometimes he guesses wrong, but that is not his fault.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

BUSINESS DAY BY DAY IN 1825.

Reference was made in the Beacon-Herald to a cash book containing the records of a store in Waterloo County in the years 1825 and 1826, which book is now the property of Watson Brothers, of Logan. Looking over the old records one can readily let imagination run back to the methods of doing business 105 years ago in this district. The purchases, for the most part, were never large. Often there is reference to customers being credited with having delivered at the store, oats, rye, butter, etc., showing that the old system of barter was then in full swing in the country store.

It is rather remarkable that a book should have been so well preserved. It contains the paper of those early days, made to stand time and wear. The handwriting is strong, very legible, and as easy to read as material produced on a typewriter to-day. There is that certain sure touch to the penmanship which is so painfully lacking in many of the efforts to-day.

A glance through the pages of this old book show that the country was not exactly "dry" in 1826, for many of the customers who came took away with them a quart of whiskey. We find where it is recorded that one gentleman visited the store and departed, bearing with him a gallon of whiskey, for which he was charged 2 shillings and six pence, being the equivalent of 60 cents in to-day's currency. Many other entries show that 8d (16c) was the prevailing price for a quart of whiskey. Tea, on the other hand, the drink which cheers but does not inebriate, was selling then at $2.12 per pound. Many of the records show where tea was sold, and very often in quarter-pound lots, but always at what seems to us a very high price.

The book rested for some years in a house in Mitchell, which has since been moved or destroyed, and it may have been there that a part of it was used for scrap purposes. Whole pages are covered with clippings from newspapers, mostly of poetry. There is, perhaps, nothing strange about that, as cutting out pieces of poetry and other articles and putting them in a scrap book used to be a practice much more frequently followed than it is to-day.

The man who filled this book with the records of his business in 1825-26 is known only by the initials P.G.S., and it is not likely that he thought his work would be under review in a newspaper office in the year 1931.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Among those who are sorry the Toronto recount is being made may be mentioned a few incompetent returning officers.

Attorney-General Price announces that he is going to defend himself during the by-election campaign, which ought to add spice to the fights in West Hamilton and Grenville.

There must be an election somewhere in the offing. Ex-Premier Gardiner of Saskatchewan has been talking about "the bloated plutocrats of the industrial East."

London, Ont., is going to experiment with the use of electricity to heat the earth in the city's hot-houses. There's a tip for Ross L. Dobbin and Ald. Walter Stocker.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

"Death?" Mrs. Montgomery's blue-veined hands went out in a gesture of disdain. "Why be afraid? Do you think it would be better to live on forever—?"

Virginia shrank from something fierce and defiant in the old eyes. "I don't—know."

"Everybody's dead," the inexorable voice proceeded, "the girls who envied me, the men who loved. My beauty's dead—and beauty meant so much in the old days. We were belles then, and the world heard of us. Now nobody knows or cares that I am living on—yet I was once the toast of two States. You're beautiful, but some day you won't be . . . Everything changes—"

Virginia leaned a little forward. "Does love—change?"

"Love?" The old lady, too, leaned forward.

"Yes."

The old eyes held the young ones. 'Love lasts until eternity," whispered the old lips, "don't you ever believe anything else, Virginia."

They clung together for a moment, then, all at once, the fire died out of the old eyes. "You mustn't listen to me, my dear, when I am in moods like this And now what have you brought me?"

Virginia opened the box and showed the contents—"See all the little compartments, and there are the things you love—almonds, and crystallized fruits, and bonbons—" She stopped suddenly as she caught a glimpse of the two of them in the mirror. Youth and age! Her own bright hair, the flame in her cheeks, the light in her eyes—oh, would she, could she ever be like this old creature bent over the box?

On the way home, she told herself that she was morbid,—that men and women might change outwardly, but within they were the same. She must put her trust not in things of the earth but in God. As she went along the street, she lifted her face to the sky, as if she asked a question of One who had made these things come to pass, and knew the reason for them.

CHAPTER NINE

New Quarters.

It was Mary Lee Logan who met the Oliphants at the station. She had called them up long distance to find the time of their arrival, and she had her car waiting. "Why take a taxi, when I'm simply thrilled to have you here?" She was shaking Virginia's hand but she looked at Rickey. "I've been dead lonesome. And I'm living not far away from you. Isn't it grand and glorious?"

Virginia, startled and stunned by the noise and the confusion, said: "Oh, it is good of you . . . it doesn't make everything seem so—so strange."

Rickey, vivid as a flame, laughed excitedly, "I believe Jinny's a bit scared but I—I'm mad about it."

Mary Lee met his excitement with her own. "It's all so stimulating—as if the air we breathed were a kind of—elixir—You'll do wonderful things here, Rickey, I know it."

"I know it, too," his tone was complacent.

As they drove through the lighted streets Virginia was silent. She had not thought it would be like this—overwhelming, ominous, with its glittering gigantic signs, its black moving masses, the dull roar of hidden trains, the shrill whistles of traffic officers, the crash of the elevated Coming at last to Fifth Avenue, however, the glamour of it gripped her. There was a strange beauty; things which caught the imagination—thousands of shops, their windows like great paintings against the night, thousands of motor cars drifting down a golden river, thousands of pleasure-seekers moving towards mysterious ends.

When they arrived at Washington Square, Mary Lee drew her car up in front of a shabby brown-stone house. It was the last outpost of the life which had once been lived on this side of the square. The old mansion had seen grandeur—at this hour in former days there would have been men and women going up the stairs, the women in trains and tiaras, and wearing long white gloves. They would have been received by stately servants, and other stately servants would have served them in the dining-room. They would have eaten oysters in deep shells, terrapin and canvas-backs and a different wine would have been served with each course. It would have been a long and heavy dinner, and afterwards there would have been whist or the opera. All the windows from the top floor to the basement would have gleamed with yellow gaslight, and the door, when opened, would have poured its light into the street.

But now when the young Oliphants and Mary Lee entered the hall it was dimly illumined—justa tiny spark in the torch upheld by a Bronze Knight who ornamented the newel post. Behind the Knight a stairway stretched up and up—to end amid the shadows. Virginia shivered a little as she gazed. She was glad their rooms were on the first floor, she would have hated to meet the shadows on those stairs.

The landlady who came up from below spoke broken English and wore a black shawl about her shoulders. She gave them the key. "The lady paid for a fire . . ."

"What lady?" Virginia demanded.

"Oh, I did it," Mary Lee explained. "I wanted it to—welcome you—"

"It was dear of you,' Virginia said, and stood looking about her.

It was not so bad—a big old-fashioned drawing-room and a little room behind it, both partly furnished, and clean. Screens and a curtain made it possible to divide the big room into three. "It will have to be living-room, dining-room, bed-room, and kitchen," Virginia explained. "Rickey will have the small room—he'll need the quiet to write."

When the landlady had left them, Virginia set down a small basket, which until then she had carried carefully, and lifted the cover. Out of it stepped at once the gold-colored kitten, mewing plaintively.

Mary Lee exclaimed, "You don't mean that you brought her?"

"We couldn't leave her, could we?" Virginia demanded. "She's such a darling."

They were Mary Lee informed them, to dine with her at once at a place she had found around the corner. "There's a lot of atmosphere, girls in berets and blouses. You'll adore it, Rickey."

He did adore it. He found a certain fascination in the low-ceiled room with its lantern light, its women smoking, its men lounging across its tables, its foreign food, its coffee in tall glasses. Here was Life as he had dreamed of it. He thought, suddenly, of Lute Carney and his crowd, and the shanty beside the river. He wondered what he had found to like in a place like that, and the people. The allurement of it all had left him. He blushed to think that it had ever held him.

Virginia, on the other hand, was repelled by the tiny crowded tables, the queer tasting food, the heavy haze of smoke, the cheap theatricalism. How different from the room in which they had dined with Anthony—the wide shining mahogany, the silver and cut crystal, the familiar, satisfying food.

She wondered if Michael came often to such places. And would he like them? She wondered, too, about his home life . . . would he tell her if she should see him? But why should she expect to see him? She had answered his letter about the sun-dial, and he had acknowledged it. Since then there had been silence.

Getting settled in new quarters was a matter of much work and planning. Gradually, however, the shabby drawing room was transformed into a cheerful and charming habitation. There were honey-colored curtains at the windows, and the chintz which covered the chairs and couch was of pale mauve with primroses. At night, Virginia, made a bed of the couch, and drew the screens around her. She missed the seclusion and spaciousness of the house in which she had spent her days. But there was nothing to do but make the best of it and to do it without whining.

"It's like one of Balzac's book ," she wrote to her mother, "with prosperity on the first floor and poverty at the top. Rickey and I are kings and queens to the other tenants—there's a little boy who lives aloft and who comes down the stairway now and then and looks wistfully in if our door is open. So I ask him to sit by our fire and play with the kitten, and he loves it. To him our yellow curtains and flowered chintzes are very grand and gorgeous. His mother is a widow, and has to go out a part of the day to work. I never dreamed, dearest, that lives could be so barren of everything—some of them haven't a book or a picture, nothing to make life beautiful—and some of them wouldn't know beauty if they saw it. There are people from all kinds of places, but in the main they are respectable. Our landlady sees to that. She is a devout Italian, and as kind as you please. She came up the other day with a great steaming dish of spaghetti flavored with garlic, and Rickey adored it. He takes to new things better than I. You should see him! He wears a blue blouse and his hair ruffled up and smokes cigarettes in a long holder. He thinks I am hopelessly old-fashioned because I won't cut my hair and smoke with him! Now, don't worry, mother. it is just a phase with Rickey, and he is really not going around with anyone but Mary Lee Logan, and she is good for him. She manages him better than I ever could. She seems to give in, and yet she doesn't. And you know Rickey. He plays the masterful, and she feeds him on flattery. Yet, I am not sure it is flattery, for she believes all that she says about him. And she is very modern. She buys tickets to concerts and plays and takes Rickey with her. At first he wouldn't do it. He said he'd pay his way or not go at all. And she said, Well that would mean that you wouldn't go, wouldn't it?' and when he admitted it. she said, 'Oh don't be stupid. I'm getting a thousand times more out of it than you—if you knew what it means to me to have your friendship and Virginia's, and to come here and be at home'. And there were tears in her eyes, and we knew she meant it. She is really great fun and Rickey treats her as he would a boy—and as I have said, I think it is good for him. He is working hard, and while he won't let me read what he had written, he says he is sure it is the best he's done.

"He is great friends, too, with Captain Bleecker, who comes up now and then from Annapolis. The four of usgo about quite a bit together, and are as gay as possible. We've been to a lot of interesting places to dine, and have seen several musical shows. Your two children are quite content and comfortable, and you are to think of them that way and not have them on your mind."

When Virginia had written that last sentence she sat and looked at it, then tore up the sheet and rewrote it. She couldn't lie to Mumsie. She was not "content", so she left that out and made it that they were "comfortable," which was true. She did not speak in the letter of Michael McMillan. She had never spoken of him to her mother. There was no reason why she should. He had come into her life for a moment and had gone out of it. She had been in New York for a month, and he had not come to see her. She felt a deep sense of hurt. He needn't have dropped her quite so suddenly after that scene in the garden.

What To-day Means To You

"CAPRICORN."

If January 14th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The planetary aspects for January 14th favor those who are interested in metal work, such as literary or journalistic efforts, scientific investigation or philosophical study. Young people will find worries inseparable from love affairs, and the green-eyed monster, Jealousy, will play its part.

The child born on this January 14th will have a pleasing, but not forceful, personality, and will be endeared for its merry, thoughtful and unselfish ways. It will have a superficial mind, but a clean one. It will be only an average student, with very little ambition to excel.

There is not much starch in your character, and you quickly wilt when confronted with real grief or disappointments. Mental cowardice makes you "turn tail" when you should "face the music." You will put up with a great deal of discomfort for the sake of peace, and unless you have some one to fight for you, your rightful place in the universe will be forfeited through lack of grit and gumption. Many of your self-sacrifices are unnecessary and unappreciated.

You have no vicious traits, and very few selfish ones, and you are an enemy to no one, but yourself. Your conscience is always on the job, and you never turn a deaf ear to that "still small voice" which keeps you on the "straight and narrow." You are good, because it is not natural for you to be otherwise, and you are not easily tempted. You will finally find your proper niche in the world, where you can lead a subdued, a sane, and an almost ambitionless life. Your spiritual development is much keener than your mental or physical one, and you do not "hit it off" very well with those who are worldly. You will never allow your ideals to sink for the sake of material progress. If you have a sympathetic mate, you will "blossom out" considerably, and your latent talents may be brought to the front.

SIX CANADIAN PLAYS

The book entitled "Six Canadian Plays," is one of the most important and attractive Canadian issues of the year and from many points of view the most interesting collection of plays that has been published in Canada. The significant thing about the volume is that it points to a new and vigorously alive Canadian theatre—idealistic and keenly aware of our native environment and character—ready to make unique advances if given encouragement and support.

The origin of the volume is interesting. The six plays submitted were the best of forty-nine entered in a contest calling for an exterior setting in Northern Canada. It was suggested moreover that contestants might be guided as to mood or subject-matter by the paintings of artists whose work they considered definitely Canadian in character. The result is that the plays are infused with the vigorous outdoor spirit of Canada and that (to quote the Editor) "The volume bears a close relation to the achievements of our artists in painting the north country, and to the philosophy of Canadianism which justified their method and inspired their success. Hence it is more deliberately Canadian than the few collections of plays that have been published in this country up to the present time."

The strong art interest that attaches to the volume is apparent in its general make-up and attractive appearance. It is bound in a distinctive black cover, on which is stamped in gold a characteristic northern design of rocks and windswept trees by Lowrie Warrener. Mr. Warrener as illustrator has also contributed interesting drawings which follow each of the plays revealing their mood or action.

Then there are reproductions of famous canvases by Tom Thompson, Arthur Lismer, Lawren Harris, and J. E. H. Macdonald, and two illustrations from the settings used in the first production of "Lake Dore." Two musical versions of a lumberman's chantey by Charles P. Rice and Miss Helen Creighton are printed for the first time.

HO MATHUS

Dear Friend,—You will note that I call you dear friend in this epistle. I have been thinking, and I find it very difficult to witness the ups and downs of the human family. Your theory was essentially wrong in leaving out the bounteous generosity of Providence. In principle you were wrong but I do not know your motive.

But what is the difficulty to-day? Distributive and transport agencies are efficient. We are not without great wealth, natural in resources, actual corn in our coffers. Why not in the history of mankind, not even in the days of the Medes and Persians nor in the days of Greece and Rome was there ever so much wealth garnered in one country. Our neighbor on this continent has mountains of gold; aye golden mountains piled up in federal vaults and bankers' strong boxes. Yet never has she had such numbers in the bread line. Yes Malthus we have too much gold. That seems funny to you, hungry amid a plethora of gold.

With a superabundance of bread and meat, with gold galore, with perfect distributive agencies we are in need. This surely proves that we cannot blame Providence but we must look for the trouble right among ourselves, His children the human family.

What is wrong with us? Of course there are several contributory causes for the malady. There is first of all, a false philosophy blasting in its effects. Summed up this philosophy may be stated thus: a, the world (the people) owe me a living; b, the government should look after these matters.

The world (the people) owes no man a living. Man's daily sustenance is right at hand, all around him and beneath him. He must have manhood "Thou shalt eat bread in the sweat of thy face."

The government should look after these matters. Aye there's the rub! The government is doing too much. Its socialistic philanthropy is killing the noblest and most energizing impulse of the human heart, charity. It is a noble thing to see a man toil on for his own. It is nobler still to see him also lend a helping hand to his neighbor less fortunate. It is questionable to see the government injecting legal help. Time was in this town when there was no workman compensation, no community chest, no old age pension, no widow's allowance, but there were then relatives, friends and neighbors.

I must tell you Malthus that the best men and women I know or have known are the sons and daughters of penniless widows rich in friends and neighbors and relatives living in a world of abundant charity. To-day we build houses of refuge and orphanages and fill them as fast as we build them. In them man is only a number.

We are only a young country but we have some of the elements of age. We voted $30,000,000 to help the needy. Why in your day that would finance a war to stop war, to-day it will not pay the expenses of a treaty (as some say) start war. We are badly twisted. However this fact is true there will be thousands in the breadline before spring and their fathers' stockings were real cornucopias filled by Santa Claus in the days when men were men and government was government.

Malthus I shall take up the particular causes class by class after first addressing the whole school.

SILAS.

EDUCATIONAL GUIDANCE.

To the Editor:

Though the members of the Canadian Educational Guidance Movement are quite able to defend their program against such attacks as that of the editorial quoted by the "Examiner" from the "Ottawa Journal," I feel that it is incumbent upon even the humblest friend of Vocational Guidance to call attention to such gross misrepresentation of this phase of modern education. Not even the most sanguine of counsellors considers a program of Vocational Guidance as a panacea for human ills or hopes by it "to wipe away all tears." Nor does any one suggest that any boy or girl, whatever his or her bent, should be pitchforked into preaching or plumbing, law or locomotives, soups or secretaryships. The hopes of the leaders of this movement are well summarized in the report of the organization meeting as follows:

1. Co-operation with educational authorities in: (a) Presenting the enlarging opportunities for service in all vocations; (b) Urging the importance of intelligent decisions regarding the choice of vocation; (c) Emphasizing the value of adequate academic or special training as necessary preparation for efficient service.

2. To assist students in the choice of vocation and to offer counsel regarding educational opportunities.

3. To provide teachers, parents and students with authoritative information regarding requirements for and opportunities in various forms of life work.

4. To relate the results of this effort to those institutions to which the student may go for further training.

Which of these objectives smack of communism or state compulsion or, by any stretch of imagination, can be construed as an attempt to "sort out potential preachers," "to enforce vocational rulings" or "to submerge the individual into the nation?" On the contrary, modern guidance makes no effort to invade the personality or interfere with the freedom of choice of any individual.

On the very face of it this Canadian Guidance Movement is an effort to disseminate occupational information that will enable boys and girls to make an intelligent choice of life work and to conserve that energy which is now wasted in the "trial and error" method of finding a congenial sphere of opportunity and service Almost daily, teachers are made to feel their impotence in advising anxious parents along these lines All such will surely agree upon the need for an organized fund of accurate information and will thank anyone who will furnish it.

The importance of this subject to the general public is my only excuse for asking so much valuable space.

CARS KILL 32,500 IN UNITED STATES DURING 1930

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—There were 32,500 motor vehicle deaths in the United States in 1930, the National Safety Council estimated to-day. This figure represented an increase of four per cent., or approximately 1,300 deaths, over the 1929 period of 31,215 deaths. Reports from 32 States formed the basis of the estimate.

EASIER TREND ON MINE MART

Dull Trading and Listless Price Movements Mark Action From Opening.

GOLDS HOLD STEADY.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14. (CP)—The forenoon session on the mining market was featureless to-day, dull trading and listless price movements marking action from the opening. General trend appeared to have slightly easier tendency.

Higher-priced golds maintained their levels well, Hollinger moving up 10 to $7.30, Lake Shore a quarter to $24.50 while the balance of the group were unchanged. In the lower-priced section Mining Corp., Premier and Big Missouri lost a couple each from last night, and Kirkland Lake gold was down a point. Eldorada was offered at 24.

International Nickel, off a quarter to $15, showed about the only change in the base metal group, Noranda recovering a small early loss to stand unchanged at mid-day.

Ajax Oil declined another 3 to $1.47 and Acme Gas and Common Wealth were off a cent a piece to $23½ and 39, respectively.

OIL MAGNATES MEET THURSDAY

Producers From Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas to Air Grievances Regarding Existing Conditions.

FOREIGN COPPER FIRM.

TORONTO, Jan. 14. (Special to Examiner.)—Considerable interest is being evinced in the oil meeting scheduled to be held in Washington to-morrow, when producers from Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas are expected to gather to air their grievances regarding existing conditions. The plight of oil producers in some of the states is causing considerable agitation for a tariff on importations of crude oil and its products, and with large interests taking sides in the matter interesting developments are anticipated.

Unfairness in administrating the proration agreements in Oklahoma is charged. It is asserted that some of the fields in the state are not restricted while others principally newer fields, are permitted to produce only a small portion of their potential output. The Oklahoma city pool, in which B. A. Oil, Ajax Oil and Acme Gas have wells, restricted to about 1½ per cent of potential. Indications are that in the next few weeks the proration agreements in that state will undergo a rigid test.

Normac Mining Syndicate, holding 225 acres adjacent to aldermac in Boischatel township, Quebec, is going to commence operations in the near future. Their showing is reported to have opened with encouraging results in copper, gold contents the property is equipped with camps and equipped for surface development. The contract for the work has been let to Boylen Bros., contracting and exploration Company limited.

Foreign buying of copper was reported in good volume yesterday in New York. Committments for export were believed to be stimulated by the reported statistical position which while not excitingly bullish, revealed a turn in the right direction. Domestic buying was somewhat more active, developments being taken as an indication that the low may have been reached.

Diamond drilling is progressing on the Smith Lake pyrite claims, east of Alden on the C.A.R. Three holes have been completed by Canadian Pyrites Ltd, and the drill has been spotted for the fourth the Smith Lake prospect, according to word from the field, appears to carry an important body of pyritic ore lacking the percentage of impurities encountered in other deposits in the area. Canadian pyrites is a subsidiary of the Dupont industrial group.

RAILROADS SUFFERED HEAVILY DURING SLUMP OF LAST YEAR

Drastic Declines in Gross-Net is Lowest Since 1922.

OUTLOOK FAVORABLE

The railroads in 1930 suffered a drastic slump in traffic. Preliminary figures indicate the following results.

Smallest gross since 1919.

Smallest net operating income since 1922.

Largest capital outlay for any year since 1923.

Lowest return on investment since 1921.

Smallest revenue freight since 1922.

The drastic decline is viewed from sharply divergent points of view. On one hand is the opinion that the decline closely coincided with the recession in general business, and that with the return of more nearly normal conditions the railroads will resume their march forward. On the other hand is the belief that increasing importance of various forms of competition has so altered the position of the railroads that radical remedies must be applied.

Dropp in Gross Paralleled Business.

The decline in gross was considerably more severe in the second than in the first half. Gross for the first six months was 12.3% below 1929. For the second half the drop was nearly 20%. For the year gross is estimated at $5,287,000,000 a decline of 15.8 % from the $6,279,520,544 for 1929, and the 1926 record of $6,382,939,546.

Net operating income was subject to a special influence, particularly in the opening months. The railroads promised President Hoover that large capital expenditures would be made in 1930. They spent on operating expenses considerably more than if this special condition had not existed. In the first six months net decreased 33.1% from 1929. Preliminary figures indicate the drop in net in the second half, despite the much sharper decline in gross, was probably smaller in percentage than in the first half. Net for the year is estimated at $875,000,000, a decline of 30% from the high of $1,251,697,938 in 1929.

The outlook for railroads in 1931 hinges principally on general business conditions. With continuance during the first half of less than normal business activity—rail earnings are bound to be adversely affected. It seems inevitable that a number of roads will reduce their individual rates. On the other hand, railroads generally have shown ability to effect important operating economies. With even a moderate pickup in traffic, a substantial betterment in earnings is indicated. In net the railroads made a less favorable showing the first six months of 1930 than in the second half, so that net results of the first six months of 1931 will be compared with the less favorable portion of 1930.

Action of the all-important wheat market as bearing upon the commodity-price movement continues to puzzle most observers, and to give concern to conservative banking interests. In fact, the ultimate outcome of the American governmental experiment in attempting to stabilize wheat prices represents a distinctly uncertain factor this year in the opinion of big banking interests who recognize the importance of agrarian prosperity to general business. These interests are at a loss to reconcile the legitimacy of an 18-cent premium for the May wheat option over the apparently unsupported July delivery. Their private opinion is that such an artificial ratio cannot indefinitely obtain, and that should there be a bad break in the wheat market this spring or summer, for any reason, a new banking panic might occur in the West. This reasoning is cited merely to illustrate the lack, as yet, despite all of the readjustments of the past 18 months, of those satisfactory fundamentals which serve as the basis of a confident recommendation of stock purchases by leading banking interests.

The statement of Paul M. Warburg that "a few years hence the level at which some of our securities sell to-day will look as incomprehensibly low as the prices paid for the same securities seemed unreasonably high long before the crash occurred in October, 1929," attracted attention because of his outspoken warning in March, 1929, that Stock Exchange operations were governing the flow of money the world over, and the American banking system was without control. The accuracy of the latest prediction few can question in the light of all previous experience. Its assertion, however, is more a statement of the fact that from a long-range standpoint, 1931 is a year of buying opportunity than it is a promise for the argument that a bull market in stocks is just around the corner. For six months after Mr. Warburg's impassioned outburst of 1929, speculation continued to ride for a fall. In his report of the Manhattan Co., last week, he alluded to the possibilities of a "year or two of reduced dividends," a sequence which in his mind, and that of others, is even now overdiscounted, but which would delay the arrival of a genuine bull market. The Warburg statement is, therefore, something of a landmark in the realms of prophecy, just as the 2% rediscount rate of December 23, last, was a milestone in the march of financial markets; both imply that the forces of deflation have met powerful resistance.

To come down to the more immediate realities of the stock market, there is little in the current developments to suggest that the line of least resistance is as yet upward or downward. The financial skies are clearing, but on the business horizon low visibility still prevails. Wall Street has been effectually liquidated. Until current psychology radically changes, it will be impossible to bring about scared or necessitous selling, while, on the other hand, the effective buying that is willing to follow advancing prices can flow out of only a rising trend of business profits.

Winnipeg Review

The wheat market while not particularly active yesterday was quite firm with prices ranging from ¼ to 7-8 higher than the previous close, and holding fairly close to top levels throughout the day. The buying that was going on was largely local with sentiment somewhat friendly in sympathy with the firmness shown in outside markets. During the last hour there was a little outside buying coming in that was credited to foreigners, but the local crowd were or appeared to be all long and the demand was satisfied without forcing prices higher than was established earlier in the day. At top levels the market was fractionally into the daily offers which served to check further upturns. There was also a well founded report that the pool were selling cash wheat to the trade as wanted but were at the same time buying the May future. The demand for cash wheat generally was quiet while offerings were light. Terminals interests were the buyers of most of the odd lots changing hands. The spread on 1 Northern was ¼ better, but otherwise spreads were unchanged. Export sales overnight were very moderate, just an odd car here and there. Flour trade while a shade better than before the holiday season is still very quiet for both domestic and export accounts. Liverpool closed strong at 1 to 1¼ higher which lent an air of firmness to the market. Winnipeg futures closed 5-8 higher in all months.

Coarse Grains—These markets were all quiet, both cash and futues. Offerings were thin and light, but the demand was very moderate. The nearby months were a little firmner for oats and barley, but this was largely in sympathy with the upturn in the leading cereal. Oats closed ¼ up to 1-8 lower, barley ½ to 3-8 higher, and rye unchanged to 1-8 lower.

Flax—This market was firmer, closing 2 1-8 higher, but a very small trade was passing.

Liverpool due 1-8 lower to unchanged based on Winnipeg.

Rails Again Lead Way Towards Improvement With Two Point Advances.

SOFT AT OPENING.

(By Claude A. Jagger, Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Although the more eager speculators were disappointed by the weekly steel trade reviews to-day, the stock market was inclined to be patiently hopeful, and its downward drift was reversed.

The mere trickle of selling which appeared during the slow decline of the past two days discouraged the bears, and prices picked up a little after a further ease in opening.

Rails again lead the way toward improvement. Shares advancing a point or two included Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central and Union Pacific. A strong feature of low-priced specialties was General Theatres, which started upward with a transaction of 35,000 shares, it later sold up 2 points to nine.

Chemicals reflected short covering, Allied and Air Reduction gaining two. Coca Cola recovered three points. U.S. Steel American Can and Westinghouse gained a point or so.

MINOR CHANGES TORONTO LIST

Session To-day Indicates Market Although Firm is Far From Enthusiastic.

NICKEL UNCHANGED..

TORONTO, Jan. 14—Stocks underwent minor changes during the morning session on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The session was probably the slowest of the new year and indicated that the public, while perhaps less jumpy and nervous, is still far from enthusiastic.

What changes occurred were mostly on the side of the decline but were of such a narrow character as to carry no significance. Brazilian, Ford of Canada, Walkers, Service Stations were slightly under last night's figures. Nickel sold unchanged at 15, Noranda up slightly at approximately 14½.

The oils as a group did nothing, either holding unchanged or within a minimum fraction of where they had previously left off. McColl Frontenac, which featured Tuesday afternoon with a sharp rise above 20, reacted mildly this morning, selling down to 19 3-8.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

In the last week of October, 1929, when wheat was around $1.25 a bushel, the Farm Board said the price was too low. Supplied with taxpayers' money, it proceeded to stake its judgment against that of the grain trade of the world. Since then wheat, in a comparatively free market, sold for 69 3-8 cents a bushel at Chicago, 61 cents in Liverpool, and under 50 cents in Winnipeg. The results cause one to ask wherein is a government agency more efficient than private initiative.

Within the reach of the board were the same statistics and crop information that the whole world had. Those statistics make a picture of the situation which the trade studies all the time. That section of the picture devoted to the United States showed on July 1, 1929,—the beginning of the new crop year—a surplus of 245,000,000 bushels of old wheat and a crop to be harvested of 809,000,000 bushels in all 1,054,000,000 bushels, which, after supplying domestic needs, would leave an exportable surplus of over 300,000,000 bushels.

The picture which the grain trade was studying showed Europe, the principal buyer of foreign wheat, with the largest and best crop it has ever harvested. It showed a world production of 3,495,000,000 bushels, which is more than the average, and to that would be added 591,000,000 bushels of old wheat carried over from the previous year, making a supply considerably in excess of world needs. All conditions made for a buyers' market, and the grain trade so recognized it, but the board staked its amateur opinion against experience, and turned the picture to the wall.

While the board was using government money to demonstrate that the world was wrong, other surplus countries, Canada excepted, were hurrying out their wheat at prices the market would pay. Meanwhile another yearly picture was being painted. This showed the importing countries refusing to buy our wheat in usual quantities, and the board buying it instead. But in the picture a change of title did not reduce the supply; so, on July 1, 1930, the domestic carryover was 275,000,000 bushels, which, added to the crop of 850,000,000 makes a total of 1,125,000,000.

The supply in the United States has increased in the year, the world carryover is 554,000,000 bushels, which, added to a crop of 3,784,000,000, makes a total of 4,338,000,000, the world's second largest supply, to meet a consumptive demand which normally is under 3,650,000,000 bushels. The grain market sees that unless there is an abnormal consumption the end-of-season surplus will be larger than usual. In these circumstances the grain trade reasoned that lower prices were inevitable, but the board did not, and now it holds over 100,000,000 bushels of wheat which cost more than it is worth.

In this case the mere appointment to a government commission is not a sort of laying on of hands that endows the recipient with all needed knowledge and experience.—BARRON'S.

parently, quite unconscious of the cold breezes. Then she nudged him and indicated his hat. But His Excellency refused to put it on. He smiled but he was determined and the hat remained off while the crowd smiled and cheered.

Scouts Line Drive

The farewell to His Excellency and Viscount Willingdon really began at the time they emerged from Government House to drive to the station. Boy Scouts (His Excellency was Chief Scout for Canada), lined the beautiful drive in the Vice-Regal grounds. A travelling escort from the Princess Louise Dragoons surrounded the State car in which the drive to the Station was taken. Their Excellencies were attended by Col. H. Willis O'Connor and by Captain Streatfield, and the party included E. C. Mieville, Governor-General's Secretary and Mrs. Mieville, who will accompany Viscount and Viscountess Willingdon to India.

At the Plaza entrance to the station, Premier R. B. Bennett and Miss Mildred Bennett, his sister, met Their Excellencies. Here also they were met by Commodore W. Hose, Chief of the Naval Staff and by Brigadier General A. H. Bell, Adjutant General. A detachment of the Ottawa Highlanders, in bright red tunics and kilts, lined the carpeted path as the party proceeded to the concourse of the station for inspection of the guard of honor.

While Viscountess Willingdon shook hands with members of the Dominion Cabinet and their wives, and other prominent citizens, His Excellency inspected the guard of honor drawn from the Governor General's Foot Guards—his own regiment. The men were clad in their pre-war uniforms—brilliant red tunic, black trousers, and all surmounted by the great black "bear-skin" busby. This done, the party proceeded through a cheering crowd in the space just before the train barriers to the train itself. A carpet of red led to the stairs which had been erected as an approach to the rear platform of the train. Here gathered members of the Cabinet and their wives, honorary aides-de-camps and many friends and well-wishers of Their Excellencies, for a last handshake before the final departure. Floodlights played upon the platform of the car. His Excellency and Lady Willingdon shook hands with men and women who passed in a line before them. This they supplemented by waving to those whom they could not reach.

Many Notables Present.

The crowd around the platform included many of Canada's most prominent citizens. Among those who came to say farewell was Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to London, who will also proceed overseas in the near future.

As the train pulled out with Their Excellencies waving farewell, the band, which had played the opening chords of the National Anthem, changed to "Auld Lang Syne." The crowd cheered.

Eight cars made up the train upon which Their Excellencies and party travelled. They will move over the Canadian National lines to Quebec, where they arrive to-night and subsequently to St. John, N.B., to take ship for England.

HAMILTON RAID LANDS 3 IN JAIL

Two Large Barrels of Mash Found in Basement of House.

TWO MEN ARMED.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 14 (C.P.)—Acting on information received by a local police officer from Cumberland, Maryland, a squad of detectives today raided a house on Northcott Avenue here and placed under arrest William Brotemarkle, his wife Nellie, and Albin Uplinger, all of Cumberland.

When the officers paid a surprise visit to the house, Brotemarkle was found in bed. Beneath his pillow was a Luger German service revolver, fully loaded, and nearby was an additional supply of cartridges. Search of the house revealed Uplinger and Mrs. Brotemarkle in the cellar. Uplinger was wearing a cartridge belt. In the basement were two large barrels of mash and a huge kettle.

The three will appear in Police Court to-morrow on open charges.

CHINESE GOV'T WARS ON REDS

Nationalists Making Efforts to Clear Hunan of Communists.

FACE DIFFICULT TASK.

HANKOW, Jan. 14. — Dispatches from Northwestern Hunan to-day indicated the Government was staging a great effort to crush a strong Communist organization in that province. Kiukiang advices however, said the Government anti-Red campaign in Kiangsi province, despite Nanking's claims to the contrary, was not progressing satisfactorily.

Reports said enthusiasm of troops in Kiangsi was low and Communists were checkmating the military at almost every move.

Hunan advices said the Government was exerting every effort to halt Communists who have captured, looted and partly burned several important towns including Tsingshuh, Lichow and Kingan on forays into adjoining Hupeh province. Hundreds of Chinese were slain in these raids.

INSTAL OFFICERS FOR LOCAL LODGE

Splendid Banquet Features Annual Ceremony of Woodmen of World.

The annual installation of officers of the Woodmen of the World took place in the Woodmen of the World Hall on Monday evening, and every officer elect was present to answer the roll call.

Sov. Alex. A. Elliott gave a short address in the business session, touching upon the activities of the Woodmen of the World throughout the Dominion, and also of its splendid financial position at the present time.

P.C.C. Murray acted as installing officer in the absence of the Head Sentry, H. Durrant, of Toronto.

A splendid banquet was served at 9.30, with C.C. William Dummitt presiding, who said he would spare no effort with the new officers to make 1931 a good year for Woodcraft in Peterborough.

Preceding the address of the evening, by Sov. A. A. Elliott, a letter was read from Sov. J. J. Turner, expressing regret at his absence and wishing the Camp every success for the coming year.

Mr. Elliott, in his address, told of the wonderful work societies such as these were doing to help the present conditions existing in the city as in other communities. This being his first visit to the annual meeting, he was surprised to see such a great interest taken in the local Camp, and hoped the members would rally round the men whom they had elected to handle the affairs for 1931.

Deputy Consul Fred Sutcliffe thanked the members for turning out and making the installation ceremony an unqualified success, and also for the support of the members to him in the past, and hoped for a continuance in the future. The trend to-day is certain that Fraternal Orders are coming back rapidly into their own, and present conditions have cemented a brotherly love amongst such organizations and their members to be of mutual assistance and help those in less fortunate circumstances. New applications received this month have already exceeded January of 1930.

The clerk, Charles W. Wiggins, gave a brief summary of the excellent standing of the insurance fund, and a full detailed report is to be given at the next meeting.

Banker James L. Bath gave his report, which was received enthusiastically, showing a nice balance in the local Camp's account.

Dancing and cards were enjoyed following the banquet.

"SLUGGER" GETS SECOND VICTIM

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 14. — Cambridge police were to-day searching for the assailant of Miss Esther Lane, 25, a telephone operator and the second victim within a week of an unknown "slugger."

She was struck from behind with a blunt instrument as she walked toward her home last night. She made her way into her house and was later sent to the Cambridge City Hospital, where she was held for treatment. A three-inch gash was found at the back of her head.

Stewart Down 40 Votes Quarter Total Checked

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.— With more than one quarter of the 115,000 votes cast in the recent Mayoralty race recounted, Mayor William J. Stewart's majority has been reduced by 40 votes. When the third day of the recount got under way this morning, Judge O'Connel ruled that any ballot marked in any other place than the compartment containing the candidate's name would be counted invalid from now on.

This has not been the case in the previous two days and some 50 ballots, wrongly marked, have been counted for both candidates.

His Honor said that unless at the end of the recount those ballots could change the final result he would re-open the counted boxes to give a ruling on them.

BETHANY TABERNACLE CLOSES MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR OF WORK

Congregation Contributed $2,410 for Missionary Program of Church.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual congregational meeting of Bethany Tabernacle was held recently opening with a half hour session of prayer and praise followed by the business session.

The treasurer's report was one of great interest, revealing an increase in general receipts during the year of approximately $600 over last year, and there is a small balance on hand. There was also an increase in missionary funds. During the year of 1930, $2,410 was given for support of the missionary program which covers twenty mission fields — this amount being the largest contributed in possibly the last twenty years.

Doing Splendid Work

The Sunday School Superintendent presented a very interesting report which showed that during the year there was a marked increase in attendance. The Sunday School contributed $100 to Missions. In connection with the Sunday School work the young people are carrying on at Grace Sunday School in the north end of the city where a real need is met and the school is especially encouraging. There is also a Sunday School maintained at Orpington, where the young people are pressing on courageously.

Y.P.S. Report

The secretary of the Young People's Society read a report covering this branch of the work. During the winter months last year a special course was conducted by the pastor along the line of Church History. During the spring and summer months a real effort was put forth to carry the gospel message to the surrounding towns and villages, and open air meetings were held frequently at Millbrook.

A faithful group of women assist the pastor in visitation work and the report of the deaconesses revealed that 152 calls had been made during the year. This group of ladies also assists in Baptismal services and in the preparation for the Communion service each month.

A. McLeod, representative on the Charity Board, gave some interesting facts concerning the work of the City charities.

W.M.S. Prayer Band

The Women's Missionary Prayer Band gave a helpful report concerning its meetings and the objects of the Band. The members meet twice a month and contribute to the financial support of the missionary cause.

Pastor's Report

The final report of the evening was that given by the pastor and was enthusiastically received. Seven were baptised by immersion and seven infants were dedicated to the Lord. Throughout the year, several half days of prayer and fasting have been observed, and the Saturday night Men's Prayer meeting maintained during the year. The attendance at the Sunday services was most gratifying with an increase over the previous year; however the Thursday night prayer meeting has shown a slight decrease.

The annual missionary convention was held last March, from the 27th to the 30th and this was a most fruitful time when the sum of $2,288 was the Missionary offering, which was the largest pledge offering for many years.

In the middle of October it was the privilege of the congregation to have as a special speaker for a Bible Conference for one week, Rev. W. T. MacArthur, of Philadelphia.

Much work was done on the Tabernacle property, almost one thousand dollars being spent for repairs, some of the major ones being, a new roof, rewiring of the rooms in the basement, repairs to the chimneys, new eave-troughing and cleaning of all drains, cement work and new windows in the lower part of the church. Most of the work and labor was donated by the brethren of the church. The congregation hopes to make further repairs in the near future which will make the Tabernacle still more comfortable.

The pastor had been engaged during the year in young people's work in connection with the rallies of the Ontario district. Meetings were held at Belleville on two occasions, Greenwood avenue Church, Toronto and the Tabernacle at Guelph. Three days were spent at Owen Sound in connection with the local convention.

Election of Officers

Following the pastor's report, the election of officers took place and resulted as follows: elders, D. Hooey, G. W. Stenton, S. Revoy, H. Seely, A. J. Johnston and W. H. Moore; trustee, to fill the place of Mr. Janes who has moved to California, H. Seely; deacons, F. Griffin, D. Rumming, T. MacFarland, T. Bolan, M. Wilcox, A. McLeod; deaconesses, Miss West, Mrs. Hooey, Mrs. A. J. Johnston, Mrs. H. Seely, Mrs. W. Moore; secretary, A. Taylor; treasurer, W. H. Moore; assistant treasurer, F. B. Griffin; Miss. treas., A. J. Johnston; Sunday School superintendent, A. Moore; Charity Board, A. McLeod; Y.P. leader, Rev. G. H. Johnston; chief usher, D. Rumming.

The meeting then opened for discussion followed by adjournment.

Fraserville C.G.I.T. Officers Are Elected

FRASERVILLE, Jan. 14 (Examiner Correspondence)—At the annual meeting of the C.G.I.T. held on Friday evening, the following officers were elected: leader, Mrs. Swayne; president, Miss Reesor; vice-president, Mildred Moncrief; secretary, Roberta Wood; assistant, Roy Cunningham; treasurer, Pearl Carl; pianist, Marjorie Swayne.

Mrs Swayne was in the chair for the meeting and Pearl Carl was secretary. Following the opening prayers were offered by Miss Reesor, Roberta Holden and Mary Wood. The scriptural lesson was taken from Theseus 6: 1-10, read by Mrs. Swayne. A poem entitled "The Land of Beginning Again," was read by Mary Wood, and "New Year's Resolutions" by Roberta Wood.

A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers for their faithful services for the previous year and Mrs. Swayne also thanked the girls for the gift she had received at Christmas. Reports were given by the secretary and the treasurer.

ROSENEATH WOMEN'S INSTITUTE OBSERVE 'GRANDMOTHERS' DAY'

Mrs. Lily Turner is Hostess to Members at Social Function.

GREETINGS EXTENDED

ROSENEATH, Jan. 14 (Examiner Correspondence)—Thursday was the day selected by the ladies of the Women's Institute for "Grandmothers Day" and was held at the home of Mrs. Lily Turner.

"Heartiest greetings are extended to the grandmothers who, having fought life's battles through cloud and sunshine, have made possible the comforts we are enjoying so, in honoring these ladies we are only offering some of the joy which they reaped for the Women's Institute. The work done by these ladies is not forgotten, but is dove-tailed into the work of the present day and goes on gaining in richness as the years go by. The grandmother is the fountain head of the present generation and also is the fountain head of all societies, and no influence in the universe contributes so much toward guiding immortal soul heavenward as the teachings that are given to us by our grandmother, therefore we feel gratitude for what these efforts of theirs put across in spite of strain, disappointment and discouragement, and we rejoice that we are what we are because of their sacrifices."

The grandmothers who contributed to the program were Mrs. Mary Brown, Mrs. Joseph Robins, Mrs. Lottie Nichol, Mrs. Orra Varcoe, Mrs. M. Davey and Mrs. Joe Braithwaite.

Mrs Albert Halstead was then called on to take up "Concert Events" giving a most interesting and comprehensive talk and review for the past months. Speaking of the arrival of R-100 and what it means to future prospects in the Empire, the San Domingo disaster and many other important events.

On motion it was decided to send $25 to the Children's Shelter at Port Hope.

It was decided to hold the February meeting in the town hall when the program will be in charge of the girls of the Institute and also a debate will take place. "Resolved that a farmer's daughter has more enjoyment than her sister who works in the office. The negative will be taken by Miss Mary Braithwaite and Mrs. Ednel Blodgett while Miss Mary Mounçey and Mrs. Ryan will answer in the affirmative.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Turner for her kind hospitality.

King Outlives Three Military Leaders

The above interesting photograph has just come to light. It was taken "somewhere on the western front" on one of those occasions when His Majesty went to France to encourage his soldiers. In the group are (left to right): Marshal Foch, King George, Field Marshal Earl Haig, and Marshal Joffre. Foch and Haig have passed on and "Papa" Joffre died a week ago. Of the original group only His Majesty is still with us, and, we are glad to say, enjoying good health.

Mrs. Norman Gummer Heads Norham L. A.

NORHAM, Jan. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence)—Mrs. George Palmateer was hostess to the members of the Norham Ladies' Aid for the annual meeting held at her home on Thursday afternoon, during which time the following officers were elected for 1931 with the Rev. D. R. Clare presiding: President, Mrs. Norman Gummer; vice-president, Mrs. David Evans; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Percy Windover; secretary of lunch committee, Mrs. G. Palmateer; organist, Mrs. B. Isaac; assistant, Mrs. M. Peterson; auditors, Mrs. L. Evans and Mrs. C. Brenton; parsonage committee, Mrs. Fred Huycke, Mrs. John Diamond and Mrs. M. Wilson; visiting committee, Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. W. Newman, Mrs. R. Mitchell and Mrs. M. Wilson; flower committee, Mrs. Sam Platt, Misses Edna Evans, Lucille Palmateer, Frances Lean and Edith Brenton.

The following ladies volunteered to open their homes for the year's meetings: January, Mrs. Douglas Turney; February, Mrs. William Campbell; March, Mrs. D. R. Clare; April, Mrs. Norman Gummer; May, Mrs. John Diamond; June, Mrs. George Palmateer; July, Mrs. David Evans; August, Mrs. Percy Windover; September, Mrs. Sam Platt; October, Mrs. Marshall Wilson; November, Mrs. Oscar Laver; December, Mrs. Stanley McNutt.

The scriptural lesson for the meeting was taken from Matthew 15 and was read by Mrs. Clarence Stenton. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Oscar Laver extended a vote of thanks to the officers of last year, and a dainty lunch was served. There were nineteen members and eight visitors present.

Phosphate deposits in Algeria which are to be developed are believed to contain nearly 400,000,000 tons of phosphate.

MADOC

The Rev. Mr. Thornley of Mark Street Church, Peterborough, occupied the pulpit at Trinity United Church, Madoc, for both services on Sunday, January 11, with good congregations both morning and evening.

The Rev. G. W. Rivers preached at Mark Street Church on Sunday morning and evening.

The Rev. P. Gatley Reynolds was able to take his usual services on Sunday at Queensboro in the morning and at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Madoc, in the evening, after his recent illness.

The funeral of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Foster (nee Lucy Reed) took place from their residence in Madoc to the cemetery in Marmora village, on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Chris Henderson left for Toronto on Saturday, to visit her sister who has just undergone a serious operation in Toronto General Hospital.

Fraserville Tuxis Boys Name Officers For 1931

FRASERVILLE, Jan. 14 (Examiner Correspondence)—The new officers for 1931 as elected by the Tuxis Boys at the annual meeting held in the Orange Hall on Friday include, Mr. Swayne, mentor; Finlay Clarke, president; Walter McElroy, vice-president; Ralph Hanbidge, secretary; Clifton Carl, treasurer.

The new officers gave short speeches and work was planned for the month of January and the meeting closed with the Tuxis Grip.

Hawaii produced 930,000 tons of sugar last year.

"Capital ships" will be the term reintroduced, according to new British Admiralty orders, as a generic title to include both battleships and battle cruisers.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were 85c per 90 lbs., bulk, and to retailers, 95c per 80-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 14. — Firm foreign markets reflected strength on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday and values at the close were ¾c higher than Monday's close for all three wheat futures.

Operations for the most part were local in character. There was no pressure of offerings, and the market had no difficulty in holding its fractional advances.

Overnight export business was a disappointing factor, but strength at Liverpool and Buenos Aires offset the small trading.

Cash wheat trading was limited during the session, and only a few odd lots of high-grade wheat changed hands, at firm prices.

Coarse grains moved in a listless fashion, but all futures responded to firmness in wheat and prices held for the greater part of the morning.

CAMPBELLFORD CONTEST JAN. 19

High School Will Hold Annual Oratorical Contest for Cups and Prizes.

SPEAKERS AND SUBJECTS

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14 (By Examiner Staff Jorrespondent).—The annual oratorical contest of the Campbellford High School will be staged on Monday, January 19, in the school auditorium, when contests will be made in the two groups, Senior and Junior, for cups and awards.

The senior group will contest for the Dr. O. C. Watson Cup, while in the Junior section the contest will be for the J. C. Powids Trophy. This is an annual event that never fails to draw a large attendance.

The contestants with the title of their subjects, are as follows:—

George Armstrong and Bernard Crosson, "The Riddle of Unemployment and Its Possible Solution." Malcolm Hutcheon, "Canadianization —What it means and how best to achieve it." Frank O'Sullivan and Merwin Malcolm, "A Canadian Statesman." Donald Moran, "Aviation.

Junior Group.—Arnold Bates, Paul Douglas and Edna Hutcheon, "Canadian Poets." Donald Barnum and Angus Robertson, "Canadian Forests and Their Preservation." Arthur Black, "Canadian Nationality." Owen Hoey, "What Our School Owes to Us and What We Owe to Our School."

In addition to the cup awards, the Literary Society will award book prizes for the first three contestants in each group.

LOSERS BANQUET LITERARY SOCIETY

Delightful Social Held in Basement of Springville United Church.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A delightful banquet was given on Friday evening in the basement of Springville United Church by the losing team of the recent membership campaign of the Springville-Fairmount Literary Society, the defeating team proving good sports and excellent hosts.

M. Johnston, president of the Society, presided for the meeting which followed the banquet, at which time the exchange of plays with Mark Street Church was discussed. An expression of gratitude was expressed by the president for the ready response of the people to this membership campaign as a result of which the society is able to complete the payment of the piano and be in a position to again raise funds for necessary purposes.

Toasts were proposed to the King by S.S. Staples; to the captains of the teams, Mrs. A. Hunter, and to the ladies by S. Fairbairn.

Bruce Herron, captain of the winners took charge of the program which they had provided and included short addresses by the Rev. S. H. Moyer, Walter Brown and William Whitfield; mouth organ selections, J. Reed and John Clark; guitar solo by Mrs. C. Seymour, and vocal solo, Bruce Herron, and readings by Mry Kelk, Mrs. George Whitfield and S. Fairbairn.

Society Donates $10.00 To Maintenance Fund

NORHAM, Jan. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. Harry Wilson was hostess to the members of the Young People's Society for the regular meeting held at her home on Wednesday evening.

The business part of the meeting was in charge of the president, Gordon Mitchell and the Society voted ten dollars to the missionary and maintenance fund. The question of the girls of the class forming a mission circle was discussed but no immediate action was taken.

Blair Huycke was in charge of the devotional section and was assisted by William Hatcher and F. Muggridge. The topic for the evening was the parables of the talents and the prodigal son.

The program conducted by Miss Dora Palmateer was as follows: Duet, "Star of the East," Misses Viola and Lucille Palmateer; solo, Clarence Wilton; duet, Misses Lucille Lean and Edna Evans; instrumental, Lucille and Dora Palmateer. Three contests under direction of Frank Muggridge were much enjoyed and a vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Wilson for her hospitality.

AMBITIOUS BOAT BUILDING PROGRAM STARTED BY PETERBORO CANOE CO.

Building of Cabin Cruisers Big Portion of Company's 1931 Program.

PLANT IS BUSY.

Confidence in the immediate future is fully expressed by the Peterborough Canoe Company, who have this year launched on an ambitious program of boat building, by which they hope to capture their full share of this rapidly growing trade.

For the past half century and more this progressive firm has been engaged in Peterborough in the manufacture of canoes, boats, and winter sports equipment. These branches of the industry are firmly established through the company's unfailing policy of high quality goods, and their canoes, skiis, toboggans are household words in the outposts of civilization, and in all parts of the world where there is a demand for these commodities.

Build Cabin Cruisers.

A big portion of the company's 1931 program will be confined to building cabin cruisers. The growing popularity of this type of craft having opened up a line of work in the local factory, which although not entirely new, will mean much in the way of additional work. The company is therefore at present engaged in manufacturing a complete and up-to-the-minute line of standardized craft, which they propose to place on exhibit at the Ottawa Winter Fair, at the new and more commodious showrooms of the Watercraft Equipment Company at King and York Streets in Toronto, at Montreal and in Winnipeg. Practically all the models will be ready for display within the next month, and the company is extending a cordial invitation to the citizens of Peterborough and district to view these fine craft at any time between January 16 and 20.

The cruiser building program, including designing and sales, is in the capable hands of E. R. Fraling, with whom an Examiner representative was recently privileged to make a tour of the workshops. Mr. Fraling has had years of experience in the boat building industry, and is thoroughly familiar with all the best methods of design and engine installation. Previous to coming to Peterborough a year ago, he operated a marine garage and sales service station at Minett on the Muskoka Lakes.

Plant Is Busy.

W. A. Richardson, president of the Peterborough Canoe Company, in commenting on the business condition generally, as it affects his company, said: "In spite of the fact that our business is mostly on a seasonal basis, we have kept a large percentage of our summer staff fully employed during the winter. The demand for skiis and tobogganS," he said, "is rapidly increasing from year to year, and the plant has been working at capacity to fulfill the demand, while several new models have been placed on the market recently, known as 'dome top' skiis. The other types of skiis manufactured by the company are flat and oval top. Eighty-five hands are steadily employed in the workshops," continued Mr. Richardson, who expressed the optimistic opinion that with the company's bid for the cabin cruiser trade he looked forward to the future with extreme confidence.

He further pointed out that boating on the Trent Waterway, the Rideau Waterway, and other inland water is steadily increasing each year.

1931 Cabin Cruiser

In marked contrast to the first cruiser built by the company with a canvas top, the 1931 model 36-foot cruiser, built to the latest specification with a permanent roof over the entire cockpit, is a craft which will doubtless stand up in competition anywhere. It is finished in yacht white outside, while the interior of the cabin is executed in white enamel. The cabin has sleeping accommodation for two persons. The pullman berths are supplied with Marshall spring mattresses, while the cockpit will sleep two more persons as the stern seats slide forward, making a comfortable full length double berth. The bunks in the cabin have lockers underneath for storage of clothes or equipment, while the toilet room is partitioned off from the boat along with a neat little built-in clothes closet. The sink is provided with a pump and suitable racks are supplied for storage of utensils and provisions. There is also a built-in refrigerator. The motor box where it projects, into the cabin is covered with metal upon which stands a two-burner gasoline stove. The head room in the cockpit under the top is 6 feet. The gasoline tank is installed under the stern deck out of the way and there are lockers each side of it. The windshield has two glass side windows and the whole cockpit can be closed down with the side curtains enclosing it completely. There are six bronze port lights opening into the cabin and a folding hatch over the cabin entrance.

Only the very best materials are used in the construction of this and all other models, and the workmanship is also of the highest grade, while the motor installation is carried out in the latest and most approved manner. The craft is powered with a 4-cylinder 4-cycle, Buchanan 30-30 h.p. motor complete with starter, generator, storage battery and reverse gear.

The coamings, gunwales, covering boards, dash board and interior trim is carried out in oak, varnished in natural colour, while the deck hardware is of polished aluminum and bronze, nickel plated.

This 24-foot cabin cruiser has a beam of 7 feet and a draft of 19 inches, and can attain a cruising speed of 13 m.p.r. It leaves the plant only after passing through rigid water tests, and is delivered to the customer complete in every detail, including full set of regulation running lights, flag pole, trouble light, a dome light in the cockpit canopy and one also in the cabin, a set of tools, electric horn, mooring line, boat hook, paddle, 6 fenders, ventilators, chocks, cleats and fender cleats, anchor and anchor line, and a Pyrene extinguisher.

The other 1931 models are some six passenger runabout type of motorboat, another standardized line on which repeat orders have been received. This craft glorious in the beauty of rich mahogany, possesses a speed of 20 m.ph. There is also another craft known as the "Sea Hawk" a five passenger 18-footer, capable of attaining a speed of 25 m.ph. Several eighteen foot freight canoes are also in course of construction for the north country. Each of these 'freighters' is built to withstand an average load of 1600 pounds. The workshops are humming with activity, while the work proceeds painstakingly apace, on the canoe order and in preparing the 1931 models for the forthcoming exhibitions.

WORK IN FORMOSA ABLY DESCRIBED TO PRESBYTERIAL

Mrs. G. W. McKay, Missionary to Island, Addresses Peterborough Presbyterial.

HAVE BOYS' SCHOOL.

Native Bible Woman Doing Great Work Among Members of the Seven Tribes.

Even the heathens who have been regarded as objects of Christianization do themselves, in turn, make efforts to turn to Christ those "savages" who dwell among them.

So Mrs. G. W. McKay of Formosa told her hearers in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church last night, at the closing session of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Mrs. McKay was a pleasing speaker, with a soft voice and a very meticulous enunciation. She drew for her audience little verbal pictures of the life in that far-away green island near Japan. She took the place last night of her husband, the scheduled speaker, with whom she has been associated for the past twenty years in missionary endeavor in Formosa.

When the Chinese, who form the majority of the residents of Formosa, went to that island, they pushed back into mountain fastnesses the aborigines of the place, and these "savages," as they are called, seven tribes of them, dwell there and are now the objects of missionary enthusiasm among the Christian converts of the island. To them last year went a member of the fiercest tribe of the group, a Christian Bible woman who was married in youth to a Chinese trader, and who at one time did a great deal to pacify her warlike relatives, when they were determined to oppose the onrush of Japenese troops, prepared to take thousands of tins of gasoline and go in to those hidden gorges to burn out the dwellers therein.

This woman in her work is supported by the W.M.S. of Formosa, the members of which prayed for twenty years that such an instrument for good would be raised up by the Lord.

Prophecy of Further Light

Mrs. McKay spoke of the wonderful enthusiasm manifested by the Formosan converts and told how they rallied together and raised sufficient money to re-build their church after it had been destroyed by a flood.

Then there was the old tea-farmer who, learning by heart fifty-five verses of the New Testament, so that he might receive a new Bible, chose as his favorite text, the one in which promise is made of future enlightenment to those who could not then bear it. After memorizing one hundred and twenty verses of the Old Testament, this same convert chose as his favorite in this group, the one that likens Joseph to a vine running over a wall.

In Formosa, the women do not learn to read, and it is the self-appointed task of some of the converts to teach other women, first the alphabet, then the catechising, then the hymnal, then the Bible.

Mrs. McKay told her hearers of the boys' school in Formosa, and of the manner in which the lads try to follow out the teachings of the Christian missionaries. They wear khaki uniforms, for all school children of Japan wear uniforms of one type or another. One of these boys, a member of the group of two hundred and fifty in the boys' school, belong to a family of twenty-three people, not one of whom is a Christian. Another goes home in summer time to help his father grow flowers which scent the perfumed Formosan tea.

"Lighten Thou our eyes, lest we sleep the sleep of death," said Mrs. McKay, recommending this as general prayer for those who would rouse up enthusiasm for missionary effort. She spoke of the present-day "madness," as she termed it, which seeks to magnify the beauties of Buddhism, which offers to its devotees only a negation of all earthly happiness and only a certainty of future annihilation, and to degrade Christianity, which promises a fulfilment of earthly joys and an eternity of happiness to the faithful.

Following out this thought she referred to the young Buddhist priest of twenty-seven years of age who came to visit their home and who was converted to Christianity. One of his chief concerns was the welfare of that strange Buddhist sisterhood, to which his sister belonged. Clad in an unshapely kimona-like garment with shaven head and the burned portion of her scalp indicating that she had attained a certain degree of sanctity, this sister came to see her brother at Mrs. McKay's home and came again later when his death took place. She was a resident of a Buddhist nunnery to which many Buddhist men consign their first wives when they desire to take a second, and to which many women flee for refuge when their home-lives become too miserable to endure. A payment of money is necessary for admission to these places, which are not intended for the poor.

Mrs. McKay recommended to her listeners these Buddhist women in their strange refuges, as objects of special prayers among Christians.

The meeting last night included a solo by Miss Olive Cullen and a Mission Band exercise by juniors of the church, in charge of Miss Lily Simpson.

The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Mr. Duncan of Warkworth, Moderator of Peterborough Presbyterial.

MEMBERS OF ART ASSOCIATION ADDRESSED BY BATIK EXPERT

Kenneth Dawson of London Provides Most Interesting Program.

ARTIST'S HATRED OF ART

A very interesting afternoon with a maker of Batik was afforded the members of the Women's Art Association at their last regular meeting when Kenneth Dawson, formerly of London, Ontario, now of Toronto, came down to give the ladies a talk on this fascinating handicraft.

Mr. Dawson, who works with Lawrence Smith, the only other Batik expert in this province, is also an artist, and with Mr. Smith's assistance, has done quite a lot of mural decorations, one order being for four murals in a millionaire's home on Long Island, N.Y.

Mr. Dawson brought with him two large and two small batik pieces. The first large piece was entitled "Usurers on the Rialto" and depicted a scene typical in the time of Shakepeare's "Merchant of Venice." It was executed in blues and rich reds with a border in coat of arms design.

The larger piece, "Embarkation of the Infanta," showed a bit of medieval history, with a priest reading from a scroll to a kneeling figure, about to embark on adventure. A group of soldiers and a galleon in the background gave the necessary atmosphere for this piece, which was developed in red, set off with black.

"A Russian Legend" was rather modernistic in grey, green, yellow and black, and, like its companions, was done on cotton. The fourth example was done on silk and was entitled "Bytown," showing the city of Ottawa in Victorian days, with ladies in flowing skirts and horses gaily prancing along under maple trees.

All were very meticulous in detail, taking the two artists three weeks to complete and selling from $125 to $200.

Mr. Dawson said the large batiks are much in demand for large halls, theatres and furniture showrooms, and are also now used in churches in New York City.

The speaker has studied in England, where he remained after the end of the war, doing commercial art work for two years, and has also studied in New York, Chicago, and at the College of Art in Toronto.

Artist's Hatred of Art

"Everyone who does art work is not an artlover," said Mr. Dawson. I have heard business men say they dislike artists and everything about them, but they buy it for their homes, in architecture, furniture, etcetera, and demand it in their advertising, clothes and cars. Only an artist can really hate art."

Mr. Dawson went on to emphasize the importance of design in artistic work of any type, and said that lovers of art cannot understand the subtleties of its achievements without first appreciating the immense importance of design.

"Now if you can understand design, you can enjoy any good picture, or if the picture does not please you, you very probably find that its weakness is in the design. I may be wrong, and, in certain instances, I may be proved wrong as Joshua Reynolds was by Gainsborough's "Blue Boy," but as a rule, pictures are built upon certain broad principles, and these principles, with variations, apply to anything that is to be judged artistically."

"Now batik is more nearly true design than paintings of the usual type, because it is impossible to cheat. A definite statement of each color must be made. Oil-paintings allow the artist to conceal his mistakes. He can throw weak drawing into shadow and by the use of gradation of light, he can soften a mistake in construction. The best painters are therefore the best designers. But batiks leave no room for doubt. A bad one is terrible. I have seen them. I have done them. As a simple statement of how design may be abused, they are unsurpassed. For this reason, I recommend them to the amateur. You can learn composition, color and arrangement from your own work without any chance of missing the point. And if you should be lucky at first, you can analyze your happy faculty, and make it not good luck, but good management."

Tables Are Turned On Women 'Spankers'

HAVANA, Jan. 14. — If "Mama spank," "Papa spank" too. For several days members of the feminist organization Partida de a a Porra—literally "party of the stupid women"—have sat outside the Palace and administered spankings to Cuban women of a revolutionary turn of mind who appeared in demonstrations against President Machado.

Yesterday four male university students, dressed as women, approached the parked car and began to heckle its occupants. True to their precedent the women left the car and attempted to spank the quartet, believing them to be of their own sex. A short but active encounter followed after which one of the feminists was taken captive and the others fled, soundly spanked.

Y.P. SOCIETY MEET

Campbellford Presbyterian Organization Hold Regular Session.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 14. — The weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, was held on Monday evening in the church parlor with the president, Mrs. H. T. Scott in the chair. Miss Mary McGregor acted as pianist for the evening with Miss Grace Blue in the secretary's chair.

The meeting opened with a hymn followed by the Lord's Prayer, after which the roll was called and collection taken. The program was in charge of the Literary convenor. Miss Margaret Cock who occupied the chair for this portion of the evening.

The topic, "The Christianizing of Scotland," was read by Miss Annie Mackenzie, this being folowed by a contest on "Intelligence". The musical portion of the program included a violin selection by Miss Fern Wheatherill, accompanied by Miss Thelma Hollings; a vocal solo by Miss Margaret McGregor accompanied by Miss Mary McGregor; instrumental duet by the Misses Grace and Leah Blue.

The meeting, which was a very successful one, concluded with the Society prayer.

More Relief Work For Lindsay Men

(Special to The Examiner)

LINDSAY, Jan. 14.—Lindsay's unemployed crowded the council chamber Monday night and heard the cheerful announcement that the municipality would undertake certain work in order to provide employment under the relief plan.

This work came to an end early in December when the money alloted for the work on the roads was all spent. Work will start at once on a street sewer as well as on the construction of the sewage disposal plant, the plans for which have been approved.

SENORA ESCOBAR SUING GENERAL FOR ANNULMENT OF HER MARRIAGE

General Escobar, His Wife and Her Brother Missing From Train.

SEARCH BEING MADE.

MONTREAL, Que., January 14 (C.P.). — The whereabouts to-day of General Jose Gonzales Escobar, former Mexican rebel leader, his wife, Concepcion Goeldner and Franz Goeldner, Senora Escobar's 21-year-old brother, was puzzling police.

The General, who learned the advantage of quick movements during his troublous days in the Mexican Republic, met his wife and her brother on the train from Toronto to Montreal on Sunday night. Upon arrival here the three disappeared and police discovered their baggage had been transferred to an Ottawa train which left almost immediately. Senora Escobar had come to Canada to press a suit entered in the Superior Court here for annulment of her marriage to the General on the grounds, according to her claim, that it was illegal, as her first marriage was still binding when he went through a wedding with her.

Appeals to police to solve the mystery of the party's whereabouts were made by the lawyers connected with the case, all of whom confessed themselves puzzled. Provincial, municipal police, the R.C.M.P., and immigration officers have all been instructed to seek the three missing persons.

C. E. Powell, an El Paso attorney who accompanied Senora Escobar and her brother here, said the General had boarded the train en route from Toronto and had conversed lengthily with his wife, assuring her of his affection, and declaring that he had been misjudged. The brother, Powell said, had objected to the husband and wife conversing.

John A. Sullivan, K.C., attorney in Montreal for the General, was telephoned last night by an associate of his client, who stated that the differences between the husband and wife had been settled out of court. Gilles Gadbois, who is acting in Canada for the senora, said that no settlement could be carried out without his knowledge.

Mrs. J. J. Pollock of Perry street, was honored with the gift of a handsome necklace yesterday, as a souvenir of their regard from her associate members of the South End Sewing Circle of Knox United Church, meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Cooke, George street south. The ladies made the presentation of Mrs. Pollock's valuable services as leader of their circle for some years past. The presentation was made by Mrs. Mary Buckham and the address was read by Mrs. Jane Whitfield. It said, in part: "Dear Mrs. Pollock: We ask you to please accept this gift as a slight appreciation of your services as leader of our circle during recent years. We feel that it was only through your untiring efforts that we were able to assist the work of the Women's Association of Knox Church as we have done. We hope that you may long continue in our circle work, if not as leader then as one of our good workers and that you may enjoy this gift as a remembrance of your associates in the South End Sewing Circle of Knox Church." The address was signed on behalf of the members, by Mrs. Jane Whitfield, Mrs. Mary Buckham, Mrs. C. Cooke, Mrs. Fred English, Mrs. Herb Bell, Mrs. David Lindsay, Mrs. Arthur Bryan, Mrs. J. P. FASHION SERVICE

Here's a delightful tunic frock—designed to flatter.

The puffed sleeves are very feminine. The cowl neckline is exceedingly becoming. The tunic extends into moderately flared hem from a snugly fitted hipline.

The original used sky blue flat crepe silk. Contrast introduced in the underskirt of black crepe appeared again in the arm bands. The belt fastened with a black buckle.

Style No. 2892 may be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Crepe marocain, wool crepe, chiffon and sheer metal lame are equally appropriate for its development.

Size 36 requires 2 5-8 yards 39-inch with one yard 39-inch contrasting and two yards 25-inch for slip.

Our large Fashion Book shows how to dress up to the minute at very little expense. It contains most attractive Paris designs for adults and children, embroidery, etc.

ST. JAMES' Y.P.S. INSTALS OFFICERS

Special Music Rendered at Initial Meeting For New Year.

The initial meeting of the New Year for the St. Jamcs' Young Peoples' Society was held on Tuesday evening, with the pastor, Rev. Moorhouse presiding.

Special music was provided by Miss Edith Smith who sang sweetly and by Misses Helen Spence and Marjorie Stewart. These numbers were arranged by Miss Aileen Rose.

The Scripture lesson chosen from John 15: 1 16 was read by Miss Jean Hammond and formed the basis of the pastor's inspiring address to the newly-elected executive.

Mr. Moorhouuse stressed the need of the prayer life in each individual that he might "bring forth fruit" for the Master. Personal contact with other lives and the bringing of them to Christ will bring the greatest happiness and call for the highest ideals.

Several worthwhile hints were also given by the speaker to the various department leaders, after which the secretary read the list of officers for 1931, including.

These officers came forward for the impressive installation service which followed, led by Mr. Moorhouse.

The Peterborough Chamber of Commerce feels proud of its record. Its accomplishments have been without hue and cry. It is not an organization of boosters but it is none the less effective.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Do you remember the discussion we had last year about Christmas cards—sending them to others?

• • • • • • •

A year is quite a long time to remember and so I am going to talk today on the same subject. Even if you do remember it, I think there will be a number who did not read the discussion.

• • • • • • •

Now that the rush of the New Year has passed you are, no doubt, cleaning out your desk and of course you came across a host of Christmas and New Year cards.

• • • • • • •

May I ask what you intend to do with them? Many of you, perhaps, will throw them away, not having any further use for them.

• • • • • • •

But there are different uses for them—if you would like to put them to these uses.

• • • • • • •

The greeting cards, that may otherwise find themselves cast aside when their happy mission is fulfilled to you, have the power to bring the same glad light into a stranger's eyes that they once did to yours.

• • • • • • •

Why not save your cards then, for this purpose?

• • • • • • •

There are many little sick children in the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto and they would just love to get some of those cards.

• • • • • • •

They can handle these light pieces of decorated paper as they lie prone on their beds of illness. Each bit of beauty reflects in such weary and pain-racked eyes.

• • • • • • •

Then there are children in hospitals where contagious diseases are treated—they find endless delight in getting cards and after enjoying them the cards can be burned—having fulfilled their mission twice.

• • • • • • •

Or when a child is strong enough, the figures and other motifs can be cut out and pasted on paper in some rearrangement to suit the child's fancy.

• • • • • • •

Christmas and other greeting cards can bring great joy to those in foreign countries who do not have beautiful cards. Your Women's Missionary Society can furnish you with the names of Missions where the cards may be sent.

• • • • • • •

In one way or another, then, you have the privilege of putting your old cards to good use and to make them bring happiness anew—why not take advantage of the opportunity now?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

MEDICINE FROM 1830 TO 1930.

As we approach the end of the year 1930, and look back over the history of medicine from 1830 to 1930, it can be truly said by every thinking man and woman, that more progress has been made, than in the previous twenty centuries.

Yet, as Dr. J. S. Lanjord, points out, it didn't start out very well when we remember that every ailment where there was a fever or high temperature, was treated in the most ridiculous manner; bleeding, purging, induced vomiting, blisters; no bath, no water allowed in the hottest fever. And this treatment prevailed for over twenty years.

Then came the pathologist who studied the tissues affected by disease, the physiologist who studied the tissues when in normal health; and experiments on animals. Records of all this were kept for general everday use.

Then came the use of anaesthetics, and operations were rendered painless—the greatest blessing that ever came to humanity.

Then came Pasteur with his knowledge of organisms and Lister who applied this to surgery, thus rendering surgery safe for the first time in history.

Koch then discovered the tubercle organism. Klebs and Loeffler discovered the diphtheria organism which was quickly followed by the development of antitoxin, and the reduction of deaths from diphtheria from thirty to forty per cent, to less than one per cent.

Roentgen, discovered the X-ray, whose value is beyond words.

Brown-Sequard, and Sajous then opened up the marvels of the ductless glands showing how these glands were regulators of the various processes of the body.

Then came more knowledge of the foods and their values, including the wonderful vitamins.

Banting then discovered insulin and that ailment, diabetes, was brought under control.

Finally Minot and Murphy discovered a cure for that baffling disease pernicious anaemia by the use of the liver of animals.

Of course there are a great many other developments that should be mentioned—clinics, hospitals, nurses, more accurate instruments, public hygiene.

However, the big thing is that medicine is now stripped of all mystery, and measures to help mankind are progressing rapidly all over the world.

They Do Us More Good Than Any Other Medicine

Says Toronto Man Of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. McMullin Always Keeps a Box in the House.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 14.—(Special).—What most people want these days is a medicine that they can turn to with perfect confidence in time of need. Mr. McMullin, 341 McRoberts Avenue, Toronto, has found such a remedy—Dodd's Kidney Pills. He writes:—

"We are never without Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house. Whenever we feel out of sorts we take them and find they do us more good than any other medicine. We have used them for six years."

Your health, strength and vitality depend upon the condition of your blood, for it is through the blood that every part of the body is nourished and built up. To enjoy good health the blood must be kept pure. Dodd's Kidney Pills are an excellent blood purifier. They do not affect the Liver or Stomach, they are just as effective Kidney medicine.

Lakefield and Cognawagas Battle to 2-all Tie

NORTHERN SQUAD LEADING LEAGUE WITH 4 POINTS

Although Lacking Finished Combination Visitors Carry Offensive With Lone Rushes.

BOTH GOALIES GOOD.

Maudsley and Jones Are Outstanding Players For Local Aggregation.

In a 2—2 battle at the Brock Street Arena last night "Moose" Murduff's crew from Lakefield ran up against the Cognawagas in an East Peterborough League fixture and went back to their nests in Cementville leading the loop with four points.

For a change the ice was in fair condition and the fans who crowded the sidelines were given plenty of excitement from start to finish as the outfits tore back and forth in an exhibition that although far from finished hockey was well worth seeing.

The Lakefield lads didn't show much combination, but what they lacked there they made up in their rushes, and boring-in- tactics around the goal that kept Payne on the job every minute. They also checked effectively, though a tendency to roam often left a wing open that the Cogs were not slow at taking advantage of, and as a result Junkins handled some hot shots from close quarters. The blue line seemed to give the Cogs little help, whereas their opponents took every inch that the line allowed and made it count in their breaking.

Maudsley and Jones were outstanding for the locals, though the whole forward line got in some pretty combination several times that looked good could it have been made a habit. For Lakefield, Stuffy Mahood's efforts can't be overlooked and the crowd expected and got action when Stuffy went on. Both Sabatino boys and Blewett were constantly pushing the fray, and Stabler shoved down some effective rushes. Only four penalties were handed out, which meant a much faster fixture than a tendency to "mix it" would have resulted in.

First Period:—
Cogs, Jarvis 13.00
Penalties—Calladine.
Second Period:—
Lakefield, J. Sabatino 2.00
Third Period:—
Lakefield, L. Sabatino 16.00
Cogs, Jones 1.00
Penalties—Jarvis, Cogs; Blewett and J. Sabatino, Lakefield.
Line-ups:—
Lakefield.—Goal, Junkins; r.r., J. Sabatino; l.d., T. Wood; c, L. Sabatino; r.w., B. Blewett; l.w., H. Stabler. Subs., White, Mahood, Wingett.
Cogs.—Payne, goal; Calladine, rd; LeBarr, lf.; Maudsley, c; Jones, rw.; R. Dallin, lw.; subs., Wilson, Cripps, Williams, Jarvis.
Referee—R. Rose.

The Game

Lakefield stepped right into the battle with Stabler and Blewett tearing into Payne, only to have Jones slip the rubber back for a crack at Junkins. Stabler, returning with Lou Sabatino, missed a nice chance when he muffed Lou's pass. Some nice combination by the Cog front line failed to get in far enough due to the stiff checking at the defense, and in the scramble Sailor Maudsley sneaked in alone for a pretty shot, only to have Junkins clear. Jones, right in front for the rebound, almost had his prayers answered, but the guard was too quick. Monager Murduff let Stuffy Mahood loose just about this time and Stuffy gave the crowd a good exhibition of how a gnat goes through a brick wall, making things pretty warm around the home net for a few minutes. Out of this whirlwind Calladine made several nice attempts to break into the scoring sheet, but it was left for the sub speed boys, Jarvis and Williams, to open the affair, when the former, 13 minutes after play opened, lapped in a fast one from his side kick.

LeBarr and Dallin swarmed around the goal in an effort to repeat and Maudsley bored through for what looked like a sure one, drew the goalie out and then missed the twine flat. Calladine took a trip to the box for dumping Blewett coming in fast, and the session closed with the visitors, headed by Lou Sabatino, playing around Payne warming him up.

Second Period

Lou opened the second frame, galloped through, was cornered, but shot across the mouth of the net, only to have no assistance. Maudsley did the same for the Cogs, and Johnny Sabatino, taking the disc from his own corner sailed right through the works for a pretty tally that evened the score. That was the signal for a bombardment by the Cogs, which just nicely got started when Stuffy was hoisted into the heap and the play changed ends, and for several minutes Payne turned out shot after shot as the Cementville lads lapped the rubber at the twine from all angles. LeBarr and Williams got in a few nice attacks, but the majority of play centered around the hard-working Payne. Jones, Maudsley and LeBarr got together for some of the rare exhibits of combination that were displayed during the affair, but failed to beat Junkins.

Third Period

Dallin wormed his way through only to miss a practically open net by at least a yard. Stabler and Blewett returned and a scramble in front of the Cogs' goal looked bad for a few minutes as the disc was lapped about from all angles. Here again Stuffy Mahood turned his share for the visitors by stick-handling through in his tricky way that gave the crowd a great kick, only to be beaten by Payne. With sixteen minutes gone, Lou Sabatino streaked down alone and hoisted one in to set the Murduff crew one up. One minute later Jones, taking a pass from Williams to beat Junkins, and tied the score again. Jarvis and Blewett mixed things in a bump and both went for a rest, while Mahood kept things interesting making up for the shortage. Johnny Sabatino also had a turn in the penalty box for lifting on the lads to hard and the session closed down on Maudsley and Dallin trying vainly to register the odd counter.

Henri Cochet Is Not Turning Professional

PARIS, Jan. 14—(C.P.)—Henri Cochet, ranking tennis player of the world and leader of the French Davis Cup players told the Associated Press yesterday he had "absolutely no intention of turning professional."

"My only present ambition is to be able to do everything possible to keep the Davis Cup in France," he said.

Despite this emphatic denial considerable agitation was apparent in tennis circles here, friends said offers made him to tour with William T. Tilden as a pro were so tempting they were fearful Cochet could not resist them long, despite his business connection here which, he said, would not permit him long absences from Paris.

HOFF STOPS SUIT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—A $350 000 suit brought against Gene Tunney by Max (Boo-Boo) Hoff of Philadelphia was discontinued today at Hoff's request.

Hoff brought suit for 20 per cent of Tunney's earnings before the fight with Jack Dempsey at Philadelphia September 13, 1926.

Michael Winburn, American soap king and philanthropist, who died recently in Paris leaving an estate of $20,000,000 willed $80,000 to the People's Dispensary for Sick Animals in London.

"RED" CREIGHTON SINKS OPENING C. G. E. COUNTER

Second Battle of E. P. L. Opener Here Provides Thrills Aplenty For Crowds.

GOOD COMBINATION.

Hollingsworth Plays Sterling Game in the Net For Winners.

A genuine brand of hockey was dished up for the 'fans' who last night saw the Norwood-Havelock Combines crumple to defeat, in their first East Peterborough League encounter with the C.G.E. Toolroom aggregation, at Brock street rink. The final score was 5-1. The game was full of action and was not lacking in thrills, and despite the referee's strict adherence to rules, was not held up at any time.

The combatants got into battle promptly, at the conclusion of the Lakefield-Cogs tie game. The Norwood team undertook to defend the net at the north of the rink, but their defence which had been altered by the substitution of McLaughlin in place of Hooper, since their defeat at Lakefield on Friday night, proved unequal to splendid combination play by the C.G.E. forward line.

Referee—O. Kennaley of Peterborough.

The Game.

Co-operation was particularly noticeable, when Creighton scored on a pass from Howe with the game but two minutes old.

Kempt prompted to action, by the quickness with which the local men opened, made an attempt to net the puck for Norwood by a long shot from left centre. It was well placed but was quickly lashed into play again by Hollingsworth.

McLaughlin, the visitors' left defence man, also made some nice rushes, which had the effect of temporarily staving off the wild attacking of the home forwards. Quinn, their veteran teammate, was ordered to the penalty box early in the first period for fouling the 'Engineers' centre man, in the vicinity of the home goal. He was also penalized on three subsequent occasions.

H. Epps Scores.

Howe playing for the 'Toolroom' squad, made a nice pass to Hatton, who failed to register. Still keeping the visitors on the defensive, and grouped around their own net, H. Epps seized the puck as it bounced from a defender's stick and netted it for the second counter of the period.

The first penalty for the C.G.E. came when Howe was ordered off for tripping Quinn, in the Petes' defence area. Shortly afterwards H. Epps made a straight drive from left centre. The puck soared towards the net, but was brilliantly saved by Rogers. Taking the offensive in the closing minutes of the first period the Havelock forwards pressed around the enemy net, and it was unfortunate that the combination play of King, Jack and Brennan did not meet with the success which it merited.

Referee Kennaley's bell sounded the close of the initial period, a few minutes after King was penalized for bumping Howe.

Returning to the encounter Hatton off a nice pass from Creighton, performed the hat trick for the Engineers, by adding another counter exactly two minutes after the commencement of play, coinciding to their performance in the opening stanza.

One of the Stars.

Hatton, who starred througnout, gained the puck away back in the home area, and guided it with speed and precision towards the visitors' goal, where he was promptly checked by their defence line, who were all out in an effort to register a tally to their own credit. Kempt, seizing the rubber, rushed it away down to the opposite end of the ice, and took a close shot at goal from centre. In the ensuing scrimmage, Hayden had his hockey stick broken. Roy Epps taking possession of affairs, passed to Hatton who missed a good opportunity of scoring. Almost to the end of the period, from that moment, the home team took the offensive and made repeated efforts to get past the goalies guard. During the course of the assaults, Hayden was twice floored, on the last occasion Quinn seized the puck and serenely made off with it. Travelling in a bee line for the Peterborough goal he collided with one of the home defence men, and simultaneous with his sudden impact with the ice, the bell rang proclaiming the end of the second period.

The third stage of the game was featured by brilliant play by 'Red' Creighton and by the concerted efforts of the other forwards, Hatton, Epps and Hayden.

Hatton netted the puck in the first five minutes of the game, but the referee disallowed the goal, the puck having been fouled by Hatton's hand. Undaunted the forwards pressed around the visitors' and Hayden scored a minute later unassisted. Keeping a rigid check on wilful tripping, Referee Kennaley sent Magee and Quinn off the ice in quick succession.

Kempt Scores For Visitors.

Twelve minutes after the puck had been in action Norwood-Havelock Combines scored their one and only tally through Kempt off McLaughlin. McLaughlin made another good attempt to score, taking a chance on a long shot from left wing.

The Petes' final tally came two minutes later when Creighton scored off Hatton and H. Epps.

In the final stages of the game, the play see-sawed back and forth, during which Swanger was penalized for bodychecking, and Red Creighton made a final bid for an extra goal by a long aerial shot.

Heavyweight Tangle Likely For Detroit

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(CP)—Max Schmeling of Germany will defend his heavyweight title against W. L. "Young" Stribling of Macon, Ga., next June, and the winner will face Primo Camera, vast Italian carpenter, in September.

Briefly the contract calls for Stribling and Schmeling to meet in June for the Illinois Corporation with the Hearst Milk Fund as the beneficiary, and the winner to battle Carnera for the Illinois Corporation alone. A verbal stipulation was that the ultimate survivor of these two matched would defend the title for the milk fund alone in 1932.

Neither the exact date nor the site for the Stribling-Schmeling bout was fixed but observers in touch with the situation understood that the third week in June had been decided upon and that the site would either be Jersey City or Detroit.

OLYMPICS ARE BEATEN AGAIN

Windsor Bulldogs, Playing at Home Scorp 4 to 2 Victory.

BISONS DEFEAT INDIANS.

TORONTO, Ont. Jan. 14.—(By the Canadian Press.) — Buffalo Bisons may not have any shining lights on their line-up, but they continue winning hockey games with a regularity that is most disheartening to the teams trailing them in the International League. Last night the Bisons administered a decisive 4 to 1 defeat to Cleveland Indians. As a result last season's title holders slumped to third place in the standing for their second place rivals. Windsor Bulldogs trounced Detroit, 4 to 2.

The victory over the accurate shooting Indians enabled the Bisons to maintain their six point lead over the Bulldogs. Several of the League's leading marksmen wear the Cleveland Indians, but their keeness of eye availed them little against the relentless back-checking of the Buffalonians.

Marty Lauder recently secured from Syracuse, opened the scoring for the Buffalo club late in the opening session. The same player put his team two points in front six minutes after the start of the middle frame and it was nearly nine minutes later before the losers gave their supporters any reason to cheer. Frew gave the Cleveland fans some hope of ultimate victory by breezing through for a wicked shot that pierced Goalkeeper Taugher's almost perfect guard.

Two pretty combination plays with Lloyd Gross and Martin providing the finishing touches brought two more goals for Mickey Roach's team in the final 20 minutes and considerable chagrin to the 3,500 Cleveland fans.

A scoring splurge in the second period which netted them three counters to one for the opposition, gave the Bulldogs their well earned victory over their Detroit rivals. Frank Duncan started the fireworks by netting the puck on a three man thrust with Lever and Hinsperger. Two minutes later Brophy notched the equaliser on a pass from Jimmy Herbedts, but "Bat" Phillips, who is noted more for his skill as a playmaker, broke the deadlock with a pretty counter after Duguid had made the opening. The latter increased Windsor's margin 40 seconds later to end the spree.

Desse Roche, Paul Haynes and Miller Huggins members of last season's Allan cup squad, Montreal A.A.A., chalked up their first marker in the King loop in the third session when Roche scored on Haynes' rebound after Huggins had carried the puck up the ice. The Olympics finished the goal-getting when Herberts scored late in the period.

London Tecumsehs making a renewed drive for a play-off position clash with the Syracuse Stars in tonight's game and have a splendid chance to climb into undisputed possession of fourth place which they now share with Detroit Olympics.

TIE TANGLES ARE FEATURES MINOR LEAGUE

One Shutout and Two Draws in Last Night's South End League Program.

TIGERS BEAT RAYS 3-1.

Canucks Blank Ravens By 1-0 Count in Second Bantam Game.

Tie games an dlow scores are getting to be a habit in the South End City League. Last night there was a shut-out and two draws in the four scheduled games at the Sacred Heart rink. While the ice was nothing to brag about, some fast hockey was seen especially in the last juvenile game. A fair crowd of fans were on hand to give vocal support to their favorites.

The first was a juvenile fixture with the Tigers taking a 3-1 decision over the Raybestos in a fairly even game. The boys were slow at first but finally warmed up with the winners standing the pace better. Watson and Bloyer both scored for the Tigers toward the end of the first period, O'Brien countered once for the Rays. There was no further scoring till the final frame when Kingdon pushed in another one. The Tigers were still taking the offensive at the last bell.

The teams:

Referee, W. Rogers.

Athletics and Fosters of the bantam section took the ice in the second game and battled to a 1—1 tie. Fosters had the heavier outfit and they combined better, but this was offset by Athletics' back-checking and boring-in tactics. There was plenty of hard shooting early in the game, but a soft goal. The last session witnessed some rough hockey with Jobe finally tying the count on a nice bit of work. Both tried hard to win out, but the game ended a draw.

Referee, C. Raney.

Canucks shut out Ravens in the second bantam game 1-0. While the ice, and a rolling puck made combination difficult, the winners were more aggressive, sending four and five down the ice throughout. The Ravens played too much individual hockey and seemed content with long shots on the net. Masters for the winners looked good the entire game. The first period saw Fanario robbing the Ravens with some nice saving. In the second, the winners got going and netted one on great stick-handling on the part of Masters. During the last go, Canucks continued to pepper the losers' goal, without, however scoring again.

Referee, C. Raney.

The best game of the evening was that between Canucks and St. Peter's juveniles. It ended in a deadlock 3-3. The Saints had the best of it the first period, McCallum scoring early. They kept sniping away at Creighton who made some spectacular saves. In the second, Canucks looked better, tying the count on a fast shot by Delpellario. Hickey for St. Peter's scored from away out toward the end of the period, but Shaughnessy managed to again knot it up just before the bell. The final frame opened fast and kept getting faster. The St. Pete's were shooting often, and combining on every rush, and midway through Hickey put them in the lead with a lightning shot into the corner. Hill for Canucks came right back and fooled the team to make it 3-all. The last five minutes saw the Saints buzzing around their opponents' goal like hornets, but they couldn't beat Creighton. Both goalies were good, with St. Peter's team a little more aggressive. Hickey and Whitekept the Canucks worried most of the time.

The teams:

Canucks: Goal, Creighton; right defense, Lefave; left defense, Hallahan; centre, Delpellario; right wing, Hill; left wing, Shaughnessy; alternates, Collins, Kirns, McCarthy and Revoy.

St. Peter's Goal: Goal, Young; right defense, White; left defense, Sweetman; centre, Koster; right wing Hickey; left wing, McCallum, alternates, LeBarr and Sullivan.

Referee, W. Rogers.

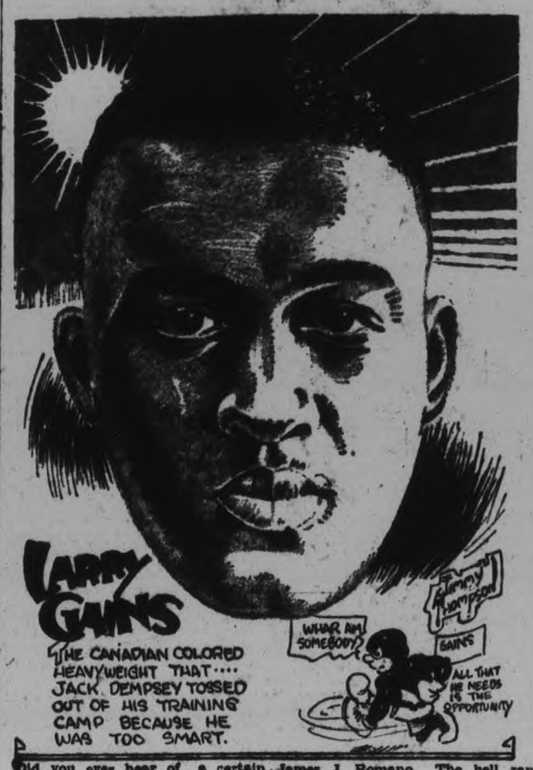
NOT TO KING'S TASTE



Did you ever hear of a certain Canadian fighter who was so smart that the great Jack Dempsey picked him out as a sparring partner? We are referring to Larry Gains who has recently been fighting in Europe and has 14 bouts without a loss to his credit. When Dempsey was in training for his bout with Sharkey in 1927, Gains was one sparring partner whom he failed to send to the cleaners. In the first tryout Dempsey was unable to mop up the colored boy from Canada, so he lined him up for the next day when Rickard was to be present with about 300 newspapermen among whom were Benny Leonard, J. J. Corbett, Wilber Woodland and James J. Romano. The bell rang and Larry jumped out to meet Dempsey in his own corner. In the middle of the round Dempsey ran into Larry's glove and emerged with a bleeding nose. After the round Playfair Brown began to remove Gain's gloves but Dempsey asked for another session. Gains repeated in the second and again more than held his own with the Mannassa Mauler. That night Leo Flynn to' Brown that Gains would no longer be needed. "What's the matter?" asked Brown. He is a smart boxer. "Too smart," was the curt answer. "Who do you think those newspapermen came up here to see, Gains or Dempsey?"

MAROONS OUST TORONTO FROM SECOND PLACE

Montreal's 6-1 Victory Over Falcons Puts Leafs in Third Place.

HAWKS BLANK AMERKS.

Canadiens Overcome Quakers' Lead to Win By Close Score 2-1.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14. (CP)—Once again Montreal representatives Les Canadiens and Maroons—dominate the Canadian group of the National Hockey League. Clashing with teams in the American section both Flying Frenchmen and their intra-city rivals registered victories to improve their standing. Canadiens trounced the last place Philadelphia Quakers, 2 to 1, while the Maroons crushed Detroit Falcons, 6 to 1.

While they did not play, Toronto Maple Leafs dropped to third place in the Canadian group being displaced from second position by the Maroons who are two points behind the Habitants. The Americans failed to threaten the Leafs, however, as they went down to defeat before the Chicago Blackhawks, 1 to 0 and are in fourth place two games away.

In the all-American tilt New York Rangers made a mighty effort to shake the Boston jinx which has been trailing them for three years and they forced the group leaders to split the points, the hotly contested game ending in a 2-all tie.

After their surprising victory over Maroons last Saturday the lowly Quakers came back last night and almost provided another startling upset. True they were outplayed by the Red Shirts but they threw a large sized scare into Howie Morens and his cohorts by notching the first goal of the game early in the first period. Allan Shields got the marker unassisted and, due to "Jumping Jakie" Forbes' fine netminding the Quakers clung to their slim lead until late in the middle frame when Morenz boomed a terrific shot into the Philadelphia cage. The same player engineered the play which enabled Nick Wasnie to register the winning tally after seven minutes in the last period.

Manager Cooper Smeaton was forced to secure the loan of Forbes from New Haven of the Canadian-American league, as both the Quaker goalguardians, Joe Miller and Cude, are on the hospital list. After losing three straight Maroons showed a reversal of form against the Falcons, who seldom managed to get into the picture. Like their fellow townsmen, Canadiens, Maroons needed victory badly in view of their schedule the balance of the week. On Thursday these old rivals clash in the eastern metropolis and Coach Dune Munro was hopeful his charges would come to life and snatch second place while the opportunity offered. They came to life with a vengeance as the Falcons will sorrowfully testify.

Two cleverly executed counters in the opening frame from the sticks of Dave Trottier and Nels Stewart gave the Montrealers a lead which enabled them to lie back and wear down the speedy Detroiters in the middle frame.

Then the Maroons' stalwarts renewed their offensive in the final session and the tired Falcons were utterly unable to cope with their hard hitting rivals. Four goals was the net result of that last Montreal onslaught. Bill Phillips, Stewart, Johnny Gallegher and Jimmy Ward were the successful marksmen.

The Falcons did manage to stagger down the ice for one counter. Ebbie Goodfellow, League leading sniper, got credit for it, on a pass from Reg. Noble.

As Rangers split the points at Boston the Falcons dropped two full games behind the New Yorkers in the battle for third place in the junior division.

Hawks Blank Amerks.

A brilliant goal by "Mush" March, youthful Chicago winger, enabled the Black Hawks to keep their record on New Year ice unsullied. The teams fought at a hot clip for 50 minutes with honors even, but to the surprise of everyone the heavier Amerks commenced tiring before their lighter opponents, and when they dropped back for a breather, Teddy Graham and March dashed goalward with the puck and the former Regina junior made no mistake when Graham handed him a perfect pass.

The victory enabled the Hawks to climb a point nearer the leading bruins and draw further away from the Rangers.

Boston's loyal hockey fans were given a rude jolt by the Rangers, who distinctly outplayed the well-balanced Bruin squad during the last half of the game. "Dutch" Gainor put the Bostonians in front shortly after the game commenced, and the fans sat back wondering how many points their favorites would win by. The first surprise came when the Bruins failed to increase their lead, and the second came when the dashing Bill Cook knotted the count early in the middle frame.

From then on it was a bitter but spectacular feud. Boston took the lead again after the half-way mark had been passed when Harry Oliver scored on a pass from Eddie Shore. But once again the Rangers evened matters, "Butch" Keeling registering a pretty goal on Paul Thompson's pass. The balance of the period and during the overtime session saw the Rangers bombard the Bruin cage with a great variety of shots, but Tiny Thompson's great goaltending frustrated their best efforts.

Neill Cup Tourney Opens On Thursday

In view of the fact that the regular district bonspiel of the local curling club, has been curtailed this season, it is anticipated in sporting circles that the Neill Trophy competition, which opens tomorrow morning at nine o'clock will arouse more than usual interest, and will be the means of bringing in a large entry from other curling clubs throughout the district.

The coveted trophy presented in the season 1917-18 by the late Robert Neill, for annual district competition, is at present held by Skip Jack Wiley and his rink. It is accompanied by other silver prizes for the winning rink and the runners-up.

CURLING

The schedule games, as played at the local curling club last evening, resulted as follows:—

Green	6	Bacon	12
Morrow	8	Debbins	13
Sedgewick	10	Sutton	9
Moore	17	Kay	14

The Green boys seemed to be "off color."

If Sutton had not played his last stone, he would have won his game against Sedgewick. The doctor was 3 up coming home with Sedgewick laying 2. "Doc" played a little heavy and took his third shot out, leaving his opponent four.

Cavalry Are Winners In Garrison Softball

Two scheduled games in the Garrison Softball League were played last night in the Armouries. The first between Rangers' "A" Company and the Cavalry, was won by the latter 17-8; and in the second, Rangers' "B" Company handed the Machine Gunners a 12-7 licking.

There is no admission charge for these games, and fans are invited to come out and cheer for their teams.

INAUGURAL MEETING OF OMEMEE COUNCIL

No Action Taken Regarding Reappointment of Victor White as Traffic Officer.

OMEMEE, Jan. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The new council consisting of Reeve J. Magee, and W. Moncrief, Isaac Fee, William Burgess and Fred Parker, councillors met for the inaugural meeting on Monday, January 12.

On motion it was decided that no action be taken reappointing Victor White, traffic officer and the clerk was instructed to notify him.

A by-law authorising the borrowing of $5,000 at a rate of 6 per cent. from the Bank of Toronto was passed, and S. J. Mackey was appointed chairman of the Board of Health. Correspondence from Plaxton Huston and Co. re insurance, and from Trent Waterway was filed.

The following bills were ordered paid: Hydro Electric, $85.66; Watchman Warder, $63.63; Gore Fire Insurance Co., $82; Municipal World, $1.47; election expenses, $8; R. W. Mitchell, account, $6.06; Thomas Newman, $7.38.

The council adjourned for the evening session.

Evening Session.

Mr. Saunders of the Goodyear Tire Co., was present at the evening session and addressed the council re hose sold the village in summer of 1930. The council decided to accept the offer of Mr. Saunders to buy 50 feet of hose at half price.

S. D. Vaughan was reappointed school trustee. An account from R. W. Mitchell was ordered paid, also one from R. Lee for coal.

The reeve and W. Burgess were appointed as a committee to make repairs on the jail, and a by-law was passed appointing R. Bradley and H. Hill as auditors. J. J. Williams has the position of weed inspector at $5 for 1931.

On motion it was decided to charge the Agricultural Department $20 for use of the Council Chamber and one night in the auditorium.

I. Fee W. Moncrief and the reeve were appointed to look into the matter of cleaning the streets of snow. The tax collector, Thomas Newman, was granted an extension of one month.

The council adjourned to meet the first Monday of February at 7.15.

Mission Band Meets

The first meeting of 1931 for the Mission Band of Trinity Church was held on Monday afternoon in the Sunday School room and quiet music played by Mrs. Morcombe announced the call to worship.

The new president, Miss Evelyn Morcombe, presided, and the annual Valentine Day entertainment was decided to take the form of a social evening. The mite boxes were distributed among the members.

The scriptural reading was taken by Miss Doreen Morcombe and a vocal duet was given by Hilda and Earl Marshall, and a piano solo by Miss Frances McPherson.

The study book story was given by the Rev. Mr. Blanchard.

Regular Meeting Central School Assoc.

The regular monthly meeting of Central Home and School Association was held on Monday evening in the kindergarten room of the school. Mrs. D. C. Eldred, president, was in the chair.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada," and the repeating of the Lord's Prayer in unison. The minutes of the last business meeting were read, and a report was given by the treasurer.

As the annual election of officers will take place at next meeting, a nominating committee, composed of Mesdames W. Flannery, J. Vass, F. Skitch and Jackson, was appointed. It is anticipated that a large number of members will be present for this important meeting.

After the business session an enjoyable hour was spent in contests and games. The prize-winners were: Mesdames Detcher, J. Vass, F. Skitch, Boorman, Fleetwood and Miss A. Goulby.

Dainty refreshments were served by the executive, which brought a pleasant evening to a close.

CATARACTS DEFEAT PATRICIAS 2 TO 1

Victory Puts Niagara Team Within Point of Fourth Place Pats.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Staging an uphill fight, Niagara Falls Cataracts overcame a one goal lead secured by their opponents in the first period, to defeat Oshawa Patricias, 2 to 1, after 10 minutes' overtime in only Ontario Hockey League fixture played last night.

Steve Rice, clever Pat centre, scored halfway through the first frame to give his team a lead which they held until the closing minutes of the third chapter. At this stage a four man attack brought the Cataracts a goal from the stick of Frook Lowery and the game went into overtime The winning goal was notched by McLeod in the last minute of play and placed the Niagara team within a point of fourth place Pats.

Three games will be played tonight. The League leaders, Guelph Maple Leafs and Galt Terriers both go abroad for their matches, and a possible shake-up in the standing is in prospect. The Terriers clash with tl.. last place Kitchener Silverwoods who are showing rapid improvement, while the Leafs tangle with Stratford Nationals. Oshawa and Niagara Fall.. continue their rivalry at the Motor City.

"Gib" McKelvey Captain Of Queen's Senior Team

KINGSTON, Jan. 14. (Special to The Examiner).—Gilbert McKelvey—"Gib" the fans call him—was on Tuesday afternoon chosen president and captain of the senior rugby team of Queen's University—the champions of the past two years—succeeding Ian Gourley, one of the ablest captains Queen's team has ever had. Gourley graduates in the Spring, to the great regret of everybody. "Gib" McKelvey is a tower of strength to the team. He will also quit college in 1932. Principal W. Fyfe, Hamilton, was named as the honorary president of the organization.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

GRAND THEATRE TO OPEN ON TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, WITH THE SCOTTISH COMEDY "MARIGOLD"

The dramatic season at the Grand Opera House will be revived on Tuesday and Wednesday, January 20 and 21, with "Marigold," a Scottish play which enjoyed the astonishingly long run of 700 performances in London. It is a play of universal appeal that is set in the quaint old-world atmosphere of Edinburgh, when Queen Victoria as a young bride made her first visit to the grey capital of the North, and all Scotland had thronged to the City to bid her welcome. (As a matter of history she behaved rather badly and left her host in the Firth long before the appointed time and neither the City Fathers nor the troops were ready to receive her).

The story of "Marigold" centres around the love affairs of bonnie Scots maiden of that name, her somewhat restricted life in a manse near Edinburgh, her bethrothal to a dour, elderly lover, and her ultimate escape into the realm of youthful love and happiness. A simple and charming story which keeps the audience in a continual state of merriment, albeit there are moments of real pathos and dramatic situations.

The period (1842) is one of special interest to the fair sex. It is the period of the crinoline and the poke bonnet, when officers wore their brilliant uniforms all day long and did not change into mufti, and archery was almost the only sport indulged in by the ladies. A period of color but not too remote from our own to seem a different world

Three 'Cage' Games Scheduled To-Night

A triple cage bill is scheduled for to-night on the Y.M.C.A. 'gym' floor, when C.G.E. Test will tangle with C.D.S., followed by Westclox vs. Chevrolet Motors and Graftons vs. C.G.E. The opening game will commence at 7.30.

C.G.I.T. RALLY IS BIG SUCCESS

Provincial Girls' Work Secretary Attends Annual Conference.

HOLD VESPER SERVICE

The Annual Conference of the Peterborough Canadian Girls in Training was held on Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Evelyn Craw, B.A., of Toronto, Provincial Girl's Work Secretary was the guest speaker and took charge of the discussion periods.

The Saturday sessions of the conference were held in George St. United Church commencing at three o'clock with an informal discussion of C.G.I.T. programs and ideals and an outline of new material and ideas. Following the discussion several new songs were learned and a recreation period of games. A treasure hunt completed the afternoon program. The treasure finally being found at the Y.W.C.A. and a further treasure in the form of an educational trip through the Silverwood Dairy where the process of pasteurizing milk and making condensed milk, cheese and ice cream was explained by G. A. Gillespie and ice cream served to all. A vote of thanks was extended Mr. Gillespie and three hearty cheers.

Returning to George St. Sunday School the girls found mothers, leaders and friends had supper ready and the 120 members enjoyed the repast which was interspersed with songs and group yells. Miss Katherine Hodgens of Trinity C.G.I.T. presided over the evening session. Miss Leta Brownscombe, President of the Girls' Work Board, spoke of the work of the Board in the city which aims to promote the C.G.I.T. program and link up the different groups in conferences, camps and rallies. Rev. J. E. Millyard, Rev. Moorehouse, Rev. Sutcliffe and Dr. Madill each spoke congratulating the girls on their program and work. A short program presented by the girls of Trinity Church, Knox, St. Andrew's, Mark St., St. Paul's, May's School and George St., consisting of readings, solos and drills was enjoyed. The appreciation of the girls was expressed by Miss Eleanor Stacey to all those who had helped with the program and the banquet and the chairman then called on Miss Vera Squire, secretary of the Girls' Work Board and who was largely responsible for the arrangements of the Conference to introduce Miss Craw.

The subject of the Conference was "The Adventure of Being a Girl," and Miss Craw told of adventures in every day living and how worth while adventures were always the result of faith, emphasizing that if the girl had faith they could accomplish anything and pointing how through their daily life they could be adventures on a quest for the very best in life. Miss Craw's talk closed very impressively by the girls retiring in very orderly lines singing "Follow the Gleam."

A Sunday afternoon Vesper Service was held after Sunday school in Knox Church, girls from the various churches assembling there at 4.15 and filling the central part of the church. Miss Jean McCannon presided at the organ and representatives of various groups assisted in the service. Miss Craw continues the thought of the Conference "Adventuring" and spoke of Canadian Girls in Training in their Homes, their School, their Church and their place in the Nation and the World, telling them what it meant to be a Canadian Girl in Training and encouraging them to adventure in the highest and best. The service closed with prayer by Miss Craw.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DEEP SNOW

The snow was falling in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived close to the Orange Ice Mountains. There is one nice thing about snow. When it falls it never seems to get hurt as little girls and boys do. No matter how often or how far the snow falls, it never bumps its nose or cracks its toes.

"Well, I think we are going to have a big storm," said Uncle Wiggily as he looked out of the window of his hollow stump bungalow in the morning when his bunny rabbit children were getting ready to go to school. "It is going to be a very deep snow."

"Then the children ought to wear their rubbers," said Mrs. Longears.

"They already have them!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy who was baking carrot pancakes with maple sugar gravy for the forty sixteen rabbit boys and girls, and also for Baby Bunty the orphan child bunny who lived in the bungalow. "There rubbers are waiting to be put on."

"That's good!" said Uncle Wiggily doing a jolly little dance with his pink nose twinkling around like a star. "Be careful of the deep snow, my dears," he told Jingle, Jangle, Custer, Buster, Baby Bunty and all the others as they started for school. "Be careful not to get lost in the deep snow."

"We will, Daddicums!" they all answered, except Baby Bunty and she said "Unkie Wig."

Well it kept on snowing all the morning, and it was snowing at noon when the children came home from school to eat their lunch. It was snowing when it was time for them to go back and tell the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School how much they knew about their lessons. Softly, like feathers, the white flakes sifted down out of the clouds.

"My, the snow is getting deep!" exclaimed Mrs. Longears as she looked out of the window. "Perhaps you children should stay home from school this afternoon."

"Oh, no, Mother! We want to go!" they shouted and out into the storm they hopped before she could stop them.

"Little Tykes!" murmured Mr. Longears. "They like to play in the deep snow. Well, I guess it won't harm them."

More and more snow came down. It was getting very deep. Uncle Wiggily started out to look for an adventure but his wife said:

"I wish you would stay in until the children get home from school. The snow is so deep some of them may get lost."

"All right, my dear," agreed the rabbit gentleman. "I'll sit here at the window and watch the snowflakes fall down. And when I see our boys and girls and Baby Bunty coming home from school I will know they are safe and then I'll go adventuring. I think I'll have fun in my deep snow! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

The afternoon began to get dark. It was time for school to be out but Uncle Wiggily, pressing his pink nose against the window glass and making it quite flat (I mean his nose was flat) Uncle Wiggily did not see any of his bunnies coming along the path.

"Aren't they in sight yet?" his wife called from upstairs where she was putting the pillows to bed.

"I don't see them," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I see some hats and caps blowing along the top of the snow, but I see none of the bunny boys and girls or Baby Bunty."

"Well, go out and pick up the hats," advised Nurse Jane. "Maybe they belong to our children and the stormy wind may have blown them off their heads."

Uncle Wiggily hopped out into the snow and then he saw how deep it was, for it came nearly up to his ears. He floundered and waded along until he reached the first hat on top of the snow. But when the rabbit gentleman tried to pick up the hat a voice under it called out:

"Who is up there? Who is taking my hat?"

"My gracious!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Is there anybody under this hat?"

"Of course there is," said the voice. "I'm Buster and that is on my head."

"But where are you?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for he could not see his funny little boy rabbit.

"I'm right here under my hat and my head," Buster answered. "Dig down and you'll see the rest of me!" So Uncle Wiggily kicked away the snow and there, surely enough, was Buster. Behind him in a parade were Custer, Jingle, Jangle, Baby Bunty and all the other children. The snow was so deep that only their hats stuck out of it as they came wading home from school. A queer sight it was to see just hats and caps moving along as if mud turtles were beneath them. But though the snow was very deep, all the bunny children came safely home from school.

Havelock Women's Institute Appeals to Department For Summer Speaker.

HAVELOCK, January 14 (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular meeting of Havelock Women's Institute, was held in the Council Chamber, when there was a goodly attendance of members. The president, Mrs. Hubble, occupied the chair, and the roll call, "a beautiful thought from poetry or prose," was well responded to. A number of communications were read and dealt with. The list of library books forwarded by the Department was ordered filed for future reference of the Library Board.

A letter from the Department regarding the summer series was read and discussed. It was decided on motion to apply for a summer speaker, and to invite the Junior Institute to be present for the special occasion. The subject chosen was "Planting Home Flower Gardens." On motion it was decided to purchase Mrs. W. R. Lang's Book on Law for the library.

The report of the relief committee was submitted. Money was spent for Christmas cheer for needy families, and a quilt was also given. The attention of the relief committee was drawn to a needy family and were instructed to act in the matter.

It was decided to make some quilts for relief purposes as soon as possible. One member offered a quilt top, and a number of others volunteered to make blocks. These blocks are to be made of any cloth material, and are to be 20 x 20 inches square. A quilting will be held at the home of Mrs. Armstrong on January 15. A number of accounts were ordered paid. A newspaper clipping was read regarding free supplies for Red Cross work for relief purposes, and the secretary was instructed to write the representatives at Ottawa Dr. Embury regarding the same. A case of need was reported, and it was decided to refer it to the council. Mrs. J. Cochrane gave a splendid reading which was much appreciated.

A splendid lunch was afterwards served, and a social half hour was enjoyed. Hostesses for the day were Mesdames Sanderson, Varty, Simpson, Seabrooke, McQuigge.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

LADIES' AID ENJOYS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Officers Elected at First Meeting For Year of St. James' Society.

The St. James' Ladies' Aid met in Wesley Hall yesterday afternoon for their first meeting of the New Year and for election of officers, with twenty members present.

Mrs. W. D. Sargent, the president, presided during the opening devotional session and for routine business. The hymn, "Blessed Assurance" was sung, and Rev. Mr. Moorhouse led in prayer.

Appropriate to the New Year spirit was the scripture lesson read by Mrs. E. Grose, which was taken from the 91st Psalm.

Exceedingly interesting and encouraging were the reports of the officers for last year and of the various committees of the association, showing that again a most successful year had been given them. Chief among the reports of progress was that of the president, convenor of the devotional committee, to which much of the success was ascribed. Following this closely was the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. J. A. Fry in detail, revealing a material financial gain, after which the Doxology was sung. Several letters of thanks for flowers and kindness shown in illness were received and read by the secretary, Mrs. Stokes, and nine new members were reported making in all a membership of sixty-two.

A hearty vote of thanks to the board of managers of St. James' was extended for the assistance given the ladies throughout the year, and also to Mr. Fry.

Rev. Mr. Moorhouse presided during the election of officers, with Mrs. Drysdale and Mrs. Roberts acting as scrutineers. The returns give the following executive and committees for the coming year:—

Honorary President, Mrs. A. Wilson; President, Mrs. W. D. Sargent; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. H. Davidson; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Frank Pratt; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Stokes; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. Roberts; Treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Fry; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Bannon; Press Secretary, Mrs. Jean Wagar; Pianist, Mrs. E. Grose.

Committees—Devotional: Mesdames Moorhouse, Sollitt and Sargent. Flower: Mesdames Drysdale and Dunbar. Social: Mesdames Pratt, Sloan, Brumwell, Atkinson, Swanger and Roberts. Parsonage: Mesdames Wilson, Sargent and Fry. Programs: Mesdames Turner and Fife. Representatives to Local Council of Women: Mesdames Cripps, Welch and Curtis. The Visiting and Look-Out committees were left over to another meeting. Sewing Circles convenors: No. 1, South Circle, Mesdames Atkinson and Pratt; No. 2, Central Circle, Mesdames Fife and Plunkett; No. 3, Busy Bees, Mesdames Sloan and Davis. Quilt Committee: Mesdames Wilson and Sollitt.

The Society advanced $5.00 to each of the three Circles that they might begin work at once.

The pastor pronounced the Benediction, bringing the meeting to a conclusion.

ANNUAL MEETING ST. GEORGE'S W. A.

Mrs. E. Tucker Elected President of Society For Coming Year.

The annual meeting of St. George's W. A. was held on Tuesday afternoon in the church basement. Mrs. E. Tucker, president, occupied the chair for the opening devotions.

The chief item of business was the election of officers for the ensuing year, and resulted as follows: Hon. Pres., Mrs. J. L. Hughes; President, Mrs. E. Tucker; Vice Pres., Mrs. J. Huxley; Secretary, Mrs. A. Sims; Treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Andrews; Sec'y for Living Message, Mrs. C. Cole; Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. J. Dorsett; Junior Supt. and Prayer Partner Secretary, Mrs. Hughes; Little Helpers' Sec'y, Mrs. F. Dorrell.

A Chancel Guild was formed within the W.A., with the Vice President as Convenor.

The Rector presided during the election of officers and closed the meeting with prayer.

Nearly 2,000,000 bushels of potatoes were grown in Mexico in 1930.

Cultivation of beet sugar in Lithunia is increasing.

SPLENDID REPORTS FOR YEAR'S WORK

Women's Missionary Society of George Street Church Holds Annual Rally Meeting.

The annual rally meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church was held in the board room of the Sunday school hall, with an attendance of about seventy.

The president, Mrs. W. E. Coon, opened the meeting with prayer, after which she welcomed the large number of visitors present, hoping all would become members of the society. Mrs. R. Parnell read the devotional leaflet, followed by prayer by Mrs. S. R. Armstrong, Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard and Mrs. W. Knox.

The secretary, Mrs. W. H. Morton, gave a very comprehensive report of the activities of the society, and Mrs H. Dulmage, the financial report.

Mrs. T. Mather, Mrs. B. Shortley and Miss Might were appointed as delegates to the Local Council of Women.

The Presbyterial, to be held in Trinity Church on January 20 and 21, was announced and members were urged to attend as many sessions as possible. Mrs. H. A. Bonner and Mrs. J. Fairbrother were appointed as delegates.

Annual reports were then submitted by the superintendents of the various committees. Mrs. J. W. Hales for the sick and visiting committee, reported six hundred and twenty-nine calls made during the year.

Mrs. J. Spencer, for the Strangers' committee, had made 92 calls during the past year on new-comers.

Mrs. H. Dulmage, superintendent of the Twilight Mission Circle, gave a concise summary of the activities, and Mrs. Knox reported for the Y.W.A.

Mrs. A. I. Brown, superintendent of the Fidelis Mission Band, reported splendid success during the year with a membership of 45.

Mrs. B. M. Frederick reported for the Baby Band.

The Literature secretary, Miss Birnie, and the Supply secretary, Mrs. F. Mather, gave splendid reports of their work during the year.

Mrs. Coon announced a tea at the home of Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard on afternoon and evening of January 30, under the auspices of W.M.S. Mrs. S. R. Armstrong kindly consented to act as convenor.

Mrs. Wildman sang a very much-appreciated solo, "I'll Go Where You Want Me To Go, Dear Lord," accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Cunningham.

Mrs. E. E. Harvey took up a chapter of the study book, "The Fruits of Christian Missions in Japan."

The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 45 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Meanwhile, Tarzan, as he listened to the warrior's account of the "white piccaninny's" burial, believed that his little son was lost to him forever. Though his heart was nearly broken by the news, he set his teeth, more grimly determined than ever to rescue Jane, who, he was now convinced, could not be very far away. Swinging through the trees, he hastened on and came to the Russian's camp. But it was empty, as though newly deserted.

For on the morning of Jane's escape Rokoff had been discovered stunned and bleeding within his tent. When he recovered his senses and found the girl had fled, his rage was boundless. Before he could be seized and disarmed, he had shot down several of the native sentries and some of his own men, who, he vowed, had allowed her to escape.

Then came messengers from the M'ganwanam tribe crying that the great white giant had been seen, on his way to wreak vengeance against his enemies. The blacks were terror-stricken of this creature who hunted with a fierce pack of apes and panthers at his beck. Their superstitious fears sent them scurrying into the bush. Rokoff and his few remaining sailors found themselves alone in the wilderness.

Hastily they broke camp, and were following the trail up river but a few hours when Tarzan came upon the embers of their fire. It was enough to spur him hotly forward. So it was that towards night, as Rokoff in his new camp chanced to glance toward the forest edge, his blood ran cold. What he saw was the giant figure of an almost naked white man emerging from the bush.

THOMAS ELLIOTT

WOOLER, Jan. 14.—News of the death of Thomas Elliott, who passed away in Belleville General Hospital on Monday morning following an operation for mastoids was received with a great shock by residents of this community.

He leaves to mourn a sorrowing wife and two sons, Earl, of Toronto and Walter at home.

The funeral will be held on Thursday from Wooler United Church, with the Rev. A. Poulter conducting the service.

TRUEMAN DUNN

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 14. (Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred suddenly at an early hour Tuesday morning of Trueman Dunn of Trent River after a short illness. He was in his 68th year..

Mr. Dunn had been suffering from a cold, which developed into diphtheria a few hours before his death. Besides his widow there survives three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Alley of Peterborough, Mrs. Hogg of Codrington, Mrs. Herdie Robinson of West Seymour and James Edgar of Trent River, and Ernest of Wall Lake, Michigan. Of a family of seven brothers and one sister, deceased is survived by two brothers, Charlie of West Seymour and Joseph of Belmont. The late Mr. Dunn has resided in Trent River for a number of years and acted as guide for tourists during the season. Deep sympathy goes out to the family in their sudden and deep affliction.

The funeral was private at 5 o'clock the same evening. Interment at Centre church cemetery.

Holiness the Pope His Excellency the Dictator, Mussolini."

Little keyhole portraits, those vignettes which give a glimpse of the mentality and physical contour of the people discussed, were afforded the listeners. Dr. Locke fell in with a Scotchman from Dumfermline, who had with him Hugo's "'Easy Way of Learning Italian" ("you know the type of book, in which it tells you exactly how to say 'No, waiter, the lady prefers red wine,' when you are trying to gtt away from a policeman," remarked the speaker) and together they saw the Holy City and observed with their Canadian and Scotch eyes the working out of the great adventure whose aim, declared the speaker, is to prove to the world that Italy can be as great again as it was in the past. So with this end in view, history becomes the dominating study and the three elements, the King, with his sense of humour ('It is because of this sense of humour that Mussolini is tolerated. The king evidently thinks to himself: Here is a man who is willing to get into all sort of trouble and take the blame. I will enjoy myself in the meantime") Mussolini, the absolute Dictator, with his immovable head and the black, piercing eyes that bored into Dr. Locke's backbone, according to his recital of his sensations when he tried to watch the dictator, and the Pope; they were ushered in turn on the stage and vanished as the speaker went on to conjure up other pictures.

Theatricalism Rampant

In the Senate Chamber at Rome, with its red velvet seats perspiring on a hot day, the delegation was received by Mussolini, who spoke to them in Italian. Although one of the recent Chautauqua speakers raved over the handsomenessof Mussolini, Dr. Locke forebore to mention his masculine beauty. He spoke of his immovable exterior and the dramatic spirit which animates his every move. At his leaving the hall, five silver airplanes appeared in the sky and escorted him to his next stop.

Then there was the little king, speaking to the group in faultless English and enjoying a sly joke at their expense; and finally, the Pope. Coming in before the Holy Father was a magnificent figure mistaken by the visitors at first for the Supreme Pontiff, robed in purple, who afterward proved to be the manager of affairs at the Vatican and the official taster of foods. Two richly-robed cardinals preceded the Pope, who was in a greyish homespun edged with purple and who spent three and a half hours with his guests, addressing to each personal enquiries.

Next day, Dr. Locke and a companion were privileged to inspect the inner rooms of the Vatican and the Library, in which are stored the treasured volumes which the Pope, himself a notable librarian before his accession to the chair of Peter, has been able to secure from the Barberini and other famous Roman collections.

"All roads lead to Rome" was the ancient saying and the fulfillment of the same truth in modern days is the United wish of those three who rule Rome now — the Dictator, the King, and the Pope. To the Italian the Mediterranean (the Mare Nostrum that haunted the ambitious thoughts of Napoleon, almost to his undoing) is still the mother sea, but it is held at both entrances by the English and the French people live on its borders.

"It is perfectly marvellous how the French are hated on the Continent," declared Dr. Locke, "and particularly so by the Italian people and by Mussolini himself."

"The 'isms' should not be confused. There is a vast difference between Communism, such as obtains in Russia, where every person is supposed to be free and equal, and Fascism, as it obtains in Italy, where an absolute dictator rules, and where the 'fasces,' those little bundles of twigs that were so familiar a part of the old Roman insignia, are found on every hand."

Dr. Locke went on to outline some of the achievements of Mussolini, in making his country safe for the traveller, in rationalizing industry and in encouraging the progress of education. But the German idea of technical education, the idea which they believed would assist them in conquering the world, has become an exploded system. The Italian is ready to return to the old idea of a dominating humanism and the humanities are once more coming into their own. The Italians are using the dramatic pictures of those recovered triremes of Tiberius Caesar, raised up from the depths of Lake Nemi; the excavated ruins near Pompeii and Herculaneum, even the wolf that recalls the story of Romulus and Remus, to show the world how the ancient glories of Rome may once more rise out of the past.

"And we must remember that it is the dreamer that invents everything of value in this world. The practical man comes along and brings it to fruition, but the idea is born in the mind of the thinker and the untechnical one. It is the question of beliefs that we must face, not the question of exports."

Miss Margaret Hamilton, president of the Women's Canadian Club, introduced the speaker in a brief little speech which outlined some of the high spots in his career, while a well-worded vote of thanks was voiced by Mrs. W. R. Morris and appropriately seconded by Mrs. R. Harstone.

Dr. Locke once taught in Peterborough Collegiate Institute and his father was at one time pastor of George Street Church. He spoke jocularly of the life of a professor as a terrible one and remarked that the life of a librarian was more satisfying. He referred to the case of the Pope, who was once a librarian, and to the instance of a librarian who found himself the recipient of a thousand-pound annual income from Andrew Carnegie, as incentives for himself and Mr. DeLaFosse to continue in their chosen work

CERTIFICATES ARE GIVEN TO PUPILS

Interested Audience Hears Recital in St. John's Parish Hall.

INTERESTING PROGRAM.

One of the entertaining recitals which are given from time to time by pupils of Frederick G. Mann, L. Mus., in St. John's Parish Hall, took place last night, when an interested audience listened to a varied and well-presented program. Prior to the presentation of certificates to the successful students of the 1929-30 examinations by Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, Griffin Young one of the boy choristers headed a program of solos and musical selections, with "Just A-wearying For You" (Bond). The item was well received, as also were those succeeding it, as follows: The Cloistered Nun (Hayes) J. F. White; Un Petite Fluer (Henry) A. Barnes; Memories (Williams) D. Pearse; Humoureske (Dvorak) C. Legon; Mazurk (Henry) R. Huggins; In The Cloisters (Torrance) I. J. Luther; German Dance (Beethoven) D. Vivash; Happy Summer Song (Kahn) F. Ward; Liebestraum No. 3 (Liszt) Miss E. Grisdale; (a) I Seek For Thee (Ganz), (b) When All Was Young (Gounod) Miss R. Quartermaine; Grand Polonaise in E. Flat (C. M. Von Weber) Miss L. Bacon; Country Gardens (Grainger) A. Collinson; In Old Madrid (Trotere) Victor Coleman.

Of the following pupils, among whom were a large number representative of the younger musicians of the city, five were taught by Miss L. Bacon, four by Miss E. Grisdale, three by Miss M. Weatherhead, two by Mrs. M. B. Hoyland and one by Mrs. G. A. Poole. The remainder received their tuition from Mr. Mann. The following were certificates presented:

INJURED IN FALL.

Edward Cruthers, a crippled resident of this city, was admitted to Nicholls Hospital shortly before midnight, suffering from injuries sustained to his back, when he apparently slipped on the icy sidewalk outside the Charlebond Apartments on Charlotte Street.

After being informed by a girl that "a dead man was lying on the sidewalk," Joseph Dean, confectioner, carried the unconscious form of Cruthers into his store, and rendered aid. He then telephoned for Dr. H. M. Yelland, who ordered the man's removal to hospital. He is this morning reported to be resting comfortably.

Assets $6,300,000

Officials of the G. A. Stimson Co., Ltd., claim assets valued at $6,300,000 with liabilities around $6,000,000.

The company was established by the late Col. Stimson, who has been dead a number of years. F. G. Johnston is now the president of the parent company and L. E. Clark is vice-president.

The Commerce and Transportation Building in Toronto was financed by the sale of preference shares carrying a return of 7 per cent. It is claimed that the various issues of the Stimson companies have never been in default in the matter of dividends or interest.

Opened Here In 1929

G. A. Stimson and Co. Ltd. opened an office at 444 George street in 1929. Charles W. Shosenburg, 11 Benson Avenue, has been the local manager. The failure of the company leaves Peterborough with but one stock broker's office, that of Biggar and Crawford on Hunter street. Until the latter part of 1930 there were four firms with branch offices here.

K. J. Dunstan, Vice-President of the Bell Telephone Company, has just retired after 53 years in the service.

Within a few days of the announcement of Mr. Dunstan's retirement a lone telephone pole, relic of other days, was removed from Yonge Street at the corner of Front—the last pole on that busy thoroughfare from the waterfront to Hogs Hollow. Over 86 per cent. of all the city's telephone wires are now underground, and Toronto, it should be remembered, is the best telephoned from the standpoint of homes of all the great cities of the world.

As a striking evidence of changed conditions from the early days of Mr. Dunstan's career, it is recalled that the big 60-foot telephone poles that used to carry scores of open wire at one time cost in the neighborhood of $5.00! To-day they cost about $40.00.

BITTER SECTARIAN ACTION LOOMS OVER GOVT'S EDUCATIONAL BILL

Measure Effective Next Year Raises School-leaving Age From 14 to 15 Years.

11,000 SCHOOLS AFFECTED.

(By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 14.—A bitter sectarian struggle over primary education looms as a possibility in connection with the Government's Education Bill, which will raise the school-leaving age from 14 to 15 years. The bill's provisions, it was announced recently will not come into action until next year.

Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Trevelyan, Minister of Education, is meeting representatives of the Catholic, Anglican and non-conformist bodies, and others interested in the bill. One of the chief results of the bill will be the necessity of providing additional school buildings. Many schools throughout the country still belong to the religious bodies, through the teachers in them are paid by the state.

The Catholics in particular are pressing for more liberal Government grants towards maintaining the school buildings and in return are prepared to surrender some rights concerning the appointment of teachers. The grant of public monies for maintenance of sectarian schools has always been strongly resisted in some quarters.

Many Refuse To Pay Taxes

When the Conservative Government passed the first education act allowing grants to denominational schools many fervid opponents declined to pay the portion of local taxes which they believed represented the amount devoted to sectarian education. Some resisted to the point of going to prison. The movement eventually died out but the convictions which prompted it remain very strong.

The Catholic vote naturally is of considerable importance and the members of the Cabinet are understood to be greatly divided over the course to be followed. The Minister of Education is believed to have made new proposals that will go far towards meeting the Catholic demands. If this is so, extreme hostility will be aroused among Liberals and non-conformists generally, and there is already talk of approaching Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, who in his younger days was one of the strongest opponents to the granting monies for sectarian education.

The problem affects 11,000 out of the 20,000 elementary schools in the country.

SHAFI PROPOSAL AT LAST MINUTE MAY BE SOLUTION

New Offer Concerns Representation in Bengal and Punjab Districts.

MOSLEM SACRIFICE.

Hindu Leader States Scheme Holds Out Hope For Settlement.

LONDON, Jan. 14—An eleventh hour development at the Indian Round Table Conference today may save the London negotiations from being wrecked by the Hindu-Moslem quarrel

Sir Muhammed Shafi, Moslem leader, this afternoon made a new offer to Hindu delegates which resulted in Premier MacDonald adjourning a meeting of the Minorities Committee for a hurried consultation with the opposition factions

The new offer concerned representation in Bengal and Punjab, districts which up to this time have been among the most difficult issues in the Hindu-Moslem negotiations

The Moslem spokesman proposed that the Moslems be given 49 per cent of all the seats in the Provincial Legislature and 46 per cent in Bengal, with the right to contest in special constituencies which may be created.

Minority Status

This means that the Moslems are willing to accept a permanent status as a minority in Bengal, although they formed a majority of the population, and in Punjab the Moslems would have a chance for a majority of one should they win seats in the special electorates.

Dr. S. J. Moonje, made a conciliatory reply for the Hindus and it was believed that a settlement of the issue was in sight.

Muhammed Shafi called this the final hour of the Round Table negotiations and declared that the Moslems could make no greater sacrifice than that embodied in his offer.

Sikh and Hindu spokesmen from Punjab and Bengal did not respond encouragingly to his proposals, but Dr. Moonje, who has been a central figure among the extremist Hindus, evoked general applause with his declaration that the new proposal held out a hope of settlement.

At his suggestion a few leaders of each side adjourned with Ramsay Macdonald for a private conference while the rest of the delegates resumed their conversations.

Beatty Stays Silent On Wireless Merger

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 14 (C.P.) — Neither E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway nor Hon. Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine, would comment to-day on the proposal to merge Canadian Wireless and Cable Systems into a single Empire Company. This plan was laid before the Government early this week by Sir Basil Blackett, chairman of the Imperial and International Communications, Limited.

Although the Canadian Pacific Railway Company would be affected by the projected merger through its own and affiliated telegraph and cable subsidiaries, Mr. Beatty to-day declined to comment on the merger.

The Minister of Marine, who had a conference with Sir Basil yesterday afternoon before the latter left Ottawa for Bermuda, likewise was reticent and declined to comment on the situation.

Chiropractic For Liver Trouble

Abnormal functioning of the liver produces a far-reaching detrimental effect upon the body. To insure proper activity of the liver you should use care in the selection of your foods, avoiding an excess of starches and sugar. You should exercise systematically and you should also make sure that there is no interference with the nerves which supply the liver. No organ can function properly unless it receives a normal supply of nerve energy.

SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS

are remarkably effective in clearing up many forms of liver trouble, so do not permit your illness to drag along when Chiropractic offers such splendid opportunity for the restoration of health.

FOUR STORES DESTROYED BY FIRE

BLAZE STARTS IN SMALL GALLERY SPREADS RAPIDLY

Charibond Apartment is Partially Gutted By Fire.

STORES ARE BURNED.

As Firemen Arrived at Scene of Fire There Was Bad Explosion.

Three stores in the old canoe factory building over the creek on Charlotte street and one store and six apartments in the Charlbond building were extensively damaged in a fire that was discovered in full flame about 3:30 o'clock this morning in William Sharpe's shooting gallery, the westerly store in the old canoe factory.

Loss Is Not Estimated

The extent of the loss to the owners and occupants could not be estimated this morning.

The old canoe factory property is owned by the Walker Stores Limited. It was included in the purchase made by Richard Hall Limited a year ago when that company was considering the removal of their business to a new store they proposed to build on Charlotte Street. Originally the English Canoe Company plant, it was afterwards a garage and finally was converted into three stores on the street frontage. The occupants are: the Brittania Candy Company of which William Blastorah is the proprietor, in the east end of the building; a novelty shop conducted by A. E. Thompson in the centre and William Sharpe's shooting gallery on the west.

Only the east wing of the Charlbond apartment building was caught in the fire's path, and by the irony that sometimes mocks the efforts of firemen it was caught in a relighting of the canoe roof torch about six o'clock. In the meantime the brigade had been working in a temperature that hung just above ten degrees below zero. M. J. Maher arrived early, opened his store to the men and provided them with woolen mitts when some of them were suffering from exposure.

Joe Dean's candy store is on the ground floor, and the apartment tenants were: Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cummings and Norman Lewis in the two apartments on the first floor upstairs; Mrs. E. M. Sage and Jas. Lundy in the second floor apartments, and Myles Coons and G. Reynolds in the two premises on top. R. C. Braund and John T. Braund are the owners of the Charlbond Apartments. Neither of them could estimate the extent of their loss at noon to-day. The building is insured for $6,000. There will be not only the property damage but also the loss of rentals until the building is repaired. A contractor gave the opinion that the loss would probably reach $7000 or $8,000 in the Charlbond building. Chief Gimblett's estimate was considerably less.

When the firemen reached the blaze about 3.30 o'clock the old canoe factory was shooting flames higher even than the top of the adjoining apartment building. Chief Gimblett

CITY OF OAXACA HIT BY 'QUAKE SIX ARE KILLED

Many Buildings Collapse as Tremor Shakes All Southern Mexico.

NINE INJURED.

Fear Stricken Inhabitants Sleep in Parks Despite Intense Cold.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15. (CP)—Dispatches to the newspaper Universal from Oaxaca to-day said that six persons were killed and nine injured there by the earthquake which shook all of Southern Mexico last night.

Much of the city was in ruins, many buildings having collapsed.

The city was in panic, the dispatches said, and despite intense cold many of the inhabitants remained throughout the night in the parks, afraid to sleep within the walls or because their homes had been destroyed.

Oaxaca, in the state of Oaxaca, southeast of Mexico City, is a city of 40,000 population and an important industrial and commercial centre. It was founded by soldiers of the Mexican Emperor Ahuizotl in 1486 and was invaded by the Spaniards in 1521.

The city has suffered from many earthquakes and many of the older houses are low, massive and earthquake-resisting. It has a cathedral and several churches of great historic interest.

PARLEY PASSES SANKEY'S PLAN FOR HOME RULE

Measure Goes Before Full Plenary Session of Conference Friday.

GOV'T POLICY GIVEN AT END.

Maharajah of Biganer Proposes Granting Amnesty to Political Prisoners in India.

LONDON, January 15 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — The Indian Round Table Conference in committee this afternoon passed the Sankey report on a scheme of self-government for India. It will go before a full plenary session of the conference which may commence tomorrow, and will conclude on Monday morning. Premier Ramsay MacDonald will announce the Government's policy as the curtain falls.

Another development to-day was a report that the Maharajah of Bikaner, one of the most important of the native princes, had proposed to the conference granting of amnesty to the political prisoners in India, who number between 50,000 and 60,000.

The Indian Round Table Conference assembled in committee of the whole to-day, and Lord Sankey, Lord High Chancellor of the United Kingdom, chairman of the Federal Structure Sub-Committee, submitted the scheme for home Rule in India—with safeguards.

"Six weeks ago," Lord Sankey said, "the seed was sown here by the Prime Minister. We watched and tended its development. Now the small plant has appeared above the surface. Don't trample on it. Give it a chance. Take it back to India and transplant it in kindly Indian soil."

One Scene More.

The scene was the last but one in the great drama which for a couple of months has been slowly unfolding within the drab walls of the Palace of St. James.

"We have laid the foundations of a self-governing Dominion in India," one Indian delegate commented afterwards. "And the new federation will be one of the great federations of history. It will embrace a land area scarcely more than half that of Canada, but its population will be almost three times that of the United States."

The morning's speeches covered the general principles of a self-governing India as laid down in the Sankey report, which provides for a Government responsible to the Indian defense which are left to be administered by appointees of the Viceroy. Other safeguards provide for security of credit and finances, and for maintenance of Government by the Viceroy in event of a constitutional breakdown.

The conference was still in committee this afternoon considering the report paragraph by paragraph. The delegates were making such indi-

Clubs From Millbrook, Lakefield, Norwood and Keene Taking Part.

33 RINKS IN ALL.

Jas. Skinner Defeats B. Q. Dench of Lakefield 19-16 in First Match.

The district bonspiel for the Robert Neill trophy opened this morning with thirty-three rinks in the draw, twelve of them from the neighboring clubs of Millbrook, Lakefield, Norwood and Keene.

John J. Howden, president of the Peterborough Curling Club, greeted the visitors and welcomed them again for this competition which commemorates the curling enthusiasm and ideals of the late "Bob" Neill. This little preliminary reception was immediately followed by the drawing of the rinks for the play that began about 9:30 o'clock.

The visiting skips are: John McKelvey, Fred Kempt, W. Wellman and S. Wildman of Norwood; Bill Fletcher of Keene; B. Q. Dench, Dave Charlton and Percy Spence of Lakefield; Bob Edmunds, Ross Edmunds, Ed. Ball and the veteran John Steele of Millbrook.

Fingerprint Bill For All Over 16 Urged in Michigan

Fingerprinting of every persons in Michigan over 16 years of age, would be required under a bill prepared for introduction today in the State Legislature by Representative Alexander D. Cuthbertson. It would require all persons over 16 years old to have their fingerprints recorded before January 1, 1932. Violation would mean a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail or a fine of $100.

FAMILY OF FIVE DETAINED 6 DAYS

Syracuse Children in Immigration Authorities Hands While Father Combs Country.

LOCATED IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 15 (C.P.).—Detained here for six days for medical examination and treatment, five children of Osias Delaney of Syracuse, N.Y., will be allowed to proceed to their home to-morrow night, it was announced by the Dominion Immigration Department to-day. The children were brought here by a matron of the Immigration Department. Found to be ailing slightly they were given treatment.

A recent report to the Immigration Department that the grandmother at Nominingue, with whom they were living, was in straitened circumstances led to a decision to deport the children to the home of their father at Syracuse, and a matron was sent to the Laurentian Mountain village to oversee the deportation. She discovered a slight illness in the family which was looked after in Montreal. The children arrived here on Friday last.

HAMILTON TORIES TO CHOOSE CANDIDATE.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 15 (C.P.).—Conservatives of the Provincial riding of West Hamilton will this evening choose a candidtae. It is almost certain to be one of two persons—Controller Macfarland or Alderman Angus Martin. Ex-Controller John Tope, who was mentioned as a possible candidate, has intimated his name will not go before the convention.

With Elmore Philpott as the Liberal candidate, a lively fight for the election is assured. It is expected that the campaign will be featured by the appearance of Hon. W. H. Price, who is expected to reply to his critics.

BUY AT HOME IS SLOGAN SOUGHT IN CEMENT BUYING

Lakefield Citizens and Cement Company Spend Large Sums in City.

CONCRETE PAVING.

Peterborough's Cement Last Year Purchased By Tender From St. Mary's.

An employee of the Canada Cement Company at Lakefield a few nights ago mentioned to an Examiner reporter the fact that Peterborough bought its supply of cement last year from a company at St. Mary's instead of from the nearby plant at Lakefield.

"Probably it wouldn't have amounted to a large quantity compared with our total production," said the Lakefield man, "but we have had some Peterborough men working at our plant and I understand that our company did something like $10,000 business with one of your Peterborough factories. Just as a matter of neighborly relations some of us thought that Peterborough should have given us the preference when buying cement."

This opinion was expressed in the course of a casual conversation. There was nothing studied about it, and nothing official. These circumstances seem to emphasize rather than to diminish its interest and its significance. It possibly represents a general sentiment in Lakefield, and especially the sentiment of the numerous employees of the Cement Company. And the citizens of Peterborough should be concerned about their community relations with the neighboring village up the river.

Contract By Tender.

A local enquiry corroborates the central statement that the city council purchased its cement last year from the St. Mary's company through their local agent. It is understood that tenders were called, and two were submitted. The other from the local agent of the cement company at Lakefield. The St. Mary's cement was finally bought it

COURT PUZZLED OVER GIRLS' CASE

Seventy-seven Committed Illegally to Reformatory as Wayward Minors.

MAYOR WALKER INTERESTED

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Authorities found themselves at odds to-day on the problem of 77 New York girls alleged to have been illegally committed to Beford Reformatory as wayward minors.

Samuel Seabury, referee in a lower court's inquiry which unearthed the facts about the committments of the girls by several magistrates, answered criticism by Mayor James J. Walker, who sought to show that at the most, only five of the girls were committed illegally.

Seabury said that since 1923 the law has provided that wayward minors could be committed only "upon competent evidence presented at a hearing." All the girls in question, investigators contend, were committed on their own pleas of guilty, without competent evidence.

Oldest Merchant On George Street Dies at His Home

Robert Fair Has Been in Business in Peterborough for the Past 47 Years, Succeeding the Late Thomas Bradburn in Store Which is Still Home of Robert Fair Company.

SERVED FOR SEVERAL YEARS ON BOARD OF EDUCATION BEING ITS CHAIR MAN IN YEARS 1907 AND 1908

Deceased Enjoyed an Enviable Place in the City's Business Life Owing to His Fine Qualities of Kindliness, Honest and Absolute Adherence to Highest Business Ethics.

Robert Fair, one of this city's most prominent merchants and public-spirited citizens for the past 47 years, died to-day at his home, 509 Dickson Street, after an extended illness.

The Robert Fair Company's store is the oldest establishment on George Street. Forty-seven years ago last October, Robert Fair came to Peterborough from Centreville, where he was born on March 25, 1834, succeeding the late Thomas Bradburn in the store which is still the home of Robert Fair Company, Limited. Previous to locating here he had been in business in Centreville for seven years.

Fair's immediately became one of the leading stores of the thriving lumber town, a position it has always continued to hold due to the satisfactory service the public has always received. In 1907 the business was turned into a limited corporation with Mr. Fair as president.

As a public citizen, Mr. Fair in his most active years occupied many positions of prominence. For three years he was president of the Board of Trade, and served for many years on the Board of Education, being its chairman in 1907 and 1908.

Mr. Faid enjoyed an enviable place in the city's business life owing to his fine qualities of kindliness, honesty and absolute adherence to the highest business and social ethics. He was one of the first merchants in the city to introduce modern merchandising methods into his business. He won public confidence by always keeping dependable merchandise, moderately priced and in a very great measure he attributed his success to this and the cheerful service always found at his store. Under his guidance the "Esprit de Corps" of the store's staff was always a remarkable feature.

Mr. Fair was a most active member of St. John's Anglican Church, being warden of that church for many years. In politics he was a Conservative, and was also a member of the Corinthian Lodge A.F. and A.M.

His wife predeceased him years ago, and his only child, Ilean, died ten years ago. No immediate relatives survive, Mr. Fair being the last of his generation, but there are five nephews and several cousins.

The funeral will be held from his late residence on Saturday afternoon and interment will be in the Little Lake Cemetery.

Horse East Diamond Owner Calls Vet.

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 15 (C.P.).—Last Sunday Mrs. E. M. Marshall of Madera was leaning on the fence at a riding academy. On her hand was a $500 diamond ring in a high mounting. Her horse, attracted by the glittering gem, reached over, nipped the diamond out of the ring and swallowed it. To-day Mrs. Marshall appealed to a veterinarian for aid.

INSANE BURGLAR FLEES HOSPITAL

Man Who Robbed C.N.R. Mail Car of $20,000 in 1928 Escapes in His Pyjamas.

STOLE ORDERLY'S KEY.

DETROIT, Mich, Jan. 15. (CP)—Police to-day revealed that John Gerbic, alias Gibbs, who robbed a Canadian National Railways mail car near Chatham, Ont., of $20,000 in 1928, escaped Sunday from the psychopathic ward of the receiving hospital. He stole a pass key from an orderly and got away clad only in pyjamas and a bathrobe.

Gerbic, following the robbery of the mail car in Western Ontario, attempted to make his way into the United States on the Grand Trunk car ferry Lansdowne. He was captured and committed to the Hospital for the criminally insane at Guelph, Ont., Later he was deported to the United States, being taken to the Receiving Hospital. From there he was eventually released in the care of his mother.

Last October Gerbic was arrested in New Jersey and returned to Detroit. He was held at the Receiving Hospital pending completion of arrangements to place him in a state institution.

BELGIAN CONCESSIONS HANDED OVER.

TIENTSIN, China, Jan. 15.—(C.P.)—The Belgian concession here was formally handed over to the Nationalist Government to-day. The official documents of transfer were received by the Mayor in the presence of C. T. Wang, Foreign Minister and other Chinese dignitaries.

COCHRANE HITS 25 BELOW ZERO

Temperatures Indicate Cold Wave Passed Northern Land Settling Eastward.

HORNEPAYNE ZERO.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Jan. 15. (CP) The contrast in this morning's temperatures indicates that yesterday's cold spell has passed over the far northern and western regions of the country and settled itself in the eastern section of the north. Northern Ontario temperatures this morning ranged from 22 above at Schrieber, near White River and 12 above at Fraserdale, on the James Bay extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Railway, to 22 below at North Bay.

Timmins and Hornpayne, two widely separated centres, struck a happy medium to-day with zero temperatures at an 8 o'clock reading. Capreol, the country north of Sudbury and Englehart, and North Bay and Cochrane were the coldest spots this morning when the mercury touched 25 below.

HENDERSON, BRIAND GO TO GENEVA

PARIS, Jan. 15. (C. P. Cable via Havas).—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Aristide Briand, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, left to-day for Geneva where they will represent their countries at the forthcoming meeting of the League of Nations.

Accidents in British factories in the last year numbered nearly 150,000.

CIVIL SERVANT WAGE CUT URGED

Moose Jaw Member Favors Rigid Governmental Economy Policy.

LEVEL ALL PRICES.

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 15. (CP)—Advising a reduction in the salaries of civil servants and the sessional indemnities of members of the Legislature, S. Whittaker, Conservative Member for Moose Jaw County, took a strong stand in favor of rigid Governmental economy during the present depression, in the Legislature yesterday. He was prepared to introduce a resolution to this effect, he said.

Mr. Whittaker, speaking from the Government benches on the debate in reply to the speech from the throne, urged that all groups should co-operate toward bringing prices of manufactured goods down to the level of those of farm produce. If that were realised, he believed existing hardships would gradually disappear and prosperity return the West.

ESCOBAR WILL FIGHT EXTRADITION TO EL PASO IN MONTREAL COURT

Traveller in Crash Binds Wound—Dies

Claims He Would Last About Two Months—Wake Up Dead.

MARITAL TROUBLES ENDED.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan. 15 (C.P. Cable).—With his throat badly cut in an accident, William Frederick Murphy, London dry-goods traveller, was seen to climb back into his wrecked motor car and tie a towel around his neck. He was discovered to-day lying near the motor car at the bottom of a 200-foot ravine, just off the famous Manchester - Sheffield road known as the Snake. While preparations were being made to remove him, he got the towel from the car. He died shortly afterwards.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 15 (C.P.).—General Jose Escobar, leader of a recent unsuccessful revolution in Mexico, was determined to fight extradition to the United States to-day. Held by the police on an extradition warrant charging him with obtaining $15,000 in cash and goods from an El Paso merchant during the Mexican rebellion of 1929, the General to-day said that "if I go back to El Paso, I will last about two months." He referred to the closeness of Texas City to Mexico, and added, "I will be grabbed and wake up dead."

The warrant for Escobar's arrest was taken out before Extradition Commissioner Lacroix yesterday by C. L. Vowell, El Paso lawyer, who came here to press the annulment of marriage action instituted by the General's wife against her husband.

The action followed directly on the heels of the announcement out of court of amicable settlement of his marital troubles.

Escobar will come before the extradition court this afternoon.

SLED CRASHES THROUGH RIVER ICE YOUTH AND SIX GIRLS ARE DROWNED

Search For Bodies in Exploits River, Newfoundland is Unsuccessful.

WATER VERY RAPID.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Jan. 15.—Seven persons, one youth and six girls, ranging from 11 to 25 years of age, were drowned last night in the rapid waters of the Exploits River, when the sled upon which they were driving broke through the ice at Point of Bay, according to word reaching here early this afternoon. A search for the bodies carried beneath the ice has been unsuccessful.

The dead.—Effie Budgell, Salvation Army school teacher, 25; Doris Pelly, 17; Carrie Baker, 20; Chesley Peckford, 18; Bessie Peckford, 16; Ethel Peckford, 14; Matilda March, 11.

The March girl was from Point of Bay, and the Misses Budgell, Pelly and Baker lived at Philip's Head, in the Lewisport district, Northern Newfoundland.

Dog Running Mad Leads 6-Mile Hunt

WOODRUFF, S.C., Jan. 15.—A mad dog went on a rampage here to-day, biting one man, 75 dogs, a mule, four hogs, and a goose.

The dog was killed several hours later following a hunt over a six mile territory.

The Town Council passed a resolution ordering all dogs in the community locked up for thirty days.

COMBINE SCHOOL HELPING TO KEEP BOYS ON FARMS

Two Years Longer is Also Being Spent in School By Boys and Girls.

DAIRYMEN MEET.

1,619 Pounds of Milk Per Acre is Record Set By Western Ontario Farmer.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 15 (CP)—The new combined agricultural and high school being operated at Ridgetown is proving a great success, and is keeping farm boys and girls in the school two years longer than ever before, the sixty-fourth annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario was informed by W. R. Reek, superintendent of the school, and of the provincial experimental farm on which it is located.

Mr. Reek said that the new plan, whereby boys and girls were given vocational training in addition to tuition in cultural subjects, was keeping "teen-age boys and girls off the streets as no educational system had ever done before, and turning out better farmers and better all-round citizens.

Another speaker was Professor J. C Steckley of the department of animal husbandy, the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. Professor Steckley said that the good milker was the man who could do the job quickly, because then the greatest amount of milk and the highest percentage of butter fat were obtainable. In answer to a question, he said experiments had shown that it was impossible to get more milk with a milking machine than by hand. In fact the results had been found to be about the same.

To Red. R. Thorton, of Kintore, a contestant in the Stratford area, goes the championship of the Western Ontario Dairy Men's Association contest for the production of the greatest quantity of milk per acre. His record of 1.1619 pounds per acre from his 75-acre farm according to officers of the association, is unbeaten in Ontario.

C.P.R. EMPLOYEE SAVES LIFE OF VANCOUVER WOMAN

VANCOUVER, B.C. January 15 —Rescues at sea may not come strictly within the duties of a railway employee, but William Hillion Assistant chief clerk of the British Columbia coast steamships of the Canadian Pacific Railway here today braved the chilly waters of Burrard Inlet, and battled with a dangerous rip tide in a sucessful effort to save a woman from drowning. The woman, about 23 years of age, fell from the wharf near Pier D. When a freight handler saw the mishap and gave the alarm Hillion wasted no time in diving to her rescue. After 20 minutes' battle, in which he was assisted from the dock by C.P.R. Constable Pat Brady, the courageous Hillion succeeded in hauling her safely ashore. The woman, suffering from shock and exposure, was removed to the General Hospital.

SMITH COUNCILLORS APPROVE EXPENDITURE LOAN BY-LAW

Much Business Transacted at Inaugural Meeting of Township Council.

ACCOUNTS PASSED.

The inaugural meeting of the municipal council of the Township of Smith convened on Monday, Jan. 12, at 11 a.m., as per statute, all the members being present.

After taking the oath of declaration of office, the members took their seats as follows:

Reeve, Henry D. Coons; Deputy-Reeve, Gordon Fitzgerald; Councillors: Herbert McConkey, Vivian S. Milburn, Frederick Armstrong.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed on motion of Deputy-Reeve Fitzgerald and Councillor Milburn.

A motion by Councillor Milburn and Deputy-Reeve Fitzgerald instructed the Clerk to order seven copies of The Municipal World for the use of the councillors, assessor and clerk.

Moved by Councillor McConkey and seconded by Councillor Milburn, that the Reeve and Clerk be given authority to sign Royal Bank printed forms, re borrowing of money and regulations of other financial transactions between the township and the bank, such motion to take effect as if passed on January 2, 1931.

Road Expenditure

A motion by Councillor McConkey and Deputy-Reeve Fitzgerald gave the reeve and clerk authority to sign and submit to the Minister of Public Highways for Ontario the petition of the corporation of the township of Smith, showing that during 1930 there has been expended upon the township roads in Smith the sum of $11,192.91, and requesting the subsidy grant on this amount from the Department of Public Highways for Ontario as provided by the Ontario Highways Act and amendments thereto.

By-law No. 866, appointing the following officers for 1931 received its several reading and was passed:—

Auditors—James A. Young and Alex. I. Edmison. M.O.H.—Dr. J. A. Morgan. Sanitary Inspector, Truant Officer and Relief Officer—Wm. J. Telford. Sheep Valuers and Fence Viewers—C. E. Moore and Walter Young. Assessor—Garbutt D. Mann. Pound Keepers—Division No. 1, J. A.

Mexico City Shaken By Sharp 'Quake

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15 (C.P.). —The sharpest earthquake felt in Mexico City for 19 years caused at least one death and four injuries last night, at the same time starting fires in two parts of the city, cracking buildings and throwing the inhabitants into panic.

A woman was killed by a falling wall, while four persons, one of them a small child, were injured by falling objects in houses.

CANADA REQUIRES BIG POPULATION

Robert Simpson Company President Sees Total of 35,000,000 in 25 Years.

FURNITURE BUYERS MEET.

KITCHENER, Ont., January 15 (C.P.). — Speaking before 300 furniture buyers gathered here last night from many parts of the Dominion, C. L. Burton, president of The Robert Simpson Company Limited, Toronto, declared Canada must have more population. He admitted that he dreamed a dream of the Dominion's population mounting to 35,000,000 in the next 25 years.

A ringing note of optimism entered Mr. Burton's speech when he said there is a business for the manufacturers if they go after it. He warned them, however, that the price level had to be in keeping with the spending power of the people's purse at the present time.

The buyers who had gathered for a banquet tendered them by the sponsors of the impressive show being held here were told by Mr. Burton that he did not know whether goods are being sold for as low a price as they will reach. "but I do know," he continued, "there are still manufacturers in various lines who have failed to bring down their prices to the present spending power level, and these are the enemies of recuperation. If more prosperous times are to be realized it will be because one and all have 'cleaned house' and discarded convention situations and artificial prices," he declared.

SIKHS DEMANDS HOLD UP PARLEY

Differences of Two Races Hinge on One Seat in Punjab Legislature.

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 14. (By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Writer). — After four more hours of conversation last night the Hindu-Moslem deadlock at the Round-Table Conference remains unbroken, and the final difference between the two races turns practically on the matter of only one seat in the Punjab Legislature.

The main body of the Hindus and Moslems, indeed, had reached a virtual agreement. But the Sikhs held to their minority claim to a certain proportion of seats in the Punjab Legislature, and made agreement impossible.

Negotiations, however, have now so narrowed down the difference between the major communities that further private conversations are regarded as certain, although, at present there is little likelihood that the Sikhs will give way.

NEW STATEMENT BY STIMSON HEAD TO COME FRIDAY

Canadian Development Company Solvent President States, in Interview.

CLERICAL ERROR.

Assets Exceed Liabilities By About $670,000—Figures Increased By Mistakes.

TORONTO, Ont., January 15 (C. P.). — Inability to meet pressing demands on their finances forced C. A. Stimson & Co., Limited, and its four subsidiaries to make a voluntary assignment, and it was placed in the hands of a receiver yesterday.

One of Canada's oldest bond houses, it has branches from Moncton, N.B., in the East to Vancouver, B.C., in the West, six of which were closed in recent weeks. The four subsidiary companies are: The National Debenture Corporation, Ltd., Toronto Bond Exchange, Ltd., Stimson's Building and Investment Co., Ltd., and Stimson's Canadian Development Company, Ltd.

Through undetected clerical errors, the financial position of Stimson's Canadian Development Company, Limited, was incorrectly shown in the statement of assets and liabilities which accompanied that concern's voluntary assignment at Osgoode Hall, according to Frederick G. Johnston, president.

Although the inventory filed yesterday showed assets consisting only of office furniture worth $750, the company actually has resources appraised at $3,460,752, and a corrected statement which he said he would put in to-morrow will supercede the first one, Mr. Johnston declared. An error in typing was responsible for the discrepancy, he added.

Stenographer's Error.

And whereas yesterday's application placed liabilities at $1,400,000 plus a bank overdraft of some $30, the new statement will show obligations totalling $2,790,748, Mr. Johnston continued.

This difference also was explained as a stenographer's oversight.

Great concern for the peace of mind of the company's thousands of clients was avowed by Mr Johnston as a result of publicity given the apparent insolvency indicated by his first and erroneous statement. Pointing out that correction of clerical mistakes had increased the figures for both assets and liabilities, he declared that the former actually exceeded the latter by about $670,000.

The voluntary petition for receivership was made after consultation with officials of the Attorney-General's Department.

G. T. Clarkson, who was appointed to investigate the companies affairs and reorganize them, declared: "The assignments were made looking forward to a reorganization that will permit continuance of the undertakings now in hand through capital stock readjustments."

BALDWIN ISSUES PARTY WARNING

Urges Followers Not to Miss Any Sittings in January Session.

LETTERS SENT AROUND.

LONDON, Jan. 14 (By Thomas Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin has issued a letter seeking to "ginger-up" his followers in the House of Commons in regard to their attendance in the House. The letter of the Conservative chieftain follows:

"There have been complaints regarding slack attendance of the Parliamentary Members of the Conservative Party before the Christmas recess of the House of Commons when several vital decisions were taken. Such critical periods will arise again when the House resumes its session (January 19). Consequently supporters of the Conservative Party must, in the interest of the party and the country, refuse engagements in their constituencies or elsewhere during the time when Parliament is sitting.

"Several opportunities," concludes Mr. Baldwin, "were narrowly missed at the last session, and we should make sure there is no repetition."

Young Farmer in Smith Catches Fox Which Was Being Pursued by Hounds

Following an exciting encounter, in which a fox was the victim, and two men—one armed with a rifle—and a couple of dogs the pursuers, reynard's instinctive cunning failed miserably and resulted in his capture by hand without so much as a mark on his sleek fur or hide.

The captor, Howard Little, of R.R. 2., Lakefield, and Maurice J. McCarthy along with other members of the household were seated at dinner on Saturday when they heard the two dogs, barking excitedly as they rushed pell mell across the lawn. Looking from the window they were much surprised to see the dogs in pursuit of a fox. Mr. Little ran outside to keep track of the fox's line of retreat, while Mr. McCarthy procured a rifle. The chase led the dogs onto the roadway, whereupon the fox doubled back on his tracks to the end of the house and straight towards Mr. Little. After some encouragement the dogs jumped at the fox and downed it, and were on the point of quitting the battle when Mr. Little stepped into the breach, he jumped on the fox and pinning it down with his knees, got a good grip at the scruff of its neck. He then carried into into the house alive, and without so much as a scratch to bear witness to the close call it had experienced from the fangs of the pursuing dogs.

The capture has caused some considerable interest in Hall's Glen district, such a capture being a most unusual occurrence. What fate eventually befell the fox, is not told in the details of the capture which reach The Examiner from a correspondent, but it is presumed that he pais the supreme penalty for his crimes —that of robbing turkey and henroosts.

Italian Planes Head For Rio De Janeiro

BAHIA, Brazil Jan. 15.—The Italian air squadron, led by General Italo Balbo, Air Minister, left here at 8.17 a.m. (6.17 a.m. E.S.T.) for Rio De Janeiro, final destination of their trip of nearly 7,000 miles from Orbetello, Italy.

The squadron had eleven planes against fourteen which left Italy Dec. 17, one of the planes having been forced down at Bolama, Portuguese Guinea, another lost shortly after, leaving Bolama, and a third destroyed while being towed from Fernanso do Noronha to Natal.

It is expected that the planes will be sold to the Brazilian Government at Rio De Janeiro, the fliers returning to Italy by steamer. The distance is something more than 5,000 miles.

$100 a Month

At age 35 he may think it all right to "spend" up to $100 a month. But around age 50 he begins to figure how much capital he has saved and then realizes that $100.00 a month is good interest on $20,000, and not to be treated lightly. At 55 or 60—perhaps too late—he begins to worry about his old age, and $100 a month then seems a lot of money to the "old boy" he will soon become.

beginning at age 55 or 60 can be yours. Why not be sure of it?

Think what it would mean to you to be certain of an income right up to the end of life, when 97 per cent. of people in their later years are partially or wholly dependent upon others for support?

You know of men well up in years who are still "drudging along." They cannot stop, but must go on to the end of their days working for a bare living.

When they were younger they did not have the chance now offered you. It was not then possible to secure such a convenient and certain provision as this Canada Life Plan, which guarantees that upon reaching a certain age in life you will receive a monthly cheque for $50.00, $100.00, $200.00, $250.00, or whatever amount you now decide—to be paid as long as you live.

If you should become totally disabled, we start the Income without waiting for the retirement age. You can "pension" yourself for later on and guard yourself now against loss of income through total disability.

Be wise—"take stock" of your present financial position—size up your personal affairs, and decide on an income for the future—now!

FIRST MEETING OF HASTINGS COUNCIL

Economy Will Be Watchword of 1931 Body, Says Reeve Dr. W. E. Wilson.

HASTINGS, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—The following were sworn in by clerk Alex Wilson for the Council of the village of Hastings for 1931: Reeve, Dr. W. E. Wilson, Councilors, J. J. Collins, C. B. Plant, A. G. Parker and W. M. Fowlds at the Town Hall on Monday.

Immediately after the council were sworn in their inaugural meeting was held.

The reeve congratulated the council on the election to office by clear cut majorities, coupling the congratulations with the remarks that their election was an emphatic mandate from the people to establish Hydro in the village. He also reminded them that economy should be the watchword for 1931, with the demands from the county being higher by at least three mills over last year, and trusting that they would work harmoniously for a bigger and better Hastings.

Motions were duly made and carried appointing Alex Wilson clerk and M. J. Baker treasurer for the year of 1931. The council then adjourned to meet on Wednesday night.

N.B. LEGISLATURE OPENS FEBRUARY 12

New Assembly is the Seventeenth Since Confederation.

FREDERICTON, N.B., Jan. 15—The first session of the Province of New Brunswick's new Legislature has been summoned to meet on Thursday, February 12th.

The new Legislature Assembly is the 17th since Confederation and the date selected for the opening of the session is the earliest since 1906, when the House met on February 8th.

The province of New Brunswick's fiscal year closes on October 31st and, inasmuch as the financial statement for the year is not published in the Royal Gazette until the last week in January, it would be impossible to have the Legislature meet much earlier than the date selected by Premier Baxter for the first meeting of the new House. The suggestion has been made that the public interests might be better served if this Province's fiscal year closed on September 30th—a month earlier than at present—in order that the Legislature could meet each year early in February.

OBITUARY

JAMES NELSON EASTCOTT

MILLBROOK, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—There passed beyond at Millbrook, Thursday morning, January 8, a well-known citizen, James Nelson Eastcott. Mr. Eastcott was born in the township of Hope in 1861, and was the son of Edmund Eastcott, and Mary Ann Gardiner. In 1877 he married Mildred Matilda Lewis, and it is within a few weeks of being thirty years ago since they came to Cavan to reside.

The funeral service was held at the family residence, Regent street, on Saturday, January 10, at 2 p.m., the church service being conducted by Rev. W. E. Honey, of Welcome, and Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., of Millbrook. Mr. Eastcott had been a member of Millbrook Lodge, No. 308, I.O.O.F., for twenty-eight years, and following the church service the Oddfellows carried out their impressive ritual, with its sublime finale, "Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken." Brothers V. R. Hunter, P. G. and C. C. Garside, N.G., were in charge of the I.O.O.F. service.

Mr. Eastcott is survived by his wife, his only daughter, Miss Edna, and by four sisters, Mrs. Jane N. Froom, Mrs. Mary Anne Otte, Mrs. Paul Hagerman, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Luther McNall, of Imlay City, Michigan.

The pall-bearers were all members of Millbrook Lodge, No. 308, I.O.O.F., and included: G. E. Burnham, Chas. Thorndyke, J. W. Hamilton, A. J. Henderson, George Fair, and James E. McCamus. Interment was in the family burial plot at Welcome cemetery.

HERBERT SHORE

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 15 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—The funeral of the late Herbert Shore was held on Tuesday, January 13, from his family residence, Campbellford, the Rev. L. M. Smith, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by Mr. Twigg. The pall bearers were, James McIlroy, George Bailey, John Bagge, Garnet Lloyd, David Mason and George Anderson.

The late Mr. Shore died on Sunday in his 65th year. Born in Campbellford, he lived all his life in this district, with the exception of ten years, when he resided in New York, where his children were all born. A member of the Baptist Church, he had a wide circle of friends and will be missed by the community. He was a tinsmith by trade. Mr. Shore died in the old home, which has always been in his possession.

Surviving are two sons, Harry J. and Carl, both of Port Colborne, and three daughters, Mrs. G. Weston and Mrs. Douglas Greenly, both of Campbellford, and Mrs. Hallam of Toronto.

Interment was made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

CHAMBER SEEKING LOWER FIRE RATE

Action Follows Reduction of Fire Losses of $55,000 Over Previous Year.

Following the reduction of the fire losses of nearly $55,000 in this city over the previous year, a great deal of discussion is arising. The Chamber of Commerce is seeking a lower rate of fire insurance, warranted by the substantial proof of the Fire Department's efficiency. A letter has been received by the Chamber from the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association asking for more information, and promising definite action. The Association has intimated that they will study the situation closely, and will analyse the Chamber's petition carefully.

Out of the discussion again arises the question of establishing a subsidiary Fire Station, such as has been sponsored by Chief George Gimblett in his annual reports for the last few years. The Chief's plan calls for a station built in the south end of the city for the protection of the industrial section. If the insurance authorities refuse to grant a lower rate of insurance unless another station is built, it would be wise for the City figure out if the reduced rates would mean a substantial enough decrease of money paid out in insurance to warrant the erection of the proposed building.

The good judgment of the City Council will therefore be again required, and the citizens of Peterborough will look forward with great interest to further development.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

Editor of Examiner,

Dear Sir,—For many years there has been a growing feeling in Canada that the time is gone by for the messenger-boy member of parliament who endears himself to his patrons by running errands.

This form of government is too expensive. One member for every 200,000 people instead of for every 40,000 as at present is suggested. There would be saving enough in salaries in such a plan to pay for Old Age Pensions. That would be true economy as well as being a very distinct sign of progress.

The late Mr. Lanctot, M.P., stated in an address to the House of Commons that one-half the members of the House would be much better at home. They come and go and leave no mark upon the sands of time. This has always been the case more or less but it is considered that the time has now come to improve things. But a very few of our best men are in parliament. The most important business of all, the gigantic national business and its administration of the criminal law, is in the hands of a few. The rest really know nothing about it and have no excuse for being there. At any rate the Quebec newspapers seem to be anxious to move Canada a long step forward. The time has come when so many people are living at the public cost as servants of the public that it has become a necessity to reduce the staff, so to speak.

The advices here are that the West, that is the middle West is headed for separation. Reduction in the price of what they buy and increase in the prices of what other people buy from them is their motto. However they are in earnest if "Canada First" is to mean "Saskatchewan first" and "Alberta First" "Manitoba First" and so on, the year 1930 will rank as the beginning of the end of Canada as a proud and prosperous nation. There is no joke about this. The higher the tariff goes at Ottawa the surer will the westerners press for separation. There is, I am told, every likelihood of a whirlwind general election in June next.

More than 1,500 people viewed the remains of Miss Wallis's exhibition at Montreal on Sunday, under the direction of the Royal Canadian Art Association. The first move in Peterborough toward the establishment of an art gallery was all unconsciously, no doubt, made by the County Council with its portrait gallery of the fathers of Peterborough County. It is a beginning and good one.

Art, is, of course, the representation of nature at her best or sometimes worst, but more than that. It is the conception of the highest ideals of the human mind in sculpture, painting, etc. Just now, however, we are not looking so much for ideals as for reals. It wouldn't take much to put us back on all four again, would it?

Havelock Is Visited By Game Inspector

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 15.—Fish and Game Inspector Carson of Peterborough was in town last week, investigating complaints of minors and others illegally carrying firearms, in Havelock and vicinity. He also issued warning through the local paper, to persons owning dogs and hounds. He stated that hounds are running at large in Havelock and surrounding country, and that a deer had been chased by hounds last week.

This is against the law, and the owners are advised to shut their dogs up, and avoid prosecution.

BAILIEBORO

Herbert Dean of Cobourg who was recently a Bailieboro boy had a serious mishap recently while he and his employer were cleaning stumps from a piece of new land the axe of his employer slipped and cut deeply into Herbert's finger almost severing the finger.

The victim received medical attention and the flesh was stitched together.

NOT EVEN WINTER DAMPENS FISHERMAN'S ARDOR

Such scenes as the one here depicted by our artist are common these days on lakes and rivers all over Canada. An ice-fisherman is seen in his moveable hut with spear poised in right hand ready to plunge it into the fish which has been attracted by the decoy he has been jigging about on the end of the string held in his left hand.

Millbrook

Miss Marjorie Sayles is in Cobourg this week attending the annual Conference Winter School, being the delegate representing the local Young People's Society at the week's sessions.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston were host and hostess for a pleasant social gathering at their home, Centre street, on Friday evening, when they entertained the choir of Saint Andrew's United Church, of which organization Mrs. Johnston is the popular and efficient leader. The regular practice hour was followed by a delightful social time, with a dainty supper served before the guests left for home.

The Glee Club of the local Continuation School held a jolly sleigh-riding party on Friday evening, Allen's hill being chosen as the scene of the evening enjoyment, and when tired of the swift rides down its long slope, the happy crowd of young adjourned to the school where a hot supper was the next item on the program.

The thanks of the Club were heartily extended to Mrs. H. W. Jordan, wife of the principal of the M.C.S., through whose kindness the savory dish that was the main item on the supper menu was provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Moncrief and daughter, Miss Alta, of Omemee, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilkinson.

Dr. H. A. Turner was in Toronto on a business trip twice last week, unfortunately contracting a severe cold which has confined him to his home over the week-end.

Miss M. B. Turner, B.A., was in Bowmanville on Saturday attending a meeting of the Mothers' Allowance Board for Durham county. J. Thornton, of Orono is the vice-president of the Durham Board, and is presiding during the absence of the president, F. W. Galbraith, of Port Hope. Several cases came up for attention at Saturday's meeting, and applications were sent on to the Provincial Commission for consideration.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Ceremony at Havelock Ladies' Lodge in Charge of P.W.G.M. Sister R. Mains, Toronto.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Jan. 15.—The following officers of Prosperity Chapter No. 63, Order of The Eastern Star were installed by Past Worthy Grand Sister Robina Mains of Toronto on Thursday last, assisted by Past Worthy Matron Sister Emma Holcombe, acting as Marshall:

Worthy Matron, Esther Brown; Associate Matron, Jean Green; Worthy Patron, Rev. John Lennox; Associate Patron, S. L. O'Hara; Secretary, Elizabeth Mathison; Treasurer, Beayie Hoffman; Conductress, Bertha Tripp; Associate Conductress, Minnie Lennox; Chaplain, Letitia Buchanan; Marshall, Margaret Anderson; Organist, Stella Johnson; Adah, Bertha Breckenridge; Ruth, Ethel Williams; Esther, Adah Russell; Martha, Helen Mathison; Electa, Annie Lee; Warden, Alice Paige; Sentinel, J. F. Breckenridge.

Afterwards refreshments were served, and a delightful hour was spent in toasts, and friendly chatter.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Now... A Famous Canadian Dietitian tells you a tasty new way to serve CLOVER LEAF SALMON

HELEN G. CAMPBELL
director of Chatelaine Institute, Toronto, suggests menu with her favorite salmon recipe.

"There are many ways to prepare Salmon for tasty salads and sandwiches for bridge luncheons, afternoon teas, children's school lunches and the main dish for week day meals," says Miss Campbell. "The recipe I particularly favor, however, is Moulded Salmon Salad prepared this way:

MOULDED SALMON SALAD

1 one pound can of salmon
½ cupful of chopped celery
½ green pepper, chopped
½ teaspoonful of salt
½ teaspoonful of paprika
2 teaspoonfuls of lemon juice
Few grains of cayenne
Boiled salad dressing

"Remove the skin and bones from the salmon and shred. Mix all the ingredients together, using enough salad dressing to moisten.

Pack into a wet mould and chill thoroughly. Loosen the edges with a knife, and turn out on to a bed of lettuce. Garnish with green peas. A very attractive salad is one made in a ring mould, and the centre filled with green peas."

"When served with Luncheon menu suggested below, it makes a delightfully balanced meal:

Cream of corn soup
Cheese crackers
Moulded Salmon Salad
Hot biscuits
Pineapple mousse
Fancy cakes
Coffee."

THURSDAY, JANUARY 15, 1931

AND NOW IT'S ORILLIA.

And now it is Orillia that is barring the press and citizens generally from all Council committee meetings, with the mayor leading the drive against the reporters by intimating that the police will be called upon to take the newspaper men to the lockup if they do not remain away from meetings of committees.

The mayor is merely illustrating how a little brief authority can make an ass of some men.

The parties really aggrieved by his action, of course, are the people of Orillia, who are entitled to know what their elected representatives are doing and how the business of the community is being attended to or neglected as the case may be.

So far as the reporters are concerned, they will get the news in some fashion or other, for there are always leaks to be found by the trained newspaper man, and the official embargo will not be successful in preventing a report of Council business appearing in the press.

Yet because the information will be second-handed—and it is remarkable how inaccurate an individual who is not trained in following such meetings can be in repeating his impressions of what was said and done—the public will be deprived of what they have the right to be given, an accurate and reliable summary of the activities of their civic government.

The mayor and Council of Orillia are on the wrong trail.

SALE BY THE GLASS.

The Trades and Labor Congress is again placing a request for the sale of wine and beer by the glass in all districts which are in favor of it in the annual program to be brought before the Ontario Government.

That particular plank might as well be dropped by the Trades and Labor Congress

Public opinion in the Province as a whole is strongly opposed to a return to anything savoring of the old bar-room days, and the Labor body is merely wasting time in cluttering up its suggestions to the Government with a request that has not the slightest chance of being granted.

Premier Henry himself made that plain the other day when he assured a deputation which waited upon him that his Government has not changed its attitude with regard to sale by the glass—in fact, the Cabinet has given no consideration to any such policy.

The present liquor law may not satisfy neither the extreme wets nor the rigid drys, but the majority of people are satisfied that it is an improvement over both the old license system and the Ontario Temperance Act, and are not willing to have its effectiveness destroyed by bringing back the atmosphere and conditions of the open bar.

TAKING THE CENSUS.

A Toronto ratepayers' association has declared itself in favor of the non-partisan appointment of Dominion census enumerators, and has passed a resolution urging that political patronage should be forgotten and the enumerators appointed from the ranks of the unemployed.

There is much in that suggestion that will meet with popular approval; at a period like this when there are so many people who are in need of the money to be earned by acting as enumerators, there should be no question of Liberal or Conservative when the appointments are to be made.

Even more important, however, in the opinion of The Examiner, is the question of the capability of the individuals selected to take the census to do the work carefully and accurately.

Whatever system is followed in choosing these officials every care should be instituted to appoint enumerators who can be counted upon to handle their duties intelligently and efficiently.

A census that is not accurate is worse than none at all; if the information gleaned is not reliable it, rather than being useful, will be misleading and in many cases injurious.

The people appointed to do this work should not be selected merely because they are out of work or friends of the Government, but because they are obviously qualified to carry out the duties of the position with a maximum of efficiency.

SENSATIONAL MAGAZINES.

With the efforts that are being made to stop the entry into Canada of United States magazines of inferior type, featuring crime stories and the activities of the gunmen and the racketeers, there should be a large measure of public sympathy.

A glance at Canadian news-stands these days reveals a revolver or a knife displayed on the outside cover of two out of every three magazines shown in the racks.

The doings of gunland, the adventures of the Al. Capones, and all the lawless exploits of the American crook world are becoming the favorite reading of a large proportion of Canada's youth.

In the majority of cases, perhaps, the readers of this trash have sense enough to save themselves from being influenced, but it is difficult to avoid the belief that the large number of young men in this country who have attempted to emulate the gunplay of the United States type of desperado have been inspired by cheap, lurid magazines.

It is a fact that nearly all the men arrested in recent crimes of violence have been mere boys who, nearly all of them, must have got the idea that the life of the gunman is a bed of roses from reading the stories of American gangsters.

If the sale of such stuff is allowed to continue it might be well to furnish news-stands with bulletins warning their customers that while gun-toting crooks may beat the game in the United States it is a different proposition on this side of the border.

A list of the long penitentiary terms and lashes handed out by Canadian courts recently might serve as an antidote against the insidious poison of the American "thrillers."

A scientist states that there are billions of millions of moons. Not once in a blue one are we allowed to forget it by the song publishers.—London Opinion.

NEWSPAPER IMPARTIALITY.

Lowell Courier-Citizen: In the accusations of unfairness that have been hurled at this newspaper, it is apparent that some misunderstanding of what constitutes newspaper impartiality exists. I have said that we are willing to publish the news and views of those who disagree with us—but that doesn't mean that a news editor weighs the outgivings on either side of a question and then apportions space to them on a basis of equality. Quite the contrary is the fact. The news editor simply doesn't consider the merits of a given question at all. He selects what he prints on what he conceives to be its news value—without thought as to whether it is in conformity with or against the editorial views of his paper. That is what newspaper impartiality consists of—printing the news regardless of whom it helps or hurts. It doesn't consist of a program involving an equal division to both sides. One side might have nothing in its out-givings that could be considered worth publishing. In that case, it would lose out.

THE WORLD IS IMPROVING.

Who seeks for heaven, alone to save his soul,
May keep the path, but will not reach the goal;
While he who works in love may wander far,
Yet God will bring him where the blessed are.
—Henry Van Dyke.

No, this is not a sermon, but a few thoughts inspired by these words of Van Dyke.

So many people are pessimistic as to the condition of the people, and the outlook for the future of society, Christianity and our civilization that thoughtful men and women are wondering what, if any, foundation exists for this pessimism.

War is caused by selfishness, and without foreseeing theological knowledge, it might well be said that selfishness is the most devastating sin of the age. To-day, more than ever before in the history of the world, mankind is treating mankind as brothers, and it only required the touch of depression to afford the opportunity of displaying the heart of man at its best. Every call issued on behalf of the needy or unfortunate has been greeted by a hearty and liberal response, and men and women who can are dividing their substance with those in need. The hungry are being fed, the naked clothed, and the needy ministered unto, with a hearty willingness is the most devastating sin of the age. To-day, religion is blazing its way into the hearts and activities of the people in a manner so effective that the veriest pessimist cannot but be astounded, if not convinced.

Van Dyke in the pithy compact quoted deals a crushing blow at the selfishness of man, and particularly chides the so-called Christian, whose chief aim in life appears to be to get to heaven himself, regardless of the trials and tribulations of others. This individual may be on the highway all right, but he is not getting anywhere. The man whose thoughts are all for himself may pray, and even should Hallelujuh; but he is just an ordinary bundle of selfishness, and that being his chief characteristic, he would be very lonesome indeed in heaven, even if he managed to squeeze in.

The world is moving in the direction of "doing as well as saying," and the religion of to-day, while on the old and solid foundation so revered by our fathers, is being closely scrutinized for practical results. "Show me your faith by your work," is the demand, and the response of Christendom is overwhelming.

Although endowed with almost unbounding charity, the world is somehow growing weary of the brand of piety that permits its possessor to stand on what he calls the "highway of holiness," hoping to hitch-hike his way to heaven, through the efforts of others instead of taking up his burden and doing his share in making the path easier for everybody.

The world is growing better and the people are realizing more and more that if the ideal is to be attained selfishness must be crucified.

In the opinion of the R. and T., the present depression afforded the opportunity for self-sacrifice and the exercise of brotherly kindness that the world needed in order to make clear the advancement of true religion. And the opportunity is being enforced in a truly philanthropic spirit.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

BURNING BEAUTY

By TEMPLE BAILEY

And how could she know that Michael was by sheer strength of will keeping away from her. After he left Annapolis, he had thought of her constantly. He had been carried away by emotion that night in the moonlight. If he saw her again he might not be master of himself. He was even afraid to think of her, because when he did his soul was shaken. He knew now that he could love her. But who was he that she should love him in return? He was disillusioned, fearful of another experience such as he had had with Helen. He had given her all the fire of his young manhood, and she had had ice in her veins. He had given her tenderness and she had not wanted it. He would have worshipped but she had stepped down from her pedestal. He could not go through with it again.

Yet in time he found himself at Virginia's door. He had telephoned asking if he might bring her a book—to-morrow,and her answer thrilling along the wires had set his pulses pounding. She had said "Yes" in an unemotional manner, and he had not guessed that her pulses, too, were pounding.

When Virginia hung up the receiver, she looked about the room, and it seemed to her transformed. The honey-colored curtains were golden banners, the shabby screens were snug walls to set about the coziness with which she would encompass him. She caught up the little cat. "He's coming," she whispered, "he's coming," acstatically.

To Rickey, however, arriving a little later, she showed no signs of agitation. She did not speak of Michael's message until he had told her of his evening with a half dozen young intellectuals who had imposed on him their opinions.

"I said a few things to them, Jinny," his tone was triumphant, "not half of them have any background for their literary tastes. Most of them came to the classics in the high school—never heard of them before, while you and r are the products of generations of cull ture."

"Rickey, surely you didn't tell them that?"

"Yes. Why not?"

Yet as he proceeded with his tale, she saw signs about him of the influence of these new friends—a tendency to affectation, an absence of the old simplicity. But she consoled herself with the thought that anything was better than Lute Carney.

When at last her brother had settled down to a cigarette and a book, she said, with an effect of casualness, 'Michael McMillan telephoned."

Rickey's book dropped to the floor. His voice was startled. "McMillan?"

"Yes, you remember him, Rickey?"

Rickey remembered—a night when wild geese had flown dark against the moon. He remembered a bargain made beside the shining river. He had intended to go and see McMillan in his office. But he had shrunk from it. When the book was finished would be time enough.

Out of his thoughts he demanded, "What does he—want?"

She laughed, "To see us, what else?"

Rickey went on reading, but between the page and his eyes came a vision of that night on the pier—at last he flung away his book and went into his office. He wished McMillan would stay away and not come snooping around.

The next day, however, when Michael came, Rickey received him in his most winning manner. Indee, he took the center of the stage, and sat on the hearthrug and talked about himself. He was a picturesque figure and he knew it. He liked this way of sitting on the rug in his blue blouse. He had never done it in Annapolis, but it suited his type and swung him away from the commonplace.

He boasted a bit of what he was doing. "I'm trying to show the world that what we need is imagination, greater creative power. We've got to get away from sex and sophistication. All the books are alike. No wonder people are not reading them. No one but the kind who read what they are told to read, and they do it as a duty and not because they like it."

And so on and on . . . Michael listened politely, but Virginia's cheeks burned. She wished Rickey wouldn't. She gave Michael his tea and tried to switch the conversation. "I made the cake myself," she said, as Rickey passed them.

"You have made more than the cakes,' he told her smiling, "this room is delightful—" His eyes swept it, taking in the harmony of the honey-coloured curtains, the amethystine chintz, the yellow roses in a bowl of dull blue pottery.

"Tony Bleecker sent the roses," Rickey vouchsafed, "he's here a lot."

Again Virginia wished he wouldn't. But Rickey went on: "He's taking us to a play to-morrow night—Jinny and m and Mary Lee Logan. She's a girl who was at the sale, who bought the secretary."

Michael remembered her.

"She's great fun," Rickey further elucidated, "I'm trying experiments with her—sartorial—" he blew cigarette rings in a knowing manner.

"Oh, say clothes, Rickey," Virginia begged.—"He's getting so sophisticated, Mr. McMillan—and once upon a time he was such a simple lad."

They all laughed together, and Rickey said, "Mary Lee likes it. She says before I get through she won't know herself."

He proceeded after that to expound his theories as to the metamorphosis of Mary Lee. But Michael scarcely heard him. His eyes were on Virginia, his thoughts on that significant sentence, "Tony Bleecker sent the roses."

Of course Bleecker had sent roses. Who wouldn't? Myriads of them to make of this great room a garden? But he, Michael, had brought books—and did it matter if the books were thin little volumes of verse? A book was a book. Roses were romance. And Bleecker knew it!

Well, he had known it, too. But he had not—dared. He could go as far as friendship—but no farther—. This lovely child was not for him. Love was not for him. Helen had taught him that.

When at last he left her, Virginia's eyes said more than her lips. "You will come again?" were the words she spoke. But her eyes said, "Please . . ."

Michael dropped her hand and turned away. "Look here, Oliphant," he said, with an effect of heartiness, "You know I want a look-in on the book."

There flashed a glance between them of understanding. "When I've finished it I'll bring it over," Rickey said.

"The sooner the better."

When their guest had gone, Rickey threw himself in a big chair to talk things over. "It would be great to have my first serial in his magazine."

"Indeed it would, darling."

Her voice was listless. Rickey sat up and surveyed her. "I must say you're taking a keen interest in it."

"In what—"

"My book, Jinny. Great guns, but you're lukewarm about it. Young authors like I am don't have a call every day from a great editor."

So Rickey had taken Michael's call to himself! Well, why shouldn't he? Michael had had no word of answer to her invitation. What did it mean? She sat late by the fire, her troubled eyes upon it. Michael had been gay and kind and interested, but he had not been the Michael of the garden.

In the weeks that followed he sent her a book or two, but he did not come. And so she tried to make up her life without him. She was lonely but she refused to yield to it. She built up a little group of interests.There was a church where she went early in the morning and again at Vespers. It was a great church with all kinds of people coming and going, and there was marvelous work done in the parish. She found that she could help a little. And when things pressed upon her she sought strength and tranquillity in the dim edifice which seemed so far removed from the beating noise and bustle of city streets.

It was in the church, too, that she found an answer to some of the questions she had asked herself that day when she had talked with Mrs. Montgomery. Love was eternal. There was the love of man for God and the love of God for man, and the love of man for his brother. And one must not be thinking always of happiness. One must be good and do good, and the rest would follow. Rickey's friends laughed at all the old-fashioned virtues, but going about the city, Virginia saw what sin could do to little babies, to young womanhood and young manhood, to the middle-aged who drugged themselves with excitement, to the old who died, despairing.

As for herself she walked through it all, like Jeane D'Arc awaiting a crusade. She dreamed of the great things she would like to do—yet all the time she yearned for Michael.

CHAPTER TEN

Rickey Accepts an Invitation.

It was on a gray day late in November that Tony Bleecker came to press an invitation. "You've got to come to Derekdale at Christmas."

"I've told you we can't."

"But my dear girl."

"I'm not your dear girl."

"I wish you were."

"Please, Anthony!" They were "Virginia" and "Anthony" now to each other. It seemed to be the way of this new world in which Virginia found herself, so she had acquiesced. "Let's not talk about it."

"But tell me your real reason."

She said, slowly, "Your mother."

"But you have a note, writ in her own hand, asking you. What more do you need than that?"

"Her note really doesn't mean anything. She doesn't really want me. You know that, Tony."

He did know it. He and his mother had fought a wordy battle over the invitation. "Why should I have them, Tony?" his mother had demanded.

"Because if you don't ask them I shan't be there, Midget."

There had been a startled silence out of which Mrs. Bleecker had said: "You mean that you won't come on for the ball?"

"I shall have important duties at Annapolis."

Jane had known that he meant it. That he was defying her absolutely. So she had capitulated and had written the note, and now Anthony by Virginia's fireside was faced by a woman more obstinate than his mother. Virginia was smiling, but she showed no signs of yielding as she reiterated, "Your mother doesn't really want me. She is only asking me because you made a point of it."

"I don't care what Mother wants. She has it in for any woman she thinks I might fall in love with. As a rule I give way to her. But this time I shall do as I please."

"I shall do as I please," Virginia emphasized, and now let's stop arguing and talk of something else."

Rickey joined them later at tea. He was white-faced, nervous. For the last few days the story had been going badly. He greeted Anthony with enthusiasm and complained to Virginia, "Why didn't you tell me Tony was here?"

"I was afraid I might interrupt your train of thought."

"I haven't any train of thought. And I can't pound a typewriter forever,"

She ignored his irritation. "You and Tony will have to toast your own muffins, and there's marmalade."

Rickey stuck a muffin on the long brass toasting fork and knelt in front of the fire. "I'll do this one for Tony and another for myself."

Anthony stretched out in a chintz-covered chair, picked up the kitten and set it on his knee. "Your sister says she won't come to Derekdale for our Christmas party."

A Thought

THE FIELD OF SERVICE

Youth must face the world as it is. Tackle it unafraid, and with courage and faith master it. Enter your field of service in the spirit of a servant and with the enthusiasm of a freeman. That field of tomorrow will demand more than the past; stronger bodies, more alert minds, and sincere spirituality. Speed, efficiency, production, ideals money, leisure, and life await you. Your body will be called upon for the first three, it will take your head for the next two, and the heart will find its fulness in giving the world a royal life. Here's to you! The greatest age, the grandest world, and reward of true living await the youth of today.

What To-day Means To You

"CAPTRICORN."

If January 15th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:15 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 10:30 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

In the astrological picture for January 15th there are shown difficulties with those closely associated with you, either by family ties or otherwise, and a possible estrangement. An adverse period, if you indulge in impulsive speculations, or rash investments. Evening hours auspicious for entertaining.

Children born on this January 15th will need to be checked with a tight rein, as they will stubbornly persist in having their own way—which will not be along sane or sensible lines. They will want to live for a good time, excitement, and whatever glory they can obtain. They will have good minds, if they can learn to use them.

You join the ranks of those, who from the beginning of time, have been able to go their own way. Laws and religions are impotent to alter or to completely control you. You are not overly grateful; are, at heart, selfish, demanding and grasping; but in spite of these self-centered traits, the world is at your beck and call—it cannot escape the tyranny of your personality. You are sweet and kind one day, hard and brutal the next. That unknown factor "good luck" will follow you throughout your days.

You have twice the brains, four times the imagination, and one-half the balance which the average normal being has. If your imagination were not so acute, and your emotional self were more stable, your chance of permanent success would be greater. You will never experience serene contentment, or simple, lasting happiness; you will, however, get what you are looking for—many thrills. You have plenty of courage, but it is not always accompanied by common sense, and you will make many irretrievable, if not unspeakable, blunders—socially and in business. You expect others to suffer your moods gladly, but you never try to understand the moods of others. You expect others to be chronically sunny—serving the privilege for yourself only—to be in the dumps. You have extravagant ideas about a home, and if possible, you will be the hub, around which the others revolve.

BETHANY

Those from out-of-town who attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Howard Galloway on Saturday were Miss Ryley, Toronto, Dr. and Mrs. Clarke, Mr. Fell, and Mrs. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reid, of Peterborough; Mrs. Mulligan, Alameda; Mrs. Marchan, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Victor McCartney, Cornwall and Mr. Aubrey McCartney, North Bay.

MONEY-EARNING DEVICES IN THE CHURCH?

(Contributed.)

A prominent church worker met the well-to-do business man of the town on the street one day. After the usual greeting the business man said to his church friend, "What is the matter with your Church these days? It must be dead for you have not had any big doings for a long time. You know I helped support your work by patronizing all your fairs and suppers."

"Oh," said the Church member, "Thank God we have come to our senses and cut out all that foolishness."

"Hum-m-m," said the business man, "as a church then, you intend to forsake the attitude of a beggar seeking patronage and take your place instead in the realm of a benefactor. I think you are right. I always thought being On THE OUTSIDE of the Church that it was pretty poor business for a great institution like the Church to descend to such methods, now the world will respect your Church in her changed attitude."

Why did this church change its attitude?

First, because paying to God is an act of worship necessary to spiritual life and health just as much as heart action is vital to physical life and health. Back in the very earliest records in the Bible when the first mention is made of a man coming to worship it states as a primary condition of that worship that he brought his tithe with him and laid it as an offering before God. The tithe did not consist in his old boots or clothing which he had or was about to discard as of no further value to him. It consisted of the best he possessed.

Second, Because this Church awakened to a realization of the fact that money provided by fairs; suppers and sales, is an indirect way of doing what should be done directly and as an act of unselfish worship. Money provided for Church maintenance by pay affairs may ease the money strain for the time being but it is not God's way of providing it. He asks that everyone of his children pay his share as He has prospered them. If real poverty and lack of income make it impossible to pay into the Church, every such individual should receive help from the Church. That is a divine obligation resting upon the organization.

Third—business is not religion. Buying and selling for profit is a commercial transaction and does not belong as such in the life of a religious organization, whose organizer told His people "freely ye have received, freely give." That was His gospel, without money and without price. As a religious' organization the Church has no right to exploit the needs of life for profit. In the conduct of business by the Church many wrongs crop up. If you do not give value for value received you are cheating. If because of unfair advantages you can give more than proper value you are taking undue advantage of business in the name of religion.

Fourth—The Church as a religious organization supposed to be serving the community is generally tax exempt. Business is taxed so that when the Church invades the business arena it enters into competition upon an unfair basis with the business of the world. That is unjust, the Church is supposed to preach righteousness. Can it afford to practice unrighteousness.

The notion store, the fancy foos store, run all the year much of the time on small profits, meeting all the exactions of modern business conditions. Then at certain times when larger business might reasonably be expected, there comes in an avalanche of competition which meets none of the restrictions placed upon regular business concerns, such as rent, hired help, insurance, and loss by deterioration.

Said a woman storekeeper not long ago, "Oh you are a minister, are you?" Well, I am glad to meet you, but I despise your Church. It takes from me in my community my chances to earn a decent livelihood and then poses before the people as a religious organization when it is only a parasite."

The Church, as such, is not a labor market. Yet it is used to supply unpaid labor often in competition with labor that must be paid regular market prices. The bakery, the restaurant and small store frequently suffer from a form of competition that lessens the chance for the laborers dependent upon their wage-earnings for a living.

Said the baker, "Yes, a lot left over to-day. Three Church sales on my route."

Said the struggling seamstress, "No, I don't go to Church now—I can't afford collection. I used to make children's clothes and house dresses, but now the ladies of the Church make them for less and I have a hard time to get along."

Surely God's people have in their possession enough to provide as a direct act of obedience plenty to maintain the Church. By beginning to climb up some other way in the production of money the Church has come upon grievous times and low standards of Christian life. Why should a body of Christian people call upon a sinful community of disinterested people to meet their Missionary obligation by staging a play, or a fowl supper, etc? Listen, God's plan will produce all needed results financially, if properly worked and honestly adhered to. "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

Perhaps we would have more efficient Christianity if we built such edifices, installed such organs, supported such a ministry and maintained such Churches as could be paid for by God's people out of the first fruits of their increase. The Church of Jesus Christ is of divine origin, It will conquer. Hinder not its progress by practices that are wrong.

Mrs. William McMechan Receives Certificate

QUEENSBORO, Jan. 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Monday evening a large number of the members of Queensboro L.O.B.A., No. 465 with their friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McMechan and presented Mrs. McMechan with Mrs. McMechan are both highly esteemed by their neighbors and friends as well throughout the circles of orangism.

The gathering was called to order by Miss Emma Lynn, Past Mistress of Queensboro, L.O.B.A., No. 465 and the presentation was made by the present Mistress, Mrs. Fred Sager. Several brief speeches were made expressing the esteem in which Mrs. McMechan is held and the joy experienced in attending the gathering and having a part in the presentation. Mrs. McMechan in a few words expressed her thanks and appreciation of the kindly remembrance. Lunch was served and an enjoyable hour was spent together.

The central highway in Cuba is to be completed in February.

GOLD SECTION HOLDS INTEREST

Strength Evident in Several New Issues on Standard Exchange.

TECK HUGHES ACTIVE.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 15. (CP)—The gold section of the mining market continued the advance from the opening to-day, with strength evident in several new issues. Trading was light and moved somewhat easier in the balance of the mining list.

Teck Hughes moved into early prominence with price registering gain of 30 at $7.75 at mid-day. Dome sold up another 15 to $10.15 and Wright Hargreaves advanced 8 to $2.10. Vipon touched $1.19 in an early movement but reacted to $1.12, last night's closing level. Howey, Sylvanite and Kirkland Lake gold were up a cent each and Northern Canada gained a couple to 36. Hollinger, selling above $8.00 for a time was off 5 cents at $7.85 when taken.

Base metals were slightly easier. Nickel showing a loss of a few cents at $15.00 and Noranda dropping ¼ to $14.50. Sherritt-Gordon firmned a point to 95 and balance of the Lindsleys were quiet.

In the oil section aAjax and Acme Gas displayed minor recessions.

TORONTO MAN WINS ART PRIZE

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 15.—Lawrence Harris, member of the group of seven, Toronto, Ont., today held the $500 prize of the Museum of Art put up for competition between Canadian and Latin American painters at the Pan-American exhibition of contemporary painting.

Alfredo Guttero of Argentine, won the $1,000 prize for the best painting by a Canadian or Latin-American, and Leon Kroll won a second prize of $500 for the best picture by United States painter.

There are 120 pictures on display.

MONTREAL AMUSEMENT TAX DROPS.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 15 (C.P.).—The amusement tax for the City of Montreal for 1930 amounted to $1,026,389, which represents an attendance of 35,664,734 people, to public amusements of all kinds. It was announced here yesterday that the total was $32,130 less than last year. The revenue from the tax is divided with the Provincial authorities in compliance with the Public Charities Act.

TRUE BILLS RETURNED

TORONTO, Ont., January 15. — True bills were returned by the Grand Jury in the Winter Assises to-day against Jack Brookenshire and Harry Clarkson, jointly charged with the murder of Constable Roy McQuillen on December 11 last; Mrs. Elizabeth Lloyd, charged with the attempted murder of her husband; Mike Cobus and Donald Unwin, jointly charged with attempted murder; John O'Brien and Sunny Lass, charged with robbery while armed; and Myles Hunck, who faces a charge of manslaughter.

Fannie and Kitty Watson, known as "American commediennes," who have had recent stage success with their act, which has appeared in Canadian cities.

MANY OPINIONS HEARD AS TO SOURCE OF HOLLINGER ACTIVITY

Strong Interest in More Important Canadian Golds Across Border.

PORCUPINE OUTPUT GAINS.

TORONTO, Jan. 15. (Special to Examiner.)—Various opinions as to the source of the yesterday's buying in Hollinger and Dome, which carried both issues into new high ground for the current movement, were heard on the street to-day. Some circles attributed the Hollinger buying to Montreal and Dome to New York, while others reported a good local demand. One house claims strong interest in the more important Canadian golds is evident across the border with substantial amounts of stock being picked up there. Several American organizations have recently commented on the enviable position held by gold producers in this time of uncertainty, and enquiry regarding prospects of the more advanced Ontario mines has shown outstanding improvement during the past month.

An instance of the trend of feeling in New York is contained in a wire from Livingstone and Company members of the New York Stock Exchange, to the local firm of A. J. Wright and Co. "We would call attention to the gold stocks as a group which always benefits by business depression whenever this involves a lower level of commodity prices as in the present case. "The communication reads "The three most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange are McIntyre, Dome and Alaska Juneau. On the curb, Lake Shore, Teck Hughes and Hollinger seem meritorous. These issues are suggested more for quiet improvement over a period of several months than for immediate results."

It is interesting to note that only one wholly American mine is mentioned in this selected list.

A gain of approximately $280,000 is reported in the output of the Porcupine camp during December over the November total and can be largely attributed to increased production from the New Dome mill. The plant is understood to have reached capacity and a further gain should be evident this month. Kirkland Lake district increased output last month by $190,000. Largely traceable to higher tonnage at Lake Shore.

The silver market was badly disorganized yesterday, no quotation being available in New York until ater 4 p.m. when the metal was quoted at 28 ¾ cents per ounce, off 1 3-8 from Tuesday. Trading was at a standstill with the market completely deadlocked for the first time in its history.

C. A. Kaeding, consulting engineer of Sherritt Gordon mines, is reported to be on the property in northern Manitoba at present preparing material for the company's forthcoming annual report. It is believed likely he will also prepare figures for presentation to directors at the meeting to be held next month to decide on immediate policy with regard to production.

Word was received to-day from Buffalo that directors of Sylvanite gold mines met there yesterday. Nature of the business transacted is unknown but an announcement is expected in some quarters.

CAR STRIKES TRUCK—TWO INJURED.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 15. — When their car skidded on the surface of Highway No. 2 between here and Maitland last night into a truck approaching from the opposite direction, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McVaugh and Charles Bissell, all of North Augusta, received injuries necessitating treatment in hospital.

The car was reduced to wreckage. Mrs. McVaugh is suffering from a fractured femur and other injuries, while McVaugh and Bissell are in the General Hospital with cuts and bruises.

LIGHTER LOSSES ON WALL STREET

Trading Quickens Moderately as Fresh Selling is Encouraged.

SOME 5 POINT DECLINES

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (C.P.)—The stock market broke out of its narrow trading area on the downside to-day.

The extreme stagnation of the market in the previous session, as it endeavored to break away from the downward trend of Monday and Tuesday, encouraged fresh selling, and trading quickened moderately. Isolated strength of some of the rails bolstered the list a little in the late morning, but the decline became emphatic after mid-day, and losses of 2 to 5 points were numerous.

Shares losing 3 to 5 points included American and Foreign Power, Coca Cola, Air Reduction, Eastman, American Telephone, Allied Chemical and Lambert. Issues losing 2 or more included American Can, Public Service of N.J., National Biscuit, Electric Power and Light, Johns Manville and American Tobacco.

U.S. Steel sagged more than a point, going below 140 for the first time since December. Richfield Oil broke more than a point in the early trading to go below 3, or more than 25 under its 1930 high, and the 6 per cent. bonds lost 13½ points. Other oils were heavy.

The action of the share market was contrary to that of the bond list, which picked up under the influence of further easing of credit rates. Time money again sagged with the longer maturities down to the lowest levels of half a century or more. Call money held at 1½ at the loan desk, with virtually no demand. There was a brisk investment demand for commercial paper, and lower rates were regarded as probable.

405,000 DROUGHT VICTIMS BEING CARED FOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (CP)—An indication of the widespread aftermath of human suffering as a result of last summers drought in the United States was given in a Red Cross report to-day.

The report showed 450,000 persons being cared for by drought relief to 383 counties in 21 States.

The total amount of cash grants up to noon yesterday was $614,721. Total expenditures for all type of relief, food, clothing, medical supplies and feed for stock, was $1,382,837.

ON RECOMMENDS POWER COMMISSI IMMEDIATE DEVELOPMENT STEPS

Finds Public Construction and Operation and Dam and Fower Houses "Entirely Practicable."

PRIVATE TRANSMISSION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (C.P.).—The St. Lawrence Power Development Commission, in a report to the Governor and the Legislature to-day, recommended immediate creation of a St. Lawrence power authority as a step preliminary to State development of the river's power resources.

The commission found public construction and operation of the dam and power houses "entirely practicable." This coincides with the Democratic policy by more than a decade's standing.

Distribution of the power so developed, the commission recommended, should be by existing private transmission systems, with rates to consumers regulated by contracts between the State power authority and the distributing agency. Governor Roosevelt, as did his predecessor, former Governor Smith, advocated transmission over publicly-owned systems.

The recommendations of the commission for private transmission did not, however, preclude the possibility of legislation looking to public distribution. The commission recommended that if the trustees of the power authority were unable to successfully make a contract for private transmission they should be given "such powers as are necessary to make other dispositions of the power."

Regarding the private distribution proposals, the commission reported:

"It is not economically wise to parallel existing transmission or distributing systems except as a possible solution in the event of failure of private utility companies to enter into a contract with the power authority of a fair and reasonable basis."

Public Hearings.

The commission recommended public hearings on the proposed contracts and their submission to the Governor for approval.

The commission believes that rates to domestic consumers would be reduced as a result of this development, and that the lower costs would lead to extension of service in rural areas.

An agreement with Canadian authorities, covering the co-operative development of the river, was recommended.

The commission's advisory board of engineers has estimated the cost of the project (to be shared equally between New York State and Canada) at $171,547,000. The plan proposed by the engineers involves the construction of the dam at Barnhart Island, near Messina. The dam could be constructed without the use of coffer dams by diverting the flow of the stream successfully from each of three channels. This would mean that the foundation of the dam could be laid virtually on dry land. Barnhart Island and another small island nearer to the Canadian shore would constitute part of the [illegible]

Managing Director

J. F. WESTON
Managing Director The Imperial Life Assurance Company, whose annual meeting was held yesterday in Toronto.

Winnipeg Review

Special Service to The Examiner through the courtesy of E. J. Rawlf Company Grain and Stock Brokers, of Toronto

Despite weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires this wheat market displayed strength yesterday and showed a tendency to ignore the weakness abroad. The market started off ¾ lower in sympathy with the cables but gradually firmed until all of the opening loss was regained, only to sell off again around mid-session when the market turned quiet. During the first part of the day there was good buying in evidence that was credited largely to New York shippers, while local houses connected with the continent were also moderate buyers of the May future. There was only a small export business confirmed as being worked overnight, but it was generally believed that the business that is being done daily is larger than is being reported, and it is known definitely that considerable amounts have been sold to go out of Montreal at and after the opening of Navigation. Vancouver also experiencing a fair shipping season, and it is understood that several millions are booked to go out during the next two or three weeks. This business will likely be reflected a little later on by sharply reduced stocks. There was no special feature to the cash market and the demand was largely a casiot affair with offerings light and spreads were unchanged. The flour market continues generally quiet in both domestic and export channels. Liverpool closed 1-16 1 1-8 lower and Buenos Aires at 3 p.m. was 2 3-8 lower. The weather in Argentine is clear and the new crop is now moving towards seaboard in increasingly volume. But the foreign demand is reported as dull. Chicago July wheat was decidedly strong and advanced more than two cents from the previous close. Dry conditions with no snow protection over large acreas of the winter wheat belt are attracting attention, while dry conditions in India are causing anxiety. Winnipeg futures closed ¼ lower.

Coarse Grains—These markets were frantically lower but held very steady at the decline. There was very little going on and nothing of feature. The cash demand is light and is only a domestic proposition. Oats closed 3-8 to 5-8 lower, barley 3-8 to ½ lower and rye ½ lower. Flax market continues firm and closed 5-8 to 3-8 higher. Market generally is very quiet.

Liverpool Cables due 1-8 lower to unchanged based on Winnipeg.

TORONTO LIST EASIER TO-DAY

Brazilian Breaks More Than Point Upon Announcement of Dividend Payment.

LIGHT TRADING.

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—Trading was on a meagre scale on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. The list as a whole was easier, though with but one outstanding exception, losses were for less than a point.

Brazilian Traction broke more than a point on announcement that the company would again pay the dividend in stock rather than cash. This morning Brazilian was selling under 22 and only recently the stock was up to 25.

The majority of pivotal shares were fractionally below last night. Noranda, Nickel, Ford of Canada, C.P.R. lost ½ point or less. In the oil section, B.A. Oil, Imperial were slightly lower. Canadian oil lost one point to 21, International Pete held unchanged at 14½ while Frontenac surged upward again, selling more than a point higher and above 21 this morning.

Bell Telephone, C.P.R. were unchanged at 142 and 40 respectively. Canadian dredge gained a point to 31. Walkers was firm at 73¼. Service Stations sold unchanged at 32¼.

BLAZE STARTS

t'l the Examiner that he heard a sound in the centre of the blaze. ..bably in Wm. Sharpe's store, that impressed him as an explosion.

Complete Fire Trap

In less than five minutes the firemen had two lines of hose in action. One was directed from the Charlotte street front and the other from the rear. The old canoe building, with its long use as a garage and also as a gasoline and oil station, appeared to be a complete fire-trap. Tremendous volumes of smoke rolled high across Charlotte street, and swept around the east wing of the Charibond. The fire department's prompt attack seemed to be succeeding from the outset. After checking the first uprush of flames that were licking the east wall of the apartment building, Chief Gimblett directed the brigade's work to both the old canoe factory and also a protective effort of laying a curtain of water along the apartment wall.

At four o'clock the department seemed to have the upper hand, but the interior of the tin front building stubbornly resisted the flood of water. Flames were breaking out in new places at the rear and in the roof. An Examiner reporter went home about four o'clock in the belief that the fire would soon be completely under control.

Spreads to Charibond Building

In the east wall of the Charibond building there is a light and ventilation shaft reaching up to the roof. Along toward six o'clock, it is stated, a sudden burst of flame in the remnant of the roof of the canoe building breached a window in the apartment building's air duct and was drawn up to the roof. Before this danger could be averted, the east section of the Charibond had caught fire and the entire force was called out again.

A heavy fire wall between the main body of the Charibond and its eastern section confined this second outbreak to this section, and although the occupants of the other apartments feared for a time that their rooms were about to be invided they escaped practically without any inconvenience. The ground floor stores in the main section were also untouched by water or flames. By 7.30 o'clock, the Charibond fire was out, but the six apartments were scarred and blackened in the rooms adjoining the air shaft. The roof appeared to have been burned through in one corner, and the room were water-soaked.

Joe Dean said he could not determine the damage to his store. The stock is a total loss and the fixtures are obviously badly damaged, and may have to be included in the loss account.

Great difficulty was experienced on account of the extreme coldness of the weather. The water froze, making a heavy coating of ice on exposed parts, which made entrance to the old building dangerous at times The hose lines became so stiff that they were manipulated only with great difficulty

The flames were put under control again and again, but still they crept through the decrepit walls to break out elsewhere. However by 8 30 a.m. further spread of the fire was stopped altogether, and it only remained to break down joists to extinguish the smouldering wood beneath. In the shed in the rear, the firemen were busy tearing up the roof. As soon as the tin was lifted the flames shot up, but the firefighters were ready for them By ten o'clock the work was mostly done, and in an additional hour or so every vestige of flames should be completely extinguished

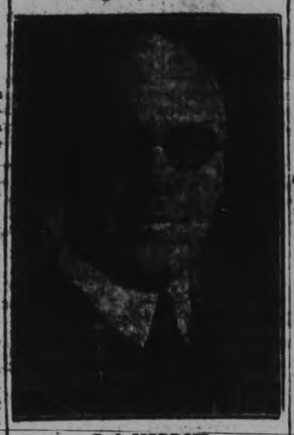
IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO. INCREASES ASSETS $5,000,000

Company President



G. A. MORROW
President The Imperial Life Assurance Co., who presided at the annual meeting of the company yesterday.

Total as Shown in Annual Statement Reaches Nearly $63,000,000.

STEADY GROWTH.

Irrespective of the amount of business done in the past twelve months the real measure of progress of any company is its position in the matter of resources. The Imperial Life Assurance Company have increased their assets during the past twelve months by well over $5,000,000 and their total assets, as now shown in their annual statement, reached nearly $63,000,000.

This company follows a conservative investment policy and has not followed the practice, permitted under the Insurance Act, of writing up securities held to their market value.

The Imperial Life assets therefore show only a fractional decrease in value, due to present abnormal market conditions. Against this depreciation, the company has set by a special investment reserve of $240,000, ample for present or anticipated requirements.

Evidence of the steady and well balanced growth which the company has experienced is shown by the fact that the business on their books has doubled in the last seven years, the total assurance in force now being over $300,000,000. The substantial sum of $37,000,000 in assurances issued and revived was produced during the past year. Earning from investments show an increase over the previous year, the total income from this source and from premium income being nearly $14,000,000. Payments of claims, profits to policy-holders, etc., amounted to $6,500,000. The mortality rate was again distinctly favorable.

A large proportion of the company's investment funds is in the highest class debentures and bonds. An average rate of 6 per cent. was earned in the year. As but 3 per cent. is required to maintain the company's assurances and annuity reserves, there is a wide margin of interest earnings available for policy-holders' security and dividends. The recent annual meeting in Toronto was presided over by Mr. G. A. Morrow, President. The company reports a year of gratifying progress, despite difficult conditions.

Full Plenary Session

Next will come a full plenary session of the conference to give formal approval to the scheme, ringing down the conference curtain. Subsequent stages will be the actual drafting of the new constitution by India and British experts, which will necessitate a visit to India and submission of the scheme to the British Parliament. Royal assent is the final step.

"Continue to watch the plant and tend its development," Lord Sankey urged. "At times it will even want pruning, but as to the future I have no misgiving. India will see it grow into a great tree under whose spreading and protecting branches her sons and daughters will find that peace and shelter they sorely need. It is this which will bring you peace at last."

SALMON FISHING ONE OF CANADA'S BIG INDUSTRIES

Various Methods of Catching Salmon Used Along British Columbia Coast.

FISH TRAP OR POUND NET

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—Few people are more competent to discuss salmon fishing than is Richard Gosse, Managing-Director of the Clover Leaf Salmon Packers, who outlined in detail the various methods of salmon catching in an interview here to-day.

"The principal methods of catching the Pacific salmon in coastal waters are by means of traps or pound nets, purse seines, beach seines, gill nets, and by trolling," explained Mr. Gosse. "In some sections one type of fishing apparatus may be more efficient than another. Generally speaking, the type employed is that which will result in the largest catch in the most economical way. In some places some types of fishing gear are limited or prohibited by Government regulations. This often works a hardship on the canners and increases their costs in competition with U.S.and Siberian Packers.

Fish Trap : Pound Net.

"A pound net or fish trap consists of a row of pilings extending out from the shore usually for several hundred feet. At the outer end are enclosures into which the fish are led by netting hung on the piles and from which they find it impossible to escape. The principle is the same as that of a corral or similar device into which animals are led Floating traps are also used, the chief difference from the driven traps being that the netting is suspended from floats instead of being attached to piles.

"The purse seine is another type of fishing apparatus more or less extensively employed in salmon fishing. This is a mobile device and consists of a wall of netting several hundred feet in length, supported at the top by floats and weighted at the bottom, which is used generally in deep water to encircle a school of salmon. After the net has been drawn around the salmon, the bottom is closed by means of a line leading to the fishing boat. The net is thus pursed or closed, and as it is gradually drawn in the fish are concentrated and may be withdrawn with dip nets.

Beach Seining and Gill Netting.

"The beach seine, as its name implies, is used along shore. It is similar in appearance to the purse seine, except that it has no rope at the bottom, and in operation one end is started out from shore and laid around a school of salmon, after which it is drawn ashore at each end. The lower edge of the beach seine rests on the bottom so that the fish may not escape under the net.

"Gill nets are used extensively, particularly at the mouths of rivers. These nets are suspended by floats and weighted at the bottom. Fine linen twine is employed which is virtually invisible to the fish. As they swim through the water the salmon become enmeshed in trying to pass through the net which usually catches them immediately back of the gills. The mesh of the net must be the proper size to catch the particular species sought, as otherwise the smaller fish will pass through and the larger ones will not be caught.

"Trolling is another method employed in capturing salmon," Mr. Gosse concluded. "The species taken thus are the Red spring and the cohoe salmon. The other species of Pacific salmon rarely if ever take the hook. Herring are sometimes used for bait in trolling for salmon, and strong lines and hooks are necessary. These operatoins are conducted from boats propelled with oars or, more generally, from small power boats.

FIRST ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Campbellford Horticultural Society Hear Good Report After First Year of Activity.

1,300 BULBS PLANTED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 15—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—The first annual meeting of the Campbellford Horticultural Society was held last evening in the Public Library, when a good attendance was registered to hear the reports for the year. The president, J. P. Archer, occupied the chair.

The election for the 1931 officers resulted in the following slate being chosen: President, J. P. Archer; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Neil Thompson; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. D. Mitchell; directors, Mrs. W. Hammond, Mr. L. A. Burbank, Mr. Stewart Crosson, Mr. Cecil McConnell, Mrs. Charles Ackerman, Dr. O. C. Watson, Mr. J. Poulton, Mrs. C. Williams, Mo. George Ironside, and Mrs. C. W. Palliser. The secretary is appointed by the directors. Auditors, F. W. Wood and A. J. Meyers.

The president gave a report of the year's work, which showed that great progress had been made for the initial season. In all, 1300 tulip bulbs have been planted in Campbellford, for flowering this spring. These plants in given quatities are located at the following places in town. At the Public Library, 325; the west end of the bridge, on the canal bank, 200; at the War Memorial, 400; at the fire hall, 200, and under the bridge on Grand road, 175.

The membership of the society for the first year is also gratifying, there being 108 on the role. Mr. Archer also paid a hight tribute of respect to the late Dr. G. A. Hay, extending sympathy to the family in their bereavement. Dr. Hay was a member of the board of directors.

The financial report for the year also was in first class shape, there being a balance on hand of $70.73 It is expected that with this money a quantity of shrubs will be purchased and planted at various points in town this spring

NEW HYMN BOOK RAISES COMMENT

Presbyterians May Adopt Scottish Hymnal. Making Some Additions.

DECIDED BY ASSEMBLY.

ST. JOHN, N.B., January 15 (C. P.). — Rev. Dr. Frank Baird, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, commenting on the decision of the Montreal Presbytery to interview the General Assembly regarding the new edition of the hymn book, said the matter would come before the Assembly for discussion and action.

He said the Presbyterians had always likde the old Presbyterian Book of Praise, published about 25 years ago. The copyright was now in the hands of the United Church of Canada. Following union the word "Presbyterian" had been dropped from the title of the hymn book, and lately a new hymnal had been prepared for the United Church, which was discarding both editions of the Book of Praise, and would have the new volume ready for distribution next May.

Dr. Baird said it was his opinion the Presbyterians might prefer to use the Scottish Presbyterian Church Hymnal rather than the book for which the copyright is held by the United Church. Should the Scottish Hymnal be adopted for the Presbyterian Church in Canada, there would certainly be added a number of hymns that have been in general use by the Presbyterian Church in this country, he said.

PILE SUFFERERS

End Your Misery Without Salves or Cutting.

External treatments cannot permanently end Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause.

The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine must be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 900 cases and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of the pain and expense of an operation until you have tried HEM-ROID. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store will supply you and guarantee money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.

New Havelock J.I. Officers Appointed

HAVELOCK, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence) — At the regular meeting of Havelock Junior Institute held in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening, Miss Jean Anderson and Miss Alma Hagerman were appointed president and vice-president, respectively, owing to the resignation of the holders of these two offices.

During the business session ten dollars was voted to a needy family near Havelock and plans were made for a social evening in place of the next meeting.

Miss Alma Hagerman, delegate to the convention in Toronto gave a splendid report.

Dancing was enjoyed following the meeting.

Stomach Troubles That Are Dangerous
(CUT THIS OUT)

Some forms of stomach trouble, if neglected, often lead to dangerous conditions—ulcers or cancers—then, a surgical operation is about the only hope.

For this reason, even the most simple stomach ailments should be given prompt and careful attention. So, don't neglect acid stomach, sourness, gas or bloating! And don't waste time with unknown or unreliable treatments. At the very first signs of distress, go to any good drug store and get some pure Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets). This special Magnesia Compound is safe and pleasant to take—quickly, almost instantly, effective and does not act as a laxative. Be sure and ask for BISURATED Magnesia for stomach troubles only.

Eczema on Hands. Unable to Work. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczema broke out on my face and was in the form of a rash. I used to scratch it and the irritation was sometimes unbearable. The eczema spread to my hands and I was unable to do my regular work or put my hands in water for over a month. They were so sore that I wore rubber gloves when I did any work.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some. After the first application I got relief and in two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. William Coward, R. R. 1, Lingar, Que.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address Canadian Depot: J. T. Wolt Company Limited, Montreal.

At the regular meeting of the Women's Institute of the village, held on Wednesday afternoon, a splendid paper on "Made in Canada Goods," was given by Mrs. Walter Young who advised all to purchase whenever possible made in Canada products.

18 HURLERS WITH GIANTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The New York Giants will have 18 pitchers in Spring training camp this year and none of the rookies will be watched more closely, perhaps, than James Irving Mooney from Charlotte of the South Atlantic League.

Mooney, a southpaw, weighing only about 168 pounds, pitched in 18 games and 197 innings last season, granted 188 hits, but struck out 185 men.

Eczema On Hands Couldn't Put Them In Water

Mrs. Solomon Bebbopf, R.R. No. 1, Hanover, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with eczema for four years, and it was so bad I could not put my hands in water. I found Burdock Blood Bitters the only medicine that would give me any relief, and after taking four bottles the eczema had all left me. I can now do my own washing, and wish to give thanks to B.B.B. for what it has done for me."

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Sold by all drug and general stores; manufactured, for the past 51 years, only by The T. Milburn Co. Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Millbrook Church S.S. Classes Re-organized

MILLBROOK, January 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — Several of the classes in St. Andrew's United Church Sunday School have now reorganized for the year 1931 the Men's Bible Class meeting after the school session on Sunday, and electing the following:

President, James H. Might; Vice-president, Thomas Douglas; Secretary, Fred McMahon; treasurer G. E. Burnham; assistant secretary, Lavergne Fallis.

Mrs. (Dr.) Rae is the popular and successful teacher of the Men's organized Bible Class, and the attendance on Sunday numbered thirty-six. Committees and convenors will be chosen at the next meeting.

Boneka Bible Class.

The Boneka Bible Class, of which Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones is the teacher, has capable explanation of the lesson each week having practical results in the lives of the married women who practically make up the membership, forty-three being present at the Sunday session. The list of officers for 1931 includes:

President, Mrs. W. A. O'Brian; Vice-president, Mrs. David Lunn; secretary, Mrs. Wesley Brown; treasurer, Mrs. John McKnight; convenor of Social Committee, Mrs. G. W. Sayles.

Y. L. Bible Class.

The Young Ladies' Bible Class with Miss Estelle Hetherington as the teacher since the removal of Mrs. V. C. Lambert last fall, is also well attended each Sunday, with interest and enthusiasm well sustained. The officers recently elected who will fill the various positions for the current year are:

President, Phyllis Kidd. Vice-president and assistant teacher, Frances Jones; secretary Marian O'Brian; treasurer, Sadie Reland; Membership Committee, Dorothy McDowell, Phyllis Kidd, Jean Stinson, and Marian Earle.

Intermediate Girls.

Miss Jean L. Burnham's class of intermediate girls chose its list of officers on Sunday, at the close of the school session, those elected being:

President, Esther Might; secretary, Marjorie McDowell; treasurer, Marie Douglas; secretary for distributing books and papers, Muriel Clarke.

SUNDAY SCHOOL IS REORGANIZED

Annual Congregational Meeting Held For Fenella United Church.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

FENELLA, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—The annual congregational meeting of the Fenella United Church was held on Tuesday evening, the Rev. R. W. Paton presiding.

After the opening excercises, Mrs. Fred. Talling was appointed secretary for the meeting, the first business being the reorganization of the Sunday School. The election of officers resulted as follows: superintendent, Fred Talling; assistant, W. J. Jibb; Mrs. W. J. Jibb was appointed honorary teacher of the Bible Class, with Mrs. Fred Talling as assistant; senior boys' class, Mrs. John Herrington, honorary teacher, J. Crank assistant; senior girls, Mrs. C. W. Macklin; intermediate, Mrs. W. H. Curtis, with Mrs. J. Knox as assistant; juniors, Mrs. James Knox and Miss Ruby Adams, assistant; primary, Mrs. Harrison George with Mrs. C. McNaught, assistant; beginners, Mrs. Frank George and Mrs. Hugh Sherwin, assistant; secretary-treasurer, Miss Louisa Clark; organist, Mrs. Frank Down and Miss Louisa Clark, assistant; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. S. Leach; Missionary superintendent, Mrs. W. H. Sandercock; auditors, Mrs. Marcus Lonsberry and Miss Donna Talling.

Financial Report

The financial report showed receipts to be $286.77 and expenses $143.19, leaving a balance on hand of $143.58. On motion it was decided to donate $20 to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund.

During the congregational business period, Fred Talling, the retiring steward, was re-elected to a further term of four years. Mrs. Fred Talling was re-elected organist with Mrs. Frank Down assistant.

W. H. Curtis secretary-treasurer, read the finacial report as follows: loose collections, $102.85; envelope collections, $221.09; serving meals at Fall Fair, $200.10; running expenses, $150.44; salary, $16.40; on hand, $191.34.

W. H. Curtis, secretary-treasurer resigned and W. H. Sandercock was elected to this office. It was decided to have a special Sunday service in aid of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. The Sunday School classes were graded on January 11. The Fenella financial report will be included in the circuit financial report.

Group Girls Present Pleasing Playlet

BUCKHORN, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence).—The C.G.I.T. girls of Buckhorn presented in a very efficient manner the play entitled "The Old-Fashioned Mother," in the hall under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Hall who played the part of mother.

The hall was filled to capacity and the hearty response of the audience showed their appreciation of the play. Between acts, Miss Ora Dunford, of Lakefield gave a reading entitled, "Digesting the Newspaper," and a duet "God Will Take Care of You," was rendered by Mrs. H. A. Shearer and Miss Margaret Wilson.

The caste of the play was as follows: Deborah Underhill, Mrs. B. Hall; Clara Underhill, Olive Fulton; Charlie Underhill, Viva Shearer; Isobel Simpscott, Clara McIlmoyle; Enoch Rone, Gloria Barr; Gloriana Perkines, Amy Faucett; Jerry Gosling, Lulu Gillespie; Jonah Quackenbush, Dora Wilson; Quintis Todd, Ethel Calvert; Lonesy Custard, Amy Weaver; Suky, Alma Wilson; Widder Bill Prindle, Margaret Wilson.

CLEVER BANK-SWINDLING RUSE USED BY SOFT-SPOKEN "CLERIC"

Alleged to Use Woman Accomplice—Forges Bank Managers Initials on Cheques.

FOUR ACT PLAY.

(By Ralph Foster.)
(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1931.)

TORONTO Jan.15.—Out of the dim period when the American "con man" flooded the continent with gold bricks of his personal manufacture and combining the confidence game with the equally aged art of penmanship, an up-to-date edition of the "slick" criminal has appeared to provide police departments with a large and varied assortment of headaches.

Clad in the vestments of a cleric, a soft-spoken gent with a knack for writing other people's signatures has been making a specialty for fast jobs on various banks here and there on the continent. In Toronto he managed to scrape together about $12,000 one afternoon. In Hamilton, Montreal and other Canadian cities he has been equally successful. There is only the fact that in almost every case the swindler has worn the garb of a sky pilot to identify him as the perpetrator of all the episodes which have followed in quick succession. In the belated locking of the stable door the police have usually found evidence of considerable preparation and the work of an accomplice, presumably a woman.

A hypothetical reconstruction of his system indicates that the woman enters the bank first and makes a deposit. Shortly afterwards she writes a cheque and goes to the manager for his initialling to assure the teller of its validity. Then back to the master mind while he transfers the signature to the forgery and saves it until he has enough of them for a fast, profitable trip around town.

The Arrival.

"C'mon, c'mon," he murmurs testily. "Do you want to get us knocked off?"

"You're always beefing about being knocked off," is the retort of the wife, the moll or whatever her capacity may be. "If you're got nerves why don't you buy yourself a stock of shoe-laces and some smoked glasses?"

Without further remark the reverend gentleman, who is dressed as any other business man for travelling, strides to a taxi, leaving the moll to follow. He waits, however, to hand her into the car. They drive to a quiet hotel close to a business district but some distance from the down-town area. Registered as Mr. O. K. Businessman and wife they began immediately to make plans for the future.

"I guess we'd better not work from the hotel here ,eh dearie?" is the first contribution from the missus. You nearly cooked the job properly in San Diego because you couldn't stand to live in an apartment. Maybe we better get a house."

"Sure," he retorts, "I'll go see an architect. This is January. Let's see, we should have a house by the middle of August, anyway. We'll stay at the hotel."

"If you think I'm goin't to waste all my beauty on a matron in some palatial pen', you're a dreamer right out of Alice in Wonderland. We'll go to an apartment."

"If I had a brain like yours that's just where all that particularly swell beauty of yours would be right now. What about the lease? Maybe I better go down and see the newspapers and tell them I'm in town and open for business. Anyway, you're talking too much; let's have a little action. To-morrow you go down the pike and feed some of the fish stores, Wednesday morning you write some tracts and by Thursday morning we'll be ready to shoot. Now, go to bed and catch up on some of that famous beauty sleep of yours. I want to finish this mystery story."

The Initials.

The heroine dutifully goes to bed, not omitting to kiss the doctor good-night and the following day she lays in the foundations. On her next round she collects the signatures of the bank managers as though to pass on the validity of a withdrawal and bears them home to her lord and master, who, meanwhile, has found out an amenable driver and prepared the schedule to meet a train, likely at a town a few miles from the city. He meets her at the door on her return.

"So you're here at last. I suppose you enjoyed your vacation. You're well tanned: Did you go to Cuba? Let's see the tracts."

"I wish you'd quit ridin' herd on me. Here's your little toys. One of the managers wouldn't sign it. Took me to the teller himself."

Dr. Flim flam acquires the three or four colored slips and takes them to the desk where a penman's apparatus is laid out.

"Did he take you to lunch, too? For three hours I've sat here until I'm lucky if I can write my own name."

"Getting temperament dearie? You never could write your own name twice anyway. Remember the day in Dallas you scrawled the signature of the biggest banker in town on the dining room check and we had to pick up and fly out without a kit?"

"Are you going to get out of here and let me get some work done? You've pulled some pretty dumb plays yourself."

The next day, giving the banks time to open and get into full swing, they set out in the car. Dr. Flimflam is made up for the start, clad in the sombre habit of a man of religion.

"Sure this is the right tract? It would not be the first time you handed me a bum steer and nearly cooked things."

"You'll be in a swell steam if you don't close your jaw and 'tend to business. The teller here is an old guy. Go to work."

A rather pleasant cleric descends from the sedan and enters the bank. He is more than likely humming softly.

"Good morning," he greets the teller, pleasantly, passing the doctored cheque through the grill. The teller examines it while returning the greeting. He thinks it is quite a sum, but ,of course it has Mr. Gerrard's initialling. He counts out the money, with another cheery, "Good morning," the minister walks out to his car and gets under way immediately. He has turned the first corner before the teller is on his way to show so large a cheque to the manager.

The Hitch.

At the next stop the teller thought it would be advisable to get the manager to cash a cheque for more than five thousand himself. Before he had disappeared inside the little office, the cleric was already well on his way to the door. The bank staff gave chase but the car had turned a corner before they could get the license number. The program proceeded however, and we take leave of the pair at a little railway station. The driver has pulled away richer by a thousand dollars or so. The train is pulling out towards a holiday for the team of Reverend and Moll.

"The way it took you so long to say good-bye to that hack driver I'd figure you were in love with him," grunts the doctor.

"Don't tell me youre getting jealous at this stage of the game? Forget it."

And so, in an age when crime is a matter of so much lead, and the bold, bad men of the get-rich-quick brotherhood think no more of murder than the average man thinks of swatting a fly, here is still a crook living the themanner of his forefathers—by his wits. Not to condone his actions simply because of the lack of carnage, because despite his tactic she is an enemy of society, but simply to express a sort of relief for the presence of artistry or wit or what you will in a pursuit which has become a menace to an increasing death rate and has made this continent the laughing stock of the world.

Lucius A. Parmalee is the name given to the character-acting swindler who worked in Canada. That is the name of a notorious American penman. His work is parallel, though not so versatile, as that of Andreas, an artiest of make-up in the 'Prisoner Who Sang," by John Bojer. It's a safe bet that Parmalee will sing in prison—When they castch him.

Panama merchants expect prosperity to return with the arrival of the combined American fleets in February.

How A Clever "Cleric" Fleeced Three Toronto Banks

In the above illustration our artist has depicted scenes demonstrating how a forger went about getting nearly $12,000 from three Toronto banks on the same afternoon. The forger, who is suspected to be Lucius A. Parmalee, internationally known for his illegal work with the pen, has yet to be apprehended. While the methods used by "the man in the clerical robes" are not known definitely, so carefully did he cover his actions, it is thought that he had a woman accomplice who went to the bank first and opened an account. A day or so later, she went back to the bank with a small cheque which, instead of taking to the teller, she took to the manager to have initialed. But she never cashed the cheque, taking it back to the man, who, forged the manager's initials on a cheque which was in every case for $3,800, and marked "Not over four thousand dollars." Dressed in the garb of a minister, the forger then presented the cheque to the teller, who cashed it immediately, since it bore the manager's signature. They tried four banks in the one afternoon, and were successful in three. At the fourth, the teller became suspicious of the initials, and took the cheque into the manager. While he was there, the man made his getaway.

AL CAPONE'S AID IS SHOT

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (CP) — The man who police say managed Al Capone's soup kitchen for the unemployed is dead. Enrico Bertocchi was his name. Death came in the same manner that it has to so vast a number of other men who have become identified with Chicago gangs. He was shot as he rode in in an automobile last night with Dr. William Hajna, a dentist who had volunteered to give him a "lift" toward his home after having met him in a soft drink parlor. The doctor was slightly wounded.

STEAMER IN DISTRESS.

BOSTON, January 15. — The 6,500-ton Shipping Board steamer Effingham was in distress 1,200 miles east of here to-day with a broken propeller shaft, and the coastguard cutter has gone to her assistance. News of the Effingham's plight was received at the Charlestown Navy Yard from the Navy Department at Washington to which an SOS sent out by the vessel was reported.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—Country egg shippers suffered another cut in prices yesterday for ungraded supplies, delivered, cases returned, the range being 29c for extras, 24c for firsts, 18c for seconds, and 21c for pullet extras. The market was terribly weak, as the decrease in prices to consumers was offset by heavier receipts, altogether beyond the general demand. Wholesalers dropped quotations to the trade 1c, offering extras in cartons at 37c; extras, loose, 35c; firsts, loose, 30c; pullet extras, loose, 26c; and seconds, loose, 24c. Brokers were quoting fresh eggs at 31c for extras; 26c for firsts, 23c for pullet extras and 20c for seconds, graded, free cases, and storage supplies were selling at several prices. Wholesalers were quoting the trade candled out of storage supplies at 28c for extras, 25c for firsts, and 21c for seconds.

Butter.

The butter market was quiet, with prices unchanged from previous offerings at 31c to 31½c for No. 1, and 30c to 30½c for No. 2, creamery solids. Some brokers were asking higher prices, but were not getting any business and most found even small sales hard to make at prices stated.

Cheese.

Trade in cheese was fair at steady prices of 14c for new, large, 14¼c for twins, and 14½c for triplets, Government-graded, paraffined and coloured.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—Receipts at the Union stock yards yesterday were: 1,621 cattle, 148 calves, 1,566 hogs, 857 sheep and lambs.

Cattle trade was very slow at the opening with only a few plain fair quality steer and butcher cows selling up to 11 o'clock. Bids on good butcher cattle are easier than Tuesday.

Plain to fair steers sold at $5.50 to $6.50 a cwt. and butcher cows from $4.25 to $5.25 a cwt.

The offering is fairly heavy considering the good clean-up of supplies in the past two days, and there is a feeling that prices will be lower before the close of yesterday's market. Very few store cattle offered and none sold in the early trading.

The calf market on a light offering with prices 50 cents a cwt. lower than yesterday, choice vealers are selling at $10 to $10.50 a cwt., and plain downward to $6.50 a cwt.

Lambs are firm at $10 a cwt., for good ewes and wethers with culls and medium quality from $6 to $6.25 a cwt. Best butcher sheep are firm up to $6 with culls downward to $2.

Hogs are firm at yesterday's advance. Butcher grades selling at $9.50 f.o.b. and $10.50 w.o.c. for bacon.

Sheep 600; lambs unchanged; good to choice 8.75-8.85.; strictly choice quoted 9.00.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—Egg quotations to retailers were lower, while butter, cheese and potatoes were unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Prices of eggs to retailers were from 1 to 3 cents a dozen lower. Fresh specials lost 2 cents at 45 cents, and fresh extras were 1 to 2 cents lower 42 cents a dozen. Fresh firsts and seconds were down 2 cents at 36 and 30 cents a dozen respectively. Fresh pullet extras lost 1 to 2 cents at 31 cents. Storage extras were unchanged at 33 to 34 cents, and storage firsts were 2 to 3 cents cheaper at 28 cents a dozen. Storage seconds were unchanged at 25 to 26 cents a dozen. Ontario fresh extras, in carlots, were 35 cents a dozen, firsts 30 cents and seconds 27 cents a dozen. British Columbia extras were quoted at 36 to 38 cents, firsts at 30 to 31 cents and pullets at 28 to 29 cents.

Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter was quoted at 31½ to 32 cents a pound, and to retailers solids were 33 cents and prints 34 cents a pound.

White cheese was 11 cents a pound and colored cheese was 1 cent higher.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were 85 cents per 90 pounds, bulk, and to retailers were 95 cents per 90-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, January 15. — Brisk upturns in wheat resulted yesterday from crop dangers due to wintry temperatures and widespread lack of snow. July wheat, representing the 1931 crop, jumped almost 3c a bushel. Hoisting of bids by Government-backed agencies ready to take immediate delivery of wheat tended further to strengthen prices.

Wheat closed firm, ½c to 2⅝c advance, corn ⅝c to ¾c up, oats unchanged to ¼c higher, and provisions unchanged to 17c decline.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 15.—Despite weakness in foreign markets, the Winnipeg wheat market was comparatively firm yesterday, and at the close showed only fractional losses, ranging from ¼c to ⅜c a bushel.

The market encountered excellent support right from the start, and although offerings were on a fairly liberal scale, they were well taken, and trade volume for th day was quite appreciable.

Actual export business overnight was limited, but it was reported late in the day France had bought 400,000 bushels of Manitobas, while other countries took smaller amounts. Some traders placed sales as high as 1,000,000 bushels.

Durums and the lower grades of cash wheat were in good demand, but round lots of all grades were very scarce, and only a few odd cars changed hands. Number 1 Northern closed at 54½c.

Trading in coarse grains was featureless.

MEMBER GIVES TALK ON ROBERT BURNS

Mrs. Roger Meiklejohn Speaker at Regular Meeting of Stirling Guild.

STIRLING, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence) — At the regular meeting of the Guild of St. Andrew's Church held on Monday evening, Mrs. Maggie Ward gave the topic which was entitled, "Living within the circle of God's Will" and Mrs. Roger Meiklejohn gave a talk on the life of Robert Burns:

"There are three things to be said of the will of God" said Mrs. Ward, "the will of God if spacious, it is not a little corner of the world. Sin is on the outside of the circle, and if we reject God's authority we are on the outside. The penitent is always within the circle. The will of God is supreme, it must rule without a rival. The will of God is safe. This is so because it is an expression of His character."

Mrs. Meiklejohn in speaking of the life of the peasant poet, Robert Burns gave a detailed description of his life. Born in 1759 in a two-roomed clay cottage he was from his earliest life handicapped by poverty, and preferred the mountain breeze to the atmosphere of the drawing room.

When he was 27 his first volume of poems was published and sold by storm; his genius being recognized by all classes. In his poem, "To Mary in Heaven," he has made every chord in the human heart vibrate. In "The Lowly Train in life's sequested scene," he gathers around him the memories and traditions of his country, till they became a mantle and a crown.

He married Jean Armour but was nearly always in poor financial circumstances.

Stanley McLeod acted as leader for the meeting and the scriptural reading was taken by Mrs. R. H. Williams. Elizabeth Rosebush gave a reading, "Fraternity," and Helen Ward recited, "Best Things."

The secular part of the program was entirely of a Scotch nature, Mrs. Roy Eggleton and Lilian Smith sang a pleasing duet, "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," and Charles Allen played a number of Scottish airs and some of these were sung by the audience.

Felt Tired and Miserable

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for miserable and tired feelings and it gave me strength to do my work. My nerves are better and I feel well and strong and have a good appetite. NON-PARTISAN GOVERNMENT DURING ECONOMIC STRESS IS URGED AT WINTER SCHOOL

Rev. George A. Little, B.A., of Toronto, Speaker at Opening of Conference.

IN COBOURG CHURCH.

Some One Hundred Students Registered For Third Consecutive Session.

COBOURG, Jan. 15 (Special to The Examiner). — Non-partisan Government for Canada and the Province of Ontario during the current period of economic stress was urged at the opening of the United Church Winter School of the Bay of Quinte Conference which convened in Trinity United Church, Monday evening. The speaker was Rev. George A. Little, B.A., Toronto, editor of the 28 Sunday School publications of the United Church of Canada. He called upon Premier Bennett of Canada and Premier Henry of Ontario to confer with the leaders of Federal and Provincial Oppositions, Rt. Hon. W. L. McKenzie King and F. Mitchell Hepburn, M.P., with a view to bringing about a party truce which, he declared, to be as necessary now as it was during the Union Government regime in the Great War.

The Bay of Quinte Conference Winter School convened Monday night for its third consecutive session. Cobourg is the home of the school, being the geographical centre of the district. Some 100 students are registered for the weeks' lectures and devotional exercises, representing every important United Church from Whitby to Napanee.

Rev. Mr. Little's plea for non-partisan Government at this particular period was based, he declared, on a conviction that Canadians are approaching the problems of Government from a partisan instead of a Christian and business-like standpoint.

He pointed out that Hon. R. B. Bennett, and F. Mitchell Hepburn, M.P., are members of the United Church. It was his belief that the tolerance which marks their church life, should be extended to their political service.

"Premier Bennett," he declared, "is already making charges against the Liberal Party and blaming them for the country's difficulties, while ex-Premier King is just waiting for Parliament's opening to make capital out of the Imperial Economic Conference's failure."

On Common Basis

"Instead of that, Canada needs to get back its war time unity of spirit and purpose. In Ontario, Hon. George S. Henry, F. Mitchell Hepburn and W. E. N. Sinclair should get together and organize Government on a common sense basis and try to give the best possible administration for this Province and its people."

Standardized education of a stereotyped form in Ontario was decried by Rev. Mr. Little. He charged that boys are being graduated with a distaste for learning instead of merely having their appetites whetted for life-long pursuit of cultural ideals. In England, he declared, education does inculcate a love of learning for its own sake.

Canada's legal liquor bill of $200,000,000 during 1930 was deplored and the speaker urged his young hearers to consider that during 1930 the Province of Ontario paid the chairman of the Liquor Control Board $30,000; while the president of the University of Toronto received only $10,000.

Canada's universities, he also asserted, are not being used as they should be. For many months of the year they stand idle while Canadian students have to go to the United States to get post-graduate work which they are not yet able to obtain in Canada.

BUY AT HOME IS SLOGAN SOUGHT

is stated, because of some slight favorable discount factor.

Ordinarily, the policy of buying by tender is beyond criticism. It is a business principle which municipalities and public institutions properly adhere to. But in this instance it conflicts with another local business principle that has been decidedly accentuated of late, the principle embodied in the slogan of "buy at home." This slogan should surely be elastic enough to include the Canada Cement Company at Lakefield and the interests of its employees, however much or little they would benefit by an order from Peterborough.

If the Lakefield company buys $10,000 worth of machinery from a Peterborough factory in one year, if that company employs some Peterborough residents, surely this friendly disposition could be reciprocated by the city council of Peterborough even to the sacrifice of some comparatively small advantage of trade discount. It seems possible that the Cement company might have been able to buy their machinery from some other factory, just as Peterborough went abroad to St. Mary's for its supply of cement, although it was obtained through a local agency.

Relations Are Friendly.

The community relations between Lakefield and Peterborough have been and are friendly, and it is sincerely to be hoped that they will continue on that neighbourly plane. Lakefield people attend Peterborough theatres and sporting events, and undoubtedly do a considerable amount of business here in a year. And in the other direction there is some local interests in Lakefield. For these reasons the implication of the Lakefield man's remark, and it was not a complaint, surely deserves to be considered by the city council in its purchase of cement.

Local Concrete Pavement

This subject opens out into a larger field when it is remembered that Peterborough might construct all its pavements of cement instead of the asphaltic surface we have been laying on so many streets. If the Ontario government considers it profitable and altogether satisfactory to build many miles of concrete pavement, and if this type of pavement is also built in long stretches in New York State, and elsewhere across the border, surely this is ample warrant for Peterborough preferring concrete pavement, too, especially in view of the fact that the material can be bought so near home and from a company that is friendly to this community.

This comment is entirely voluntary and not inspired by the management of the Canada Cement Company at Lakefield. The Examiner has not interviewed the management nor any of the executive staff. These observations are merely passed on to the Council and to the citizens an opinion expressed by one of the "hands", one of the employees of the cement works. It is based on the plain fact that when we buy cement from the Lakefield company we are virtually buying it at home.

The permanent roads built by the Ontario government are not the only example of the use of concrete for highways, and there is a long mileage from Port Hope through Cobourg possibly to Trenton. Peterborough has several reaches of concrete roads which are apparently giving every satisfaction. Some of them were built during the mayoralty of John J. Turner, and the impression persists that they cost about one dollar a square yard less than the asphaltic pavement.

The old objection that the concrete top was noisy has lost its force. It was more or less true in those days when steel-tired vehicles were still numerous; but the balloon tires of the automobile have crowded the waggons off the streets.

There must be more than 10,000 square yards to a mile of pavement averaging eighteen feet wide, and at that rate the concrete would mean a saving of $10,000 a mile

Other Work In County Proposed

If it may be suggested that the city council consider this year the construction of concrete pavements if other streets are to be improved, and if the county council intends to build the proposed connecting links in the villages its members would perhaps find that the concrete type is more economical than the several forms of asphalt finishes that have been laid in some of the villages and towns outside this county.

T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., will also have a chance to urge the use of the Lakefield product when the new highway across the county is eventually paved. At the same time might be mentioned the proposal to pave the road between Peterborough and Lakefield. These are all suggestions which should be taken into account when any of the various highway undertakings are being planned and contracts awarded, an they all fit into the slogan "buy at home."

MARMORA TEAMS IN 1-1 HOCKEY TANGLE

Deloro Plant Schedule Away to Good Start for the Season.

MARMORA, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Deloro Plant hockey schedule got away to a good start on Tuesday evening with "Hec" Boudreau's team lined up against George Brooks' sextette. After ten minutes of overtime the result was a 1—1 tie. The game got away to a good start. Both goalies were kept busy for a while and then Bert Brown broke through to score for the Boudreau boys.

The second period went scoreless and a number of penalties were handed out at this time.

The third period was almost over when Charlie Clemens stick-handled through the whole team and beat "Jerry" McInroy on a shot which gave no chances. Ten minutes of overtime failed to break the tie.

The two teams were evenly matched, with the Boudreau team being perhaps the more aggressive. Lady Luck and "Mike" Corrigan, the goalie of the Brooks' outfit, must be good friends, for the goalie certainly had lots of luck as the Ah's and Oh's of the spectators testified at the critical moments. "Micky" McWilliams handled the bell efficiently, while Jules Ethier kept a vigilant eye on the timepiece.

Teams were:

The other team in the three team loop is being managed by Wilbert Mumby.

New Rescue Station For Northern Mines

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14.—In the heart of Northern Ontario's mining district, a modern rescue station, equipped with the most modern life saving apparatus for use in mine disasters has been completed and will be opened shortly, it has been announced by D. C. Sinclair, Chief Inspector of Mines for Ontario.

Located near the Frood Mine on the Sudbury-Frood Road, the station is within easy reach of the mines in the district. A special truck to convey the equipment to any desired centre will be added to the station in the spring.

Plane Crashes Through Roof—Pilot Unhurt

P. J. Stribling, a Seattle, Wash., student aeroplane pilot, while flying 1,500 feet over Seattle's industrial district fell when a choked gasoline line stalled his motor. The aeroplane went into a spin and plunged down through the roof of the Western Engineering Company's plant. Much to the suprise of four workmen they saw a man climb out of the wreck walk to a nearby telephone and call his home. The only hurt received by the flier was a small scratch on his face.

General Jose Gonzales Placed Under Arrest

MONTREAL, Jan. 14.—(CP)— The atmosphere of domestic tranquility that surrounded General Jose Gonsales Escobar and his wife, Conception Goslander, who came here from El Paso, Texas, to seek legal separation from her husband and found a happy reconciliation, was rudely disturbed yesterday when the former Mexican rebel leader was arrested and placed in a police station cell.

His arrest was on a warrant secured by C. L. PoPwell, El Pasco attorney, on a false pretense charge involving $15,000.

That Body of Yours

MIDDLE AGE.

You are naturaly pleased when you read that the span of life has been lengthened greatly during the past hundred years. You may remember that man's average age at death was at one time only about 21 years, that it has been more than doubled, and may be further lengthened.

And yet when you turn to the other side of the picture and see that men and women at the age of fifty, haven't any more chance of living longer than their great grand parents had when they were fifty ,you may begin to wonder what is wrong with middle age folk of to-day

The first point to remember is that the span of life has been lengthened for the most part only because more babies are saved at childbirth and during the first year. Then the diseases of childhood do not carry off so many now owing to better protective measures.

What does this mean?

That these children who would naturally have died in infancy or childhood have grown to maphood and woman hood, have taken their place in the world and perhaps contributed much to it, but nevertheless have never been really strong or rugged.

This of course means that as they approach middle age, they increase the number of middle age folk reaching the age of fifty.

Naturally the diseases of middle age, which have always been the diseases of middle age-heart disease, kidney disease, hardening of the arteries, gall bladder ailments and cancer—have more people to attack and naturally hit more, with the result that middle age folk as a class have no better chance for long life than had our ancestors.

In the other words while our medical knowledge enables us to bring more individuals up to middle age it has not learned how to bring more past middle age to old age.

And yet the very thing that saved or prolonged the lives of babies could really be used in saving and prolonging the lives of older folk. Nothing else but sensible feeding and fresh air.

Middle aged folk do not need the amount of food now eaten, and need more air and sunshine.

Everything else in life is changing or has been changing the last fifty or more years— telephone, telegraph, automobiles, airplanes, radio, moving pictures, talkies—a changed world—but that body of yours is just the same as the body of man of thousands of years ago.

CANADIAN GAS UTILIZATION

The sales of manufactured gas in Canada during 1929 for domestic purposes totalled 17,638,942 thousand cubic feet; in addition the amount of natural gas consumed for similar purposes amounted approximately to 16,000,000 thousand cubic feet, while industrial concerns used 12,000,000 thousand cubic feet of natural gas.

FASHION SERVICE

2668

The princess slip is indispensable in smart woman's wardrobe to wear with the new slim silhouette frocks.

The moulded line of this slender model hugs the figure to well below the hips where it starts to widen so as to have a comfortably full flaring hemline.

Its unbroken line from shoulder to hem does away with any conflicting lines to the outer garment, that so often entirely ruins an otherwise perfectly charming appearance.

It's easily made! A few seams to join! The hem may be finished with picot-edge or binding.

Style No. 2668 may be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. The 36-inch size requires 2 5-yards of 35-inch material with 2 yards of binding.

It's very French in flesh coloured crepe de chine with pale blue binding at neck, armholes and hem.

Flat crepe silk and crepe satin also suitable.

Our large Fashion Book shows how to dress up to the minute at very little expense. It contains most attractive Paris designs for adults and children, embroidery, etc.

Be sure to fill in the size of the pattern. Send stamps or coin (coin preferred).

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I wonder how many of us appreciate the necessity of a comfortable bed? Maybe some of us like our beds a little too much and are reluctant about rising in the morning!

* * * * * * *

But what I mean is a really comfortable bed. It is not always the springs nor the excellence of the mattress that determines whether a bed is comfortable or not.

* * * * * * *

It is not always the quality of the feathers in pillows that makes them 'downy.'

* * * * * * *

The treatment that each received daily has much to do with the matter. You may find that the bed in which you slept and revelled in its luxurious comfort when visiting, is equipped with the identical springs and variety of mattress as your own bedstead at home. Also that the pillows are of a similar quality of feathers

* * * * * * *

The care is different!

* * * * * * *

Mattresses should be turned frequently. At one time turn them over sideways and at another lengthwise and never allow more than a week to intervene between the time when the mattress is turned in one or the other of these ways.

* * * * * * *

Each morning turn back the mattress as nearly from the head to the foot of the bed as you can. It does not have to be lifted, just raised from the springs at a slightly different position.

* * * * * * *

Springs will indent the mattress if ever so slightly each night, and by altering the position a mere trifle, the same pressure does not come in identical spots long

* * * * * * *

Pillows require more than lifting off the bed, smoothing and returning to their positions after the bed has been made ready for them. They must be shaken vigorously each day, and it is advisable to punch them deftly. This permits the fronds of the feathers to fluff out. It prevents them matting and felting together.

* * * * * * *

Be sure that no feathers cling to the corners of the cases. Unless the pillows are thoroughly beaten up and shaken about, wads of feathers lodge in the corners which get to feel hard.

* * * * * * *

At the same time the centres of the pillows are depleted of their downy fronds. Pillow ticking should be woven closely enough so that the tiny tips of the feathers' ends cannot work through and prickle the skin.

* * * * * * *

Both mattresses and pillows should be aired occasionally and given sun baths. Any moisture that accumulates is given a chance to evaporate, and the heated air filling each tiniest crevice, makes the mattress and the pillows softer and more luxurious.

A BEDTIME STORY

Round the Quiz

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SNOW TUNNEL.

When Mrs. Longears, who was the rabbit lady wife of Uncle Wiggily, looked out of the window in the morning, she exclaimed:

'Why I must have made a mistake!'

'What kind of a mistake?' asked Uncle Wiggily, sleepily, for he didn't want to get up yet.

'I made the mistake,' went on Mrs. Longears, 'of thinking it was morning but it is still night.'

'How do you know it is still night?' asked the rabbit gentleman.

1-13 P.S.CAPEN

How do you know it is still night

'Because I can't see out of the window,' his wife answered. 'And if it were morning I could see the trees and the bushes around our hollow stump bungalow.'

'It must be morning!' exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, jumping out of bed. 'I can see the clock hands by the light in the hall and they say it is past seven. So it must be morning. But you are right, my dear,' he went on as he put his face close to the window. 'I can't see a thing. But not for the reason that it is still night.'

'Then what is the reason, Wiggy?' 'The snow is so deep that it is piled over our window and we can't see out any more than if it were night. Why it must be a very deep snow to be over our windows.'

'I should say so!' exclaimed his wife. 'I knew it was deep when the children, coming home from school yesterday afternoon, had to wade through piles so high that only their hat stuck out.'

'Ha! Ha! Yes!' chuckled Mr. Longears. 'And I went out and tried to pick up one of the hats and blew my pink nose! There was Buster and the hat only he was in such deep snow I couldn't see him.'

'Well, there is one thing certain!' exclaimed Mrs. Longears as she bounced out of bed 'if the snow is so deep as to cover our windows making me think it is night when it's morning, the children aren't going to school to-day.'

'I suppose they had better stay at home,' Uncle Wiggily agreed, nodding his head. But when he thought what a day it would be, with forty sixteen little rabbit boys and girls (to say nothing of Baby Bunty, the orphan) cooped up in the bungalow, why, then Uncle Wiggily hoped he might think of some way of getting them outside, or of getting out himself. 'For they'll get me all upset—forty sixteen wild bunny boys and girls inside a bungalow at once!' murmured Uncle Wiggily. While his wife was dressing, he slid down the stair railing and opened the front door.

'My! My! What a lot of snow!' cried Uncle Wiggily as he saw a solid white wall in front of him. The snow was piled up over the top of the outside door. How much higher than the top of the door it might be Mr. Longears could not tell. 'Nobody can get out of my bungalow until I dig a tunnel through the snow,' said Mr. Longears. 'I hope the snow shovel is in the kitchen for I can't go out to the garage after it in all this storm!'

Luckily the snow shovel was in the kitchen. In the storm of the day before Uncle Wiggily had used the shovel to make a path out to the garage. He had left the shovel on the back steps. But after supper Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, seeing it there, and not wanting the poor shovel to catch cold, had brought it into the warm kitchen.

'What can we do, Wiggy?' his wife asked when she had awakened, one after the other, the forty sixteen rabbit boys and girls. 'They can't go to school; can they?'

'No indeed,' answered Uncle Wiggily. 'Not until I dig a tunnel.'

'Oh, Daddicums, may we help you make the tunnel?' cried Buster and Custer and a lot of the boy rabbits

'I want to make a tunnel too,' said Baby Bunty. 'May Unkie Wig?' she begged, using all the baby talk she was allows.

'Well, I'll think about it,' answered Mr. Longears, taking another look at the white wall of snow that blocked the front door. 'Get your breakfasts and I'll see.'

'Oh, goodie!' cried Baby Bunty skipping around on one toe. 'I'm going to help Unkie Wig make a snow tunnel!'

'Pooh! Girls can't make snow tunnels!' said Buster. 'It take us boys. We'll show you how to do it!'

Uncle Wiggily wanted to start digging the snow tunnel then and there, but his wife said he must eat breakfast first. He sat down with the children, keeping the shovel close to his chair so it would not run out and play in the snow all by itself.

'Now for the tunnel!' cried the rabbit gentleman as he swallowed the last of his cabbage coffee. He went to the front door, opened it and started to take one shovel ful of the clean, white snow, while his wife, Nurse Jane and all the children stood in the hall back of him.

Philpott Candidate In Hamilton West

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 15. (CP) —Announcement has been made by the executive committee of the local Liberal Association that Elmore Philpott will be the official Liberal candidate in the Provincial by-election to be held in Hamilton west on Feb. 11.

In a letter to the President of the Association, John Newlands, Mr. Philpott stated he will allow his name to go before the convention providing the Conservatives do not choose a woman candidate.

He also issued a challenge to Attorney-General W. H. Price for a joint meeting of Liberals and Conservatives for the purpose of discussing Mr. Price's record in law enforcement during his seven years as Ontario's Attorney-General.

Serve Hospitality's Symbol

Dixie Liked It . . Now Canada Prefers It

"GOOD to the LAST DROP"

ALWAYS has the South been famous for hospitality — good things to eat and to drink. So that, quite naturally, Dixie's favourite coffee was first served at a famous old inn, the Maxwell House, Nashville, Tennessee.

Maxwell House was first produced by a Southerner—an expert in coffee. Over and over he tested many coffees until his dream of better coffee flavour was realized — a delicate, delicious blend.

Dixie's Favourite Coffee Famous Everywhere

From Nashville the fame of it spread abroad. Before long visitors wanted to serve Maxwell House at home. Now you can serve this prince of coffees, for Maxwell House, in these modern times, has quickly become everyone's favourite. Vacuum packed in the Canadian Maxwell House plant, Canadian homes enjoy Maxwell House as fresh when opened as if it had just been ground. Your grocer sells Maxwell House in the familiar blue tin.

Fresher Coffee Is Not Made

When you open a Maxwell House vacuum-sealed tin the coffee is exactly as it was when it left the grinder. None of its aroma has escaped because vacuum sealing makes the tin air-tight. Chemical action cannot take place to change the flavour. Fresher than coffee packed any other way and even one day old. The tight lid keeps it better after you open it.

FINE RECITAL PRESENTED AT CONSERVATORY

Dorothy Allan Park Gives Recital Under Auspices of Women's Music Club.

VARIED SELECTION.

(By Jeanette)

Singing for a Peterborough audience after a lapse of several years in which she has given no lengthy program in local halls, Dorothy Allan Park captivated her audience of nearly two hundred people in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last night, when she gave a lengthy and intensely interesting recital of lovely songs, under the auspices of the Women's Music Club.

It was a program of very wide range and variety, that ran the gamut of most of the emotions, from passionate love songs to peaceful interludes of vernal rapture, from flaring, dramatic arias to the whimsical fantasy of little bits of childhood verse in the junior nonsense of "Market Square" and "The Three Foxes."

Imbuing the programmed songs was that intellectual appreciation of the demands of varying types of music that colors at all times Mrs. Park's work as a singer. There was reverence, marked and satisfying, in the prayerful cadences of Schubert's glorious "Ave Maria", and strong, powerful emphasis for the ringing stanzas of Beach's "Ah, Love, But a Day." It is this type of intelligent presentation, of a mental grasp of the nuances of expression and emotions, that makes for such an artistic recital as was presented last evening. The attention of the listeners was just as keen at the close of a program of eighteen songs as at the beginning, because the selection was so varied.

Contrast too, provides a strong element of interest. Superimposed against the haunted sweetness of the Hriskay Love Lilt, that echoing composition of those far-away, misty isles of the sea, was the freshness of vernal springtime in Quilter's "Over the Land is April" while another striking bit of contrast was the errant nonsense of the two child songs after the strength and sombre passion of Sibelius' little story of tragic love, "The Tryst."

'Spoken' Songs

In songs of the 'spoken' type, Mrs. Park excels, but her sustained, powerful, dramatic soprano rings out, full-voiced and resonant, in such compositions as the exacting Debussy aria, "L'annee en vain chasse l'annee!" from "L'Enfant Prodigue", with its portrayal in passionate verse of the anguish of the mother, Lia, bereft of her son, and calling to mind memories of happy, bygone days. Sung in French, it was accompanioned by an odd bit of wistful, plaintive music, also in French; "D'une Prison" or "Through the Bars" the soft-toned plaint of the hapless prisoner gazing out at the warm sun. Then, again in contrast, was the French song by Godard, "Chanson de Florian" a bit of vibrating joie de vivre by a youthful shepherdess, carefree and happy.

As favorites for one listener at least, there were the "Ave Maria" before referred to, a gorgeous and satisfying number, with violin obligato carefully played by Deane Miner, who played also in accompaniment to voice and piano, for a beautifully-rendered "Ah, Love, But a Day", and for the graceful, flowing melody of Godard's "Angels Guard Thee." Then there was the exquisite music of the Hriskay Love Lilt, and the velvety, sweet appeal of Handels "Care Selve", sung in Italian, as was the Pergolesi love song, done in the half voice, compelling and high-pitched for a memorable rendition of "Tre giorno son che Nina." There was delightful tone color in these soft-vowelled numbers.

There were two songs in German; a sweet-toned song of eventide, in Strauss' "Die Nacht" and the robust, virile outpouring of a buoyant passion in Schumann's dedication to one true love, "Widmung."

Opening the program of vocal numbers was Purcell's composition, the high voice vibrating over the reiterated sentences of "Hark, the Echoing Air a Triumph Sings" while a bit that was outstanding in its frank Celtic love of the Holy Mother, was Ford's "A Prayer to Our Lady," with the attention caught and held by the frank outpouring of childlike faith.

As a dramatic and finely-sung conclusion to the programmed numbers, came the ringing stanzas of "Time, You Old Gypsy Man" again with its spoken words giving wide range to the histrionic ability of the singer and the flexibility of her voice.

As a double encore for the applause which greeted every number, Mrs. Park gave an old English tune, "Gathering Daffodils" and finished with the lovely music of "Annie Laurie."

In playing the piano accompaniments for the program, Mrs. Agnes Logan Green provided her usual thoroughly satisfying instrumental support, playing with skill and ease the many exacting accompaniments.

Mrs. Park wore an attractive gown of black with a shoulderette of crimson flowers. As a setting, the stage was effectively arranged with a dark back drop and a number of green ferns, accented by several tall floor lamps.

Miss Mabel Clarry, president of the Women's Music Club, announced briefly the program for the next meeting on Friday, February 6th, when Miss Reta Swain of Toronto and Deane Miner, violinist, will provide the entertainment.

REGULAR MEETING Y.W.C.A. DIRECTORS

Series of Illustarted Travel Talks Will Be Presented This Winter.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association was held on Monday afternoon, Mrs. E. E. Harvey, president, in the chair and conducting the devotional exercises. Correspondence was read from the National Board of the Y.W.C.A. in connection with dates for the next National Convention which the local board recommended to be left until the spring of 1932. The secretary was asked to prepare a brief report of the Y.W.C.A. for the annual meeting of the Local Council on Thursday. Financial reports showed receipts from the finance campaign to be $1,501 to date. The Finance Committee, in view of rather large deficit in the Public Department to date, emphasized the necessity of securing all possible subscriptions still outstanding. The Y.W.C.A. is aiming to serve the girls of Peterborough, and especially those out of work, to the best of its ability, and even with sources of income depleted because of depression, feels it must in these days extend its program rather than curtail. Ways of raising extra money were considered by the board, and suggestions were left to a special committee to consider.

Miss McVannell, convenor of the Educational Committee, reported a series of travel talks mostly illustrated which will commence this month, and include Alaska, Hawaii, Paris, the Holy Land, England, and the West Indies. A class in correct English, as well as several private pupils being coached in Public School work.

Reports of the month's activities included special Christmas festivities in the Residence Department, club programs with special Christmas programs and service for others. Seven clubs have a membership of 164.

Educational classes included home nursing, French, elocution, and junior story hour, with 75 enrolled. Gymnasium classes all enjoyed special Christmas parties. Gifts for the junior Christmas party to which were invited members of the Saturday clubs, children of the Shelter Orphanage, and special funds were supplied by the gymnasium members, and oranges by the Physical Committee. Basketball teams have been organized and practised each week in preparation for the league games which commence on January 16. Announcement was made of the campaign now on for new gymnasium members, and attention drawn to the bulletin board in the main hall which records each new member who joins. Each class is trying to have their race boat win the race, which means 16 new members.

The meeting closed with prayer, following which a social half-hour was enjoyed, Mrs. R. Neill pouring tea.

Triplets of any kind are usually considered extraordinary; identical triplets are known to be a rarity; but to have two sets of identical triplets in the same city, is something worth writing the annals of the city. Such is the case in Edmonton, Alberta. In the ABOVE layout, is pictured the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Tully, and Dr. D. G. Revell, of the University of Alberta, who called the attention of the scientific world to the phenomenon. The other three boys are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller of Stony Plain. The Miller children, who were born in January, 1930, were at birth almost impossible to identify, but as they grew older, they changed gradually, so that their mother does not need to tie ribbons on them any more to tell them apart. The Tully children are just the opposite. Mrs. Tully says that they grow more alike every day. They were born in March, 1928. In both cases, the children are identically alike, even to finger-prints and intelligence. All are healthy and normal in every way.

Evelyn Armstrong Is Elected Regent

Miss Evelyn Armstrong was elected as Regent of the Major Bennett Chapter I.O.D.E., at the annual meeting of the society, held at the home of Miss Velma Blackmore, Aylmer Street.

Councillors were elected in the Misses Margaret Allison, Isabel Weddell, Elizabeth Mulholland, Marjorie McNulty, Jean Harvey, Sybil Sharpe, Louise Hall, and Betty Hopwood.

A report was made of the Christmas dance, which netted the Chapter the sum of nearly $150.

MRS. ADA CRAIG IS RE-ELECTED HEAD

King George Home and School Association Holds Annual Meeting.

Mrs. Ada Craig was re-elected president of the King George Home and School Association at the annual meeting held in the school on Tuesday evening. Mrs. C. H. Edwards occupied the chair for the meeting and Mrs. E. Wand gave an interesting report of the year's activities. The business session was followed by an entertaining program of recitations, piano solos and a dialogue by the pupils of the school and a half hour devoted to social intercourse and the service of refreshments.

The officers for the year will be: J. E. R. Munro honorory president; Mrs. Ada Craig, president; Jas. Ellis, first vice-president; Mrs. Lipsett, second vice-president; Mrs. E. Wand, secretary; Mrs. J. W. Ebbs, treasurer; Mrs. McLeod, convenor of telephone committee; Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Wand and Mrs. Ebbs, relief committee; Mrs. Hendry, convenor of program committee; Mrs. McBride, Mrs. Agnew and Mrs. Delong, social committee; Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Wand, Mrs. Lipsett, representatives to Local Council of Women; Mrs. J. Ellis, representative to the Home and School Council.

PRINCE PREPARES FOR S. A. VISIT

Spends Last Day Before Leaving Bidding Goodbye to Personal Friends.

TAKING CARS AND PLANE.

LONDON, Eng., Jan. 15. (CP)—The Prince of Wales spent to-day making final preparations for his South Americaan tour and saying goodbye to a few personal friends.

Most of his baggage is already aboard the liner Oropesa, which the Prince will join at Santander Sunday, or else is going overland with his staff, which will leave London Saturday morning.

The Prince himself and his brother Prince George who is accompanying him will travel light on the first stage of the journey—the dash to Paris to-morrow—for, if the weather permits, they will leave early tomorrow by air for Lebourget.

Among the baggage will be the Prince's private airplane, a fleet of British motorcars including a baggage tractor, full dress tropical uniforms, sports clothes, a moving picture camera which the Prince used in Africa last year, and a gramaphone with a set of Spanish records to enable members of the party to study the language enroute.

To-day was kept entirely free from engagements of any kind for the Prince of Wales and for the first time in many days he did not receive any official visitors at York House.

Proposal Claimed to Have Been Laid Before Dominion Gov't.

$50,000,000 MERGER.

Despite Many Difficulties, Cost Saving and Lower Rates Seen.

(By J. F. B. Livesay, General Manager Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—Amalgamation in a $50,000,000 corporation of the respective commercial telegraph systems of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railway is being considered by the two parties. The Canadian Press understands the proposal also has been put before the Dominion Government at Ottawa. This is the much larger idea behind the statement in Ottawa last Monday of Sir Basil Blackett, chairman of Imperial and International Communications Limited, "that the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National shall become partners with I. I. C. in forming a Canadian overseas communication company, which shall include the Canadian Marconi Company."

Difficulties Seen

The suggested amalgamation presents obvious advantages and not less obvious disadvantages. Economically there would be the saving in the present duplication from coast to coast in equipment and personnel, but even more important would be the advantages of a strong, all-Canadian corporation, able to meet competition and hold its own against all comers. For neither of the two Canadian commercial telegraph companies is really independent, because each is necessarily allied and more or less dependent upon one or other of the rival United States communication groups, the Western Union and the Postal-Telegraph, which again results in the bulk of overseas business going through foreign rather than British channels.

Lower Rates Foreseen

This strong corporation could operate at a much lower cost and therefore at lower rates to the permanent advantage of the Canadian public. At the present time eight commercial telegraph zones are strung across the Canadian continent, and a message to pass from one to another and beyond means an increasingly higher rate, constituting a heavy toll on the economic life of the country.

HAVELOCK LODGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

HAVELOCK, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence).—At the regular meeting of Havelock Lodge, No. 435, A.F. and A. M., the following officers were most efficiently installed by Wor. Bro. L. T. Hagerman, assisted by other Worshipful Brethren in the lodge:—

W.M., R. E. Green; I.P.M., J. F. Breckenridge; S.W., P. C. Howard; J.W., Albert Wilson; Chaplain, H. W. Roche; Treasurer, Rae Williams; Secretary, A. C. PUBLIC POWER AUTHORITY URGED Commission Declares Project is Practical—Market For New York's Share.

WANT ACTION AT ONCE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (CP)—Immediate creation of a public power authority to undertake development of the international section of the St. Lawrence River was recommended to GovGovernor Roosevelt and the legislature in a report made public yesterday by the St. Lawrence Power Development Commission.

The commission declared it "entirely practicable to construct the necessary project and to make New York's share of the power which would be developed in such a way as to serve the best interests of the state and protect the people in their ownership of the great water power resources."

Use of existing privately-owned transmission and distribution systems was recommended, under a contract with the operation of public utility companies which would assure fair remuneration to the companies for their services.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DIFFERENT CAUSES OF HEADACHES.

Some years ago in trying to find out the number of conditions that may cause headache, I listed over twenty, so that just how many there really are I am unable to state.

However, headache is a serious matter for the physician trying to treat it and also for the patient. Just how much pain the patient is suffering and just what type of pain, only the patient knows, and so just how he describes the pain, and its exact location is the only guide the physician has in diagnosing the trouble.

The first step, as Dr. A. W. LaForge, Chicago, tells us, is to find whether the pain is due to some condition inside the head itself or from some other place in the body.

Headaches due to inflammation in the brain itself have a sudden onset, fever, terrific pain on both sides, without any relief, last for a few days only, and cause stiffness of the neck.

Pain, due to pressure of some kind in the brain, can cause headaches which are more gradual in onset, last longer, intense pain without any periods when patient is free from pain and are not relieved by the usual headache remedies.

Thus the outstanding symptom of headaches from the brain itself is intensity of pain with no intervals of relief.

Headaches due to ear conditions results from acute infection. The pain is one-sided, and most severe right at the ear or immediately behind or below it.

Headache, due to eye strain, is not as severe as any of the above, but is more of a tired feeling following long use of the eyes and occurs in the afternoon or toward evening. It is relieved by resting the eyes.

Pain from gas formation or constipation is usually not so severe; can be in the forehead, top, or back of head, and is often relieved by belching up gas, or by intestinal movement.

Pain from nose and sinus conditions is not uncommon. The pain, while not as intense as in brain conditions, is very persistent; in fact, its persistence is its outstanding feature. The pain is in forehead above the eyes or at side of forehead, and usually not always on both sides. These headaches occur mostly in the colder months of autumn, winter and spring, associated with head colds.

I'm suggesting no remedies for any of these headaches as each requires its own method of treatment.

New Commuting Rule Opposed In Detroit

WINDSOR, Jan. 14.—Detroit business men in general do not approve of the drastic way in which the U. S. immigration regulations are being interpreted and applied at Detroit entry points, according to Lew Flint, executive vice-president of the citizens' Committee of Detroit.

This committee is composed of representatives from 60 organizations in Detroit, including the Board of Commerce. Mr. Flint made his statement during an interview with Justus Miller, managing secretary of the Border Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Flint declared that large employers of labor in Detroit were opposed to the way in which the regulations were being enforced, and to the deportation of commuters on purely technical grounds.

PRINCE TO TALK 6,500 MILES.

LONDON, Jan. 15.— (C.P.)— The Prince of Wales this afternoon at 4:15 will pick up his desk telephone and talk across 6,500 miles to Sir Herbert Gibson, chairman of the British Trade Exhibition which the Prince will open in Buenos Aires March 14.

The Prince's talk will cover one land and radio route, Sir Herbert's reply coming to him over another route.

FRANK STINSON ATTENDING SHOW

Opening Annual Publicity Campaign of Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association.

AT NEW YORK.

With the annual grant of $1,150.00 from the City Council the publicity campaign of the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association for the year 1931 has begun. The exhibit at the New York Motoboat Show will commence on January 16, and F. G. Stinson, manager of the association and of the Chamber of Commerce, left yesterday afternoon for New York City. F. L. Roy of the Roy Studios will leave for the show on Sunday afternoon.

The Motorboat Show will be held in the Grand Central Palace on Lexington (Fourth) Avenue, just one street west of the famous Fifth Avenue which is the rendezvous of the three million inhabitants of Manhattan Island, or New York proper. The attendance will therefore be very high, and the Peterborough and district exhibit will benefit from its prominent position. Mr. Stinson will be at the exhibit throughout the show to give explanations and information, thus doing much to bring tourists here this summer. Mr. Roy is in charge of the motion pictures which, through their uniqueness at this type of exhibition, will attract the lion's share of the visitors.

The financial returns from this part of the campaign are inestimable, but it would be safe to say that they would be at least tenfold. The citizens of Peterborough are promised definite information regarding their exhibit during the course of the show, and from this they will no doubt understand the importance of their investment.

TWO WOUNDED IN BOMBAY.

BOMBAY, India, January 15. — A man and a woman were wounded by police rifle fire and 150 persons injured by lathis or staves when police charged a crowd of Nationalist demonstrators at Ahmadabad on Wednesday.

The demonstration was in protest at the execution of four Scholapur rioters a few days ago. After refusal to disperse the police fired nine rounds at the crowd and charged with their lathis.

Saints Gain Top Place In Junior O. H. A. Group

Campbellford Loses Out 6 to 1

Home Town Team No Match For Saints in Speed and Stickhandling.

GOOD COMBINATION.

Fire in Campbellford Squad's Dressing Room Adds Excitement to Encounter.

St. John's hockey team disposed of the Campbellford threat in the district O.H.A. junior group last night by handing the Mill Town's youngsters a 6 to 1 defeat right in Davidson's arena. The win shunts St. John's right to top place in the group and likewise the loss places Johnny Stewart's budding ice stars near the cellar.

Watt Owens, ice maker extraordinary of the whole Trent Valley, did himself proud when he presented the teams with the sheet he had ready for them last night; and the players showed their appreciation by uncorking the fastest brand of junior hockey seen in the district this year. Soft ice has greeted St. John's on all their former appearances; and last night's fracas served as positive proof that to display their true form they require a glassy surface. They went rampant; skated a mile-a-minute, gave a perfect exhibition of stickhandling and thus were all over their opposition.

Although Campbellford never let up, on the hard ice they were no match for the speed and cleverness of the Peterborough outfit. The home squad did display smart combination, but their failed to bore in, all their efforts being confined to long shots from outside the defence. Against that kind of gunning Tommy Miller, who stood in St. John's nets, was in his element The one that did beat him came from the stick of Hendey, red-thatched centre, on a pass from Bush that took him past the defence. It was one of the prettiest goals of the whole sparkling entertainment.

Repeated thrusts of St. John's failed to register on Goalie Heptonstal until the final minutes of the first period Calladine sneaked one into the far corner. In the second stanza they grabbed two more and in the final canter they boosted their total up three. Campbellford netted their goal in the last period.

Fire In Dressing Room

Fire in the Campbellford team's dressing room caused an extra dash of excitement mid-way through the second period. The teams were hard at it, when someone shouted fire. Then it was suddenly noticed that the smoke clouded the rink's high ceiling. Players and spectators rushed to the dressing room. The blaze, which was confined to some clothes hanging too close to the red-hot stove, was speedily snuffed out. However, sufficient smoke was made as to somewhat becloud the whole arena during the game.

Lambert, Bush and Hendy were most effective for Campbellford. Lambert's long range gunning kept the St. John's goalie busy and he was the fastest man for his team, but he slowed up the game by continually circling his own net before setting sail for a rush. Bush and Hendy teamed nicely on passing attacks and, as was true of the whole squad, backchecked always. Heptonstal robbed St. John's of many counters. He failed to make one false move in the nets during the whole sixty minutes and the six that beat him were ticketed, all but one being from close in.

Play Colorful Game

Picking stars on the St. John's team is difficult since the whole nine players turned in their smartest work of the season. Calladine and Gardner were the scoring aces, the pair grabbing all but one of the six counters. Half the goals were born directly of combination efforts in which Ellis took a big hand. Milliken scored the first goal on a shot from the blue line. Campbellford could not cope with the stickhandling of Calladine, Gardner and Ellis. Wilshaw again demonstrated that he is a valuable find, doing a prodigious amount of effective work on the regular forward line. Milliken was perhaps the pick of the second string, but all three vied smartly. Miller nearly earned a shutout by his good work in the nets and the one that beat him was hard earned.

The teams:

Peterborough St. John's— Goal, Miller; defence, Howe and Ellis; centre, Calladine; wings, Wilshaw and Gardner; alternates, Milliken, Merrett and Burke.

Campbellford — Goal Heptonstal, defence, Wilkes and Holmes; centre, Hendy; wings, Bush and Lambert; alternates, Stokes, Runions and Cubit.

Referee—Walter Jackson.

The setto opened at a fast clip, but both sextets were clinging closely to their checks. Ellis did a rink-length solo but was checked at the goal mouth. Wilkes came back for a long shot at Miller and Hendy came close on a pass out from Bush. Campbellford was using a smart passing offensive, but they never penetrated the defence and seemed content to sizzle them from long range. Ellis took a pass from Burke and missed the open net, and on another effort his shot topped the cage by a foot. Toward the close St. John's were boring in on the Campbellford cage, but it wasn't until less than a minute of the period's close that Milliken wafted one into the corner from the blue line for the first goal.

Scores Second Goal

The second period was less than a minute underway when Calladine sifted down centre ice, faked a pass to beat the defence and steered the rubber into the corner for St. John's second goal. Ellis, Calladine and Gardner returned on another combination rush, but were balked by Heptonstal. Runions took a pass from Hendy for a close-in shot on St. John's cage. Ellis gave Gardner a pass. The shot was stopped but Calladine tore in fast to net the rebound. Apparently nettled by the mounting score, Campbellford staged a hard offensive in the dying minutes of the period but Miller kept them out.

At the beginning of the third St. John's tricky combination and stickhandling took them all around their opponents. Ellis' lone effort took him in on the nets, but his shot was stopped. Gardner batted in the rebound. A minute later Gardner went down the right boards, circled the defence and scored. Stokes and Wilkes, Bush and Lambert raided the St. John's cage on separate efforts but Miller beat them. Then Hendy took a pass from Bush and plugged the twine for Campbellford's only goal.

St. John's were going great guns at the close. Calladine went through. His shot was stopped but Gardner netted the rebound for the last score of the game.

SCHMELING IS LEGAL CHAMPION UNTIL DETHRONED IN RING

The fight game, especially the heavyweight class, is rapidly coming to a stalmate. The public apparently has ceased to take an interest in the game and unless something is done about it soon the game will take a great deal of reviving to put it back on the standing it had in the time of Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey Opinion is divided as to the merits of the case of Max Schmeling, as presented by Jacobs on the one hand and the New York Boxing Commission on the other. Until Schmeling is defeated in the ring he is heavyweight champion of the world despite all the decrees and rulings of boxing commissions. Sharkey certainly should get a chance at the title again regardless of the financial angle of such a bout. The proposed Sharkey-Stribling affair which may be fought at Soldier's Field in Chicago will in no way clear up the situation. The winner of the bout would have to dethrone Schmeling before he could lay claim to the title of world's heavyweight. Then, of course, there is always the ideal chance, as far as the future of the game is concerned, of some unknown prodigy stepping out and cleaning up the whole bunch, thus reviving interest in the game once again.—(SNS).

OSHAWA PATRICIAS IN THIRD POSITION

Low Standing Ontario Loop Teams Defeat League Leaders Last Night.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 15.—(CP)—Teams of low standing in the Ontario Hockey League rose in their might last night and handed the league leading Guelph Maple Leafs and Galt Terriers, unexpected defeats.

The Leafs fell victims to the splendid all-round play of the Nationals at Stratford, losing 4 to 0, while the Terriers, co-holders of first place with Guelph, dropped a 3 to 2 decision to the Silverwoods at Kitchener.

Oshawa Pats climbed into third position, two points behind the leaders, by tieing Niagara Falls Cataracts 3-all in Oshawa.

As a result of the three games the teams are closely bunched. The leaders have 9 points apiece, Oshawa seven, Stratford and Niagara Falls six apiece and Kitchener five.

Several of the teams were strengthened for last night's matches. Stratford had Steve Yankoski back on the defence, and Kunts on the front line and the pair made a big hit with the fans by their fine playing. The Leafs had "Babe" Morrison and Jack Kentner on their line-up.

MILLERS DROP FIRST DECISION TO STIRLING

Reds Winners in 3-1 T. V. L. Hockey Tangle on Home Ice Last Night.

PLAY FAST HOCKEY.

Fleming of Maroons Scores Only Counter For Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 15 (Examiner Staff Correspondence) — The first clash in the Trent Valley League between the Campbellford Maroons and the Stirling Reds ended in defeat for the Millers, when Stirling battled to a 3-1 victory in the league fixture played at the Stirling Arena last evening before a large crowd of fans.

Losing the third game in succession, the Home Towners, however, scored the first count against Stirling this season, Flemming for the visitors doing the trick. Played on very fast ice, the game was more than interesting, featuring as it did a rough house in the second period, when Flemming objected to a crack on the head from Ackers' stick, which objection involved the two teams until the referee was able to sort them out, putting the two concerned in the box for five minutes.

Play was fast and checking heavy. Stirling made two counts in the first period, the second being all Campbellford's although no count was made. The third session was spread over the ice, featured by series of rushes by both teams. Sixteen penalties were handed out during the evening, the referee, Max Board of Peterborough checking up especially close on tripping.

Ice Fast Team.

Stirling have a fast team With Davis in the pivot position the forward line is a formidable machine. Morton in goal also played up to form especially in the second period when Campbellford was in the entertainers' house most of the play, and engaging the Stirling nets.

The Maroons played good hockey, being a little off in the first period, however. The second and third sessions were all that could be desired. With Whitton at centre and Smith and McKay in the wings the visitors did some very fast work, breaking through the Stirling forward line on many occasions Their combination was good, but suffered from the attack of Davis, who played up to his position well. Ted Owens in the Campbellford net shaped up well, playing a good game and stopping some difficult shots.

First Period

The first period opened with the rubber in possession of the Reds who tried to carry it through the Campbellford line but lost it to Smith, who carried it to the blue line and shot. This treatment was soon returned however, when Davis passed Whitton and drove a long shot in. Play then ranged from goal to goal for some time, until Whitton broke away and carried the puck in the Stirling area, but was tripped by Beattie, who was fenced. Warming up some, the Reds made several drives forward, and eventually were able to count, when T. Little netted the puck on a pass from Davis after they had carried it down the ice from their own area. From the face off following this count Bruyea for the Millers, was penalized for tripping. Stirling then attacked, but Cowell got the rubber and drove forward in a lone rush, shooting but failing to count. Three minutes later Stirling came back again for another innings, Davis netting the rubber and giving the Reds a two-goal lead. Campbellford attacked from the face off, and in the rush forward, Ackers was boxed for tripping. The Reds' goal was then crowded, the bell ringing when the play was in that area.

Stirling.—Goal, T. Little, Davis. Penalties, Beattie, Ackers.

Campbellford—Penalty, B. Bruyea.

Take Offensive

The second period started with the Maroons attacking, which was the feature of the whole session. Only four shots were sent into the Campford net during the period, although Stirling did their best to make a count. Cowell was fenced soon after play started for tripping, from the face-off of which Smith took the puck and Flemming got into their tangle and were fenced, quickly followed by Little and Smith. With three men off the ice, Campbellford looked an easy mark, but despite many attempts by Davis, Whitton did some pretty stick-handling and kept the entertainers away from the Maroons' house until Cowell was released. Play then became general until H. Ingram was boxed for tripping; when the Maroons made another attack, nearly making a count in a scramble in front of the Reds net.

Stirling—Penalties, Ackers, Little, Ingram.

Campbellford. — Penalties, Cowell, Flemming, Smith.

The third period was fast with heavy checking, Campbellford making their only count of the evening. The Home Towners taking the aggressive. McKay was fenced soon after play started. Stirling then returned the attack, Bud Little making a pretty shot which Owens saved. Cowell was again benched for charging, which made an opening for an attack by Davis, which proved fruitless. Smith was the next one to take the plunge and found himself in the box, shortly followed by McKay, who brought down Davis, stopping play for one minute. Then the Reds came back with another drive, and Davis made a counter from a shot from the boards. This made the Maroons sit up and take notice, the play becoming extra brisk. Cowell made several fine runs from his defence position, in one of which Beattie was penalized for body-checking him. Ackers was the next to leave the ice, followed by McKay. With three minutes to go, Flemming for the Maroons made the only Campbellford count of the evening.

Line-ups:—

Stirling.—Goal, Morton; defence, Ingram and L. Beattie; centre, K. Davis; wings, T. Little and Bud Little; subs., J. Ackers, E. Wallace, J. White.

Campbellford.—Goal, Ted Owens; defence, Cowell and McArthur; centre, Whitton; wings, McKay and Smith; subs., Flemming, Copperthwaite, Bruyea.

Referee—Max Board, Peterborough.

JOHN GOLDEN LEADS AT AGUA CALIENTE

Dudley and Mortie Dutra in Tie For Second Place in Golf Tourney.

Agua Calient, Mexico, Jan. 15. — Roly-poly John Golden, professional at the Wee Burn Club, Noroton, Conn., came through a Scotch mist which almost amounted to a hard rain yesterday to lead the field in the $25,000 Agua Caliente open golf tournament with a first-round score of 70, two strokes under par.

The stolid Golden owed his one-stroke lead to a magnificent brassie shot at the home hole. Golden, after a long drive at the 18th, fired his wood second fully 230 yards, the ball coming to rest within two feet of the cup. To hole the little putt was simple.

Tied for second place with 71 were Ed. Dudley, winner of the Los Angeles open, and Mortie Dutra, Long Beach, Cal.

Dudley gained his position by great work on the greens. He holed no long putts, but he was down in two or better at each green and placed four birdies on his card.

Dutra was off to a great start with threes at the second, third and fourth holes. Two were birdies. He grabbed two more birdies coming home, one a two at the short 15th, where he holed a big putt.

TECUMSEHS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT

London Climbs Within Striking Distance of Third Place in International League.

MEET 'DOGS TO-NIGHT.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 15.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Registering their third straight victory since Clem Loughlin took over the coaching duties, London Tecumsehs last night climbed to within striking distance of third place in the International Hockey League standing by defeating Syracuse Stars, 6 to 3, in the New York State city.

With the addition of "Buck" Moore, a hard hitting recruit from the Ontario League, the Tecumsehs presented a much sturdier defence, which completely baffled the Stars. In addition to starring defensively the rookie proved the offensive star of the contest by scoring two of London's counters and assisting in another.

Leo Goldsworthy and "Toots" Holway gave the winning team a safe margin in the opening frame when they scored a goal apiece in the closing minutes.

Moore rapped in two smart counters in the middle frame to put the result beyond doubt, before the Stars scored a brace of goals through Brown and Paddon, in the early part of the last 20 minutes. Leo Quennevill crushed any hopes the tail enders may have had of winning the match when he notched a brace of goals near the halfway mark.

The Tecumsehs arrived at home to-day and swing back into action to-night against their Canadian rivals, Windsor Bulldogs, holders of second place by a two point margin over Cleveland. A victory against the Border City team will hold fourth place safe for Loughlin's men but a defeat will give Detroit Olympics a chance to creep up within a game of them. The Motor City outfit tackle Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets and must win if they are to keep from sliding down into sixth place. The Olympics are only one point ahead of the strengthened Wasps who will not occasion any surprise by defeating the fading Detroiters.

To-night's Schedule.

National League
Toronto at New York Rangers; New York Americans at Ottawa; Montreal Maroons at Montreal Canadiens; Boston at Chicago.
International League
Windsor at London Pittsburgh at Detroit.
Canadian-American League
Springfield at Philadelphia.
American League
Buffalo at Tulsa; St. Louis at Minneapolis; Kansas City at Duluth.

Victory For Maroons Will Enable Them to Tie Habitants For Top Rung.

LEAFS MEET RANGERS.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 14. —(By the Canadian Press.)—Two International, one all-Canadian and one all-American match constitutes tonights National Hockey League program. The results of the four games cannot affect the status of the leaders, excepting to hunch the top teams in each group more closely.

Montreal is the venue of the feature tilt for those great old rivals, Les Canadiens and Maroons—clash in the Forum for the third time this season.

The Flying Frenchmen have proved superior in the two games played. Early in the season they caught the Maroons when the latter were far from top form and whipped them decisevly, 7 to 1. In the second engagement, however, Dunc Munro's stalwart troop of hockeyists displayed marked improvement and fought their flashy opponents to a one-all tie.

A crowd of near record breaking proportions for the Montreal rink will see the two top teams in the Canadian section battle in the "rubber" contest and indication point to a thrilling struggle.

TOP PLACE TIE.

Victory for the Maroons will enable them to tie the Habitants for top rung, but a defeat, coupled with a win for Toronto Maple Leafs against New York Rangers, will drop the Maroon clad warriors to third place.

The Leafs trimmed the Rangers at Toronto on Dec. 4, by a count of 4 to 2 and are confident they can take Lester Patrick's blue shirted men into camp right in New York.

Thoroughly rested up since their defeat by Canadiens last Saturday the Leafs are in splendid shape for the game which may see them regain second position in their group.

Rangers, however, are not so well blessed. It will be their fourth hard game in seven days. They whitewashed Detroit, then suffered a shutout by Chicago and travelled to Boston to hold the Bruins to a 2-all tie in a hectic match. The hard schedule apparently proved too much for Bill Cook, brilliant right winger of the Gothamites, who will have X-ray photos taken of his right wrist which is badly swollen. It is believed a bone may have been broken in the Boston game. If this proves the case he will be lost to Lester Patrick's team for weeks.

The other International affair brings together Americans and Senators at Ottawa. The Amerks are in third place two games behind the Leafs and hope to cut the margin at the expense of the Senators, who are lodged in last place of the northern division.

In the previous meeting between the teams the Ottawans snatched a 1-0 victory from the A's who are regarded as one of the strongest defensive teams in the league. Since that time, however, the Senators have not done so well in garnering points though they have played fine hockey.

Leading the American group by a five point margin, Art Ross' hopefuls may see the lead sliced by two points for they invade the home of the team which had already beaten them two out of three. Earlier in the season Chicago's speedy Blackhawks beat the Bruins in Chicago then journeyed right over to Boston and shellacked the Bean Eaters right in the Hub. In the third clash however, the Bostonians secured revenge when they trounced the Hawks quite handily.

A victory for the Hawks, besides bringing them closer to the Bruins will also keep them ahead of Rangers should the latter manage to down Toronto. Chicago has a two point lead over the New Yorkers for second place.

MADOC DEFEATS FRANKFORD 2-0

L'Heureux, Johnston and Barkey Star in Hard Fought Tussle.

TALLY IN FINAL FRAME.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 15. — Scoring two goals in the last six minutes of play, Madoc defeated Frankford in a hard-fought Trent Valley League game in the latter village by 2 to 0. It was a bitterly fought contest, although Referee Leo Barrett of Belleville kept the play well in check. L'Heureux, Johnston and Barkey starred for Madoc, with Prevost, Legault and McLean showing up well for the losers. Seven hundred witnessed the game.

Frankford—Goal, Prevost; defence, Legault and W. O'Malley; centre, Bohana; wings, J. Borland and McLean; subs, A. Munn, R. Shaw, C. O'Malley.

Madoc—Goal, Rulin; defence, Barkey and Andrews; centre, L'Heureux; wings, Johnston and McGuire; subs, Watson, Henderson, Rupert.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

"MARIGOLD" WILL VISIT SOON
Booked For Two Days Commencing Tuesday, January 20

Due entirely to the efforts of Simon Ord, the London produced of the Scottish comedy, "Marigold", Peterborough theatregoers will have an opportunity to see the original London company in this play on their tour to the Atlantic coast. The dates have been booked for a two-day engagement at the Grand Theatre starting on Tuesday, January 20. The time available for return engagements is short as the company must take passage for the British metropolis as previously arranged. "Marigold" is a comedy which but appears once in a decade, one to linger in the memory, to talk about long after the show has passed on. There is something so delightfully wholesome, so simple, yet so pungent at times, that its attraction can only be understood by those who have actually seen the play and the original players. It is rarely that Peterborough people may see the original creators of characters in a real London success, but this is one play which has been shipped to Canada with the complete scenery, properties and with only one change in the original cast.

Hence perhaps the perfection of this comedy in the eyes of all who have previously seen "Marigold." Jean Cylde, who is a sheer delight with her pithy comments as Mrs. Pringle, the "meenister's" wife, completed her 1,000th performance on her trip to the Pacific Coast. Yet she plays with all the refreshing vigor, the charm and incisiveness of speech as in the beginning.

This last opportunity to see the only visiting British company of the present season will doubtless be taken advantage of to full house capacity. Mail orders are now being accepted, while the box office will open in advance of this engagement on Saturday, January 17

Belleville Is Beaten By Kingston Sextet 3-1

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 15.—Kingston defeated Belleville 1 to 1 in the first O.H.A. intermediate game of the season here last night before a small crowd.

Both teams injected plenty of speed into the game, though the class of hockey was not of the best, Kingston were strengthened by the playing of Joe Smith, veteran wing player, who played a fine game all through. Neither team scored in the first period, but soon after the start of the second period, Muchmore tallied on a beautiful individual effort, and ten minutes later Dougall tallied the second goal. Near the end of the period Hull scored on a long shot that fool Lawlor.

Belleville worked hard in the last period and carried most of the play to the Kingston net, but the strong local defense and some fine work by Lawlor prevented any scoring. With two minutes left to play, Smith passed to Muchmore, who broke away and scored a goal to end the scoring.

PLAYERS PLACED IN SHOP LEAGUE

Ashmore, McCullough and Gibson to Play With Engineers in Group No. 1.

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE.

The executive of the C.G.E. Shop Hockey League held a meeting last night in the Conference Room for the purpose of deciding where the players from the Machine Shop No. 1 team which has dropped out of the league would be accommodated. The Machinists were forced to disband owing to lack of playing material and the four players who had already signed could not be taken by any other team without the sanction of the executive.

Ashmore, McCullough and Gibson were voted to the Engineers in Group 1 as this team defaulted their first game last Saturday when they were unable to ice a full team. The addition of these three players will at least make the Engineers strong enough to give the other teams in Group No. 1 a good argument, even if they are unable to win. Sanderson the other Machinist was given to the Machine Shop No. 2 team without a dissenting vote and his presence should make this team as strong as any of the other teams in Group No. 3.

Tool Room No. 2 which was supposed to play the Machine Shop No. team this Saturday will now play the Fractional Motors at the same hour while the rest of Saturday's program is as follows:

Armature Winding vs. Machine Shop No. 2, 1 to 2.
Engineers vs. Tool Room No. 1, 2 to 3.
Office No. 2 vs. Punch Press, 4 to 5.

Good Hockey Bill In Church League

A junior, a juvenile and two midget games in the Church Hockey League will be dished up to the fans tonight at All Saints' rink. The midgets are the first to face-off, with Knox and George Street meeting at six o'clock, to be followed at seven by St. Paul's and Mark Street. The juvenile fixture features St. Paul's and Knox at eight, while the junior teams wind it up at nine with St. James tangling with All Saints'.

Although the schedule is a week old, none of these teams has met the other yet, and when they do to-night the results should be worth seeing.

Three Junior Games In South-End Loop

The Sacred Heart rink will be the scene of three junior games tonight, when five teams in the South End City League go into action. Canucks and Stars begin things at seven, and at eight o'clock Pirates face Choates, last year's champs. In the final game at nine, Canucks return to the battlefield, this time to take on Electrics.

Last week, these junior teams staged three games, one of them a tie, and with the players working together better, there should be some battles royal to-night.

FORMER HOT DOG VENDOR WILL PILOT HUB GARDEN

DETROIT, Jan. 14. (AP)—A young man who grew up in the aisles of old Madison Square Garden and whose first job was that of hot dog vender at Garden prize fights, where his father was announcer, is going to manage one of the largest athletic arenas in the country.

He is Richard G. Dunn—"Dick" to everybody—and he leaves Detroit's Olympia Arena to-day after three years of successful management, to take over a similar task at the Boston Garden. Official announcement of his engagement by Boston Arena officials was made public.

Up from the school of hard Knocks, Dick Dunn at 34 has seen the fight game from all angles. His father, "Jimmy" Dunn, an old time Garden fight announcer and well known New York character, turned him loose in the Garden as a boy, and he grew up in its surroundings. From hot dog salesman, he rose in successive Garden positions until before he came to Olympia three years ago, he was superintendent of the building.

Under the tutelage of the late Tex Rickard, Dunn developed into a shrewd promoter. At the time of the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia, he was one of Rickard's chief assistants, and handled the management of the tense stadium. All of his ventures in Detroit have been successful.

Tail-Enders Win From Pace-Setters

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Up from the depths of the American Hockey League, the tail-end St. Louis Fliers and Buffalo Americans reached on Tuesday night to defeat Chicago Shamrocks and Tulsa Oilers, co-holders of the topmost place. In each case, the humbler squad triumphed over the leaders by a score of 2 to 1.

Rejuvenated by generous injections of Winnipeg ex-amateur talent, the Fliers grasped their second victory of the season at the expense of Chicago. Walt Creasy, "Red" Jackson, Bill Kendall, Bobby Kirk and Art Patteden were the Winnipeg members of the St. Louis line-up. Kendall scored one goal and Creasy assisted old Harry Cameron in the other.

Tulsa's high-powered scorers, most prolific in the circuit, were held to one goal by Joe Stark, ex-Toronto goalie, who guarded Buffalo's nets. Meanwhile the Buffs' forwards peppered two-score shots and more at "Red" McCusker at the opposite end of the rink, winning on drives by Marker and Breen.

PLA-MORS WIN IN 3RD PERIOD

DULUTH, Minn., Jan. 15.—A last-period rally that netted three goals gave Kansas City a 3 to 1 victory over Duluth here last night in an American League hockey game. The Hornets were leading by a goal up until the middle of the third period, when the Pla-mors got their first market.

The victory put Kansas City into a triple tie for third place, with Duluth and Minneapolis. It was the fifth consecutive victory for the Pla-mors.

Mike Goodman, veteran winger, led Kansas City's third-period comeback by scoring two goals. McCormick got the third.

Billy Townsend, the Vancouver welterweight contender, hopped off the train at Toronto with the hopes of having a shot as Jackie Phillips' Canadian welterweight title, only to have Matchmaker Jack Corcoran confront him with what looks an even tougher proposition in clashing with Jackie Horner of Rochester, who got down in front of Phillips a few weeks ago. Townsend, in two starts showed just why he is rated third in the ranks of the junior welterweights and sixth in the ranks of the welters by knocking out the rugged Jack Purvis in three heats and beating Joe Glick in a sensational battle. Corcoran has the Townsend- Horner battle scheduled for ten rounds on January 19 at Toronto.

SAINTS TO PLAY LAKEFIELD HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Speedy Cementville Youngsters Hope to Win on Fast Ice Surface Here.

ST. JOHN'S IN FORM.

Have Won Two Games on Road This Week and Are Rounding Into Shape.

St. John's Junior O. H. A. squad who have turned in two winning efforts on the road since their last home appearance will entertain Lakefield in a Junior O. H. A. battle at Brock St. Rink tomorrow night and the game should provide plenty of excitement.

The Saints gave a disappointing performance against Peterborough Hockey Club last week but their wins in Lakefield and Campbellford this week prove they are back in form and they are anxious to demonstrate to their friends tomorrow night that they are a much better team than their showing against the young Petes indicates. They will have no mean adversaries in this Lakefield crew who have such seasoned performers as Northey and Wanamaker still on their line-up and a bunch of fast youngsters including the clever little Jack Elmslie whose playing last year was a feature of the group games and who is going better than ever this year. St. John's only nosed them out by the odd goal in three on Monday night and on fast ice which is assured for tomorrow night's engagement the Lakefield youngsters are confident that they will make the homesters step all the way.

St. John's victories this week have put them for the time being at the top of the group heap. The standing is as follows:

	W	L	T	P
St. John's	3	1	1	7
Hockey Club	2	1	1	5
Campbellford	1	2	0	2

WESTCLOX WIN 22-15 TUSSLE

Chevrolet Motors Go Down to Defeat in City League Basketball Tangle.

GRAFTONS LOSE OUT.

The Westclox basketball team had a good fight with Chevrolet Motors for determining the winner. Both teams were in good shape, and showed from the beginning that both intended to take the victory. The score, 22-15, for Westclox, came only after a hard struggle. The Clockmakers did some particularly good passing, and it was on this score that they outplayed their opponents. On the other hand, Chevrolet displayed remarkable courage, and so were able to make a good showing on spectacular interception of Westclox passes.

Kingston and Smith proved to be the highest scorers for the winning team, while Laing gave Chevrolet the highest number of baskets.

The line-up:

Westclox—Smith and Kingston, forwards; Wolstenholme, centre; Kitchen and McLeod, guards.

Chevrolet—Broadley and Magee, forwards; A. Reynolds, centre; Laing and V. Reynolds, guards; Rhodes and Huffman, subs.

Mechanics Beat Grafton's.

C.G.E., Mechanics handed out a rather bad beating to Grafton's in the third basketball game for the evening at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. The C.G.E. five were remarkable for their team work, but the outstanding plays by McLeish proved interesting to the onlookers in the gallery. His shot was infallible, long shots, side shots, backward shots, all found their way unerringly to the basket. Greenlaw also played a fine game, with his fatal checks and good basket-making. Cameron found his equal but rival in the heavy Louis Chesler of Grafton's, who was the major scorer of his team.

Strength and age played a large part in deciding the winners' score, 46-26. Grafton's were younger and not so experienced, but nevertheless were plucky and made a remarkably good showing.

The line-up:

C.G.E.—McLeish and Greenlaw forwards; Osterland, centre; Dickson and Cameron, guards; Jones, sub.

Grafton's—Chesler and Swarts, forwards; MacDonald, centre; Armstrong and Ward, guards; Kelly, sub.

SIX BY-LAWS ARE APPROVED

Inaugural Meeting of New Council For Township of Seymour Held Monday.

OTHER BUSINESS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 15 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—The inaugural meeting and swearing in of the new council of the township of Seymour was featured on Monday, when Reeve R. Innes, Deputy Reeve W. Duncan and Councillors W. S. Milne, Thomas Fry and W. S. Grillis took over the reins of office for 1931.

The meeting opened with devotional excercises by the Rev. L. M. Smith, who, on motion of the council received a vote of thanks for his services.

The council on motion appointed G. G. Stephens to act as clerk pro tem. The matter of a communication from the Globe Indemnity Co. in regard to the accounts of J. I. Adams, was on motion of Councillor Milne seconded by Councillor Fry passed over to Lewis Hay.

Three people waited on the council, Messrs. West and G. Anderson in regard to the boundary road between Seymour and Sidney and J. R. Smith, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, asking that the township account be kept with his bank. In regard to the former application it was held over for conference with the Sidney council.

Six by-laws were presented and passed: 1—The appointing of the reeve and treasurer for, and giving them power to borrow money for current expenditure. 2—Retaining N. A. MacColl as township solicitor. 3—Appointing W. M. Stephens as school trustee. 4—Appointing John S. Wallace as a member of the Board of Health. 5—Appointing W. A. Wynn as sheep valuator for the year. 6—Appointing Wesley Stephens as clerk of the township of Seymour.

On motion it was also decided to call for tenders for 5,000 feet of cedar, 16 feet long and 5 inches thick, flattened both ends and straightened on edges, to be delivered at the mill and sawed. Tenders to be delivered up to January 31.

On motion of Councillor Fry seconded by Councillor Grillis, it was resolved that the road leading out of Campbellford up the east side of the river to Con. 9, east to Rawden boundary, north to Con. 10 of Rawdon, be taken over as a county road and that a copy of the resolution be sent to the Counties Council. This motion did not carry.

This was followed by another motion presented by Councillor Fry and seconded by Deputy Reeve Duncan, that the road leading out of Campbellford up the east side of the river to Con. 9, then east to the Orange Hall and from there to connect up with the 10th line of Rawdon, be taken over as a county road, and that a copy of the resolution be sent to the Counties Council. This motion carried.

It was also decided to ask for the statuary grant from the Department. The council approved the grant of $5 to the Sick Children's Hospital, and $5 to the Good Roads Association.

The school report was presented by George Anderson. On motion the council adjourned.

District Churches

QUEENSBORO

QUEENSBORO, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence) — Services of special interest were held at Hazard's Corners and Queensboro, on Sunday when male choirs contributed several selections of music at each place. Large congregations were present to meet the pastor, the Rev. J. F. Everson who spoke from St. Paul's letter to the Philiplans, 4:8, setting forth the noble characteristics of the ideal life.

The speaker stressed the significance of one's personal example and told how the piety, gentleness and earnestness of David Livingstone, missionary in Africa, had influenced Sir. Henry M. Stanley to a decision for Christ. "A man's real worth, when the race of life has been completed," said the speaker, "is determined by the amount of Christian influence that lives on after him. It is the spirit of the members of the family and not the material luxuries of the place that make home the brightest, sunniest, happiest place in all the world. Canadian parents, the speaker stated, should try to realize the responsibility resting upon them for raising up a generation of Christian men and women that Canada might be the first great Christian nation in the world.

"Many a man poor in this world's goods left a precious legacy behind him at death because of the purity and nobility of his life the influence of which worked on for generations. Life's highest joys are experienced by the people who toil because they have been inspired by a great principle rather than earthly applause."

"The Church in the Wildwood," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Oh Beulah Land" were some of the selections rendered by the choirs.

ROSENEATH.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence.)—The lovely weather brought out a large congregation to the United Church on Sunday evening, and who listened most attentively to the excellent sermon delivered by Rev. R. W. Paton, B.A.,

Taking his text from St. Johns gospel chapter 12, dealing on verses 28 and 29, the speaker said: As we read this chapter we realize, that by this time, the cross rose up before our Lord in clearness, and His soul became exceedingly sorrowful unto death.

We have a record of His own words "Father save me from this hour, but for this cause came I unto this hour, Father glorify Thy name" Then there came the answer from God "I have both glorified it and will glorify it again". That was the great assurance that the love of heaven would not fail Him nor forsake Him.

Let us notice the different ways in which that voice of God was interpreted by those who heard it, Some said it thundered, others said, an angel spake to Him. This suggests to our minds the interesting truth, that there are many things to which we can ascribe a higher or a lower meaning.

It is well exemplified by this text, when the voice of God was heard some said carelessly "It is just the brooding of the storm." But others said, "It must be the voice of an angel." The same sound fell upon every ear, but it was not the same note that struck on the heart. Back of all we see and hear in our own character, which reacts on everything that reaches us. Our happiness depends more upon our point of view, than upon that which we view. The same voice was interpreted so differently.

The world of nature speaks with one voice but how differently it is interpreted by those whose interests are different. How different the appeal of nature as it is understood by the geologist, the botanist and the poet.

This principal is also very evident in the lives of men and women. How different are the opinions expressed by the people of the same community, regarding that community. The same voice can be so differently interpreted. This is also very apparent in our opinion and judgments concerning our fellowmen. There are many times when we can judge falsely. We listen to careless words spoken and we form a definite opinion, that is very unreasonable. It is so possible to give to things a lower meaning. That is why some will condemn the very people whom others will praise. We interpret so differently. After all we know so little about our fellowmen, we need to be careful in our judgments. We need forbearance, let us give forbearance. We want to be judged fairly. Our judgment and opinion concerning others are always colored by what we are ourselves.

This same principle is true concerning our own life experiences. How differently men interpret the experiences that enter into our lives. Prosperity is a blessing to some, they become generous and kind hearted, realizing they have been blessed and favored, but to others, prosperity has been a curse, they become selfish and think themselves superior to others,

This same voice, the voice of prosperity can be so differently interpreted, and the same thing is true concerning the voice of sorrow, that voice that speaks to all of us, at some time or other. Some have been brought nearer to Jesus Christ, by some great affliction while others have been affected in the opposite way, becoming embittered against the things that are spiritual Job said, in the midst of his sorrow "Blessed be the name of the Lord," but others have said "I can no longer believe in the love of God." That same voice the voice of sorrow can be interpreted so differently. We can give it to a higher or a lower meaning.

There is another truth to be remembered. When we give to things their higher meaning, we shall be nearest the truth.

Those who said the voice of God was merely thunder were absolutely wrong, those who said "It is the voice of angels" were not quite correct, but surely they were nearest to the truth.

Let us expand this lesson. In your judgments, whether it be of your fellowmen of your community or of your own life's experiences, always lean to the nobler side, and some day, when we shall see all things as they truly are, when the morning breaks and the shadows flee away, we shall find that when we took life at its best, and everything at its largest, not its least, we were nearer the truth, as it is in Jesus Christ, than if we had chosen in some lower way.

Next Sunday morning the Sacrament of the Lord's supper will be held at the close of the service. Everybody welcome and especially all members are requested to be present at this service.

WARSAW

WARSAW, Jan. 15 (Examiner Correspondence) — On Sunday evening the Rev. J. W. Wilkinson departed from the usual sermon and gave a talk on the hymn, "Rock of Ages," by Toplady.

"O Happy is the Man Who Hears," a Scottish paraphrase ascribed to Mr. Bruce, was sung by the congregation and "Shall We Gather At the River," and "When Peace Like A River," by Mr. Spafford were sung by the choir.

In speaking of the doxology he showed that it treated of Christian unity throughout the whole Christian Church. It was written as a chorus to the verses of the hymn, "Awake My Soul," and as the chorus to the verse of an evening hymn.

"Shall We Gather at the River," was written after an epidemic when many people died daily. In "Rock of Ages," there is a note of certainty. The speaker asked if we at present are holding to the Rock of Ages, or if we are drifting, drifting, drifting? Do we really know our children? Does the boy make a confidante of his father or the girl of her mother? Parents are too often too busy in pursuit of material things to pay proper attention to the spiritual and religious side of their children. If we cling to Christ, He clings to us. Ye who are far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ.

NOVEL SITUATION FACING BRITAIN

Ex-Premier Ferguson Makes Last Speech His Home Town.

EMPIRE MUST SURVIVE.

KEMPTVILLE, Jan. 15.—"In these days, with their groupings of individuals and industries, and with the assembling of nations into economic groups, there is a new type of adventure in the world and Great Britain is being called upon to meet a novel situation," declared Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, High Commissioner for Canada to the United Kingdom, addressing a gathering in his native town here last night.

"The Old Country has to husband her resources and to seek the co-operation of every component of the Empire," he said. "Therefore, we must unite into one consolidated, forceful agency in order to see to it that the Empire which has stood the test of the centuries, which is the founder of freedom and the friend of justice, still maintains leadership in the world's affairs.

"Can anyone see what chaos there would be if all constituted authority and all our democratic authority and all our democratic institutions were destroyed?" asked Mr. Ferguson. "The existence of these great guarantees of freedom and enlightenment in the world to-day is due to the British Empire, and I say again, that if her position is to become weakened or destroyed or in any way undermined, the result will be a menace to all civilization, to all orderly methods of living and to all constituted authority."

W. A. PRESIDENT RESIGNS OFFICE

Mrs. A. W. Turner Head of St. John's Church Society For Past Ten Years.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of St. John's W.A. was held on Tuesday afternoon, January 13, in St. John's Parish House, in the presence of an exceedingly large attendance. Owing to illness, the president, Mrs. A. W. Turner, was unable to be present, but Mrs. Dela Fosse, 1st vice-president, occupied the chair.

Dr. Blagrave conducted the devotional exercises, and at the close, paid a great tribute to the retiring president, Mrs. A. W. Turner, who during her ten years of office had guided the organization to the large efficient body of women that it had become.

The secretary, Mrs. E. W. Bridge, gave the minutes of the previous meeting, and the treasurer, Mrs. W. T. Holloway, gave the treasurer's report, after which all officers gave very interesting and satisfactory reports for the past year.

The acting president, Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse, then read the list of officers for 1931, and they were duly installed:

Honorary President — Mrs. R. C. Blagrave.

President—Mrs. H. A. Morrow.

1st Vice-President—Mrs. G. S. Cameron.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse.

Secretary—Mrs. S. Bridge.

Treasurer—Mrs. W. Holloway.

F.C.D. Secretary—Mrs. Knight.

U.T.O. Secretary—Mrs. Lundy.

Literature Secretary—Mrs. Denston.

Dorcas Convenor—Mrs. J. Rigden.

Little Helpers' Secretary — Mrs. Budd.

Junior Supt.—Mrs. Stanger.

Refreshment Convenor—Mrs. Lemmings.

Rector's Nominees—Mrs. Preston and Mrs. G. T. Melton.

At this juncture the new president, Mrs. H. Morrow, was invited to take the chair, and a very hearty reception was accorded her. She spoke briefly and graciously of the great work of her predecessor, Mrs. A. W. Turner, and expressed the hope that all the members would continue to co-operate and carry on as heretofore, bearing in mind at all times the 'W.A.' motto, "The love of Christ constraineth us."

After the reading of the Board notes by the secretary, the meeting drew to a close with the members' prayer and benediction, after which a dainty tea was served by Mrs. H. Lemmings and her refreshment committee.

More can be accomplished by working together than by individual efforts. United effort accomplished more than individual enterprise.

Moscow plans to unveil its monument to Fridjof Nansen, the famous explorer, on May 2, the anniversary of his birth.

The Story of 1930

The results achieved by The Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada in 1930 will be very gratifying to policyholders and others interested in the Company's progress:

	1920	1925	1930
Assurances in Force.....	$116,201,347	195,068,289	300,932,203
Assurances Issued	31,152,071	34,595,390	37,350,210
Total Assets	19,310,403	35,047,398	62,979,827
Policy and Annuity Reserves	16,018,229	29,480,492	53,039,981
Premium and Interest Income	4,973,802	8,925,057	13,830,045
Payments to Policyholders ..	1,349,867	3,111,364	6,530,785

The millions of dollars of Reserves held by The Imperial Life are calculated on so strong a basis that interest earnings of only 3% are sufficient to maintain them. The difference between this 3% rate and the 6% actually earned gives an exceptionally wide margin for policyholders' profits and security.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN No. 46 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Somehow Rokoff managed to escape before the ape-man saw him, and as Tarzan entered the "bombe" the five sailors, recognizing him, fled in the opposite direction. Carefully he circled the outside of the enclosure and soon came to indications that something had recently passed into the jungle. Moreover, his acute sense of smell told him that both of those he sought had fled in the same direction.

Ever afterward Jane wondered how she lived safely through that night alone in the awful jungle. On this second day, the terrified girl was climbing along a narrow game trail, fearful that the next moment would bring her face to face with some savage beast or equally savage man. As she ran on, hoping her direction was toward the great river, she came suddenly upon a strange sight.

Hiding in a clump of heavy bush, she watched. A great ape sat surrounded by several smaller ones, and in their midst a lithe, sinewy panther guided to and fro. If she was surprised at the sight of these natural enemies fraternizing, it was with emotions little short of fear for her own safety that she saw them presently joined by a tall, muscular warrior. Now she saw that he seemed actually giving them orders.

The entire company filed on across the clearing and disappeared in the jungle. She could not know that they were the Beasts of Tarzan. But another individual, half a mile behind her, lay frozen with terror as the hideous band passed quite close to the ant hill behind which he hid. This one was Rokoff; and he recognized the members of the awesome aggregation as allies of Tarzan of the Apes.

SAINT JAMES' SUNDAY SCHOOL ELECTS OFFICERS

Vast Amount of Business Conducted in Record Time at Wednesday's Meeting.

REPORTS READ.

A. E. Prest Re-elected Superintendent of S. S. For Coming Year.

The annual meeting and election of officers and teachers of St. James Sunday School was held on Wednesday evening following the hour of prayer, when a good representation of the school was present.

Rev. Mr. Moorhouse presided and conducted the vast amount of business in connection in record time.

The first session was entirely of a routine nature and was followed by very interesting and convincing department reports, beginning with that of the school secretary, John Sanderson, while the superintendents spoke for their respective departments— the Cradle Roll, Mrs. W. D. Sargent; Beginners and Primary, Miss Mary Collins; Junior Dept., Miss Maude Collins; Home Department, Mrs. R. Payne; Treasure Seekers' Bible Class Miss Fell; Cheerful Workers Bible Class, Mrs. Payne; Kings Own Class, Mrs. W. K. Sloan; X.L.C.R. Class, Miss Annie Payne; Ever Ready Class, Mrs. Beavis; Brotherhood, Mrs. Littlefair; Cognawagas, Wm. Prest; Superintendent, A. E. Prest.

Resume of Work

A resume of the year's work was given in a comprehensive manner by the superintendent who reported a total attendance for 1930 of 20,202 with an average attendance of 389.

For July and August there was an average attendance of 235. There are 600 on the roll, and 40 teachers and officers.

The school gave over $275.00 to Missions during the year. On three Sundays the attendance exceeded the 500 mark.

Fifteen scholars were received into church membership from the school this year. The average attendance of teachers has been very high throughout the year, especially during the summer months.

Mr. Prest thanked the teachers and officers for their co-operation and support and declared that it was a joy to work in St. James' Sunday School which seemed like a large and happy family.

Officers Elected

Superintendent—A. E. Prest.

Assistant Superintendent—William McLaren.

Primary Dept. Supt.—Miss Mary Collins.

Junior Dept. Supt.—Miss Maude Collins.

Home Dept. Supt.—Mrs. R. Payne.

Secretary—John Sanderson.

Librarian—Herschel Welbourn.

Orchestra Leader—Clifford Ruscoe.

Pianist—Miss Olive Prest, A.T.C.M.

Lantern Operator — Arthur McLaren.

Teachers were elected as follows:

Primary Department—Mrs. Sargent, Miss Wildman, Mrs. Roode, Miss Marjorie Baldry, Mrs. Cripps, Miss Reta Frost, Miss M. Hogan, Miss M. Welch, Miss M. Moorhouse, Miss Jean Hammond, Miss Edith Smith, Miss Mary Collins and Mrs. Armstrong as supply.

Junior Department teachers—Mrs. J. O. Fife, Miss Zetta Wood, Mrs. Cox, Miss Alice Scott, Mrs. Davis.

Intermediate Department—Ashton Fife, Stan Church, Sid Turner, Bill Anderson, Misses Clara Wilford, Aileen Rose, Greta Welbourn and Olive Prest.

Bible Classes—Lloyd May, Wm. McLaren, Mrs. W. Prest, Mr. Sargent, Mrs. English, Mrs. Moorhouse, Mrs. Beavis, Miss M. Kidd and Miss J. Martin.

Some interesting plans for future activities were: The installation of S.S. officers and teachers, to take place on Sunday morning, January 25; the annual teachers' conference and banquet on February 27th; the Sunday School anniversary for the first Sunday in May, with the pastor, the superintendent and the school secretary a committee in charge of entire program.

Rev. Mr. Moorhouse brought to a conclusion this important and successful meeting, with prayer and the benediction.

Poultry Association Meeting This Evening

A meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association has been called for this evening at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce Council Chamber. A large attendance of the members and all interested in bird and poultry keeping is earnestly requested by the executive.

The main item of business will consist of the formulation of plans for the forthcoming fall and winter poultry and bird show. This show, which has been one of the features of local poultrymen's activities for many years, is normally held in January, but owing to the unsatisfactory trade conditions now prevailing it has been set back some few months. The fanciers are taking no chances on the show being a failure, and are enlisting the support of all the local enthusiasts in an effort to make up a prize-list which will be calculated to attract exhibitors from all over the Province.

OVERHEATED STOVE PIPES.

The services of the fire fighters was required at 1.25 p.m. yesterday at 340 Stewart Street. The fire was caused by dirty stove pipes being overheated, but little damage resulted. Another alarm was sent in at 6.02 p.m. from 478 Mark Street. The ceilings had been newly kalsomined, and a cracking sound, seemingly coming from between the plaster and the joists, alarmed the occupants. Although the whole of the Fire Department came out their services were not required when the mistake was discovered.

FIGHT IN CAFE ENDS IN ARREST

Proprietor Has Badly Injured Eye and One Man is in Hospital.

CHARGES ARE LAID.

Tom Long, proprietor of a local cafe, has a badly injured right eye, and J. F. Pressley, Toronto youth, is in St. Joseph's hospital with serious head injuries as a result of a drunken brawl staged in a George street cafe early this morning. Dr. J. M. O'Brien, who attended Pressley, stated that the gash on his head reached the bone and severed several arteries causing much loss of blood. The injury to Long's eye, gained in failing to duck a flying fist, may cause permanent injury to the sight.

William Berwick, also of Toronto, and Clarence, his brother of this city, who were with Pressley in the fracas, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to being drunk. Clarence also pleaded guilty to assaulting and injuring the Chinese and was remanded.

Charges against Pressley will be held over until he is discharged from hospital.

Pressley received his head wounds, police say, when he stumbled over the prostrate Chinese, who had been flung to the floor, and fell backwards against the edge of a large refrigerator.

SMITH AND DUNDAS ARE GIVEN NINE YEARS

Three Stimson Officials Under Arrest

JOHNSTON, CLARK BOTH REMANDED TO JANUARY 23

Dow, SecretaryTreasurer, Held as Witness—Two Former Face Conspiracy Charges.

WARRANT OUT FOR THOMAS.

Bail of $50,000 Granted President and Vice, But No Bondsmen Appear.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 16.—(CP)—Officers of the law moved rapidly in launching prosecutions against the heads of the G. A. Stimson Company, Limited and its subsidiaries which were placed in the hands of a liquidator on Wednesday. Three officials of the concern were arrested this morning on charges of conspiracy to defraud and a warrant is out for a fourth man, H. H. Thomas, former director of the Sales Department who is said to be in Boston.

President F. G. Johnston and Vice President L. F. Clark, two of the men who were arrested at their homes this morning, were arraigned in police court shortly before noon and were remanded until Jan. 23. They were admitted to bail in the sum of $50,000 each but have not yet succeeded in securing bondsmen. The charge of conspiracy laid against the secretary-treasurer of the bond house, William James Dow was withdrawn and he was held merely as a material witness. Arrangements were subsequently made for his release on bail of $3,000.

Expect Thomas To Return

It is understood that the Ontario Police Department have not sought the co-operation of the Boston Police in tracing Thomas as it is believed he will return to Toronto after concluding the business which took him away. Speaking to the press today about the arrests, Attorney-General W. H. Price said that yesterday several holders of Stimson securities, after reading of the assignment, came to his Department and told of alleged mis-statements made to them by agents of the bond house to induce them to purchase the securities. On the basis of their allegations a decision was reached to lay conspiracy charges. Mr. Price declined to make public the entire charges contained in the affidavits of security holders but intimated that the alleged misrepresentations were not confined to the salesmen alone. He expressed the opinion that the salesmen were without full knowledge of the value of the securities they were sent out to sell. He also said the investigators had found the books of the various companies "quite a puzzle."

Starting as a lady of the Sultan's seraglio, she has just been elected by the voters of Konia to represent them in the National Assembly of Turkey.

ECONOMIC VIEW WORSE IN EUROPE

Promise of Many States to Seek Tariff Reductions Through Bi-lateral Pacts, One Hope.

LEAGUE SHIPPING.

GENEVA, January 16 (C.P.). — Hendrik Kolijn of Holland, one of the most eminent economic authorities identified with the League of Nations activities, to-day told delegates to the Commission examining Aristide Briand's scheme for a Pan-European Federation that Europe's economic oulook is worse than it was in 1927.

"After nearly four years of hard work," he said, "that is all we can say. There has been no improvement at all, on the contrary we are gradually slipping backward and the consequence is that people in many countries have lost all faith in the League's economic work."

He was reporting on the unsuccessful effort last year to inaugurate concerted economic action among Europe's nations in line with recommendations of the World Economic Conference in 1927.

A single gleam of hope, he said, shines from the promise of many states to seek tariff reductions through bi-lateral treaties. If free trade countries are forced to adopt protectionism, he predicted, there will be "relentless economic warfare."

PETERBORO RINKS DEFEAT VISITORS FOR R. NEILL CUP

Campbell and McDermid Have Entered Finals in Trophy Play.

LAKEFIELD LAST TO GO.

Battle Between Local Skips is Feature Tangle on Curling Card.

The Neill trophy this year goes to either W. D. Campbell or J. W. McDermid. They won the semi-final games in yesterday's bonspiel and will meet in the final at some date convenient to both rinks.

In the fours McDermid defeated Dave Charlton of Lakefield by 15-2 and Campbell blighted Herb. Martin's hopes in a game that hung on the last shot. That shot happened to be Campbell's and it turned the trick.

Probably it is not written in any book on curling but it is none the less true that if you don't make a shot one way you may make it another. That was one of the first quirks of the game Bill Campbell learned, and Herb. Martin, too, for that matter, but Campbell's last shot demonstrated this fact once more. They were tied at nine apiece coming home, and Martin had the winning shot in the inner ring with a couple of fairly long guards protecting it. Campbell was lying second. Both vice-skips hadn't altered the end materially, and Martin's last stone drew a neat guard where it was needed alongside another well out in front. The end and the game looked safe for Martin.

Facing that situation Campbell got his stone away with ample weight and a big wish. It was plainly ap-

APPEAL IS LOST BY BALLANTYNE

First Divisional Court Dismisses Case Without Hearing Crown's Evidence.

APPELLANT ABSENT, ILL.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 16. (CP)—The appeal of James H. Ballantyne, former Deputy Minister of Labor, from his conviction and suspended sentence imposed by Judge Denton for the theft of a dress last November was dismissed by First Divisional court at Osgoode Hall to-day, without the hearing of the Crown's evidence. Ballantyne was unable to attend the hearing as he is confined to hospital following an operation.

W. B. Common appeared for the Crown.

Counsel for Ballantyne said the former Deputy Minister was "well acquainted with the financial vicissitudes of the family of the married woman who accompanied him. This woman was washing a dress on the night of the charge and it shrunk, and she asked Ballantyne to drive her downtown to get a new one.

After visiting two or three stores she saw a dress she liked, but did not have enough money to buy it, counsel said. Ballantyne conceived the idea of buying her the dress and bringing it home to his wife to give to her as a surprise. He took the dress out and put it in his car, and then re-entered the store. Asked in the store where he had been, he just smiled.

The store clerk, seeing the hanger empty, telephoned for the police, and Ballantyne's arrest followed.

Counsel said the married woman was the member of a Scotch family who helped Ballantyne get established when he came to Canada.

Document of 10,000 Hand-Written Words Lacking Witnesses, Is Will Of Aged Recluse

PITTSBURGH, January 16 (C.P.). — Content to spend her last days in the ramshackle house in which her body was found on Monday, Miss Tillie Patcher, 80, recluse, planned that in death she should repose in grandeur.

The will, filed yesterday for probate, specified she wanted a $25,000 mausoleum to house her and her kin who died before her.

Many of her bequests for charity cannot be carried out because the will was not legally drawn, county authorities pointed out to-day, but Registrar of Wills Joseph N. Mackerell said if two persons swear to the signature it may be probated. The document of 10,000 hand-written words lacked witnesses. There are no known surviving relatives. Her estate has been variously estimated at between $20,000 and $50,000.

KINSMEN CLUB TO PRESENT PLAY

Hay Fever by Noel Coward is Chosen as Play to be Produced by Club.

FUNDS FOR SERVICE WORK

The Peterborough Kinsmen Club held its first dinner of the year last night in the Empress Hotel under the chairmanship of the newly elected president, Dr. Ralph Honey. Announcement was made that the play "Hay Fever" by Noel Coward now being prepared by a cast of young people would be presented in about six weeks time. Plans were laid for the selling of tickets and many suggestions made whereby the play which will be one of the best amateur productions seen in Peterborough in some years will be a success. All the money raised will go into the coffers of the club to be used in service club work as a most ambitious program is being outlined by the Sunshine committee of the club. The new president gave an outline of the work which he hoped the club would achieve during the year and also briefly paid tribute to those who had founded Peterborough's youngest service club on such a sound basis.

At the close of the meeting the presentation of a suitably engraved gavel was made to Alex Elliott the retiring president and the first president of the local club for his untiring energies which he put forth in organizing the club and getting it established in Peterborough.

GREEN FAVORED IN MEN'S SUITS

Definite Outlines For Well Dressed Man For Summer To Be Stream-lined.

SQUARE SHOULDERS.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16. (CP)—Here is how the well-dressed man will look in the spring and summer of 1931, as decreed by the International Association of Clothing Designers:

His predominating color is green.

Shoulders will be broader, waists slimmer and higher, coats longer and sleeves narrow at the hand, indicating that anything but the slender young man will be passe.

Bottle green and a deep, dark blue are the predominating colors for sports wear, and a return of the notched lapel is favored. Sports coats to be worn with flannels are trimmed with white pearl buttons, patch pickets and belted backs, and one display of business suits was of bright green, elaborated with bright green buttons.

For the well-dressed man, H. K. Burman, secretary of the association, issued this style forecast at the close of the organization's semi-annual convention:

"There will be a decided tendency toward square shoulders of generous width for sack coats, and definite outlines will be stream-lined, while the general outlook will be more slender theretofore.

"Suit coats will be a quarter of an inch to an inch longer. The chest effect will be broad and generous. Waists will be defined and rather high. Pockets too, will be set rather high.

POLICY ON INDIA BE GIVEN MONDAY

Gov't Announcement to be Made Before Full Plenary Session.

16 DELEGATES TO SPEAK.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(C P Cable)—The pronouncement of the British Government's Indian policy will be made known early on Monday afternoon, before a full plenary session of the Indian Round-Table Conference.

The final plenary meeting was inaugurated at St. James Palace this afternoon, after the conference in committee had completed adoption of sub-committee reports. Formal approval is to be given these reports by the plenary session.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald presided and nearly 100 delegates were in attendance. Sixteen of these signified their desire to speak on the conference's results, and were limited to eight minutes each, which will carry the conference through this afternoon and Monday morning.

U.S. MUST REDUCE WHEAT ACREAGE

TOO MUCH ON MARKET.

URBANA, Ill., Jan. 16.—Alexander Legge, Chairman of the Federal Farm Board, in an address prepared for delivery on the Annual Farm and Home Week program of the University of Illinois, to-day said that United States wheat growers "have no alternative but to produce no more than can be consumed at home if they are to get a better price."

"The world wheat market is too gloomy for the American grower," Mr. Legge said. "There is already too much wheat, with production increasing in some of the exporting countries and Russia coming back into the market faster than any of us thought possible. There is no way to get rid of surplus American wheat unless at a price below the present domestic level."

Egypt recently gave a flag of that county to the Ethical Church in London.

FAMOUS INDIAN WARRIOR'S BONES ARE DISCOVERED

Remains Believed to be Tecumseh Found By Members of Soldier's Club.

ON WALPOLE ISLAND.

Indians Intend to Ask Govt's Aid in Erecting Memorial to Chieftain.

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 16.—Discovery on Walpole Island of what are believed to be the bones of Tecumseh, famous Indian Chief and ally of the British forces in the War of 1812, was reported to-day by members of the Walpole Island Soldier's Club.

Although the bones, which are now in the possession of the Soldier's Club, have not been thoroughly examined they appear to be in a fair state of preservation.

It is the intention of the Indians to interest the Provincial and Dominion Governments in a proposal to prepare a permanent resting place for the remains and to erect a monument to the memory of the famous Chieftain.

Valuable Historical Find.

If the bones are finally identified beyond question the discovery will probably reveal much valuable information which historians have hitherto been unable to procure.

Norman S. Gurd of this city, author of the "Story of Tecumseh," when given the meagre details of the find was of the opinion that there was a strong possibility that the remains were those of the Indian warrior. The information which the Walpole Island Indians had corresponded to a certain extent with portions of historical notes written by Mr. Gurd.

The eloquent and martial figure of Tecumseh, Chief of the Shawnee Indians, is a familiar one in novels and plays of the early west. He sought to unite all the Indians from Canada to Florida and present a unified front against encroachments of the whites.

From his birth at some undetermined date between 1768 and 1780 Tecumseh was a bitter enemy of white settlers who were rapidly overrunning his tribal lands in Ohio. As a youth he rose to leadership in the tribe's predatory raids that kept the western frontier ablaze at the turn of the century.

Defeated at Tippecanoe

Endowed persuasive eloquence and unusual organizing ability, Tecumseh enlisted his brother Tenkswatawa, popularly called "The Prophet," in formation of his Indian League of Nations. White settlers along the border became alarmed as the confederacy crew. In 1811 a force led by Governor William Henry Harrison of Indiana gave battle to Tecumseh's warriors at the famous battle of Tippecanoe which virtually wiped out the Indian organization. The battle of Tippecanoe gave rise to a campaign slogan which swept Harrison to the United States presidency.

With the break of the war of 1812, Tecumseh was commissioned a Brigadier General in the British Army. He participated in skirmishes in the sieges of Detroit and Fort Meigs, and the battles of Put-in-Bay and the Thames River in Ontario on Oct. 5, 1813. Tecumseh was killed during the latter battle.

CHILDREN ON WAY TO FATHER

MONTREAL, Jan. 16.—Five little motherless children, discovered here yesterday in the care of immigration officials after being missing a week, are on their way to rejoin their father, Ozias Delaney, in Syracuse, N.Y. The young travellers, the oldest 15, and the youngest 3, were due to reach Syracuse to-day.

They were received by immigration officials for examination, and were detained because of a minor ailment among them.

3,224 PLANES MADE IN U. S. DURING 1930.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (C.P.). — Aeroplanes manufactured in the United States during 1930 numbered 3,224.

Civilian flyers or companies bought 2,514 and 710 were delivered to the Army and Navy. Of the aircraft manufactured for civil use, 250 were exported.

The Commerce Department to-day finished the tabulations.

POWER REPORTS UNSTUDIED BY ROOSEVELT

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 16.—Governor Roosevelt said last night that he had not yet studied either the complete majority report or that of Mr. Conway. He was emphatic in his assertion, however, that the development of power on the St. Lawrence was both feasible and saleable from an engineering standpoint.

Leaders Also Get Five Lashes Each, TwoGet6Months

Gordon Dundas and Carl Smith Sentenced to Penitentnary For Robbery With Violence — Dundas Gets Five Years and Smith Four, While Each Given 5 Lashes.

TODD AND GORDON SMITH CHANGE PLEAS TO GUILTY ARE SENTENCED TO SIX MONTHS IN REFORMATORY

Final Chapter is Written to Robbery of G. W. Johnston, 82, on the Chemong Road on Monday Night, January 5—Previous Convictions Recalled.

"Crime of this nature must be stamped out, and will be stamped out of Peterborough County," declared Police Magistrate O. A. Lancaster this morning in passing sentence on all four men connected with the assault and robbery of G. W. Johnson, 82-year-old Chemong Road resident, in his home on the night of January 5.

Gordon Dundas, 24, and Carl Smith, 23, both married, were given terms of five years and four years respectively, in Portsmouth Penitentiary.

The Magistrate ordered that each be whipped with five strokes of the lash.

Gordon Smith, 19, brother of Carl, who was charged as an accessory after the crime, and Fred Todd, 30, Emily farmer, charged with robbery with violence, entered the box to-day and changed their pleas of not guilty entered last week to guilty. Both were sentenced to six months in the Ontario Reformatory and an indefinite period thereafter not to exceed two years.

Both Equally to Blame

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who prosecuted in all four cases, held that Carl Smith and Dundas shared equally the main guilt for the crime. He stated that Smith had worked for Johnston, had the "run of the place," and had given Dundas the opinion that the aged man had money. Therefore although he had taken little active part in the attack upon Johnston he was equally to blame, said the Crown Attorney.

Further, Mr. McElderry maintained that Smith and Dundas had been considering robbing Johnston for some time. He repeated Smith's statement that last September the two had walked out to Johnston's with the intention of robbing the old farmer. At the gate, stated Mr McElderry, an argument arose over which one was to strike Johnston with the hammer. "They tossed up. Smith lost and would not go through with the proposition. They walked back. This shows that they had meditated the crime," concluded the Crown Attorney.

Little evidence not given The Examiner previously was submitted in Todd's case. Smith and Dundas statements were read. According to both statements, Todd met the two on the street in the afternoon. Wine and beer were purchased by Smith, Todd supplying the money. Later Todd secured a permit himself and purchased two bottles of native wine.

TORONTO MAN WINS APPEAL

Trial Will Be Heard in Toronto Instead of Walkerton as Judge Ordered.

MIX-UP CAUSED DELAY.

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—On behalf of George Richards, truck driver of Toronto, maimed, with two children and earning $15 a week, who is claiming $15,000 damages against his former guardians, John A. Mackenzie and his wife, Sarah, of Lucknow, for their alleged failure to supply him with a proper education, Roy A. M. Murphy appealed successfully before the First Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall, from Toronto to Walkerton. Mr. McMurty pleaded that his client could not possibly afford to take witnesses to Walkerton.

The only possible reason for a change of venue, Mr. McCurtry said was "a preponderance of convenience."

Justice Middleton pointed out that the motion for change of venue had been made "on the very eve of trial."

The Chief Justice asked W. Proudfoot for the defendants, to explain the delay.

Mr. Proudfoot said there was no explanation other than a "mix-up" in the office of original counsel.

The court considered there had been "unreasonable" delay.

PRINCES LAND AT LE BOURGET.

LE BOURGET, France, Jan. 16.—(C.P.).—The little Moth plane carrying the English Princes came down to a perfect landing in rather poor flying weather with low visibility, threatening clouds and some fog. The trip from Hendon had taken two hours and eighteen minutes.

ENGLAND WILL NOT CONTEST SPEED SUPREMACY OF THE AIR THIS YEAR

Government Decides Against Supporting Entry For Schneider Cup.

WOULD GAIN POSSESSION.

LONDON, Jan. 16 (C.P. Cable).—Keen disappointment was expressed in various circles to-day over the Government's decision not to support the contest for the Schneider Trophy, emblematic of world supremacy in seaplane speed, this year. Victory for England in the race this year would have taken the cup outright, as English pilots have won it on the last two occasions.

The committee of the Royal Aero Club on Monday will consider the situation. There is a grave possibility that unless the Government changes its attitude, adopted on the grounds of economy, Britain would have to stand aside this year. This, it is felt, would be a severe blow to British air prestige. It is pointed out the victory in the last two races proved of great advantage to the British aircraft industry, both in advantage and prestige. Flight-Lieut. Webster won the trophy in Venice in 1927, and Flying Officer Waghorn retained it at Southampton in 1929. Britain also holds the world's seaplane speed record of 368 miles an hour.

Two of the foremost British Schneider Cup pilots are on overseas service with the Royal Air Force. Lt. D'Arcy Greig is in South Africa and Flight Lieut. R. L. Atherley is in Palestine.

While it might be decided to hold the race in Great Britain without Government and consequently Air Ministry support, the question arises whether the Royal Aero Club would be justified in asking the British public to guarantee the expenditures when no British plane is competing.

The Government decided it could not supply pilots nor machines nor supervise the course, leaving the matter to the Royal Aero Club.

Miller Has Narrow Escape from Death

BARRIE, Ont., Jan. 16 (Special to The Examiner).—Attempting to land on Kempenfelt Bay yesterday afternoon a DeHavilland moth plane piloted by W. N. Millar of Peterborough, crashed through the ice. With the aid of ropes, a number of local citizens pulled the aeroplane to safety two hours later.

Neither pilot nor his passenger were injured.

Millar was flying from Sudbury to Toronto. He believed the smooth looking ice safe for landing. He made a perfect landing but the ice failed to hold the aeroplane. The wings saved the machine from a watery grave.

Two-year-old Jean Gibson recently travelled unaccompanied from Canada to London to visit her grandmother.

Round-Table Parley Battles With Reports

LONDON, Jan. 16 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—Still sitting in committee, the Indian Round-Table Conference progressed to-day towards adoption of all sub-committee reports, after which the full plenary session to give them formal approval may be commenced.

The report of defense of the northwest frontier was adopted to-day. One recommendation was for the more rapid training and developing of the native army, with the establishment of a training college for Indian officers.

Another recommendation approved was for the creation of new provinces in the northwest frontier.

Badminton Player Here This Evening

Jack Purcell, champion badminton player of Canada, is to give an exhibition of the great indoor game at the Armouries this evening. Mr. Purcell will play some of the city's stars. The 'champ' will be the guest of the Artillery's badminton club, and all enthusiasts are invited to see him in action.

NEW JERSEY COACH CUT IN HALF WHEN SWITCH SPLITS—19 INJURED

Smoke From Burning Insulation Blackens Passengers' Faces.

FOUR IN HOSPITAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (C.P.).—The first car of a crowded seven-car train from Jersey City split a switch and virtually cut itself in two against a curtain wall of steel and concrete in Hudson Tubes Terminal, at 33rd Street and Sixth Avenue.

Of the 50 passengers in the car, 19 were injured—four of them seriously enough to require hospital attention. Only the fact the train was running slowly prevented a long death list, officials said.

Lights Go Out.

The lights went out and smoke from burning insulation blackened the faces of passengers. Tearing their clothes and losing their hats in their fright, they pushed toward the doors while broken glass tinkled about them.

Trainmen quickly opened the doors and helped the injured to the mezzanine floor, where ambulance surgeons treated them.

One of the injured described the crash to reporters. He was near the door of the first car when the lights went out and the car began [illegible] with smoke. Then came a [illegible] and the 50 passengers [illegible] the doors, the[illegible] faces begrime[illegible]

80-Mile Cyclone Hits Saskatchewan

REGINA, Sask., January 16 (C.P.). — Gales of cyclonic violence which at times reached a velocity of 80 miles an hour over many southern and central Saskatchewan areas on Thursday, had blown away to-day, and across the storm-swept path clear and mild weather prevailed.

One death was attributed to the storm, and in its wake was left spoiled fields of summer fallow, while in towns and cities minor property damage was reported.

SOLDIERS SEEK 'QUAKE VICTIMS

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—Soldiers were turning over the wreckage of the thriving city of Oaxaca to-day carrying out the bodies of men and women who perished in the earthquake which rocked southern districts.

At least 12 persons perished and many more were injured, but telegraphic communication was impossible and radio messages irregular.

FOG HOLDS AMY BACK.

WARSAW, Poland, Jahuary 16.—Snow, rain, fog, and bad visibility to-day prevented Amy Johnston, British aviatrix, from starting her flight back to London in the plane she cracked up near here recently while en route to Peiping.

British Electoral Reform Text Appears

LIBERAL SUPPORT SEEN AS OBJECT IN NEW MEASURE

Bill Will Effect Greatest Change in System Since Reform Act of 1832.

AN OLD QUESTION.

Chief Proposal is to Bring About Proportional Representation.

LONDON, Jan. 16 (A.P.)—The Government to-day published the text of an electoral reform which, if passed by Parliament, will effect the greatest changes in the British electoral syatem since the Reform Act of 1832.

The basis of the new measure is proportional representation, which the Liberal Party long has fought for. By seeking its adoption the Labor Party is considered to have made a definite bid for continued Liberal support in maintaining the MacDonald Government.

Chief Proposal

The chief proposal of the new measure to bring about proportional representation provides for introduction of the alternative vote, under which voters in constituencies which are being contested by three candidates will record their first and second prefernces instead of voting for one man only, as is the case at present.

Under the system the first choice votes only and if one candidate has a clear majority over the combined vote of the other two he is automatically elected as under the present system.

If, however, the candidate with the largest number of votes has not a clear mbajority, then the candidate with the lowest number of votes is eliminated from the contest and the number of second choice votes recorded on the ballot papers entered for him as apportioned between the two leading candidates and decides the issue.

This, suppose in a constituency the Labor candidate received 4,000 votes and the Liberal candidate as second choice. Discarding the Conservative candidate, the Labor candidate would then have 4,700 votes and the Liberal candidate 4,800 votes, enough to make him the victor.

Long Sought by Liberals

Rt. Hon. Lloyd George's party has long contended that such a system would give it a representation in the House of Commons more in keeping with the popular vote it polls than is the case at present.

Other proposals in the bill include division of certain constituencies at present returning two members to Parliament into two separate single member constituencies; abolition of the business premises qualification for registration except in the City of London—which would mean that no voter would be entitled to vote in two different constituencies, and abolition of the university constituencies.

It is also proposed to fix the maximum scale of candidates' election expenses and to restrict the use of vehicles at parliamentry elections.

The city is judged by its civic activities and he Chamber of Commerce is the organization where such work is put in motion and then carried to a successful conclusion for the benefit of all.

One Family Holds Post for 120 Years

PRESTON, Lancashire January 16 (C.P. Cable). — A post that has been held in the same family for 120 years is occupied by Alonzo Savage, chief officer of the Fire Brigade here. His father, grandfather, and great-grandfather held the position in their respective generations. The present holder is the recipient of the King's life-saving medal. He also received a personal letter from Right Hon Winston Churchill when Mr. Churchill was Secretary of State for Home Affairs, some years ago.

STRIKE IN WALES COMES TO CLOSE; MINERS' VICTORY

Owners and Men Reach Agreement—Contract Drawn Up.

LAST UNTIL 1934.

Matters Regarding Conditions and Pay Go to Conciliation Board.

LONDON, Jan. 16—The South Wales coalfield trouble, which has kept $150,000 men in idleness since New Year's was regarded as settled last night.

It was announced that owners and miners had reached an agreement; that a new contract had been drawn up to last until 1934, under which the men will obtain the same rate of pay as heretofore, and will be assured of 7½-hour days, instead of the spread-over system proposed by the mine operators.

Credit Goes to Graham

Credit for the victory of conciliation is given largely to Right Hon. William Graham, President of the Board of Trade, and to Emanuel Shinwell, Parliamentary Secretary to the Department of Mines, both of whom refused to acknowledge defeat and kept meeting the owners' committee and representatives of the men day after day, with the hope of reconciling their points of view.

Minor matters, regarding working conditions and methods of pay, it was stipulated in yesterday's agreement, will be settled by a Conciliation Board, with a new, independent Chairman.

Both Sides Sign

Both owners' and miners' representatives signed the agreement which, as regards wages, is based on the 1926 agreement. Next comes the formality of approval by the South Wales Miners' Federation and by the South Wales Mine Owners' Association. Both are taken for granted.

The settlement comes at a time when the miners' families were beginning to feel the pinch of the lockout.

CASSIDY GRANTED STAY.

MONTREAL, Que., January 16 — To permit an appeal against a sentence of death passed by the Court of King's Bench on Austin Cassidy for the murder of R. Marshall, Ottawa athlete, a stay of sentence until April 10 was ordered by the Court of Appeals here to-day. Cassidy was sentenced by the Court of King's Bench at Hull to hang January 30.

REV. J. C. ROBINSON INDUCTED INTO CAMPBELLFORD CHARGE

Large Congregation Attends Impressive Service in Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 16 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Before a very large congregation and in the presence of the members of the Presbytery of Peterborough, the Rev. J. C. Robinson of Uxbridge was yesterday inducted into the charge of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford.

The Rev. G. R. Duncan of Warkworth, Moderator of the Presbytery, presided, delivered the minister's charge, and performed the ceremony of induction. The devotional service was taken by the Rev. A. C. Reeves, B.A., of Norwood, who read the Scripture lessons and delivered a splendid sermon. The address to the congregation was given by the Rev. Dr. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings.

Special music was featured at the service, the choir being in attendance under the direction of W. A. Newcourt, A.L.C.M.; a vocal solo, "O Rest in the Lord," being given by Mrs. A. Milne.

Mr. Reeves, in the opening sermon of the service, took for his text 1 Samuel vii, 12: "Hitherto hath the Lord helped me," and the 125th Psalm, verse 2: "As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so is the Lord round about his people from henceforth, even forever." In his opening remarks, he spoke of the fact that a new era was dawning for the congregation of St. Andrew's. He said that this was a time of the year when we looked backward as well as forward. There were the three tenses with us always—the past, the present and the future. The past is fixed, the future is unknown, the present is slipping away from us and will soon be in the past. Therefore, it behooves us at this time to turn our thoughts to God.

In the first part of the text the speaker said, Samuel has raised a stone as significant of the fact that God had helped his people in the past by delivering them from their enemies. In the last part of the text, God had promised to be with his people in the future. The preacher drew the attention of the congregation to the two words, hitherto and henceforth.

At the hour of victory, when God's chosen people had won the battle against their foes, offering had been made. And when Israel had dedicated their service to God, victory came to them. "And so," said the preacher, "when we dedicate ourselves to the service of God our troubles and difficulties will be lightened. On whom

McBRIDE GAINS 62 VOTES

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 16. — The fourth day of the Toronto mayoralty election recounts found Mayor William J. Stewart's majority cut by 62 votes, leaving Sam McBride with a handicap of 251 to overcome with 58,190 or more than half the total vote checked.

McBride's gain fluctuated during the day reaching a high of 83 at one time and then slumping back to 62 when Judge Daniel O'Connell called it a day. Wards, one, five, six and half of ward four were completed in the days labor.

C. F. Linn Winner Of Martin Trophy

STIRLING, Jan. 16.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — C. F. Linns of this section has again won the silver trophy donated by the Hon. J. S. Martin, ex-Minister of Agriculture, for the section having the highest of the first and special grade cheese in Eastern Ontario. This taken in thirty sections.

Hastings County again holds first place as a county for having the highest percentage of first and special grade cheese.

Blackmailers are reported to be operating extensively in Scotland.

SINCLAIR CHOSEN AS HOUSE LEADER

Members Speed Up Caucus Business to Attend Dinner For Hepburn.

DISCUSS SESSION PROGRAM.

TORONTO, January 16 — William E. N. Sinclair, K.C., was unanimously chosen as House Leader at a pre-sessional caucus of Liberal members of the Legislature held in the Prince George Hotel yesterday. The caucus was attended by all Liberal members of the Legislature with the exception of Thomas Murray of Renfrew.

In view of the dinner to Mitchell Hepburn, newly elected Provincial Leader, at St. Thomas in the evening, the business of the caucus was speeded up and finished one hour before the departure of the St. Thomas train. All the Liberal members present left to attend the Hepburn dinner, with the exception of the following, who were unable to go: Mr. Sinclair, Thomas Blakelock, Dr. L. J. Simpson, Dr. George McQuibban, Charles Robertson and William Newman.

Speaking to reporters after the caucus Mr. Sinclair stated that the sessional program had been discussed in a general way.

The champion for the District will be eligible to enter the Provincial contest in Toronto next Easter.

Students of the Normal School will act as judges.

UNITED EUROPE IS BRIAND'S PLEA

Curtius Claims Germany Ready to Co-operate in Any Move For Peace.

LONG ROAD TO TRAVEL.

GENEVA, Jan. 16 (C.P.).—Europe has come to the belief that her nations must unite if they are to live, Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, to-day told delegates from twenty-six European states gathered here under the auspices of the League of Nations to examine his plan for a Pan-European Federation.

"We have a long road to travel," he told the assembly as he opened its sessions, "and we must map it out. We must never be swerved from our purpose and in our task we will reject the co-operation of none."

Dr. Julius Curtis, Germany's Foreign Minister, echoed the French chairman's declaration, asserting that his nation, supporting any program of co-operation and peace, agrees that in these first meetings economic collaboration among the nations must be emphasized.

For the commission's guidance, Briand said, the League secretariat had prepared a report on the League's work for European organization during the past decade, and a similar report has been made available by the International Labor Union. This data, he said, will form a basis for this commission's economic discussions.

BIRD SANCTUARY FOR ENGLAND

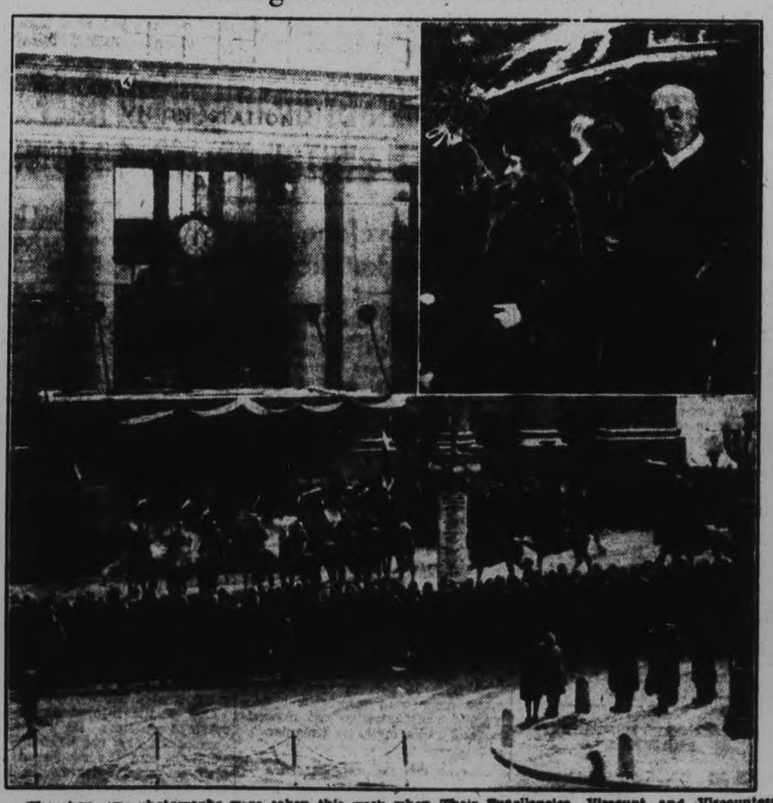
KINGSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 16.—Bird sanctuaries in several sections of England and Scotland may be established as a result of the recent visit of Charles W. J. Tennant of London, Eng., to the bird haven of Jack Miner, Canadian naturalist, at Kingsville.

After a thorough inspection of the Miner place Mr. Tenant expressed the intention of duplicating the bird paradise in the lonelier sections of England and Scotland.

MONO TOWNSHIP CUTS SALARIES

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 16.—At its inaugural meeting yesterday the Mono township council agreed to cut salaries of councilmen by $10 each. They also pruned the wages of municipal employees, the clerk's wages being reduced $25 annually, the treasurer's $10 and members of the board of health from $5 to $4 per meeting.

Willingdons Bid Farewell to Ottawa



The above two photographs were taken this week when Their Excellencies, Viscount and Viscountess Willingdon, departed from Ottawa en route to Quebec on their way to England. The main picture shows a small section of the vast crowd gathered to bid farewell to the popular Governor-General, who is going to India to become Viceroy, as the vice-regal party arrived at the Union Station from Rideau Hall. The top picture was taken as the train departed for the East with Their Excellencies waving farewell from the rear of the Governor-General's coach.

Providing Greater Value at Lower Cost

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business — design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of many thousands of motorists throughout the Dominion — and providing it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing.

The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before.

The story of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, is the story of greater and greater value at lower price. The first Ford two-door sedan in Canada sold for $1150. That was in 1914. It now sells for a list price of only $595, or practically one-half of the 1914 figure. Within the past fourteen months, the price of this car has been reduced $85. Other body types show proportionate decreases.

At the same time, the quality of the Ford has been constantly improved. Large production and Ford methods of manufacturing have made it possible to put more and more value into the car without extra cost to the purchaser.

That the public appreciates the substantial worth of the new Ford is shown by its widening use by people in all walks of life. Today the new Ford leads every other car in Canada by a large and constantly increasing margin.

In many sections between fifty per cent and seventy per cent of all cars sold are Model A Fords. Everywhere you hear enthusiastic praise of its alert, capable performance, safety, comfort, reliability, economy and long life.

Throughout, the new Ford is an example of fine automobile engineering and craftsmanship in volume production — a value far above the price you pay.

The Company Behind The Car

The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, is one of the largest industrial organizations in the Dominion. The plant at East Windsor, Ontario, covers many acres and gives employment to thousands of men. Assembly branches are maintained at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver, and sales branches at Saint John, London, Calgary and Regina. All Ford cars for the British Empire, other than for Great Britain and Ireland, are made by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited. Affiliated in its world-wide activities are the Ford Motor Company of Australia (Pty.) Limited; Ford Manufacturing Company of Australia (Pty.) Limited; Ford Motor Company of South Africa, Limited; Ford Motor Company of India, Limited, and the Ford Motor Company of Malaya, Limited.

The Canadian Car

Canadians have the right to feel proud of the Ford car sold throughout this country. It is made almost entirely in Canada, of Canadian materials, by Canadian workmen.

In the Border Cities alone, purchases by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, average over $7,000,000 yearly for material and services, excluding wages. More than $4,000,000 is spent in Toronto, $2,500,000 in Hamilton, $1,250,000 in Montreal and Winnipeg, $750,000 in Chatham, $350,000 in Sarnia, $250,000 in Niagara Falls and Vancouver, $150,000 in Calgary and Regina, $100,000 in London, and $50,000 in Saint John. Additional cities and towns supplying materials for the manufacture of the Ford car are Almonte, Belleville, Brantford, Galt, Ingersoll, Kitchener, Milton, Owen Sound, Peterborough, Rock Island, St. Catharines, St. Johns (Quebec), Tilbury, Waterloo, Welland, Woodstock and many others.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, January 16. — Receipts at the Union Stock Yards yesterday were: 9 cattle, no calves, 4 hogs, 196 lambs.

There were 300 heads over from Wednesday, and in addition to the few fresh cattle was the offering when the market opened yesterday morning. Killers are moving at prices steady with Wednesday's decline of 25 to 50 cents a cwt. Fair to good butcher steers sold from $6.00 to $7.00 a cwt., and cows from $3.50 to $5.25 a cwt.

Receipts for the week were some 1,500 more than last week and proved too heavy for the demand, which weakened after Tuesday. No calves offered at the opening of the market. Vealers sold on Wednesday at a decline of 50 cents a cwt. for the week, with choice closing at $10.00 to $10.50 a cwt.

Lambs supply yesterday consisted of two loads of Western lambs which were not sold up to eleven o'clock. Bids were $9.50 a cwt. for good ewes and wethers which is down 50 cents a cwt. for the week. No sheep offered.

Hog prices are steady at $9.50 f.o.b. and $10.50 w.o.c. for bacon. Starting on Monday the spread between f.o.b. and w.o.c. prices for hogs will be 75c a cwt. on short hauls and $1.00 a cwt. on long haul shipments.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 16. — Weakness on foreign markets tended to force wheat figures lower on the Winnipeg Grain Market yesterday. Fairly strong support from local traders prevented a drastic break and closing quotations were 1c to ⅞c down.

Export interest was lacking yesterday and overnight sales were meagre it was reported. Very little change in prices occurred in cash wheat, but the coarse grains, with the exception of oats, which held steady, declined in sympathy with wheat futures.

Closing quotations on wheat futures were: May, 56½c bid; July, 57⅛c to 57⅜c; and October, 58¾c per bushel.

Futures:

Wheat—	Open	High	Low	Close	Prev. Close
May	0.57⅛	0.57⅝	0.56½	0.56½	0.57½
July	0.58⅛	0.58½	0.57⅛	0.57⅛	0.58½
Oct.	0.59⅝	0.59⅝	0.58⅝	0.58⅝	0.59⅝
Oats—

July	0.28⅛	0.28¼	0.27¼	0.27¼	0.28

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, January 16. — Jarred by breaks in securities, all grains tumbled yesterday. Wheat selling ascribed to Government-sponsored agencies had a disturbing effect, and so too did talk that until April or May Farm Board allies would refrain from formulating a policy as to supporting prices of the 1931 crop. Confidence in corn was shaken by heavier sales of corn to come here from other markets.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅝c to 1⅞c lower, 2¼c to 2⅝ down, oats ⅝c to ⅞c off, and provisions unchanged to 12c decline.

BUFALO LIVESTOCK

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 16.—(C.P.).—Hogs 1,300; holdovers 1,900; slow, shippers inactive, generally 15 lower; desirable 170-220 lbs. 9.50-9.60; below 160 lbs. quoted upward to $8.75; 225-270 lbs. 7.90-8.25; packing sows 6.00-6.60.

Cattle 250; cows slow barely steady; cutter grades 240-425 steers unsold.

Calves 100; vealers draggy at Wednesday's full decline; bulk better lots 12.00.

Sheep 500; fat lambs 25-50 nigher; good to choice 90 lbs. down 9.25.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—The bottom dropped out of the local egg market yesterday and country shippers suffered to the extent of 3c to 4c per dozen, while retailers benefitted 2c per dozen on top of the 1c decrease of Wednesday. Storage egg prices were also severely slashed, with wholesalers offering supplies at 5c lower than previously.

Prices

Country shippers were quoted 25c for extras, 20c for firsts and 15c for seconds. Delivered, ungraded, cases returned, and retailers were offered supplies at 35c for extras in cartons, 32c for extras loose, 28c for firsts loose, 24c for pullet extras loose, and 22c for seconds loose. Dealers were not quoting shippers on pullet extras, and stated they were not interested in this grade. Candled out of storage eggs were offered by wholesalers at 23c for extras, 20c for firsts, and 17c for seconds. Brokers were asking 30c to 31c for fresh extras, 26c to 27c for firsts, 23c to 24c for pullet extras and 19c to 20c for seconds, graded and in free cases.

New Level

These prices were probably the lowest quoted on the local egg market in a number of years at this season. Retailers have been responsible for the heavy cut in many ways, as they did not follow the general decrease in prices to the extent where consumption would be stimulated.

Cheese

The cheese market continued to show a fairly good tone, and prices to shippers were steady for new makes at 14c for large, 14½c for twins and 14½c for triplets. Prices to retailers were higher at 15½c for new large, 15¾c for twins and 16c for triplets.

Butter

Trading in butter was dull and prices held steady to the previous range of 31c to 31½c for No. 1 and 30c to 30½c for No. 2. General activity was back to the basis in effect before the recent heavy buying spell.

PETERBORO RINKS

proaching one of the guards, but the result was not apparent until it actually happened. Campbell's stone raised a guard slightly diagonally into the rings and picked out Martin's shot leaving his own other stone on the centre ring in solitary possession.

This game was closely contested all the way. Martin gradually cut down Campbell's lead of five on the score board and was up one on the ninth end. Campbell slipped over two on the tenth, and Martin came right back with a single to tie it up. But the last end and the last stone settled that engagement.

McDermid ran up a big score on Charlton of Lakefield, but the game was closer than the sheet indicated. The visitors found the third ice rather tricky, and McDermid was playing in splendid form, helped by breaks which he admitted came to him. Charlton was the last of the visitors to be pushed into the discard with the other thirty-one starters in the morning's draw.

Ralph Clark	N. A. Moore
J. W. McDermid —skip, 15	Dan. Charlton —skip, 2

One of the upsets in the second round was Dave Charltons victory over Ed. Ball of Millbrook by 13 to 12. The Lakefield skip got seven shots in his last three ends. Coming home Ball was up four with the score 12-8, but a big five gave Charlton enough to win the game by one.

The Chenhall-McDermid clash in the third round was another tight battle. Chenhall was up two on the eighth with the score 7-5; but McDermid took the last four ends with single shots and won by 9-7.

Jim Skinner and B. Q. Dench of Lakefield registered the biggest score of the bonspiel, Skinner winning by 19 to 16 in an extra end. They were eleven all on the ninth. Dench then got two, and Skinner responded with five and was up three coming home. Dench tied it upon the last regular end, but Skinner took the extra frame with another three.

Harold Clegg had to go into an extra end to beat the veteran Jack McKelvie of Norwood by 17 to 16.

Bob. Edmunds of Millbrook chased Bill Campbell right up to the last stone. Campbell had the small end of the 6-5 score at the ninth end, but slipped over a three and two, leaving him one up by 10 to 9, when Edmunds counted three on the last end.

Jack Wiley defeated Ivan Fletcher of Keene by 12-10 with two shots on the last end.

OBITUARY

REUBEN SMITH

CENTRETON, Jan. 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—One of the most highly respected residents of Haldimand Township, in the person of Reuben Smith died on Sunday, in his eighty-eighth year, having been a resident for the greater part of his life in this township.

REV. ROBINSON

do we trust? he asked; the arm of flesh or the arm of God? Our dependence is upon God, he declared, as in the past as hitherto the Lord had helped us.

"What will the future hold for us," he asked, and went on to state that as in the past so in the future, the Lord was round about his people. There was no break between hitherto and henceforth, for life was continuous. The past, present and future were all one. Hitherto the Lord helped us; henceforth, the Lord will be around us.

Speaking of the hard times in the past, the preacher said that they were faced and overcome. And so with the troubles and hard times of the present. Trouble was a challenge to strong men to find the way out. "Let us expect great things of God," he said, "forgetting the things that are behind, let us press on to the things that are before, trusting in God, Who was our help in ages past."

Mr. Duncan, in a very brief way, delivered the charge to the Rev. Mr. Robison. He spoke of the past record of the new minister, a record full of faithful service where he had proved himself a true servant of God. He touched on the charge that all ministers should hold dear, the charge the Apostles held the Gospel of Christ, stating that this charge was not to be kept to oneself, but given to a hungry world. And the true steward must let his light shine before men, must make his life count for something before his fellow-men.

Careful Consideration.

Rev. Dr. Thomson gave a brief survey of the steps taken during the extending of the call to Rev Mr. Robison. He stated that there had been over forty applicants, and that due care and consideration had been exercised in the choice of the new minister, thanking the congregation and Session for the spirit of harmony that had existed during the deliberations. Out of a total of 335 members of the congregation, he stated that 312 had signed the call, also 77 adherents. This he thought was representative of the whole congregation.

Giving his charge to the congregation, Dr. Thomson took for his theme some points that are included in the call. The first of these was the motive, which was to the glory of God and the good of the church, and this, he thought, should regulate one's whole life. Next came the invitation and promise. The first promise was to give due respect to the minister, and the speaker urged that the congregation should give this respect, for the sake of God and the dignity of the church. "Give him all the encouragement that is due," he urged, stating that we all need to be cheered, and that praise where praise is due is worthwhile in life.

And the next promise was obedience, "and with this, you might not all agree with me," but he pointed out that the words "In the Lord" concluded the sentence. Then the congregation promised to contribute to the maintenance of the Gospel, as God had prospered them.

And in conclusion Dr. Thompson spoke of the pledge that they had all put their name to. "In witness thereof I subscribe my name to this call," and pointed out to them the seriousness of the act. He also stated that the call was extended to the minister and not to his wife, pointing out that as much was sometimes expected of the wife as the minister.

"Don't expect too much, he said. The minister's wife can be a great help to the minister. Deal gently with her, and you will find her a great help to the ladies of the congregation." Dr. Thompson also told the congregation that he did not expect them to call on him again for many years to perform the same service.

United Church Plans Two New Policies

COBOURG, Ont., Jan. 16.—The Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church in Canada will inaugurate two innovations during 1931. One is the giving of two-year extra-mural course to candidates for the order of lay preachers in the church. The other is the giving each year of a 12-weeks' short course in cultural and religious subjects to recruit churches throughout the conference with young men trained for leadership in every branch of church activity.

PEGGING THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

The folly of attempting to peg the price of wheat, which the Federal Government, in spite of strong pressure from the West, has refused to do, is illustrated by the experience of the Stabilization Board of the United States which find itself at the present time flooded with wheat that it cannot sell.

At present the board controls some 130,000,000 bushels purchased above world prices, and no one seems to be able to figure out what is going to be the next development.

There has been a temporary benefit to the farmers who have received the higher price made possible by the board's action, but it is difficult to see how the country as a whole has been helped or how the general situation will be affected by this endeavor to stabilize world prices for wheat.

If the United States body had some plan by which it could hope to dispose of its supply of wheat at what it paid for it, or more, all well and good, but the chairman admits that he has no solution to offer.

There is the board with millions of wheat for which it paid more than the world price, and the country generally is worse off as a result than if the Stabilization Board had remained out of the picture.

THE SLEEPY DRIVER.

Assurance that the Ontario Government will introduce legislation during the coming session to regulate the hours of truck and bus drivers so that they will not have to work longer than eight hours a day will meet with general approval.

One of the greatest perils on the highway is the sleepy driver the man who has been at the wheel so many hours that he finds it almost impossible to fight off drowsiness and who, in spite of his efforts to keep awake, drops off momentarily, with his truck threatening to take the ditch or skid across the highway in the right-of-way of oncoming traffic.

Too many truck drivers are in this condition, faced with the alternative of trying to keep going or else pulling up on the side of the road and snatching a little sleep.

The hours of these chauffeurs should be regulated.

No driver should be allowed to take charge of a ponderous vehicle on the public highway who is not fully alert and awake, able to attend to his task of guiding his big machine in the full possession of all his facilities, and if the present regulations do not ensure that kind of driving the Government is well justified in introducing legislation that will provide safe working hours for the men who have to handle the big freight trucks and the public buses on the highways.

A VETERAN MERCHANT PASSES.

One of Peterborough's landmarks has passed in the death of Robert Fair, whose name for nearly half a century had been associated with the business life of this community.

Forty-seven years ago Mr. Fair entered into business on George street, and ever since that time had played a prominent part in business, social, church and public service circles in Peterborough.

Busy merchant as he was, he found time to give the community the benefit of his business ability and experience, serving for a long period as a member of the Board of Education and as chairman for two years, and being prominently connected with the Board of Trade, of which body he was president for three years.

Few citizens were better known, not only in Peterborough, but throughout the whole district surrounding this city, and Mr. Fair's circle of friends and acquaintances reached literally into the thousands.

His was an unusual personality; he took a keen interest always in the affairs of his customers, and few people visited his store very often without being greeted by the proprietor, who in this way established friendly relationships with hundreds of people throughout this part of Ontario.

The news of the death of this veteran of Peterborough business will be received with deep regret.

FIRE HAZARDS.

The fire which, originating in an ancient building on Charlotte street yesterday morning, spread to the adjoining Charlbond block and did extensive damage had been predicted by more than one citizen, who regarded the starting point of Thursday's blaze as a fire hazard of serious proportions.

An old structure and of such a nature that the flames would be certain to spread quickly, it has been allowed to stand in the middle of a business block and nestling up against an apartment building in which scores of people lived until the inevitable happened.

Serious as was yesterday's fire, the community has escaped perhaps more cheaply than it deserved; there might easily have been loss of life and much more extensive property damage to record, and as it is a firetrap, has been wiped out with about as light a loss proportionately as could be hoped for, having regard to the hazard that had been permitted to remain.

There is a lesson to be learned from the episode, namely that it is better to eliminate possible sources of danger than to wait for fire to remove them.

Certainly in the business section and in the vicinity of apartment houses anything that savors of a fire menace should be looked upon with suspicion.

UNCLE SAM AND HIS WAR DEBTS.

Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National Bank, said to be the largest bank in the world, and certainly the largest on this continent, comes out for at least a partial cancellation of Allied war debts to the United States. "I am firmly convinced," he says, "it would be good business for our own Government to initiate a reduction in the debts at this time."

Mr. Wiggin, it will be perceived, rests his contention upon no ethical or altruistic or patriotic ground. His appeal, which will be all the more potent for that, is upon the practical and more selfish ground of "good business." Good business, that is, for the United States.

What Mr. Wiggin sees, of course, is that if the United States continues to bleed her European debtors to the last cent, then these European debtors, who are Uncle Sam's customers, will not be very good customers—will not have much money with which to buy.

It is not impossible that Mr. Wiggin, speaking from such a mighty platform of dollars, will get a Washington hearing—a much better hearing than university professors and mere economists and gentlemen interested in world friendship, who appeal to Washington on somewhat higher grounds.

If so, then Britain, steadily tightening her belt to pay, and paying a stiffer price than any other United States debtor, might save a great deal of money. The world hardly realizes, or forgets, what payment of these debts (interest and principal) means to the British people. It means that each year they have to dig down for $165,000,000 and send it to the United States, and that after 1932 they will have to dig down for $190,000,000. This despite the fact that they cannot collect anything worth mentioning from the nations which owe them.

It is one of the things that makes one read a lot of the professions of the Great War, with all of its talk about comradeship and brotherhood, only a grow sick.—Ottawa Journal.
